Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's Book on Deafness and Diseases of the Ear and CATARRH their proper treatment, especially Running Ear. How to get immediate relief from all annoyances of these diseases, and a sure, harmless and permanent cure. A book every family should have. Sent free to all. Address Dr. C. E. SHOEMAKER, Aural Surgeon, Reading, Pa.

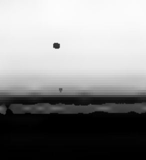
no4-jan23-13t-eow.

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp. [illegible], Publisher, Chicago, Ill.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Established in 1837. Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

mar 23 1y

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker.
Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one.
Price .... $1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages.
For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography.
Price .... $2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it.
Price .... 40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all.
Price $2 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo.
Price $1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information.
Price $1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price $1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap.
Price $1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price .... $2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price .... $1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley.
Price $1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest, By Richard Baxter Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price .... $1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:

Flexible cover, 12mo	$0 50
Flexible, Imitation Morocco, 12mo	75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo	1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo	2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald.
Price $1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost .... $21 00.

Annals of the Poor, Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept. 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book.
Price .... $2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each .... 25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference.
Price .... $2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good.

Price, per dozen	$1 50.
Large size, each	20.
Large and illuminated, each	25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference.
Price, per hundred .... $1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100 .... $1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100 .... $1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100 .. $1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 .... $1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100 .... $1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 .... $1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100 .... $1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100 .... $1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000 .... $1 20.

Exhorters License, per 100	$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100	$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100	$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100	$3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100	75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual	30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price .... $1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.

Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By D. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price $2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price .... $2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price	$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price	1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans Price	1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price	1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete.
Price .... $24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

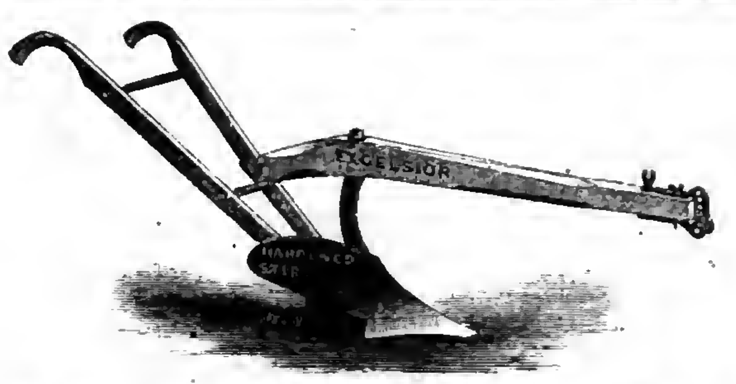
I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

NEW ORLEANS.



Plantation Hardware,

Agricultural Implements

—AND—

MACHINERY,

Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

Sole Southern Agent for Scott's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

B. J. WEST,

115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

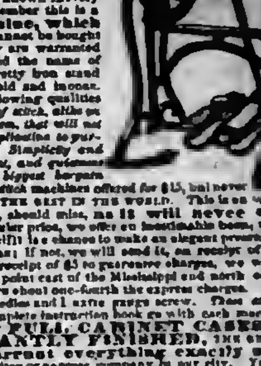
The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

A Genuine Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine $30 Saved.

FOR $15.



This is the most unprecedented bargain that it has ever been the ability of any firm to offer. We have secured an exceptional favorable terms, 1000 genuine Wheeler & Wilson machines, and offer them for the next sixty days at one-third their regular price. There are plenty of old-fashioned chain stitch machines that can be procured for $15, and even less, but this is the first opportunity that ever occurred to obtain a first-class modern machine for less than $45. Wheeler & Wilson's are indisputably the best machines in the world, and have been awarded more medals than any other machine in existence, and they are too well known in every village in the United States to need minute description by us. Remember this is a genuine Wheeler & Wilson Family Sewing Machine, which makes the Lock Stitch alike on both sides, and it cannot be bought of the manufacturers or of any other agent for less than $45. They are warranted genuine Wheeler & Wilson machines, just like this picture, and the name of Wheeler & Wilson is on every machine. [illegible] The Turner M'f'g Co., 93 Water Street, Boston, Mass. [illegible]

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

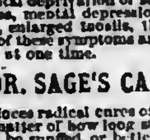
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH



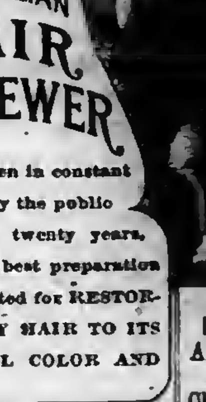
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

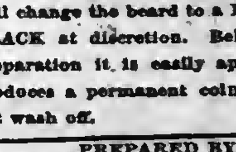


Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.



BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

PREPARED BY

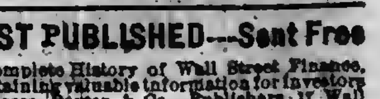
R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

EPILEPSY or FITS CURED!

By DR. ROSS' REMEDIES. Established thirteen years. TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE. Cures speedy, absolute and permanent. A patient after suffering for [illegible] years writes: ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. [illegible]. Dr. Ross, Richmond, Ind.—Dear Sir: I have been permanently cured by your treatment, for which I am truly grateful. During the past three years I have recommended you to others who have also been cured. No money could buy what you have done for me. CHAS. A. GRAY. For Certificates of Numerous other Cures and full information address DR. ROSS, 311 Main St., Richmond, Ind.

n10 4t a o w



Victims of this disease [illegible] temporary relief to be a great boon. This has followed every trial of the [illegible]. [illegible] "The Old Doctor's Legacy" describing the disease, treatment, etc., mailed on Request. Box of 14, $1.00, or trial size of 8 for 60c., mailed on receipt of price. (Currency or Stamps.) Address [illegible] Sold by Druggists. [illegible], Philadelphia.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance, containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York.

v13 n48 1y

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14—NO. 15. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 349.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN, [illegible] Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

[illegible]

NEW YORK OFFICE, 805 Broadway, New York. WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

UNANSWERED PRAYER.

[illegible]

Attendance upon the Ordinances of the House of God.

(The following is a specimen chapter from Elements of Methodism, a valuable book for beginners in religions and church life, by Dr. Stevenson, of the New Hampshire Conference. We notice this book elsewhere.)

The Church expects all who are in its fellowship further to evidence their desire for salvation "by attending upon all the ordinances of God; such are, The public worship of God; the ministry of the word, either read or expounded; The Supper of the Lord; Family and private prayer; Searching the Scriptures; and Fasting and abstinence." A part of these are for public, and a part for private, observance. Only those which are for public observance will be noticed in this chapter. They are these:

1. "The public worship of God." Ordinarily the phrase "public worship is used to signify all the public services of the house of God. In this place it is used in a more restrictive sense; in the sense of public prayer and praise. Public prayer was instituted at the time of the giving of the law at Mt. Sinai. Previously, the nearest approximation to it was family prayer, the head of the family leading in the service. At that time, however, God directed that a tabernacle should be built, and that a public altar should be erected, for the congregation; and, at the same time, established a public priesthood, whose duty it should be to offer sacrifices, and to make confession and supplication, for the people. Probably public praises began to be sung at the same time. We know that one grand hymn of praise had been sung at the Red Sea. In the days of David the singing of praises became a prominent part of the public worship. It has continued to be a prominent part of it ever since.

Christ taught his disciples, by his [illegible]. He both prayed and sang with his followers. After his departure, they assembled together; "and when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place," [illegible] God, and waiting for the [illegible] of the promise of the [illegible] of the Comforter; and it was while they were thus assembled, and thus engaged, that the Holy Ghost was imparted to them.

It is a fact, therefore, worthy to [illegible], that the first great [illegible] of the Holy Ghost, under [illegible], was an [illegible] congregation of [illegible] and not upon separate [illegible] of Christ. We [illegible] that the richest and [illegible] spiritual blessings [illegible] be expected by assembled [illegible].

It is the duty, therefore, as well as the privilege, of the followers of [illegible] to be present at these services, and not only to be present at [illegible], but to take part in them. [illegible] be done, so far as public [illegible] concerned, only by yielding [illegible] to the spirit of the [illegible] its confessions, [illegible] and its supplications [illegible] by answering [illegible] the service of public [illegible] the Gospel to every creature. (Mark xvi. 15). Their work began on the day of Pentecost. It has continued, more or less earnestly and effectively, from that day to the present. By means of it, chiefly, has the cause of Christ been promoted among men; and by means of it, chiefly, is the work of the full, complete, and final establishment of Christ's Kingdom on earth to be accomplished. The Church could not be sustained in the simplicity of a true Christian faith and character without it. Whenever and wherever the work of the preacher has been made of secondary importance in the house of God the spirit of true religion has declined, and the people have been led into errors and superstitions. Christ knew the necessity for this work, and hence its institution by him under the most solemn and impressive circumstances. Nothing can take its place.

[illegible]

The object of this work is, not only to instruct men in the principles of the Christian religion, but also to keep them constantly reminded of their needs, of their duties, of their obligations, of their privileges; and constantly stimulated in the pursuit of truth and holiness. It is the divinely appointed way of enlightening the world, and of establishing the Church in righteousness; and no one who professes faith in Christ can neglect it without unfaithfulness to the obligations of a Christian life, and injury to his own soul. The instrument in this work is human, but the message is divine, and every reverent attendant upon the delivery of the message helps to make it more effective, and thus, in a certain sense, becomes a minister of the truth himself.

3. "The Supper of the Lord." It has already been shown, that, while baptism is the sacrament which is administered to those who offer to connect themselves, by a profession of faith in Christ, with the people of God, the Lord's Supper is the sacrament which is administered to those who have already become connected with them. Baptism is a privilege offered by the Church to penitent believers who stand at its door, asking admission into its fellowship; the Lord's Supper is a privilege reserved for those who have passed through the door.

Baptism was designed to be administered once; the Lord's Supper, frequently. The phrases, "as oft as ye eat" and "as oft as ye drink" leave it to the followers themselves to say how often they will partake of this sacred ordinance. Love to God and to Christ should induce every one who has professed faith in Christ to partake of it as often as the opportunity for so doing is afforded. The Methodist Church expects this of all persons whom she receives into membership in her communion.

The mind of the Spirit on the subject of attendance is expressed in these words: "And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love and to good works; not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another; and so much the more as ye see the day approaching." (Heb. x. 24, 25).

Prohibition in Indiana.

Col. John W. Ray, President of the State Temperance Union, has compiled, for the benefit of the members of the Legislature to aid them "to reduce taxes and relieve the people from the burdens they are now fairly staggering under," some startling statistics, which show the loss to the State on prisons and reformatories alone, since 1860, to have been $1,745,370 74. The total criminal and pauper county expenditures for the period have been $13,187,070 45, with the additional estimated cost of court and police expenses, a grand total of $15,645,930 94. Three-fourths of this amount, charged to intoxicating liquors as a producing cause, would be $11,934,140 71. During this same period the State has received for liquor licenses an amount of $1,691,509 13—less [illegible] than its pauper [illegible] expenses caused by [illegible]

[illegible] makes a very instructive comparison of figures under [illegible] which [illegible] single illustra- [illegible]

American Commerce.

Statistics just published at Washington show that nearly all the ships used in commercial transactions in America are built in foreign countries. In 1821, 88.7 per cent. of our commerce on the sea was carried by American ships, but in 1878 the per cent. falls down to 16.3; that is, out of every hundred ships used in American trade 83 are built in foreign lands. This is all wrong. America should build her own ships.

On the other hand the growth of foreign commerce with the United States has increased with gratifying rapidity. While the carrying capacity of American bottoms has grown less and less every year, the demand upon it has grown rapidly greater and greater, and has been responded to by foreign ship-owners. The growth in the export trade of the United States has been enormous, particularly within the last decade. In 1790 the value of domestic exports from the United States was $19,666,000; in 1880, $31,840,903; in 1810, $42,362,675; in 1820, $51,683,640; in 1830, $59,462,029; in 1840, $113,895,634; in 1850, $136,946,912; in 1860, $373,189,274; in 1870, $420,500,275. Now mark the progress for the last eight years:

1871	$562,510,651	1875	$643,094,767
1872	549,219,718	1876	644,956,406
1873	649,132,563	1877	675,115,592
1874	693,039,054	1878	722,811,815

The lack of increase and the falling off during the depressed condition of American industries from 1873 the 1876 will be noticed; as returning prosperity is shown in the exports for 1877 and 1878.

Of the total exports last year, $557,748,327 was carried in foreign vessels, while only $150,772,720 was carried in vessels of American build.

These figures show unmistakably that the tide of commercial power is moving toward America.

Why Colored People are Leaving Mississippi.

President Hayes has appointed a colored man named Gleed a deputy collector in Mississippi. One of the leading papers of that State in referring to the matter editorially speaks the following sentiment. Thoughtful people will see very plainly the relation between such sentiments and the present exodus of colored people from Mississippi now going on, and which threatens to disorganize labor and cost the State millions of dollars.

"If the President thought the negro could be made a valuable ally in future elections he made a mistake. His power is gone forever. The Anglo Saxon has asserted his supremacy and pledged all that he is and has to maintain it. A decade of years has given the South opportunity to raise up a nation of young men who have inherited the bravery and treasure the traditions of their sires. They have grown to manhood, suffering from the oppressions and stung by the humiliation of negro rule and having conquered the government they claim it as a heritage unto themselves to be surrendered only when the negro has demonstrated his greater intelligence, virtue, statescraft, and power.

Before them the negro falls as grain before the reaper. These are facts and we dare proclaim them.

The President has done a wrong to the negro in again thrusting him into politics. It is elating the race with a hope which can not be realized. It is seducing him from the peaceful pursuits of an honest livelihood into angry contests against those whose friendship is his only security and whose aid is his only support.

He has done a wrong to the negro in requiring of him a new performance of duties he can not discharge.

Imagine Gleed entering the business place of a gentleman and charging him with defrauding the government! Imagine him out in the Rural districts, hunting up distillers! His life would not be worth the parings of the pencil with which these words are written. No one knows better than Gleed the truth of this statement for in the past he has been a fugitive from the wrath of this outraged community and dared creep back to his home only on assurance of protection by democratic authorities.

If the President has sought to insult the South, he has only excited their contempt. They are not humiliated, only disgusted. Nor are they intimidated. They are only more aroused to the high resolve to destroy the party whose policy is so mistaken as to [illegible] would destroy the peace of [illegible]

[illegible] has invoked the [illegible]

Higher Education and the State.

We have quite lately noticed certain intimations that the attempt may be made wholly to withdraw the patronage of the State from all grades of education but the lowest, and to leave intermediate and higher education to care for themselves as best they may. This may possibly be among the outcroppings of the latent Communism that affects society; and if so, here, as in other cases, it is at war with its own professed purpose. The proposed policy is also openly at war with the governing American notion in respect to education,—to wit, that society requires for its own safety and welfare a somewhat elevated grade of education among the people. Learning may, indeed, profit the individual, but the advantages received by him are multiplied indefinitely in behalf of society. If it is conceded that the State may pay for the primary education of all the people, because in so doing it promotes its own interests, so may it with equal propriety pay, at least in part, for the higher education of those who choose the scholarly calling.

A liberally educated class is essential to the safety and elevation of society, a fact of which they who care for the public welfare can not afford to be unmindful. It is also evident that from that class must proceed the influences that shall shape and govern public affairs. To put the case plainly, it is certain that the educated classes will be the governing classes in society. But if, for the lack of patronage, the cost of a liberal education shall be so enhanced that only the sons of the wealthy can hope to enjoy it, then will the affairs of society fall entirely into the hands of the wealthy families, who will form a favored caste, perpetuating their power by their wealth. Because of the cheapening of advanced education, by endowments and public gifts, a liberal education has become possible to thousands of those born in poverty, who have thus been lifted up from their humble position, and society has been enriched by their elevation.

The national government is paying out its hundreds of thousands every year to educate cadets for the army and navy; and a few years ago it gave millions of acres of public land for the promotion of agricultural education. In these cases there is an assumption that it is legitimate and expedient for the State to expend its funds for proper education of some of its youth to fill important places in the commonwealth. May it not then be both lawful and wise to do somewhat for the promotion of that higher culture among its future citizens, so as to secure a sufficiently numerous liberally educated class properly to discharge the highest duties of citizenship, and especially to extend those privileges to the children of the not opulent classes? While, therefore, we plead for the remanding of academical and collegiate education to voluntary institutions, that the influence of the Churches may be enlisted in favor of advancing learning, we would also advocate as both lawful and expedient that out of its abundance the State should aid them in their valuable work. The Church can do a much needed work in which all parties are interested much cheaper and better than the State can do it; but the needed pecuniary resources are with the State. The duties of the several parties would seem to be very plain.—National Repository for April.

New Italia.

The grandest scheme of the times is that of Menotti Garibaldi and other prominent Italians to found a new Italy in New Guinea. This very large island has singularly enough been neglected till now by European colonizing nations, and it will be a great gain for the world if the Italians can occupy it. The number of colonists is to be 3,000, and the fund necessary to pay their expenses until they raise crops which is estimated at six million of dollars, is said to be all subscribed. The active and intelligent spirit of Italy are offering themselves as colonists, just as the English offered themselves to the colonize America in the time of Elizabeth and the Stuarts, and the French in the time of Louis XIV., when New France (Canada) was colonised.—N. Y. Witness.

The Oppressed Blacks.

It is the fashion to say in the South that the present state of the black man is worse than the first. He is not a slave, to be sure. No law can reclaim him when he attempts to leave the State in which he lives. No cruel task-master drives him afield whether he is well or ill, and no obsequious servant of an odious slave power remands him to bondage when he has fairly bought his way to freedom. But he is a proscribed man. He has no political rights only in theory. Practically he is not a free man. So long as he exercises only the humblest rights of a human being, having no opinions concerning the matters which move most men, and confining himself to the meanest cares which can engross the attention of any human being, he is permitted to live unmolested. He must not accumulate too much property, or he becomes an object of suspicion. His unthrifty white neighbors vote him "too smart," and his little savings may be snatched from him in a day. He must have no political opinions. Especially he must have none that are not identical with those of the ruling race. If he and his fellow blacks take counsel together, there is a great outcry about a "negro conspiracy," and it is thus made easy to hang or shoot all the leading colored men of the neighborhood.

It is simply impossible, in the nature of things, that the present condition of the blacks in the South can long continue. It is impossible to destroy in the mind of the freedman the idea that he is free. It is impossible to restrain him when, wearied by his fruitless efforts to gain all that his freedom entitles him to, he sets his face toward some more congenial society. The land is wide, and the colored people who are oppressed and persecuted in the South will find somewhere a home which is secure from invasion, and a rest which cannot be broken in upon by brutish lawlessness. There was a time when in the North the "highest philanthropy" was thought to consist in that beneficence which, defying cruel law, assisted to freedom the bond slaves of the South. The time may come when the friends of humanity may find it necessary to organize machinery to transport to regions where freedom is a reality, not a shadow, the hapless people who are denied their rights.—N. Y. Times.

John Wesley not a High Churchman.

The London Methodist Recorder deals trenchantly with the assertion that John Wesley lived and died a High Churchman. It says: "Wesley's course from 1738, and the principles upon which he acted, are utterly at variance with High Churchism. Was he a High Churchman when in 1739 he organized separated religious societies; when in 1740 he built meeting-houses and settled them upon trustees for his own use; when in 1741 he called out lay preachers; when in 1744 he constituted the legal conference as it has subsisted ever since; when he ordained presbyters for America, for Scotland, and at last even for England? * * * How high was Wesley? Take one crucial point. The key of the High Church position is the dogma of apostolical succession. This he describes in 1775 as "a fable, which no man ever did or can prove." Again, from the year 1745 onwards he held firmly to the quality of bishops and presbyters, reorganizing nothing more than a difference of official rank between them. Everything that a bishop could do a presbyter could do. On this principle Wesley ordained presbyters, and believed that he thus conveyed every right which he himself possessed, including that of ordination. All this is to cut up High Churchism by the roots. Of what use is it to quote words and predilections of another cast? These are simple survivals of a former stage, which Wesley did not and could not cast off all at once. St. Peter did not unlearn his Judaism, or Luther his Popery, all at once."

The Virginia Court of Appeals has just rendered a decision acknowledging a supremacy of the United States Court, which will have an important bearing on the adjustment of the State debt. This will be good news for Virginia's creditors, and shows, moreover, a commendable disposition on Virginia's part to admit that, now and again, and for a few purposes, this really is a nation.—Boston Traveller.

Technical Religion.

Let us beware of a technical notion of religious life and truth. The essence and power of religion are often contained in that which has not the ritual imprint. "We may take up," says Dora Greenwell "some exquisite poem or story, with no directly religious bearing, and feel that it is religious because it strikes a chord so deep in human nature that we feel that it is only Divine nature, 'God who encompasses us,' that can respond to what it calls forth." God has cleansed many things that, to the prosaic dogmatist or ritualist, seem common or unclean. His ways are not our ways. He is subduing to himself forces and elements of life that often seem to us quite outside the spiritual realm. The progress of his kingdom is not wholly reported on our church registers, and the sons of Zion are not all sung by our choirs. The wind that bloweth where it listeth bears in its sweet breath the fragrance of many flowers that do not grow in our gardens. Let us be ready to feel the heavenly influences even when we cannot analyze and classify them, and learn to think more of divine realities than of human phrases.—Sunday Afternoon for April.

Is some one sincere in religious life and work, saying, What shall I do? where shall I go? for my brethren are against me and I judge against the Lord. Why, dear friend, just go along and be a Christian. Do not try to be anything more. Do not get into the Lord's place, and judge everything, or take upon you the care the Lord only can carry. Just do ordinary Christian duty everywhere. Be faithful to your vows with the Lord. Be patient, persevering, informing yourself more and more from the word of the Lord. Believe its truth unalterably sure, as Balaam told Balak it was. You will then see where all your enemies are, and who will deal with every one and with every thing hateful, because sinful, about them.—Vermont Messenger.

Liquor Traffic.

We are glad to see that our editors and public men are more and more disposed to calculate the enormous outlays required by the overwhelming liquor monopoly, and to compare them with the expenditures for the necessities of life and for those things that minister to the real elevation and well being of the people. It is a one-sided question. Reason, conscience, political economy, social and civil consideration, all pronounce the liquor traffic as wasteful, corrupting and destructive of all material and moral interests, and the verdict will yet be pronounced against the monster evil. The Raleigh Observer, in estimating that North Carolina pays $8,500,960 for its liquor, while it only gives about $1,000,000 for education and $269,830 for religion, logically infers that its people "think eight times as much of whisky as they do of Christian faith." Will intelligent people long submit to such a disgracefully anomaly?—Christian Weekly.

There is many a Sunday-school teacher to-day longing to do some great thing for God's cause in the world, wishing, perhaps, to win honor in God's service, who can best do a great work, and is surest of winning honor, by devoting himself untiringly in faith and prayer to a boy of his class who seems the least hopeful and promising of any in his charge. And what a reward awaits the mother of many a boy now taxing all her wisdom and faith, and sometimes overtaxing her patience and strength! It is a glorious thing to be a good teacher. It is a remunerative thing also.—S. School Times.

Prohibition is not such a failure in the State of Maine as the whisky men try to make people believe. In 1832 the enormous sum of $10,000,000 was spent in that State for liquor, while in 1878 it did not exceed $500,000; consequently it lacked just $9,500,000 of being a failure financially, and more morally than figures can compute. A "Maine law failure" of the same kind would be a good thing for every State in the Union.—Washingtonian Monthly.

The Cossacks on the river Don have revolted at the existing system of taxation, and a collision with the military has occurred.

General News Items.

Greenville, S. C., had a $40,000 fire on the 31st.

The condition of affairs in Zululand continues to be still serious.

Depression in the India and China trade attracts attenton in London.

Chester Hull, author of Dennis Kearney's speeches, died in San Francisco.

The President nominated David T. Corbin, of South Carolina, be chief justice of Utah.

The whole Republican State ticket is re-elected in Rhode Island by a larger majority than last year.

Mexico has 17 generals of division at $6,000 each; and 45 generals of brigade with $4,300 each per annum.

The official paper of Egypt published a decree postponing until the first of May the payment of interest and sinking fund on Egyptian preference stock, which fell dull April 1st.

Gen. Garabaldi has issued a manifesto against the Italian emigration scheme to New Guinea, and advises the Italian people to prepare for the completion of Italy's greatness.

The King of Burmah is taking energetic war measures, and has summoned the Burmese at Rangoon to return to their own country, and warned them that he will execute all members of their families if they remain absent.

Cole, Republican, is undoubtedly elected judge of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin by more than 5,000 majority. Reports from interior towns show great Republican gains over last year. The whole vote of the towns will probably give the Republicans a greater majority than they have had for years.

In the United States Supreme Court in the case United States on motion of Morris Ranger, vs. The City of New Orleans—error to the Circuit Court for the District of Louisiana, the court orders a mandamus to issue, compelling the city to levy a tax to pay certain of its bonds which are held to be valid.

The English are preparing to place Wali Mahommed on the on the Afghan throne in place of Yakoob Khan. The Afridis captured 700 English soldiers who were ransomed for £30,000 by the Viceroy. A squadron of the Tenth Hussars while crossing the river at Jellalabad were carried away by the current and sixty drowned.

Representative Garfield expresses the opinion that the session of Congress will last all summer. He is making his arrangements with that expectation. He and other Republicans have received from President Hayes a most positive assurance that the army bill will be vetoed if it passes with the rider now pending in the House.

Sir John McDonald proposes to make the acquaintance of his constituents in British Columbia at the closing of the present parliamentary session, and from British Columbia will go directly to Great Britain to solicit assistance towards the building of the Pacific Railway, which he will endeavor to prove to be an imperial work. This visit will have as an additional object Sir John's own installation into the position of British Privy Councillor.

The Senate confirmed Andrew D. White, of New York, Minister to Germany; C. A. Logan, Minister to Central America; J. P. Kidder, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Dakota; A. B. Norton, United States marshal of the Northern District of Texas; J. H. Stewart, United States Surveyor General of Minnesota; the nomination of E. B. Turner, for United States District Judge of the Western District of Texas was rejected.

Secretary Sherman regards the the large subscription made to the four per cent bonds as a most favorable sign for an easy money market. He thinks that the subscriptions will continue to improve until the entire $60,000,000 of outstanding 5-20s are taken up. He thinks this may be accomplished before the first of July next, certainly by that time. He says he will not issue a bond call perhaps until Friday. The amount of standard silver dollars coined up the April, 1 is $23,163,894, and the amount placed in circulation to same date is $[illegible]000, leaving a balance on hand of $21,533,894. Efforts will be made to put out this coin more rapidly.

Southwestern.

[illegible], D. D., Editor.

[illegible], APRIL 10, 1879.

[illegible] McCarthy has been cordially received by his new [illegible] York.

[illegible] Methodist Episcopal Church [illegible] history of its [illegible]

[illegible] in Texas is ten days [illegible] dollars. This was in- [illegible] framers of the law [illegible] the poor.

[illegible] Drew Theological [illegible] M. E. Church has [illegible] hundred preachers. [illegible] two students.

[illegible] formerly pas- [illegible] First Congregational Church [illegible] this city is spending a [illegible] among his old friends [illegible]

[illegible] indebted to Rev. Dr. [illegible] a copy of the min- [illegible] late session of the [illegible] Conference of the Meth- [illegible] Church held in [illegible]

[illegible] Wilmington Confer- [illegible] were due our Book [illegible] except $100 was [illegible] any firm would trust [illegible] preachers of that [illegible]

[illegible] nobody's gift to the [illegible] of $2,000,000, $1, [illegible] has been expended, pro- [illegible] [illegible]

Exodus of the Blacks.

The Southern planter was long its aristocrat. Merchants, great and small, [illegible] his errands and "lent out money" at his whim. A national Congress was little more than a swarm of polite lackeys to prick their ears at his demand and enact it into law. He bade them one day build statutory fences around his State, and the next day sent a United States marshal leaping over those of half-a-dozen other States after black fugitives. The Federal government never "invaded" while in such pursuit; a United States Commissioner never affronted Southern sentiment while with a pocketful of warrants, he awaited the angry beck of a planter who suddenly discovered one wooly head less in his agricultural duchy. But every covert trail along which a slave panted, and mob or national official pursued, became in later years an open highway. The stealthiest black foot had left its imprint under the providence of God, and the Government went back at last over its own old paths, and through its own breaches in State frontiers, to rescue a sovereignty which it had pawned, and to befriend a race which it had inhumanly hounded. The turf that could not hide that imprint from God's sight has since hidden from ours hundreds of brave white men,—the Union's cost for her cowardice and consent to poach for black men. The war widened the paths for artillery ruts,—but did not make them.

The black is again moving. He has grown as any man must grow who owns himself, but the Democrat gainsays his title to himself. The Government has conferred but cannot maintain his citizenship. He seeks her courts and a jury acquits his persecutors. Turn where he may for redress, judge, sheriff, marshal, constable, leap up from the thicket of his difficulties to confront and flank him. Shall he migrate? The planter is frightened and wants him to tarry. As a rule he will halt. A crude, practical statesmanship is fermenting in his brain. He sees he must derive his strength and defense from his vicinage not from the general government, which is impalpable to him; that the national Republican party champions his interests of late with long and delicate tongs rather than firm [illegible] [illegible] State platforms last fall "the moral honor of the Government" save as to its due bills; that he must confide in something beside barren statutes and partisan assurances. He must trust more in himself. He may not yet have seen that the bulldozer has enlisted [illegible] such is the case. "Our [illegible] is our helper," says [illegible] Burke. The violence which has been permitted, if not instigated, as a Democratic resource [illegible] proven itself a bane. The element that has grasped power in Louisiana has paid dearly for it [illegible] of every material interest. The conservative element, which owns property and pays taxes, will lay its hand upon the black's shoulder and say, "Do not look northward—[illegible] our plantations with your [illegible] and we will police you, and [illegible] between you and the bulldozers [illegible] must the bread-winners to-[illegible]." This conservative element [illegible] fast gain in numbers—it is [illegible].

[illegible] repudiation of Louisi-[illegible] will recoil sorely upon [illegible] and impel it to heartier [illegible] with the blacks as a [illegible] reinforcement against the [illegible] class. The return of [illegible] to the speakership of the [illegible] another grave ad-[illegible] for the South [illegible]. The Conservatives [illegible] improve-[illegible] Democrats [illegible] and true [illegible] that [illegible] have [illegible] their subsidies [illegible] befriend any [illegible] where the [illegible] promoted. [illegible]

Pastor of Ames Church, New Orleans.

Bishop Andrews has appointed Rev. George R. Bristor, A. M., pastor of Ames Church in this city. Bro. Bristor is transferred from the Wilmington Conference, and comes very highly endorsed by his Conference and also by our church at New Castle, Delaware, where he has been pastor for two years. He is a Baltimorean by birth, a graduate of Dickenson College, and entered the ministry in 1871.

The Wilmington Conference, at its late session when the transfer and appointment of Bro. Bristor to Louisiana was announced, passed the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS It has been deemed desirable by the bishops of the Church that Rev. George R. Bristor, A.M., be appointed to Ames Chapel, New Orleans; and

WHEREAS In obedience to this call he has consented to a transfer from this body to that of the Louisiana Conference; therefore

Resolved, That we acquiesce in this result of the deliberations, though we most emphatically declare that we would prefer his continuance among us.

2d. That we shall hold an open door for his return to us, whenever his term of service in the South shall close.

3. That our affections, sympathies and prayers shall go with him as if he were still a member of this body.

4th. That a copy of the resolutions be given to brother Bristor, and also sent to the Methodist and SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE for publication.

On Thursday evening, March 27th, Bro. Bristor preached his farewell sermon to his congregation at New Castle. The house was filled to overflowing and there were many expressions of regret at his leaving. He was the recipient of many presents.

The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The board of Bishops have deemed it wise to close the pastoral intercourse which has for two years so happily existed between our church and our beloved pastor, Rev. George R. Bristor. Therefore be it

Resolved, 1st, That we gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity in these closing services of expressing the respect, the attachment, and the love, which our pastor has inspired in our hearts during his sojourn among us, by his courteous bearing and truly Christian character.

2nd, That we desire to place on record our high appreciation of the success with which he has conducted all the services of the church and his assiduous attention to the interests of our zion.

3d, That while the ties which bind us are thus sundered, our late pastor is affectionately requested to accept the assurance of our most sincere regards for his present and everlasting happiness.

4th, That a copy of these resolutions be fowarded to the board of Stewards of the Ames Church, New Orleans, La.

We welcome this brother to the Louisiana Conference and to his new and important field of labor, and trust his success among us will be great.

The New Orleans Saving Institution has gone into the hands of receivers. This is where it should have been years ago, and we are inclined to think that none know this better than the Trustees themselves. The bank owes its depositors $1,396,000,000 owes for dividends uncalled for $36,000, making a total of cash liabilities of $1,432,000,000. After adding up all the assets of the bank at a reasonable figure there is still a deficiency of $614,955. In the sworn statements of the bank published from time to time the past years there has been manifest if not deliberately fixed, false estimates. Somebody has either sworn falsely or has permitted employees to do it for them. It is claimed that there has been a shrinkage of $600,000, the real estate in which loans were made. But in the first place the charter of the Institution was violated by the directors in loaning money in amounts more than 50 per cent the cash valuation of the property. Besides the shrinkage of property has been gradual and had the Trustees been as careful as they would have been with their own money this gradual shrinkage would have been provided against.

The result of this bad if not criminal management will be that the poor people who have confided their money to this Institution will loose over half a million of dollars. [illegible] what of the officers and the trustees of the Institution? [illegible], they will quietly recall what [illegible] made in dividends and [illegible] during the past twenty five years and more, and call [illegible] names who intimate [illegible] they are not above suspicion [illegible] of honor and business [illegible]

[illegible] bound passenger [illegible] railroad was [illegible] Hazlehurst and [illegible]

Sanitary Organization.

Some of the leading citizens of New Orleans have resolved to take an active part in the better sanitary regulation of the city. A very large meeting was held in Odd Fellows' Hall on the evening of March 31. Wm. C. Black was temporary chairman, John Henderson secretary. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Markham. Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson, Gen. Bussey, Mayor Patton, Administrator Houston and George Horter addressed the meeting. It was agreed that every citizen was responsible for the defects or absence of a sanitary system, and that a permanent organization should be formed to co-operate with the city and State authorities.

The name chosen was "New Orleans Auxiliary Sanitary Association. Officers—C. A. Whitney, president; Gen. Bussey, G. H. Braughn, James I. Day, W. C. Black, Edward Fenner, A. Schreiber, A. Baldwin, E. LeCarriere and Frederick Fisher, vice presidents; W. C. Henderson, secretary; Wm. M. Burwell, corresponding secretary; Henry Ginder, treasurer. Several standing committees were also appointed, Dr. C. B. White, formerly president of the Board of Health was unanimously elected sanitary director. The people of New Orleans remember that under the efficient administration of Dr. White no epidemic occurred, and no man possesses their confidence in a higher degree as a sanitary expert. The public health of the city seems likely to receive hereafter the eminent attention it deserves.

The Death of Dr. W. Revels.

Dr. W. R. Revels, brother of our Dr. H. R. Revels of Mississippi, after suffering from the effects of a paralytic stroke for some weeks, died at his residence in Indianapolis, Indiana, last month. Dr. Revels was a prominent and leading minister of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. He was at one time before the war a pastor in this city and his name is spoken of with reverence by many to this day.

Rev. Dr. Turner, of Philadelphia, visited the doctor on his way to a late Conference. Dr. Turner, in describing the interview, says:

"I found him prostrated with asthma and general debility. After a few words of mutual courtesy, he said, "I am glad you have called in; I represented you once, and spoke for you when you could not speak for yourself. I want you now to return the compliment. I wish you to carry to the conference my Dollar money, and read my reports," &c. After a few moments pause he said, "Tell the brethren I shall not likely ever meet them again. I am worn out. I am nearing the better land. I hope to be in heaven before another conference. But tell them I am a conquered conqueror."

A Great Conference.

The Philadelphia Conference of the Methodst Episcopal Church is a great conference. Its ninety-second session has just been held, Bishop Peck presiding. The statistics are as follows:

Probationers, 5,053; members, 41,010; local preachers, 296; deaths, 585; baptisms (adults,) 1,110; children, 3,594; Sunday schools, 357; officers and teachers, 7,671; Sunday-school scholars, 60,644; books in libraries, 136,554; conversions, 2,333; churches, 314; probable value of buildings, $3,605,370; parsonages 99; probable value of same, $377,950; amount raised for building and improving churches and parsonages, $101,477 56; indebtedness on churches and parsonages, $798,467 30; receipts for missions from churches, $14,883 79; from Sunday-schools, $18,607 39; total for missions, $37,578 15; Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, $1,915 62; Board of Church Extension, $5,875 15; Sunday-school Union, $348 30; Tract Society, $1,249 59; Freedmen's Aid Society, $1,330 15; Education, $1,050 06; Bible Cause, $1,418 75; Sustentation, $1,601 69; Episcopal Fund, $2,998 73.

This conference alone it will be seen raises more than half as much in benevolent collections as the whole Methodist Episcopal Church South with its 750,000 members.

A Call for Help.

The following call for help is a most worthy one, and we hope will have many responses:

Dear Brethren, the West Tennesse Seminary has long been burdened with debt. The beautiful building was to have been sold last February, but we succeeded in borrowing money and arresting this sale, but only for a short time. The amount ($300) must be raised during this year, or our beautiful Seminary is lost to our Church. This district, (Memphis) is doing all it can. We are in straitened circumstances, and therefore earnestly ask our brethren and friends for help in this our time of great need. The loss of this property to our Church in the Memphis district will be a blow from which we will not soon recover. Send your contributions to Rev. J. R. Cole, Clarksbury, Carroll county, Tennessee, the receipt of which will be duly acknowledged.

J. W. [illegible], P. E.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. Austin Jones, Monroe: "I have taken in 15 members this year, and baptized 5."

Camp Parapet, New Orleans, Rev. G. B. Lynch, pastor. The first quarterly meeting was held March 29. A large number partook of the sacrament. $61.00 had been raised. The pastor's salary was fixed at $400. The Sunday-school has 80 scholars and an average attendance of 60. The year begins hopefully. The people are pleased with their pastor.

D. J. C., Washington: "Sunday March 23, was a grand day at St. Mark's church. A basket meeting was attended by a large concourse of people. Revs. Brooks, August, Brown and Landor preached, with excellent results. Our Sabbath-school is progressing fast; we have 100 pupils and nine teachers. The school is under Mrs. Nelson Lettgue, who is trying to make it the largest school in the parish. She has for her assistantes Messrs. Clark and Johnson."

MISSISSIPPI.

Robert Hayes, Coffedaliah: "The work at this time is prospering. I regret that we have no Sunday-school. We hope to get one soon."

Rev. J. H. Cook, Pontotoc: "March 29, we were visited by our presiding elder. He preached the funeral sermon of Rev. T. E. Miller. The outlook is promising."

F. M. Crump, Batesville: "On Sunday, March 23, the Sunday-school was organized into a missionary society. Elder Bradford was present and greatly encouraged us."

Rev. W. H. H. Gallion, DeKalb: "I regret very much that you got the names of my white friends wrong in my communication from this place, published March 27th. They should be John Pool, A. F. Rush and Wm. Rosenbaum.

Rev. D. Williams, Granada: "We have just closed a protracted meeting. The Lord accompanied us with his spirit. 26 were converted, and 22 joined the church. We tender our thanks to Rev. L. Bradford for his noble service. Rev. Samuel Cowan did great good also. The church is greatly revived."

Rev. A. Handy, Canton: "I have first been around on the Bicks circuit. The churches are all in good order. I received since conference 20 members in full membership, and one probationer. I visited Rick on the 30th, received 3 members in the church, baptized 2. One of the adults was 75 years of age. The Sabbath schools are in full attendance at every charge. Bro. Parks is having a glorious time since being converted."

Rev. Peter Blue, Corinth: "We are progressing finely with our work. Our new parsonage is completed, and we are living in it—a neat house, with 3 rooms, well ceiled, worth $400. The charge was in a low condition when we came to it, there had been no preaching in church for three months, and they were quite scattered. It seemed the young people had entirely left the church. We have been trying to get them back, and they are beginning to visit us."

TEXAS.

Rev. W. B. Pullam, Houston: "My meeting is closed. We had 10 converts, 32 joined the church. I received in full connection 5."

Rev. E. Dibble, Harrisburg: "I have a protracted meeting going on here: 7 converts; 34 accessions; joined the church 18. Sunday-school numbers 100."

L. Woodward, Moscow: "Rev. J. S. Shackelford held our quarterly conference; 26 joined the church. Our country is poor but God is rich in grace."

Rev. Wesley Childs: "Quarterly conference held on the 1 and 2. People well pleased with the elder. We had a large attendance of white and colored; 10 were added to the church."

Rev. V. M. Cole, Galveston: "Our protracted meeting has just closed. The result was 40 converted, 82 joined on probation. From Dec. 28 to April 1, 60 have joined the church. Our beloved elder, L. P. Cushman, is with us on his second round. He is a Christian that loves to do the work of the church and of the kind we want in Texas. The Sabbath-school is increasing greatly."

Rev. A. R. Norris, San Antonio: "Myself and brethren were greatly pleased with elder Carper, who recently visited us. The next Friday following myself and Rev. G. W. Townsend started for Hondo. On our way we passed through Castroville, a little town sitting on the Medina River, with beautiful surrounding country, the county seat of Medina county. The county is building a beautiful little court house. Fountain has a thick settlement around it and a good set of people. At the termination of the [illegible] Christmas [illegible] quarter and we had a glorious time."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. H. Primm, Memphis: "Centenary chapel moves on. Since I last wrote 9 more have joined the church. We have peace and love for one another so we may take the world for Christ."

Rev. I. C. Brown, Nashville: "We are having a good time at our church since the protracted meeting began. We have had about 20 conversions, and about 50 are at the anxious seat yet. We feel thankful for the presence of the Lord in our midst."

Rev. C. L. Seward, New Middleton: "During the visit of presiding elder B. B. Manson, he aroused my congregation. There were several white visitors present, and they were pleased with the elder's sermon, said they wanted to hear him again; they believed in free salvation."

Our First Work in the South Land.

We arrived at the city of Nashville, February 21st, of which finding a meeting in progress, and with the pleasure of hearing the first sermon in the South land preached by Bishop Haven.

With joy did we find Bishop, pastor, and church full of faith, and love, and whose hearts flowed with welcome to the writer, into the new work.

A few days after the date mentioned, the pastor, Rev. L. A. Rudisill, started to the North in behalf of the finances of the church; leaving the work in my care. We continued the work for about three weeks, with assistance of Rev. Davis; God giving us favor with the dear people, in bringing many souls from "darkness into the marvelest light and liberty of God's dear children," the people came from all parts of the city to hear the word of the Lord, and many came, finding the house full, left. I have not witnessed greater manifestation of God's power in the saving of souls, and the building up of believers for weeks as at this meeting. His temple resounded with the praises of God's redeeming love. Believers built up, and forty-three conversions; from the first of November last, there has been 96 converted. God is owning the labors of his servants, "Our God is marching on,

"O, for a faith that will not shrink, Though pressed by every foe."

There has been over sixty persons united to the Church, making 103 members. The Sunday-school numbered about 50 in November 1878, and now it numbers 155 scholars. Prayer meeting and teachers' meeting well attended.

I believe God has designed in sending the Methodist Episcopal Church here to re-establish Methodism. The people are hungering after more of that food which bring joy,—the cry is, "thus saith the Lord, stand ye in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good old way." There is nothing I believe that will bring back "the good old paths and ways," as men who are wholly consecrated and loyal to the doctrine of our beloved Church, which on its banner has written a free, full, and complete salvation from all sin, "an all able, all powerful, all willing, all ready Savior, a present Savior saying now," which is waving, and we trust shall wave until the globe is wrapped beneath its banner. Well may we re-echo the words of our sainted John Wesley, "it is the grand depositum which God has given to the people called Methodists; and chiefly to propagate this, it appears God raised them up," "God thrust them out, to raise a holy people."

We believe that God's design in raising up the preachers called Methodist in America was to reform the continent, and spread scriptural holiness over these lands." Dr. Adam Clark well understood the meaning of his words when he said "if Methodists give up preaching entire sanctification they will soon loose their glory.

Surely "it is the morrow of the Gospel,"—manna for the hungry soul, and joy to the soul who is athirst for God. We as God's servants who believe in the apostolic doctrine that "the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin," preach it in all its fullness until this land shall shout the praises of God and his redeeming love, and the South re-echo it to the North, and the East resound to the far West.

REV. J. KIRKPATRICK.

The City.

Persons wishing to secure elegantly furnished rooms, with or without board, can suit themselves at 123 Carondelet street. Special rates for summer months can be secured.

Peru and Bolivia have declared war against Chili

Foreign Missions.

LIBERIA.—Miss Mary Sharp, some fourteen years a teacher among the Freedmen in the vicinity of Charleston, S. C., left New York on the steamer Montana for Liberia, under appointment by the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

JAPAN.—Our church in Tokio is rejoicing in the possession and use of the Troy, N. Y., bell. Bro. Soper says: "They are much pleased with its size and sound—calling Christians to prayer every Sabbath and announcing the hours of service to hundreds who would otherwise not know of them. We already see a change in the size of our congregations, especially in the Sunday evening services."

Since we received the above Bro. Maclay writes: "Bro. and Sister Soper have been called to give up another darling child, their youngest son. They have the sincere sympathy of all their friends in this affliction." Yes, and of this office also.

I expect to start to-morrow for Nagasaki, and shall be absent four or five weeks, so that possibly I may not be able to communicate with you by the steamer succeeding this one. While absent I hope to accompany Bro. Davison to Kagoshima city, where the people are showing a great interest in religious matters.

Work on the building for the training school has been commenced. Please send forward our reinforcement as soon as possible. Our work goes forward encouragingly.

Rev. V. C. Hart of Kin Kiang, China, writes under date of Feb. 14th: "Our two eldest boys leave us Feb. 18 and Shanghai the 22d, and will reach Ingersoll, Ontario, about the 25th of March I presume. They are to go by the City of Pekin and in company with Rev. George Cochran, of the Wesleyan Mission of Japan. Miss Howe, of the W. F. M. S., leaves at the same time and will see the little fellows pretty nearly through their journey. Evanston, our oldest, is 12 years; Edgerton, the second, is 10 years; both in excellent health. It is a trial to part with them, but we know it to be for their good. They have an excellent home to go to; Mr. Galloway, of Ingersoll, kindly offers to take them until our return to America is necessary. They will have the best of educational advantages. Mr. Galloway is a class leader and Sunday-school superintendent of the Wesleyan Church and a grand, noble-hearted man, and we have no fears for the care the boys will get. We are all well. Bro. Stritmatter keeps about the same. He may yet surprise us all and be spared many years to the mission.

The arrangement of the return of the young men is very satisfactory indeed. We are doing all in our power to keep our out stations thoroughly worked, and we are much encouraged in our country work. We believe the day not far distant when we shall see grand results. Our faith is not the least shaken in our work, and we believe with all our heart that our Heavenly Father will soon come to us in power.

Rev. H. H. Lowry writes from Peking, China, January 31, that famine funds are no longer needed; fruitful seasons having returned. The news that all our estimates—except that for the house at Tientsin—had been granted, was hailed with great satisfaction by the mission, and I have great pleasure in thanking you for the part you had in securing this result. We can work with more zest when we have such assurance of support from home. We can wait for the house another year, since we have the opportunity of renting from our brethren of the New Connection Mission. Altogether this is the best appropriation we have had, and considering the state of the treasury we highly appreciate what has been done for us. We shall look for reinforcement during the year.

Since the annual meeting I have not been able to visit the circuits as often as I desired, but other brethren have supplied my place. My wife has just passed through a dangerous illness, but through a merciful Providence is now rapidly recovering, though still not able to be up.

Our work continues to give encouragement. Five young men and two of our local preachers are in the Training School, where they will remain two or three months longer. We trust that they may be truly called of the Lord to preach the Gospel. A score or more have been baptized by Bro. Chere Tayung on the Taunhua circuit, and several by Bro. Davis on the Tsangchou circuit during the last quarter. Bro. Davis reports some new inquirers on his work, but has not yet enrolled their names among the probationers.

Just at this time—Chinese New Year—we are having large audiences at all the street chapels. Bro. Pitcher is pressing a vigorous campaign at Tientsin. May the Master water the seed soon. Bro. Davis leaves early in the week for a four week's tour on the Yenshan and Nau Kieng districts.

Letter from Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, LA., March 24th, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR: Our first quarterly conference took place Saturday. The church was well represented and the business was transacted ably by our new presiding elder, Rev. J. Matlock. The people can't but love him as a Christian and a worker for the Lord. All the members expressed the opinion that it was the best quarterly conference they ever were in. Bro. Matlock is well received by the people. Thursday he preached in Pineville to a large number and administered the sacrament, when Rev. Mr. Shepherd, of the M. E. Church, South, joined and assisted and Mr. G. W. Hooper, a member of the same church, partook, which animated the people and all were made to rejoice. On Sunday morning he spoke to the children. His remarks were favorably impressed upon their minds, and there being a good number of older people out, he gave them the right kind of a lecture, telling them about being too old to attend the Sunday-school and keeping their children away by telling them that there was no one there to teach them. In the afternoon he administered the sacrament to a large number who bowed around the altar and again at night he preached to a good congregation. To-night he will preach in Pineville as there are a good many more who desire to hear him before he leaves. Sunday night after he had preached to us a loving sermon, our pastor, Bro. Marshall opened the doors of the church and called for those who wished to be prayed for: nine came to the mercy seat, and thus we were made to rejoice.

Our pastor's report to the first quarterly conference was: number of Sabbath-schools, 2; number of scholars, 129; average attendance, 90. Preached to the children once; classes of children formed for religious instruction, 13; died during the quarter, 2; made 4 visits to the sick.

Bro. Henry J. Wright was recommended to the quarterly conference for local preacher's license, and it was granted. Conference adjourned to Pineville, June 14th.

Yours in Christ, SUBSCRIBER.

Calvary Church, Thibodaux, Louisiana.

This church, the affairs of which had been somewhat neglected for some years, is now taking a new start, under the auspices of that fine gentleman and worthy pastor Rev Wm. Davis, for whose assignment the congregation cannot feel sufficiently grateful. Calvary Church formerly had the largest membership of any church in Thibodaux, and soon again will take the lead. Fourteen new members were added to the roll during last quarter, four of whom were new converts. Sixty dollars was also subscribed towards improving the church building, and a much larger sum will undoubtedly be raised.

A basket meeting will be held on Sunday next, with the assistance of Bro. Albert, of Houma, Austin Kennedy, of Terrebonne; Elder J. H. Harper, of A. M. E. Church of Thibodaux, and Jeff Rhodes of the Baptist Church of Thibodaux. The worthy minister, who is also a high dignitary of the order of Odd Fellows, has also organized, with the assistance of Elder James and Gen. T. M. Chester, a lodge of that order, which promises well. The officers are E. W. Warren, A. Panalle, L. H. Josey, J. H. Bailey.

A. J.

A letter to Gordon Pasha, governor general of Southern Egypt, from an officer sent to break up the slave depots in the neighborhood of Bahrel Gazal, in the province of Kordofan, reports an engagement with Suliman, one of the chief slave traders and owners of twenty-five depots, in which it is stated the women alone waiting importation into Egypt number 10,000. The Egyptian forces numbered 3000, and were entrenched, a part of them being armed with Remington rifles. On the morning of the 28th of December, Suliman, with 11,000 men attacked the entrenchments, and after numerous assaults, in which the Arabs, under the personal lead of Suliman, fought with desperate courage the attack was completely defeated and the assailants fled in disorder, leaving 1087 dead on the field. The Egyptians lost twenty [illegible]

The City of Mirogoane, Hayti, was completely destroyed by fire March 16.

Sunday School.

[illegible]—PROSPERITY RESTORED.
[illegible]—Job 42: 1-10.
[illegible]—"Behold, we count them [illegible] endure."—Jas. 5: 11.
[illegible] yourselves in the sight of [illegible] shall lift you up."—Jas. 4: 10.
[illegible] the National S. S. Teacher.]

[illegible].—The speech of Elihu [illegible] to an abrupt close by [illegible] up of a fearful storm. [illegible] upon its phenomena still [illegible] to impress upon Job the [illegible] character of the Most High, [illegible] manifesta[illegible] awe-inspiring that [illegible] become broken, and [illegible] together. The [illegible] in the grandeur in which the Lord has hidden his majesty so that [illegible] converse with his servant [illegible] the whirlwind the [illegible]. The address is full [illegible] majesty, such as be[illegible] of the Lord.

[illegible] to know who it is that [illegible] to act as censors of the [illegible].

[illegible] rebuked both Job and his [illegible] for their representa[illegible] policy with men. He [illegible] the doctrines [illegible]. By his silence [illegible] them he really endorses [illegible] then, we take it, [illegible] to Job, and [illegible] would [illegible] of the [illegible] Job no longer [illegible] wounds were [illegible] weapons [illegible] that they were [illegible] tender and [illegible] was [illegible] one [illegible] And [illegible] that [illegible] one of [illegible] had not spoken of either one the thing which was right. Job had just confessed that he had hidden counsel without knowledge, and had uttered things too wonderful for him. And yet God now avers that he had spoken the right thing concerning him! Job indeed had wrongly spoken—but he had atoned for it. He had confessed his error with humility, and had repented o it. He had justified God. At last he had spoken of him the thing that was right. But though they were in error as much as himself, and even more than he was, they listened to the words of the Lord, and witnessed the self-abasement of Job without at all being moved to repentance themselves. All the while they had stood self-righteously by. Hence it was that God endorsed Job and condemned them.

[illegible] effect upon [illegible] acknowl[illegible] of God. [illegible] his own [illegible] that [illegible]

Job was already reconciled to God, but peace for the three friends was not yet made. Some means had to be provided for their return to the Lord. The first of these was sacrifice. They were told to take seven bullocks and seven rams and offer for themselves a burnt offering. The second was an intercessor. And for that office the Lord designated Job—the very man whom they had judged to be an outcast from the divine favor. There is no one whom man finds it so hard to forgive as the one whom he has wantonly injured. It was a severe test of the sincerity of their repentance that they had accepted Job as their intercessor.

Restoration (10).—But as yet the afflictions of Job are in nowise abated. And what is more there is no promise of their abatement. His losses remain the same, his disease is as great, and all sufferings are as severe as ever. But he is patient, unrepining, and even joyful. All that God now does is for the best. Satan's experiment was a complete failure. Instead of driving Job away from God, he only had succeeded in driving him closer to him. The Lord blessed the latter end of Job more than the beginning [illegible] property he gave him twice as much as he had had before. But he gave him only just the same number of sons and daughters.

General News Items.

Leavenworth, Kansas, elected a [illegible] ticket.

[illegible] damaged crops [illegible] Charleston, S. C. on the 4th. [illegible] Patterson Bon[illegible] in Baltimore on the [illegible]

[illegible] Zula King, has sent [illegible] with overtures for [illegible]

[illegible] of Cardinal Anto[illegible] will may fall through because [illegible] of the plaintiff.

[illegible] Lancaster [illegible]

[illegible] bill for a gov[illegible] 000,000 for in[illegible] improvements.

[illegible] steamer Plymouth, [illegible] Indies, return[illegible] account [illegible] fever on board [illegible] has been [illegible] of the house of [illegible] of Long [illegible] rulers, without [illegible] has written an [illegible] of the holders of [illegible] containing [illegible] the [illegible]

Letter from Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, [illegible] March [illegible], 1879.

Thinking you would like to hear a word from this section, I have concluded to say a few things about our quarterly meeting. On his first round, the Rev. Joseph Matlock, our very efficient and highly esteemed presiding elder, reached us on the 19th inst. After a little refreshing, presiding elder like, he set to enquiring after the spiritual and temporal condition of the Church. After learning the facts in the case seemed encouraged. But before leaving, he and all our people were delighted at meeting together under such pleasant circumstances. The Lord of hosts was with us!

At Pineville the Rev. Mr. Shepherd, of the M. E. Church South, worshiped with us and assisted in administering the sacrament of the Lord's supper. There was great rejoicing. On Sabbath at Alexandria we had a glorious time. The elder addressed the Sabbath-school at 11 a. m., and at 3 and 7 p. m., He preached to large audiences—administered the sacrament at 3 in the afternoon. Bro. Samuel Bowden, of the colored M. E. Church in America being present, assisted. At night an invitation being given to mourners, eight came forward for prayers. We feel highly edified and greatly blessed with the first visit of our elder, and shall remember his fatherly admonition and counsel; and no doubt hearts will glow as the time approaches for his return at each successive quarter. He left yesterday for Opelousas, where the District Steward's Meeting will be held on the 29th inst. It seems that the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is becoming more popular. Hope to be able to send more subscribers soon.

Yours fraternally,
J. T. MARSHALL.

Marriages.

At Pontotc, Miss., March 26, by Rev. J. H. Cook, Mr. Wesley Renean and Miss Frances Pinson.

At the residence of Mrs. Mary Finney, near Duck Hill, Miss., March 27, Rev. Wm. McKinney to Miss Eliza Finney. Rev. J. T. Burton officiating.

At Lebanon, Tenn., March 29th, at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. B. [illegible] Manson, by Rev. E. Provine, Mr. Andy Anderson, of Nashville, to Miss Mattie Manson, of Lebanon. The happy pair left on the evening train for Nashville, where they will make their home. Miss Mattie received several presents from her friends—one from Dr. Wilks of the M. E. Church South. E. PROVINE.

Deaths.

Sister Amelia Smith departed this life March 19, aged 62 years. She enlisted in the work about 24 years ago. She leaves behind four children. D. GREGORY.
Austin, Texas, March 24, 1879.

Sister Lavinia Jackson, after being a member of the M. E. Church for fifteen years, was called by her Heavenly Father to the house of the Redeemer, where she will join the Heavenly hosts. A. MOORE.
Algiers, La., March 29, 1879.

Sister Amey Melton died at the residence of her father, Rev. H. Melton, March 22, 1879. She lived a faithful member of the M. E. Church and died the same, and her testimony was that her troubles were over and Heaven was her home. J. N. REYNOLDS.
Greesbeck, Limestone Co., Texas.

Sister Amay Butler died March 20, 1879, aged 41 years. Sister Butler was one of the most faithful members of the St. Marks M. E. Church, of Washington, La., for ten years, and after an illness of about two [illegible] she [illegible] sweetly in Jesus' arms. She was much beloved by all who knew her. She leaves a husband, Bro. Isaac Butler, and many friends to mourn her loss. FELIX LANDON.

Fell asleep in Jesus March 29th, 1879, Bro. Frank Wilson. He was born July 15, 1848, in St. John the Baptist parish, Louisiana, and in [illegible] joined Clinton Street M. E. Church and remained a faithful [illegible] member, a highly esteemed servant of God. While we [illegible] his loss we bow in submission to the Divine will of our [illegible]. He leaves a dear mother, [illegible] and a large [illegible] to mourn his loss, [illegible] of reunion [illegible] immortality.

texts gives instructive chapters in each. In one chapter a short history of Methodism is given. On first page of this issue we give a specimen chapter. We will have the book on sale, and we recommend it very highly to our preachers and people. Dr. Stevenson has for many years been a successful pastor and knowing just the instruction needed by beginners in religious and church life, could write intelligently and well.

New Publications.

A most valuable number is the American Agriculturist for April. There is a great variety of timely, practical articles for the field and garden, with a full hundred original illustrative engravings, large and small. Orange Judd Company, publishers, New York. $1.50 a year; 15 cents a number of newsdealers, or post-paid from publishers.

The National Prohibitionist with its fifteen editions issued simultaneously for as many different States, is a grand paper, and is meeting with deserved success. It takes high ground by advocating the alliance of all temperance organizations for the entire suppression of the liquor traffic by law. Its contributors are many of the most celebrated temperance workers in the Union, and is now recognized as the leading and best temperance paper in the country. For sample copies, sent free, address Frank M. Bemis, 1504 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

The April number of the International Review opens with an article on our Treaty Relations with China, by Mr. Hayes, a gentleman who has grown familiar with his subject by a long residence at sundry Chinese ports. The matter is treated in a lively and entertaining style. The second article on the Basque Legends, by Professor Crane of Ithaca, treats agreeably of the fairy lore of those people. Hillebrand's article on Bismarck is an admirably sketch of the great Chancellor, as he appears in his social hours, and in his frank intercourse with friends. Mr. Holden's article on the Cipher Despatches is probable the most striking in the number. Mr. Holden it will be remembered, was employed by Congress to decipher these famous messages, and no one can have a more thorough knowledge of them than he possesses. The article on Afghanistan, by Mr. Gustafson, is a trenchant and very successful article on Sir Henry Rawlison, convicting him out of his own mouth, by setting what he said a few years since in close juxtaposition with what he says now, and showing the direct contradiction between the two. The article by Mr. Belmont on the taxation of Municipal Bonds makes a very clear showing of the advantage of the usage of taxing these securities. The article on the Navy is likely to attract attention. The International Review is for sale by newsdealers. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York. Price for single numbers, 50 cents each; for a year (twelve numbers), $5.00.

I want to learn to sketch and draw, but have no teacher. What shall I get to enable me to learn without one? This is the question we have been often asked, but could never answer satisfactorily until now. Send $1.00 to Prof. E. E. Crall, Room 9, Cooper Institute, New York City, and you will get what you want.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	9¼@—
Ordinary	—a 9
Good Ordinary	—@10¼
Low Middling	—@10½
Middling	—@10¾
Good Middling	—@11
SUGAR—
Common	4½@ 5¼
Strictly Prime	5½@ 6
Yellow Clarified	7¼@ 7½
White	7½@ 8
MOLASSES—
Common	20@ 22
Choice	24@ 25
Strictly Prime	32@ 33
COFFEE—
Ordinary	11 @12
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl	$11.25
BACON—
Shoulders	—@ 4¼
Clear Rib Sides	5½@ 8
Clear Sides	5½@ 6¼
BEEF—
Medium Western	10 00to12 50
Choice Extra Western	to12 00
HAMS—
Plain	8½@ 9
Sugar Cured	9½ a 10½
LARD—
Refined	7 a 7½
FLOUR—
Common	$3 00 to 3 50
Extra	3 50 to 3 75
Double Extra	4 25 to 4 75
Family	5 50 to 8 00
Choice Fancy	5 75 to 6 50
BUTTER—
Choice New York	26 to 28
Good New York	20 to 25
Choice Western	17 to 18
Good Western	12 to 13
DRIED FRUIT—
Apples	2½ to 3½
Peaches	2 to 4
POULTRY—per doz.
Old Chickens	3 50 to 3 75
Young do	2 00 to 3 5
Ducks	— to 3 25
Geese	3 50 to 4 00
Turkeys	14 00 to 16 00
EGGS—per doz.
[illegible]	12 to 13
Louisiana	13 to 14
POTATOES—per bbl	2 75 to 2 50
SWEET POTATOES—per bbl.	1 50 to 1 7
ONIONS—per bbl	1 25 to 2 00
CABBAGE—per crate	3 00 to 3 50
RICE—
[illegible]	[illegible] to [illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible] to [illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible] to [illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible] to 6½
BEANS—
[illegible]	[illegible] to 3½
[illegible]	[illegible] to [illegible]
[illegible]	— to 95
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Lake	[illegible] to [illegible]

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates. Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit.
Most gratefully yours,
TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

Forney, Kaufman County, Texas, July 25th, 1877.

Dr. C. C. Moore:

Dear Sir—I desire to express to you my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived from the use of your Pills in curing fever and ague in my family. I have always looked upon the majority of Patent Medicines as first-class frauds, and I do so still. But your Pilules are surely an exception; for after I had used quinine until it ceased to have any effect, and my neighborhood physicians could recommend nothing else, all uniting in the testimony that it was the best anti-periodic known to the profession, like a drowning man catching at every straw, I commenced using the most reliable patent medicines of the day.

I first tried Ayer's Chill Cure, then Vinegar Bitters, and afterwards several other preparations recommended to me by my friends, with not the least benefit. It seemed as though nothing but change of climate would do any good. I had lost confidence in everything, and from the bottom of my heart could have damned your profession here and hereafter, as the greatest fraud of the age.

Fortunately, though, your medicine had made its way into the country. I heard for sometime of one or two remarkable cures it had made, yet, having been deceived so many times, I had no confidence in it; refused to give it a trial, until I went and saw the parties who had been cured of chills, and especially a young lady school-teacher in my neighborhood, who had suffered with chills ever since she was a child, with the exception of not more than three months at a time. Her evidence induced me to try your Pilules.

I bought three boxes, commenced according to directions, and I will pledge you my word and honor as a gentleman, that I haven't had a chill in my family since.

They are, without a doubt, the most remarkable preparation that has ever come under my observation. Possessing no perceptible taste, more than the sugar with which they are coated, the children will actually run races, when time for giving them comes, to see who will get its pill first.

When I think, sir, of the many nauseous doses I have poured down my poor little sufferers—when I recollect the many times I have heard them say, "Papa, I never shall get well," and when I look upon them now, fresh and rosy, in all the enjoyment of perfect health, my heart swells with gratitude to you, sir, and words are inadequate to express it.

I hope, for the sake of suffering humanity, your Pilules may become widely known, for I am satisfied that where they are once used, Quinine will cease to be given as a remedy for fever and ague.

Most gratefully yours,
Thomas F. Ivey.

P. S.—The profession here maintain that your Pilules are principally arsenic I consider that "bosh," as I have used Fowler's Solution, and know arsenic to be very dangerous when the dose is increased. I have noticed the result, while in your Pilules I can see no bad effect when two instead of one pill is given.

I consider, sir, that you have saved the life of one of my children. I don't think I say too much. I would like to know who you are—no idle curiosity, you may rest assured—but a genuine desire to know something of the man to whom I am so deeply grateful—if you are a regular graduate of medicines, etc., etc. If you are simply a farmer, like myself, and were accidentally to stumble upon such a remarkable remedy, hitherto unknown, I would have just as great a respect for you, as if you had a degree from every University in Europe.

An answer from you, sir, would give me great pleasure, but in any case, I shall ever remain, Most gratefully yours, T. F. I.

The foregoing letter came to me unsolicited and is a sample of a great many that I have received and am constantly receiving every day, commendatory of my Pilules.

The ease with which letters that are entirely fraudulent can be manufactured by unprincipled parties, to deceive the people, has led me to produce in fac-simile a few letters from different sections of the country, so that those acquainted with the parties may recognize the genuineness of their handwriting, and which I offer as proof positive of the efficacy of my remedy, such as my unprincipled imitators cannot produce in favor of their worthless "stuff." See pamphlet, "Dr. C. C. Moore on Malaria," for fac-similes.

Substitute for Quinine.

The most agreeable, certain, and efficacious remedy for Malarial complaints is Moore's Pilules. They can be substituted for Quinine in every instance, when that drug is recommended, and give a better and more certain result, and never leave any of the bad effects that are sure to follow a long course of medication with Quinine.

The stamp has a portrait of Dr. C. C. Moore, and is omitted by order of Internal Revenue Office.

Every box of Moore's Pilules has a private Internal Revenue stamp on it, an impression of which is given herewith. The success that has invariably attended the administration of Moore's Pilules in the treatment of Malarial complaints, gives me confidence in assuring the public that they are justly the best and safest remedy ever offered for all Malarial diseases.

They are a sure cure for chills.
They are excellent in all bilious derangements.
They cure Rheumatism, removing the cause—Malaria.
They aid Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, and Liver Complaints, Constipation, Piles, etc., because Malaria produces these troubles.

All Druggists supply Moore's Pilules. Price, 50 cents per box, of 50 lens-shaped pills —(50, 50)—beware of counterfeits. Moore's Pilules.

Dr. C. C. Moore 68 & 70 Cortlandt-st. New York.

Quarterly Conferences.

Navasota District Conference.

SECOND ROUND.

Planterseville, April 5-6; Brenham, April 12-13; Hempstead and Circuit, April 19-20; San Felipe, April 26-27; Courtney, May 3-4; Brenham Circuit, May 10-11; Anderson, May 17-18; Navasota, May 24-25; Millican, May 31 and June 1; Bryan and Brazos, June 7-8; Brewershill, June 14-15; Hearn, June 21-22.

The first district conference will convene at Courtney, commencing May 1st. All the brethren are requested to be present at the opening exercises, Thursday at 9 o'clock a.m.
W. L. MOLLOY, P. E.

Crall's Patent
Drawing Verifiers,
WITH COPIES.

A NEW INVENTION. Corrects the drawing where wrong and verifies it where right. Any [illegible] who will apply themselves during their spare hours at home may, by its use acquire the art of drawing anything they wish at sight. Beautiful and valuable Drawing Copies, with Manual of Sketching and Drawing accompanying it, in neat case, complete for $1.00. All dealers, or sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price. Address,
PROF. E. L. CRALL,
Room No. 9, Cooper Institute, New York City. [illegible] stamp for Students' Art Journal.

AGENTS WANTED For DR. MARCH'S Great Work [illegible] [illegible] just from the [illegible] J. C. McCURDY & CO. St. Louis, Mo.

ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.
123 Carondelet Street
Bet. Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.
n15 3t

FOR SALE!
A First-class Five-Horse Power Upright
Steam Engine,
AMES' MAKE.
Can be seen at work at this office.
A Bargain Offered.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabrell Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Cheplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS O. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.
Cloth, each - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - 50 cents

24 mo.
Cloth, each - - - 50 cents.
Roan, embrossed, each - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - $1 50

16 mo.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual,
Cloth, each - - - 75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.
☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.
Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Sheep, each - - - $1 50
Roan, embossed - - - 2 00

12mo., with Tunes.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Cloth, each - - - $1 00
This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges - - - 2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D., LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price............$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics, delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workmen who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

Indexical Silver Soap.

For Cleansing and Polishing Silver and Plated Ware, Window Glass, Mirrors, Marble, Paint, etc. This is the most convenient and effective preparation for these purposes ever offered to the public. It may be used even by inexperienced help with entire safety, as it contains nothing that can possibly injure the finest plate or jewelry. Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware have used this soap, and have given it their unqualified approval.

CAUTION.—The original and only genuine Silver Soap is known world wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, and is the only proper thing to use for cleaning Silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by
ROBINSON BROS & CO.,
n10 12t] Boston, Mass.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n13 tf Atlanta, Ga.

CONSUMPTION!! CAN BE CURED.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. Address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl Street, New York.

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors 15c.
n15 13t LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct.

New Publications.

NEW SINGING BOOK FOR THE MILLION!
CORONATION SONGS
—FOR—
PRAISE AND PRAYER MEETINGS,
HOME AND SOCIAL SINGING.
—BY—
Rev. Dr. CHARLES F. DEEMS
—AND—
THEODORE E. PERKINS.

Containing 151 Hymns with Tunes, which include more of the Standard material that the world will not suffer to die, and more new material that deserves trial than any other book extant.

Postpaid 30 cents. $25 per hundred.
A. S. BARNES & CO., Pubs.,
NEW YORK and CHICAGO.
n15 2t

BOOKS
—FOR—
Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts.); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

THE GREAT
JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with
STEEL RAILS!
Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

☞ IT IS ☜
180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
113 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
43 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.
☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE ☜

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY. M. LARA.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:
Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.
We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once, A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

PHOTO Visiting Cards now all the rage in Paris. One dozen beautiful gilt edged (round cornered) Cards with your Name and Potograph, only 50 cents; 3 dozen, $1.00; 3 Samples of Actresses full particulars and a 50 page book, 5c; or illustrated catalogue of Novelties Free.
E. NASON & Co., 113 Nassau Street, New York
n15 3t

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address, W. H. CHIDESTER, 218 Fulton Street, New York.

TEACHERS WANTED [illegible] during the Summer and [illegible] particulars, address J. [illegible]
n15 6t eow]

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards [illegible] alike, Name in Gold and Jet [illegible] n15 13t CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.

Young Folks' Corner.

[illegible]

AGROSTIC.

[illegible]

Lost Friends.

Here, we[illegible] many letters asking for information [illegible] friends. All such letters will be [illegible] in this column. We make no charge [illegible] publishing these letters from subscribers [illegible] the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR: Please allow me to inquire for my folks in Texas. My wife's name was Susannah; brother's Peter McKinsey; the elder girl's Harriet, the other Sally. They went to Texas with the widow McKinney, and lived on the Fulton road, one mile from Taylor.

Address TOM TAYLOR,
Prairie Station, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish information about my mother and two children. Mother's name is Beckie Wells, brother's Charlie, sister's Annie. They lived near Pontotoc, Miss., and left in 1865. I have heard from them but once since. They were then in Memphis. I ask all preachers and friends to make inquiries for them, for I want to see them very much. If found address me.

HENRY WELLS,
care Rev. J. M. Nevils, Ripley, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish information of my mother, Elvie Braxton, brothers Thomas and Archie, and sister Elizabeth Braxton. Our father, Harrison Braxton, is dead. I was sold from King Williams county, Virginia, in 1856, by Wm. M. Garrick to Messrs. Robinson & Smith, who brought me to Alabama; there I was sold to Edwin A. Glover and brought the Texas. I have many kin people in King William county, Virginia. Address

ROBERT BRAXTON,
care Prof. W. H. Jackson,
San Felipe, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my brother Jason or any of his children. He was sold from me in Mobile in 1848 to Mr. Lagoin, of [illegible]ppi, then he went by the name of Jason McKinzie. His [illegible] was Bettie, his daughter [illegible]. Our mother was Jollett [illegible]. I was sold to Edwin A. Glover and brought to Texas. I [illegible] by the name of Samuel, [illegible] a local preacher of the M. [illegible] Bro. Jason was also a preacher. Address

LEROY SAMUEL,
care Prof. W. H. Jackson,
San Felipe, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I desire to inquire for my mother's people. Her [illegible] Mary Duken; father [illegible] Reuben; grand-mothers [illegible]. Mother is from Frederick [illegible] Virginia. The last man [illegible] to whip her [illegible] and she ran off to Win[illegible] April (year [illegible]) October. [illegible] four brothers Robert, [illegible] and John and [illegible] Arkansas; [illegible] an aunt Eliza. Address

THOMAS YOUNG,
[illegible] C. L. Cramp, Batesville

DEAR EDITOR: A young colored [illegible] Geo. Washington has [illegible] as a butler in our [illegible] the last two years. [illegible] sisters and [illegible] slaves and [illegible] parish of [illegible]. In 1867 he came [illegible] other members of [illegible] Baton Rouge, [illegible] he has lost all trace [illegible] to find [illegible]

[illegible]

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster

[illegible] received [illegible] number of unquestionable [illegible] recommendations than any external remedy ever received from physicians, druggists, the press and the public. All praise them as a great improvement on the ordinary porous plasters and all other external remedies. For LAME AND WEAK BACK, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Kidney, [illegible], Neglected Colds, and all Local Aches and Pains, they are the best known remedy. Ask any one who has used them or any good physician and he will confirm the above statement. [illegible]

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

	Weight.	Bell & Mounting.	Price
[illegible]	175 lbs.	[illegible]	$40 00
[illegible]	225 lbs.	[illegible]	50 00
[illegible]	250 lbs.	[illegible]	75 00
[illegible]	360 lbs.	500 lbs.	110 00
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	200 00
[illegible]	[illegible]	1800 lbs.	250 00
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

We have arranged to furnish our churches with the bells at the prices named, which is the [illegible] as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, where they are made.

The bells are too well known to need [illegible] mendation from us.

[illegible] the bell shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

West Texas Conference

SEMINARY.

[illegible]

The school is located [illegible] central [illegible] Conference and easy of access.

[illegible] of the School is to give a [illegible]

[illegible] Teachers who have had success [illegible] schools.

TUITION.

[illegible]	per month	$1 00
[illegible]	"	2 00
[illegible] on the [illegible]	per mo.	4 00

[illegible] Ministers of [illegible] M. E. Church [illegible] by the Freed[illegible]

[illegible] Financial Agent.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It is open to all desiring to secure an education [illegible] advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50

Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878–9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
n49 tf Marshall, Texas.

Central Tennessee College

Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygiene will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in

Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month. Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after. For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, n6 tf Holly Springs, Miss.

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK.

Opening Spring Display

OF

NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally celebrated manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire, INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or [illegible] In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have [illegible]

DRESS GOODS.

[illegible] and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also [illegible] Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton [illegible] Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and [illegible] productions from the European centres.

Our [illegible] are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that preeminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

[illegible] UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list prices really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French [illegible] in the city. Also, the medium grades of [illegible] for ladies and children at very moderate [illegible]

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scalloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered [illegible] Handkerchiefs [illegible]

RIBBONS.

All [illegible] goods, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

[illegible]

[illegible]

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from two to five pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from [illegible] pounds to [illegible] pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

[illegible]

World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. J. M. Howe's

Inhaling Tube!

— AND —

COMMON AIR, WILL CURE CONSUMPTION IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

Send for Circular. The Tube, with full directions, postpaid. Sent on receipt of $1.50, or call at my residence, Passaic, N. J.

The Rev. N. N. Beers, of the [illegible] Wayne, Steuben Co., N. Y., writes:

It is now nearly thirty years since I commenced the inhalation of the common air under your instructions, and I have undiminished confidence in it as a remedy for consumption and other throat and lung diseases. It is in harmony with Nature's laws. I have now been preaching twenty-seven years since my recovery from a condition of tuberculosis, in which a council of physicians said it was impossible for me to live longer than three months. My lungs to-day are as sound as any man's can possibly be.

Yours affectionately, N. N. BEERS.

The Rev. B. M. Adams, of the N. Y. East M. E. Conference, says:

I thank the Lord that I ever saw you. The Inhaling Tube I obtained of you almost twenty years ago has been a wonderful blessing to me, and I am glad, through my recommendation, to many. I think Bro. Halsted's life was lengthened years by it. His chest enlarged although he was over fifty years old when he commenced using it and he led the Lord's battles with a shout long after the doctors told him he must stop. Many other dear friends of mine have had their lives lengthened by its use.

From Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., of the Sunday school Publications of the Church.

I have used your Tube at times for several years, and have unbounded faith in its philosophy. n2 79 tf.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap

For

Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf Look Box B, New Orleans.

LATEST THINGS IN MUSIC!

SHEET MUSIC.

"Where is my Boy To Night?"

Song and Chorus, with Piano accompaniment. Mailed on receipt of 25 cents.

SACRED MUSIC.

Hymn Service.

115 Songs with Music, for the Sunday-School. Only $10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

Gospel Hymns No. 3.

With Music, $30 per 100; 35 Cents by mail. Words only, $5 per 100; 6 Cents by mail.

Palmer's Book of Anthems.

192 pages; $10 per dozen; $1 by mail.

Easter Annual No. 3.

Six beautiful Carols for Easter, $4 per 100; 5 Cents by mail.

If you cannot find them at the nearest Music-store or Bookseller's, send to

BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers,

76 [illegible] Street, Chicago. | 76 East Ninth Street, New York.

n14 tf

HOME ARTS

[illegible]

BOOKS

Bishop on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price $1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings, and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price $2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book, and read and study it. Price 40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price $3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. R. C. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 00.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 12mo. Price $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price $1 50

One Hundred Years a Methodist. By Bishop Simpson, 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price $1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Sanctified Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price $1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price $1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price $2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church; with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price $1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price $1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need [illegible]. Price $1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptising, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:

Flexible cover, 12mo.	$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.	75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.	1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo.	2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price $1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost [illegible]

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversation, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Legh Richmond. This is a good book and has been read by tens of thousands, and [illegible]

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book $2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each 25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book: A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price $3 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen	$1 50.
Large size, each	20.
Large and illuminated, each	25.
Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred	$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100	$1 00.
Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100	$1 50
Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100	$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100	$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100	$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100	$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100	$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100	$1 00.
Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000	$2 00.
Exhorters License, per 100	$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100	$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100	$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100	$3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100	75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual,	30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price $1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.

Vol. I. } Vol. II. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price	$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—[illegible] By M. S. Terry. Price	$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price	$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price	1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price	1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price	1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price $24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

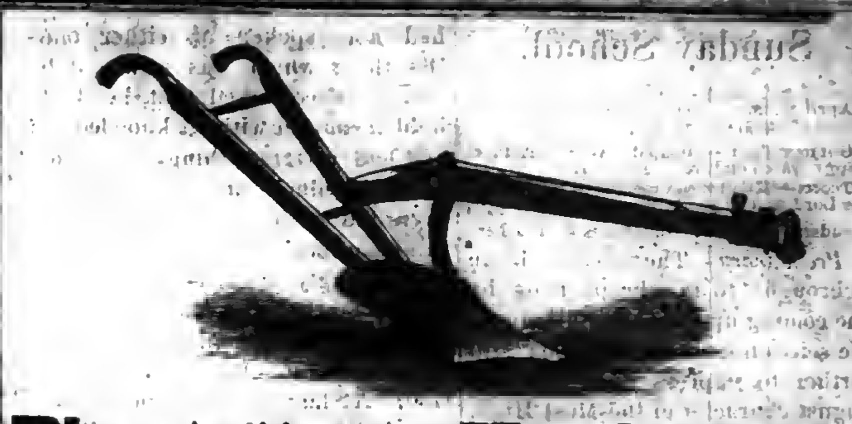
We have many [illegible]

[illegible]

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

[illegible]



Plantation Hardware,

Agricultural Implements

— AND —

MACHINERY,

☞ Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

Sole Southern Agent for Scott's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

B. J. WEST,

125 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

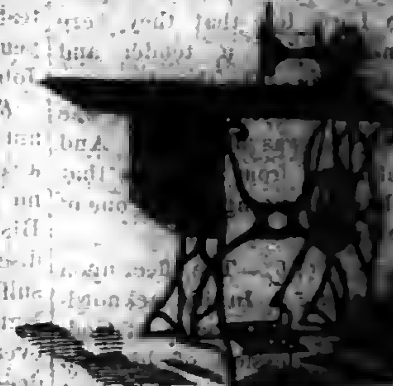
73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.



We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

☞ AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS. ☜

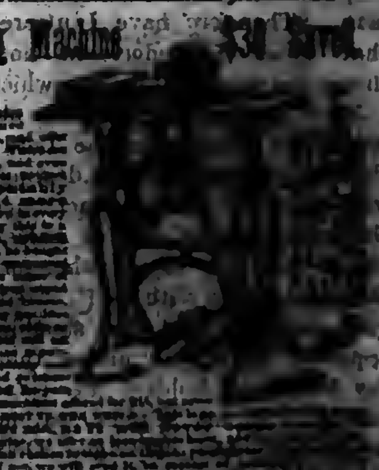
The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n917

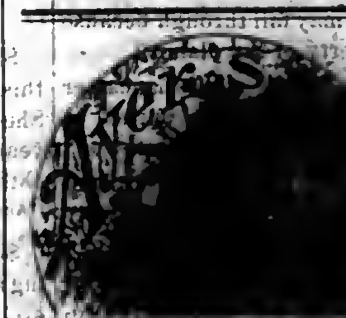
A Genuine Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine $30 Saved.

FOR $15.



[illegible]

THE TURNER M'F'G CO., [illegible]



Ague Cure

is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

BEATTY

[illegible]

Best Sewing Machine in the World.

Beautiful, Durable, Strong, Silent.

AUTOMATIC

[illegible]

WILLCOX & GIBBS S. M. CO.
(Cor. Bond St.) 658 Broadway, New York.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S BEAUTIFUL

ROSES

THE BEST

[illegible]

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO. [illegible]

THE TAMPICO [illegible]

[illegible]

CANCER

[illegible]

NEW [illegible]

[illegible]

Sunday School.

[illegible]

Letter from Alexandria

[illegible]

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14--NO. 16. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 350.

Southwestern.

[illegible] CONCERN,
[illegible] Orleans
[illegible] Agents.
[illegible]
[illegible] Advance.
[illegible]

may be because the bulldozer is yet at large; but it is tolerably clear that the migration is most felt in those States where there has been the most disposition to regard the negro not as a constituent element of the population with rights, but as an enemy to be subdued in one way or another.

COLORED MEN DENIED REPRESENTATION IN COURTS.
(From the Texarkana, Texas, Democrat.)

Pursuant to call, a large and respectable number of the prominent colored citizens met at Texarkana, Miller county, Ark., on Thursday evening last to take into consideration the colored man's rights—the rights guaranteed to him by the constitution of the United States and by the constitution of the State of Arkansas; also, what plan should be adopted for the purpose of laying the claims of the colored voters before the people.

C. Richards was chosen chairman and G. W. Westbrook, Secretary. The speech of the evening was made by E. Banister, which was forcible and to the point. Brief remarks were made by Mr. Patteat and others, after which a committee of five was appointed on resolutions as follows:

Messrs. Sumner Patent, G. W. Westbrook, J. A. Allen, R. Banister, and R. Davis. After a few moments the committee returned with the following report:

Notwithstanding a large number of our race have taken their departure for the far West that they might enjoy their rights during the remaining days of their half-spent lives, still we constitute about two-thirds of the voting population in this, the second Congressional district, and about 3 to 7 of Miller county. Our strong [illegible] have felled the trees, our [illegible] have cultivated the soil and [illegible] energy and industry we [illegible] contributed to the growth [illegible] of the Southern [illegible] Miller county, [illegible] have acquired large [illegible] such as farms, [illegible] Having thus be[illegible] with the develop[illegible] resources of [illegible] We feel that [illegible] recog[illegible] courts. [illegible] ed their immediate release, saying that the men had commited no offence, had only been on a "lark" to inspire the "niggers" with wholesome fear, and concluded their demand with a threat that unless it was complied with they would burn the town. The prisoners were released, and the White Leaguers returned to their Louisiana homes. The planters, fearing that there will be other "larks" of the same sort, and finding that the authorities are powerless to arrest and punish the guilty, are organizing for self-protection and arming their laborers. One of the leading negroes on each plantation is appointed captain of this improvised home guard, and his employees enlist as privates in the company. This looks as though under her boasted home rule Mississippi has made a long stride toward anarchy.

[illegible]

SPECIMEN NONSENSE.
(From N. O. Times.)

It appears that agents of the Kansas Pacific Railroad have been in the section and distributing tempting lithographs of glorious life in the Western States; a buffalo for instance, is represented running through a corn field with a negro tranquilly lassoing him. Again, a negro is represented as surrounded with his beloved game, squirrel, coon, rabbit, etc., and these things being calculated to catch his imagination it is thought had much to do with the impulse of leaving.

A REMEDY.
(Chicago Inter-Ocean.)

Last fall the chivalric bulldozers of Tensas and adjoining parishes in Louisiana killed off fifty or sixty colored people. Now there is a colored exodus from the same parishes and from Hinds and contiguous counties in Mississippi. This exodus is contemporaneous with the acquittal of the bulldozers at New Orleans, and yet the Democrats affect to not understand it. The best way to allay the excitement is to punish the men who shoot negroes.

MANHOOD TO THE SURFACE.
(New York Witness.)

In the Southern States generally the freedmen have been treated with little justice and less courtesy, but in Louisiana and Mississippi the Ku-Klux and bulldozers have murdered, outraged and robbed at will without restraint or punishment. The consequence is natural. The men who have such pitiful tales to tell as those which were interviewed at St. Louis, could not too soon escape from shameful persecution, and as they say, no hardship or difficulty they can encounter will be so bad as what they are escaping from. They are thus setting their faces like flint toward Kansas, the nearest free State where there is room for new settlers. There is no use in trying to deter such men from their purpose or to turn them back to the bondage, from which they are escaping. Their manhood has come to the surface, and like all wronged races they will be apt to come out of their long sufferings with a strength of character that can overcome all difficulties.

CHRISTIAN SUGGESTION.
(Western Christian Advocate.)

Many of these emigrants are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. But inasmuch as this movement is just now under headway, there is no provision made as yet to supply these people with pastors of their own race. It will, therefore devolve upon our brethren in Kansas to look after them with vigilance and faithfulness. We earnestly bespeak for them immediate and solicitous attention. Let them be looked up and have the pastoral oversight they need.

NOT [illegible].
([illegible] D.D.)

The colored people are poor, and [illegible] in society, it is true; but [illegible] to be free—not in name [illegible] but in the sense that other [illegible] free. They are not deluded [illegible] idea that there are sixty acres [illegible] ahead. What they are [illegible] freedom from perse[illegible] a chance to repair the [illegible] has made in [illegible] edu[illegible] in force [illegible] It is better to die [illegible] to en[illegible]

[illegible]

A Great Pioneer.

BY REV. C. P. HARD.

The South India Conference during its recent session at Madras unanimously by resolution expressed its love and thanks to Rev. William Taylor, and requested Bishop Bowman, presiding, to appoint him the "Agent" of the Conference. They recognized his providential mission with reference to South America and endorsed his delay as as to returning to India, while they very much regretted his absence. They were gratified for the assistance rendered in securing the consent of men to go from America to their eastern field, and that of Bishops in transferring them and for the furnishing of their passage money. Bishop Bowman encouraged the brethren in their submission to this providential detention by speaking of the magnitude and importance of that South American work. This calls to the mind of the writer some of the many traces of heroic effort which Brother Taylor left behind him in India, observed by those of us who saw him there but a few days, yet who traversed subsequently all of the scenes of his labors in South India, and toiled for years in some of the fields which he had secured for the victories of our great Master and our glorious Methodism, and hence are able to "speak that we do know and testify that we have seen."

We have marked how God has employed this great and humble man. This author whose ten volumes have been purchased in many countries to the extent of scores if not hundreds of thousands, this evangelist whose influence is acknowledged around the globe, as in Spurgeon's pulpit and the London labors of Moody and Sankey to join whom he was invited from India by a superintending committee; this pulpit orator, hardly equaled in his power over vast audiences, and welcome to the grandest churches of evangelical Christendom, has with rare self-abnegation started work in the most unpleasant and degraded portions of Asiatic cities, with no assistance but that of God, standing in some extemporized booth or in the open air. In an atmosphere reeking with filth and pestilence he has planted, among the debased the standard of our faith, and amid a babel of contending clamors has compelled audiences for the victorious truth of our holy religion and our denominational tenets. Societies have been happily transformed, and a saved and witnessing church has arisen amid such unfavorable circumstances.

In Bombay, where a Parsee hotel agent said in the beginning of 1872, that he had "never heard the name of Methodist" in that city, having a population in Queen Victoria's dominions ranking next to that of London, the foundations of our church were laid by this pioneer, with such real spiritual success that, as Brother Gamble says, in a letter last week, giving first impressions: "They are primitive Methodists and their Monday evening prayer meeting shames the frequently small attendance in Western lands. Their two hundred members represent many hundred attendants, daily street preachings in several languages and a native church and congregation having a pastor preaching in Mahratti, Rev. George Bowen, editor, author, scholar and holy man. Their printed quarterly plan, as long ago as June 1877, had the names of a half-dozen native (Hindoo) local preachers, who preach in real missionary work and win Hindoos to the Lord Jesus. One of his Parsee converts has now improved his education in London and has returned to India and is preaching powerfully and boldly to the sun-worshippers. The Bombay Methodists gave between seven and eight thousand dollars to our church work last year.

In Calcutta the long, arduous struggle of the great evangelist in visiting twelve hours a day, in palace and hovel—in hospital and street, to establish real religion in that dry moral soil, succeeded, so that now a half thousand members and probationers using their second church to which twelve hundred people come [illegible] witnesses the presence of [illegible] ed[illegible] listening to the Gospel [illegible] to the [illegible] work [illegible] The [illegible] last year by their gift of between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. This conflict on land and sea goes forward under the leadership of Dr. J. M. Thoburn, whom the majority of the Methodist preachers in India desired as Bishop in 1875.

In Madras, the capital of the third Presidency, the swiftly prosperous toil of the grand pioneer was recognized and aided by some of the first military and civil officers of Government in India, some of whom are now glorified and no doubt rejoice they laid no obstacles in the way of that work of God but gave their hospitality by the half year. The Minutes of the Conference which have just arrived, report three Methodist circuits and four pastors in that city, where the foundation of the second church was laid at the close of the recent conference by the presiding elder, W. B. Osborn, of National Camp Meeting renown, as the Bishop who had just laid the corner stone of our third church in Bangalore, an adjacent city of the district, was obliged to take the steamer earlier than had been expected.

In Madras a native preacher, member of conference, gives all his time to the Tamil masses, as does another member of the conference, second preacher at Allahabad. Several of the pastors preach in the vernaculars. One-tenth of the membership of two thousand are Hindoos converted in our church. The conference of thirty has several natives of India.

We do well to pray for the evangelist. A Scotch gentleman, an editor visiting us from India last week, said, "I saw so plainly that God was with Brother Taylor that I judge it wisdom for me to press near him and share the work and the blessing."

That South India Conference has one of its probationers, dear Brother Oakes, at Drew Theological Seminary.

The Catholic Church has honored its Xaviers. Great commercial houses have favored those who have advanced their trade in new and rich territories; wise governments have approved their generals who have carried their flags victoriously over wide space to distant frontiers. The Methodist Episcopal Church does wisely when it warmly sympathizes with the self-sacrificing devotion of its great evangelist who seeks to add vast portions of two continents to the territory of our beloved Zion.—Northern Advocate.

Walworth, N. Y.

The Sabbath a Savings Bank.

The Sabbath is God's special present to the workingman, and one of its objects is to preserve his life, and preserve efficiently his working tone. In vital system it acts like a compensation pond—it replenishes the spirits, the elasticity and vigor which the last six days have drained away, and supplies the force which is to supply the six days succeeding, and in the economy of existence it answers the same purpose as the economy of income is answered by a savings bank. The frugal man, who puts aside a pound to-day, and another pound next month, and who, in a quiet way, is always putting by his stated pound from time to time, when he grows old and frail, gets not only the same pounds back again, but a good many pounds besides. And the conscientious man, who husbands one day of existence every week—who instead of allowing the Sabbath to be trampled and torn in the hurry and scramble of life, treasures it up devotedly—the Lord of the Sabbath keeps it for him, and in length of days and a hale old age gives it back with usury. The savings bank of human existance is the weekly Sabbath.—Northwestern Review.

Joss Houses in San Francisco.

The building in which the First Congregational Church once held its meetings is now a Chinese Joss house. The old colored Methodist Church building is in possession of the Chinese. The Second Congregational Church was compelled to change its location through being surrounded by the Chinese. The famous old Unitarian Church, in which the inspired utterances of Starr King used to resound, had to succumb to the encroachments of the Chinese, and it is only a question of time when the First Presbyterian Church will become a Chinese temple, as it cannot exist as a Christian church, owing to the [illegible] of the Chinese.—San Francisco Post.

The Church Extension Annual.

The Church Extension Annual for 1878, including the thirteenth annual report of the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church makes an illustrated octavo pamphlet of 108 pages, filled up in every part of it with information of greatest interest and value to the Church; and the whole admirably arranged by its indefatigable editor, Rev. Dr. Kynett. About one fourth of its pages are made up of suggestions, illustrated with neat and economic plans for building church edifices—just the kind of information needed by building committees in every part of the Church. We heartily wish that every member of every Methodist congregation in the land might carefully read this number of the Church Extension Annual. It is the best, by a hundred per cent., which has thus far been issued by the Board. We make room for a few of the interesting statistical summaries:

This work was organized by direction of the General Conference of 1864, and the legal incorporation was effected in March, 1865. The first money was received by the the treasurer in October of the same year, and the first appropriation was made in the spring of 1866. During the thirteen years of active work which have followed, we have collected and disbursed $1,245,179, 51, of which $303,411 23 belong to our Loan Fund, from which churches are aided only by loans. Of this Loan Fund $121,951 65 have been returned to the treasury and re-loaned to other churches.

The Board has aided in all 2,396 churches. Of these 1,827 received only donations; 270 received nothing but loans; and 299 received both donations and loans.

The total number of our Methodist Episcopal churches in the United States is, in round numbers, 16,500, of which 6,500 have been built within the last thirteen years, so that one in seven of the whole number of our churches has received aid from our Board; and more than one third of all the increase since our work began.

The following tabulated statement will show the annual receipts and disbursements from the beginning:

NET RECEIPTS ON GENERAL ACCOUNT.

Year	Conf's.	Personal & Mis'lan's.	Interest.	Total.
1866....	$37,473 58	$2,803 59	$243 00	$30,520 26
1867....	27,961 42	3,111 07	......	32,072 49
1868....	50,216 67	3,459 60	390 84	59,067 11
1869....	62,009 63	6,832 75	872 15	[illegible]
1870....	63,768 01	3,737 05	1,757 14	69,262 90
1871....	71,775 80	6,030 66	3,724 22	81,530 49
1872....	66,554 89	2,441 61	6,086 85	75,006 66
1873....	82,112 21	3,364 30	6,533 27	91,799 [illegible]
1874....	79,304 67	7,506 66	8,011 48	94,223 17
1875....	68,262 96	6,749 93	7,874 94	82,577 [illegible]
1876....	56,851 59	14,216 90	7,176 60	78,245 15
1877....	54,506 75	18,862 56	9,814 11	83,183 42
1878....	52,636 94	8,255 06	9,807 85	70,799 85
	$794,606 84	$86,324 77	$61,404 67	$941,768 26

RECEIPTS ON LOAN FUND.

Year.	Donations to Fund.	Loans Returned.
1866........	....	......
1867........	....	......
1868........	$1,325 00	......
1869........	10,322 00	400 00
1870........	33,671 24	4,839 00
1871........	62,014 00	7,061 76
1872........	36,406 50	6,812 05
1873........	36,224 00	7,417 10
1874........	14,476 35	16,478 70
1875........	49,994 00	15,108 73
1876........	14,778 04	15,961 71
1877........	26,349 00	26,730 00
1878........	12,861 00	21,157 61
	$303,411 23	$121,951 65

TOTAL RECEIPTS.

On General Account........	$941,768 28
On Loan Fund Account........	303,411 23
Net Receipts........	$1,245,179 51
If we add to net receipts on General Account...	$941,768 28
Amounts borrowed from bank........	50,000 00
And amounts borrowed on bonds........	48,950 00
Whole amount in Gen'ral Account		$1,040,718 28
Net receipts on Loan Fund Account........	$303,411 23
Loans returned........	121,951 65
Whole amount on Loan Fund Ac't.		425,362 88
Total in use........		$1,466,081 16

DISBURSEMENTS ON GENERAL ACCOUNT.

Donations to churches........	$672,783 02
Bank debts paid........	50,000 00
Discounts, etc........	3,977 22
Bonds redeemed........	29,350 00
Interest and annuities........	70,247 29
Office furniture........	1,000 00
Office and incidental expenses, including rent, postage, stationery, etc.	36,755 32
Salaries and traveling expenses........	106,987 57
Publishing Annuals........	14,863 14
Lithographic Plans........	748 37
Expenses of Gen. Com. & Anniversaries........	6,776 95
		$1,012,408 88

DISBURSEMENTS ON LOAN FUND.

Loans to Churches........	$366,187 90
Property (as received)........	82,287 94
		448,475 84
Total disbursed........		$1,460,884 72
Balance carried to 1879........		6,196 44
		$1,466,081 16

A NOTEWORTHY FACT.—The net contributions of the people to our cause, apart from property given and amounts subject to an annuity, (which are preserved intact,) amount to $985,583 97. The total amount donated and loaned to Churches is $1,059,070 92. So we have aided churches by donations and loans with $73,536 95 more than the people have given us. This has been by the use of amounts subject to annuity and of loans returned, which latter item already doubles the amount of annual expenses.

He who commences with certainty will end with doubts, but he who is content to begin with doubts may end with certainty.

Young Men, Beware of Drink.

One other fact—and I deal in facts. A young man said to me, "Mr. Gough, I never was intoxicated, or anything like it, but once in my life—never; and on the occasion to which I refer, I was not so far intoxicated but that I knew every thing which occurred. I went home. I had been with some young companions, and I ascended the stairs whistling. As I went up toward the top of the house, my room being at the very top, I saw the door of a room occupied by a servant girl open. I went in. I never should have gone in if I had not been drinking. I was not just right. The girl screamed.

"My mother came up and said, 'George, I never believed my son would be such a scoundrel.' Said he, 'I just shut my fist, and I struck her a terrific blow in the mouth. This hand was stained with my mother's blood! And now, sir, looking at that hand, I say sometimes, as Shakspeare makes Lady Macbeth say, "Out damned spot!" And I would give that hand to be cut off at the wrist if I could forget the blow given in that one act of intoxication, the first and the last of which I was ever guilty."

I say to young men, beware of this thing, because it is a snare. It is fearfully deceptive. Every man who drinks intends to do as other men do—intends to be a moderate drinker. I have said this over and over again, because I believe it to be important. Every man who becomes intemperate does so by a course of argument, from the beginning all the way down that fatal sliding scale to ruin.—Gough.

Bible Distribution in Texas.

Rev. W. B. Rankin, Superintendent of the American Bible Society for Texas, reports the following work done by Colporteurs during November, December, January and February: Days of service 828; miles traveled on official duty 10,634; families visited by them 10,005; families found destitute of the Bible 1,667; destitute families supplied 1,613; destitute individuals supplied in addition 587, number of books sold 4,388; value of books sold $1,600 15; number of books distributed gratuitously 1,163; value of books distributed gratuitously $336 67; received from churches and individuals in aid of the Bible cause $221 75. The people are learning that the Bible colporteur is the cheapest and best missionary. Through him every family in the field is offered the Word of God, whose entrance giveth light. He disseminates truth without mixture of error. Napoleon said, "The world owes its social order to the Bible."

A Case of Bulldozing.

It is ascertained from an eyewitness that about 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the 2d of April, while the police jury of the parish of East Carroll were in session at Lake Providence, an armed mob consisting of Paul Jones, Larche Jones, Jim Gargaro, Sheb Powell, the two McGinnesses, Tobe Stevens and B. H. Lanur entered the building, and presenting cocked pistols at the heads of the jurors, threatened to fire unless they instantly wrote their resignations. Under this threat the entire jury resigned.

The present jury is Leopold Meyer, Jackson Erling, Peter Bach, John Littleton and F. M. Hayes. How many were present has not been ascertained.—Times.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company require every man entering their employ to sign the following pledge: "I hereby promise and agree that, while I am in the service of the C. & N. W. R. R. Co., I will entirely abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors of every kind, including ale, beer and wine, and that I will not frequent dram shops or billiard saloons or other places where such liquors are sold." A good example.

A colored man once said in a class-meeting: "Brethren, when I was a boy I took a hatchet and went in de woods. When I found a tree that was straight, big, and solid, I didn't touch dat tree; but when I found one leaning a little and hollow inside, I soon had him down. So when de debbil goes after Christians, he don't touch dem dat stand straight and true, but dem dat lean a little and are hollow inside."

A Greenbacker was elected mayor of Kansas City, Missouri.

General News Items.

Sir Anthony Panizzi, librarian of the British museum died.

The municipal elections in New Jersey show Republican gains.

The Pope declined to receive Archbishop Purcell's resignation.

The President nominated Thomas H. Dickson to be postmaster of Vicksburg.

The Grand Lodge of Louisiana I. O. G. T., elected officers in Baton Rouge on the 9th.

Chief Moses and several of his tribe called on Secretary Schurz and will visit the President.

A destructive fire visited Coffeeville, Miss., on the 9th. Several prominent buildings were burned.

Arrangements have been concluded for an international maritime exposition at Antwerp in 1880.

Republicans elected their municipal ticket in Springfield, Illinois; the Democrats in Albany, New York.

The Patrie announces it has reason to believe that the marriage of King Alfonso, of Spain, to Arch-Duchess Maria, of Austria, will take place in July.

The Khedive accused the foreign ministers of a desire to establish laws repugnant to Mohammedans, and removed them from office to make way for natives.

The Tennessee division of the St. Louis and Southeastern railroad was sold in Nashville to the Louisville, Nashville and Great Southern Railroad for $725,000.

Miners of Houghton and Calham districts, England, resolved to destroy the property of owners and managers. The latter are leaving or barricading their houses. A conflict with the police is imminent.

Judge Dundy, in the United States court, on application of T. H. Tibbles, granted a writ of habeas corpus, directed to Brigadier General Crook, commanding him to show cause why he held the Ponca Indians prisoners at Fort Omaha. Leading lawyers have volunteered their services to the Indians.

Col. Pearson's command at Ekowe, South Africa, is suffering from sickness and a scarcity of provisions. 20,000 Zulus are posted near. An English camp of a convoy was surprised on the banks of the Intambe, and only fifteen of Capt. Moriarty's men escaped; forty wagon drivers and followers, and 25 Zulus were killed.

A number of representative colored men of Boston held a meeting on the night of the 9th to consider a plan of furthering the negro exodus from the South. A committee was appointed to call a mass meeting in Faneuil Hall, and arrange for means to transport as many as may be desirous of leaving for new homes in the West.

The Russian revolutionary committee have sent letters to all the Imperial dignitaries, at St. Petersburg, saying that though they do not intend to attack the Czar, they will not cease to kill the attendants, especially the heads of the police deparment, so long as the treatment of political prisoners is unameliorated.

The Capitole publishes a letter written by Garibaldi before leaving Caprera. He says: Italy owes gratitude to the royal house for having contributed to its unity, but it did not acomplish it alone. The country was more flourishing under its old tyrants than it is now. It condemns Signor Depretis in unmeasured terms, and concludes "The monarchy is not eternal. Its duration will be in proportion as it merits the affection of the people and calls to its councils not flatterers, but capable and truthful men."

The Bulgarians are determined to have a national democracy of the severest simplicity. All parties are united in the determination that the legislature should be [illegible] ed wholly by the people. The Bulgarian Assembly passed six more articles of constitution receiving there shall be no censorship [illegible] the press. Even religious publications are to be free, though censorship therefore was demanded by some clerical deputies. The [illegible] bly has also received against the creation of a senate after a [illegible] debate, during which the [illegible] of a senate quitted the house. National party are greatly [illegible] ed at the progress [illegible] hope to finish the [illegible] fore Easter. The election [illegible] sixty-six additional [illegible] with the present [illegible] elect a prince, has [illegible] the 27th.

Southwestern ... [illegible]

APRIL 17, 1879.

[illegible]

The Negro Exodus.

The ... exodus has come to be ... [illegible] ... many said it would amount to nothing; only a few deluded negroes would go, and ... come back in disgust. Even now, because of ignorance of the real facts in the case, many consider the movement of no special consequence. The leading papers of the South keep the full significance of the movement from the people by suppression of the facts. Already thousands of colored people have left Louisiana and Mississippi, and many hundreds have gone from other States, and yet other thousands are planning to go. The tide has set in steadily and strongly and what the end will be no man can say. Some of the Western and Northwestern States will not want the colored emigrant, but others will, and two or three millions of them could be scattered through the Northwest and find homes, and their presence scarcely be known. At present the exodus is in the nature of a stampede, but rapidly organizations are being formed to organize and direct the movement. One organization at Washington has several United States Senators in its Executive Committee. Very much is said about the colored people starving on the way. No doubt there will be suffering, but colored people have more money put away than even their friends often think. Besides, organized relief associations are springing up in every city of the North. The old anti-slavery sentiment is waking up, and money and clothing will pour into St. Louis from a hundred cities. The religious papers of the North are urging that money and clothing be sent, and the appeal will be responded to. [illegible]

Kansas. His merchant ... the contract and the planter was a ... man financially. This is a specimen.

The ... of this movement of colored people northward are manifold.

A committee of Kentuckians said to Mr. Lincoln in 1862, "you must not free the slaves, because, 'they will run away and leave us.'" Mr. Lincoln's reply was: "They will not run unless they have something to run for." The South is the natural home for the colored men, and he is naturally loth to move from his place of residence. But in slave time the thousands who made their way to Canada, in spite of Southern patrolers and Northern slave hunters, "had something to run for," and they did it. We do not pretend to say that all the charges of outrages upon the colored people of the South are true, but enough are true to give them "something to run for" now. And in saying this we do not refer to the necessary antagonisms which come between the whites and blacks because of race, changed relations, ignorance, etc. After making full allowance for these, we say that the treatment of the colored people in the South since the war, has given exhibitions of ingratitude, inhumanity and brutality sufficient to bring the blush of shame to every honest American's cheek.

Of these and other phases of this movement we shall speak next week.

Will Some Brother Explain?

We are told over and over again by the bishops and editors and Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, that that branch of Methodism has nothing whatever to do with politics, either as to men or measures. Will some one then please explain the sensitiveness of the editors of that Church over adverse criticisms upon the doings of the Democratic party? Why is it that whenever any paper, especially if that paper be an organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has anything to say against any measure proposed by the Democratic party, there is a howl among the editorial fraternity of the M. E. Church South, against that paper and its editor? If the M. E. Church South has nothing to do with political parties or political measures why this haste to denounce critics of the Democratic party?

Then again why should a man be denounced as unfraternal to the M. E. Church South, if his paper speaks against any Democratic party measure. For example Dr. Fowler, of New York, sees in the ascendency and proposed measures of the Democracy in Congress danger to the Republic, and says so. At once from Galveston to Baltimore, his fraternity to the M. E. Church South is called in question, and he is belabored as having denied the faith he professed at Louisville. None of the Doctor's denouncers for a moment stop to discuss the merits of the great constitutional questions involved in the present contest going on in Congress. No, no, they have no time for that. Dr. Fowler has dared to say that the spirit and measures of the Democracy in Congress are too much like the spirit and measures of the same men and party in 1861 to be safe: Therefore Dr. Fowler is unfraternal to the Methodist Episcopal Church South. What puzzles us is to know what Dr. Fowler's opinion of any political party has to do with the question of his fraternal feelings toward the M. E. Church South? Or why is it that several prominent editors of that Church rush to the front with words of ... denunciation upon Dr. Fowler because he criticised the [illegible] ... Dr. Haygood for example, a ... dearly beloved brother, ... of Richmond, Virginia ... the world in these ... [illegible]

Alcorn University of Mississippi.

This Institution located at Rodney, Mississippi, is supported by the State and attended by colored young men and women. We are glad to learn that under the presidency of Rev. Dr. ... Revels of the ... Conference, ... The students are ... [illegible]

[illegible] Convention.

A national convention of colored men meets in Nashville, Tenn., May 7th. The gathering promises to be largely attended. Great good ought to come from this assembly. The executive committee has fixed upon the following subjects for discussion:

1—Migration.
2—The sanitary condition of the colored people.
3—Beneficial associations, the expediency of consolidating them.
3—Relation of the Negro to the labor question.
5—The present political status of the Negro.
6—The necessity of a National Review devoted to the interests of the Negro-American.
7—The moral and social condition of the Negro.
8—The opportunities and capabilities for educated Negroes.
9—How shall we promote race unity, and what are the elements which now retard it.
10—The necessity of agitating the question of the civil rights of the Negro until they are fully secured.
11—The necessity of Lyceums for the literary advancement of the Negro.
12—Theory and practice of American christianity.
13—The necessity of technical and industrial education of our youth.
14—The duty of assisting our youth of both sexes in attaining higher and special education.
15—Necessity of the cultivation of commerce.
16—Agriculture and its relation to the Negro race.
17—Are the laws administered with justice to the Negro?
18—Influence of woman.

A Good Indication.

The Texas Christian Advocate (Southern Methodist) says:

> Among the encouraging facts that the present outlook of Texas Methodism exhibits is the effort in so many charges to establish and sustain prayer-meetings and to organize class-meetings, which were among the chief glories of primitive Methodism.

Of course the reference is to the M. E. Church South in Texas. If we had intimated that our sister church in Texas was slack in the matter of prayer and class-meeting we would have been treated to such epithets as "slanderer," "falsifier," etc., after the manner of our Galveston contemporary of late. Our object in quoting the above is that we may sincerely rejoice in this indication of real prosperity in the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Texas.

A Delusive Hope.

The following card was published in San Francisco last Friday:

> The Chinese companies are daily in receipt of applications for laborers to go to the Southern States, notably Mississippi and Louisiana, to take the place of negro labor now emigrating. The officers of these companies wish to be expressly understood that they have no control over their people's labor, and have never brought or caused to be brought one of their countrymen here, and have never contracted their labor or collected their wages in any manner whatsoever, the press of California to the countrary nothwithstanding.
>
> THE CHINESE COMPANY.

How Girls are Ruined.

The Chief of Police of New York says that:

> Three-fourths of the abandoned girls in that city were ruined by dancing. Young ladies allow gentlemen privileges in dancing, which, if taken under any other circumstances, these gentlemen would be reported as improper persons.

We commend this testimony to the parents who think it of little moment whether their daughters dance or not.

Judge Whitaker of the Superior Criminal Court of this city, in giving his charge to the Grand Jury, calls special attention to the crime of carrying concealed weapons. He makes this significant remark:

> It is not so much the idle and vicious who endanger the public peace by this practice, as those pretending to refinement, respectability and social position.

This is the exact truth. The real criminals in this popular crime against society are the "gentlemen" here referred to.

The May number of the International Review will be more than ordinarily interesting. Mr. Longfellow and Mrs. Mulock Craik the author of "John Halifax, Gentleman" will contribute and Mr. Hamerton will conclude his interesting account of the Art Exhibition in Paris in 1878, during this time principally with American artists. Felix Oswald has written an article on "American Autocrats" ... the same number of this periodical.

The May St. Nicholas will contain no less than seven short stories, besides the two serials. Among ... will be the conclusion of ... Spofford's story ... [illegible]

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. H. T. O. Abbot, Shreveport: "Our church is in a good spiritual condition. Have commenced a protracted meeting, with 2 converts."

Rev. W. A. Primus, Lake Providence: "The work here is growing. Poverty greatly prevails among our people."

Rev. Jas. Hayward, Franklin: "I commenced a revival on Monday night, March 31, continuing it until Friday, April 4. We were blessed with 4 converts—one the widow of the Baptist brother, McDonald, who died last year. She joined us in her old age, about 70 years. Sunday after sacrement we recieved 5 on probation."

Quite an interesting meeting was held in Union Chapel M. E. Church Monday evening April 7th in the interest of the colored Sabbath-school of the city. A good congregation was present, and the Sabbath-school under the management of the Superintendent Bro. Edward Augustus, was present and added greatly to the interest of the meeting. Addresses were made upon various subjects relating to the Sabbath-school work by Prof. A. A. Johnson, Rev. W. P. Forrest, and Rev. Jas. M. Vance.

Rev. J. H. Bully, Springfield: "I take occasion to add to the above that while our little church—some nine years old—has experienced of late some variances all has now quieted down. We meet Thursday evenings for prayer and exhortation and some four or five times, including Sunday-school, on Sabbath. Hard and discouraging as are the times, we wear along on our poor fare for this body and we trust better for the soul. The lecture of Dr. Perkins on Temperance was well received and a universal desire expressed to hear him again by a full house."

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. L. Boone, Marion: "M. Adams held our first quarterly conference; 2 joined the church."

Rev. A. Davis, Jackson: "There have been eight accessions to date. The church is prospering."

Rev. D. D. Goodwin: "We have had quite a revival here. During five nights there were 22 accessions."

Rev. B. L. Nevils, Buena Vista: "The people are very poor. I want by the grace of God to make this a Methodist circuit. So pray for us backwoods folks."

A correspondent in Holly Springs says our people there have been having a grand revival during the last week; 33 converts and the good work still goes on.

Rev. P. E. Bradwell, Fayette: "A protracted meeting just closed resulted in 57 converts and 85 accessions. We ask the Lord to give us Fayette. Our Sunday-school is large, 250 in attendance."

Rev. C. W. Ivey, Shuqulak: "I arrived here in due time to save the church. The members were much troubled. The stewards met me in a good spirit. The church is looking up again. There was not a vacant seat at morning and evening services."

Rev. P. Jamison, Shubuta: "Our Sabbath-school is in a very prosperous condition. Elder Dunn was well pleased with it, and gave us a beautiful address. The children have been reciting verses, and I promised to publish the name of the one who recited the most verses. April 6, 161, of that number Miss Clara Delany recited 44."

TEXAS.

Rev. Jeremiah Smith, Huntsville: "The church is growing; Sunday-school also."

Rev. J. W. Childs Beaumont: "Presiding elder Shackleford held our quarterly conference. The people were glad to see him, and we had a protracted meeting with 16 additions to the church."

Thad Norris, Texarkana: "Our church under Rev. Taylor Moore has 37 members, 4 probationers; 25 children in Sunday-school. Revs. T. H. Harrison and Goldbor preached good sermons for us.

G. J. Starnes, Victoria: "Allow me to commend the work of Rev. P. Gates at this place. Our protracted meeting commenced March 30. Up to this time have 44 conversions. The meeting continues."

Rev. Joseph Harden, Beaumont: "On the 3d of April I visited Rev. C. August. I was requested by the elder of the A. M. E. Church to preach for them, and did so in the afternoon. The Sunday-school of our own church has 100 in attendance; a few weeks ago there were only 25."

Rev. A. Lockhart, Pilot Point: "I am at my post; arrived March 9. The people here are poor, mostly immigrants from other States, and few of them land owners. We organized at Bro. Trammel's house, 13 joined, several probationers, a Sunday-school was organized with 26 pupils. I have three other appointments. Pray that the Lord will prosper his church in Denton county."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. Peter Martin, Gallatin: "We have kept up a regular battle for eight weeks. The result has been victory on the Lord's side; 70 conversions to date. Rev. Wm. Bryant, Peter Ventrees, P. Phillips and Dr. Ellison of the church South will preach for us to-night."

ARKANSAS.

Rev. J. O. Thompson was transferred from Springfield, Tennessee conference to Wesley Chapel, Little Rock conference. His prospects are encouraging.

From Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

DEAR EDITOR—We are in the midst of a glorious revival which has been going on for the last five weeks. Up to date there have been 66 conversions and 73 united with the church and a great many mourners still at the altar. We have with us Dr. J. P. Andrews, of the Meharry Medical Department of Central Tennessee College. He has been with us all the time during the meeting and is much beloved by all the people. He preaches with great acceptability. We also had with us our beloved Presiding Elder, B. B. Manson. He preached three very acceptable sermons, held his quarterly conference and administered the sacrament to 249 persons. Bros. W. Lillard, H. Robinson, B. James, W. Miller, all of the Tennessee Conference; Revs. Phœnix and T. O. H. Thomas and Dr. Bass of the A. M. E. Church; Rev. McFerrin of the M. E. Church South, and Rev. Olden of the Baptist Church have all rendered efficient service. Our church has been crowded every night for five weeks and a great many nights over-run. The entire membership, with a few exceptions, worked as faithfully as I ever saw members work. Our love feast was a season of joy; over 200 expressed their love for Jesus in a few words, and a great many were debarred from speaking on account of the shortness of time.

The M. E. Church South, the Presbyterian and the Cumberland are holding a union protracted meeting here, night and day, with great success. Seventy odd have been converted. There have been among the white and colored, over three hundred conversions. Our church is the leading colored church here.

We anticipate building a new church for the congregation and membership of James' Chapel, which will cost us $3,500 to $4,000. We propose letting the contract out very soon. The members all are very anxious to commence the building and have pledged themselves to do what they can to complete it. I anticipate a success, as they are that class of members that never expect a defeat and whatever their hands find to do they do with all their might. I ask the prayers and aid of all the brethren. I have the promise from one of our beloved Bishops of $50, and I am satisfied that it will come in due time and that others will do likewise.

I was called to Shelbyville, March 26th, to celebrate the rites of matrimony between Rev. T. Ward, of the Tennessee Conference, stationed at Shelbyville, Tenn., and Miss Harriett Celtrick of Bedford county. It was a grand affair. The wedding took place at the bride's parents', eight miles in the country. The repast was given the next day by the good sisters of the M. E. Church at Shelbyville, of which the groom is pastor. It was an occasion of joy, and I predict a long and happy life for the bride and groom.

Sister J. A. Waterson, a much beloved member of the M. E. Church of this place, after a year of much suffering departed this life on the 5th of March in the living triumph of faith. The funeral service was preached by the writer, assisted by Dr. J. P. Andrews. The burial was according to the form of discipline. After the service at James' Chapel M. E. Church of which the deceased was a member, the casket was placed in a hearse and was carried to the city cemetery and deposited in the earth. The hearse was followed by the Sisters of Charity, of which the deceased was a member, and also by the members of the church. Sister Waterson has been a member of the M. E. Church for many years and was much loved by all.

H. W. KEY, Pastor.

April 8th, 1879.

The City.

The exodus of negroes does not attract the attention it deserves, but is making itself felt in commercial circles.

The Times urges the abolition of the Board of Health, and the incorporation of the Citizens' Association as its successor. No confidence is felt in the existing Board, and its action upon commerce is ruinous.

The arrest of publishers and sellers of obscene newspapers was an important event of the week. A committee of gentlemen was also appointed to wait on the managers of leading dailies and persuade them to leave out the names of ladies in scandalous society letters.

Death of Dr. Charles Jewett.

The New York Times of April 4th brings us the intelligence of the death of Dr. Jewett, one of the most widely known and experienced workers in the temperance cause of all the noble army of devoted men who have won renown in the conflict. He died at Norwich, Conn., April 3, in his seventy-second year. The writer of this brief notice, then the secretary of the Rhode Island State Temperance Society, sent him his first commission as agent in that State in the year 1837. He had been known from the age of nineteen as an earnest worker and effective lecturer in Connecticut, but from this time his reputation became wide-spread throughout New England and the Western States. As an editor and writer he was clear and forcible, and his natural humor made him one of the most entertaining of speakers. His fund of anecdote was inexhaustible, and was used always with telling effect. No one knew more thoroughly the devices and subterfuges of the liquor seller, and how to expose the fallacy of their arguments. He was a prohibitionist from the start. His most effective work for years was in the State of Massachusetts, which adopted prohibition, but this law was repealed in 1840 by the wholesale dealers, the State falling back finally on local option.

Dr. Jewett was a man of untiring energy and of great executive abilities. He achieved wonders through the judicious use of publications and newspapers which he largely edited in person. He labored in New Hampshire, and after the passage, in 1857, of the Maine liquor law joined Neal Dow in the campaign in that State. The moderate drinker's plea for an occasional drink he thus put into rhyme:

> "I like a little, sometimes, to use,
> Specially when its hot, in mowin,
> Specially when its cold as blues,
> Specially when its dry, and blowen,
> Specially when its wet and rainy,
> Spec'ly when I can git me any."

He also delivered addresses in the cause since then in Vermont, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Lower Canada, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Iowa, Illinois, Tennessee, Michigan and Minnesota. He resided in each of several Western States for a few years, subsequently in New York City, and in 1872 came back to Norwich, Conn., a few miles from his old home, to spend his declining years. During all this time he has been engaged chiefly in unremunerative temperance work, and during his illness of the past few months has suffered from indigence. A movement was begun recently in Boston to collect money for his relief. His malady was heart disease, and he has been kept in an upright sitting position for many weeks.

A noble worker has gone from labor to his reward. The blessings of thousands will rest upon his memory.

ELIAS SMITH.

Help needed at Kosciusko Mississippi.

To Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Mississippi Conference, and all others whose sympathies are with the Church of God:

We, the Trustees of the M. E. Church property in the town of Kosciusko, having been driven to a perilous extreme in raising money to pay the debt of $440, in part payment of a debt of $800, for a beautiful house and lot, situated in the corporate limits of the city, and in every way admirably adapted to church purposes—having been used, before the war, as an Academy of learning by the whites. Knowing that a conspicuous location of our Church, in a growing town like Kosciusko, is most desirable, we were induced, having strong reliance upon the promise of our Divine Master, who says: "ask and ye shall receive," to make purchase of the same. We are now in possession of the property, and have to make the second payment within two months, and, in the event of failure, we shall not only lose the property, and the money already paid, but will, no doubt, damage the work, materially, throughout the country. We, therefore, call upon you, as lovers of God and our beloved Methodism, to aid us in this our great struggle, by asking from each church or congregation, in your Circuit, the sum of ($1.10,) one dollar and ten cents, and as much more as the courtesies of your congregation will give, the ten cents to be used in forwarding. Send to "Isaac Coulter, Treasurer, Kosciusko, Miss.," as per printed envelop herein inclosed, at your earliest convience, the receipt of which will be acknowledged through the columns of the "South Western Advocate." We ask not for millions. Yours in Christ,

ISAAC COULTER,
G. W. M'BURNEY,
HARDIN HUFFMAN,
ALLEN SMITH,
D. B. TAYLOR,
CALVIN WELLS,
ASA SIMPSON,
T. B. FLAMBAUX,
A. FRANKLIN,
Trustees.

J. G. JOHNSON, Presiding Elder Holly Springs District.
L. R. BROWN, Pastor in Charge.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House, Astor Place, New York, on Thursday, April 3d, William Allen, President in the chair.

The Rev. S. Hutton offered prayer.

The new societies were reorganized as auxiliary, one in Michigan and one in Minnesota.

Secretary Gilman presented a report concerning the Society's work in Mexico, with recommendations suggested by his recent trip to that country.

Henry A. Oakley, of this city was elected Treasurer of the Society, and Robert L. Belknap, was chosen to fill a vacancy in the Board of Managers. Several copies of Scriptures in different languages were presented for the library.

Among the papers submitted to the Board were annual reports from its various agencies in China, Japan, Brazil, Uruguay, Russia, and Turkey, each of which showed some increase of Scripture circulation over the preceding year, this increase being especially large in Russia, Japan, and China. Other reports were received from Missions of the American Board in Prague, Santander, Zaragoza, and Jaffna; of the Presbyterian Board in Lodiana, and of the American Baptist Missionary Union in Stockholm, and from the Bible Society of France.

Upon applications connected with these reports and other communications, appropriations were made for Bible work in foreign fields to the amount of $34,000, besides grants of books, for sale and distribution at home and abroad, of the aggregate value of $12,750, including six volumes in raised letter for the blind.

The receipts for March were $60,265, and the entire receipts for the year ending March 31st were $462,274 66.

The volumes issued in March were 80,880. The whole number of copies issued from the Bible House during the year, not including those issued in foreign lands, was 950,349.

Denominational Sunday Schools.

We want an increase of 50,000 in our Sunday-school army this year. Why not? If every pastor will do his duty and preach upon the work, and the importance of the work of our Sunday-schools, we can have 50,000. Have with you specimens of our Sunday-school literature (you can get what you need by writing to J. M. Freeman, D. D., 805 Broadway, New York) and tell the people the worth of our own Sunday-school literature to our own children.

You are now re-organizing your Sunday-schools. Do all you can to make them denominational, especially in our own church ... The Union Sunday-school ... will not answer for the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church where we can possibly organize Sunday-schools of our own. You build a stronger and heartier Methodism where you have schools under your own pastoral care and supplied with our own literature, than when you allow other publishing houses, not Methodistic and with which the Methodist Episcopal Church has no connection, to furnish Sunday-school literature for the children of Methodist families. We need not be and ought not to be sectarian, but we can be denominational and do the work expected of us as preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Don't forget the Sunday-school Union when you take your collections. J. B. FOSTER.

Letter from Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, April 8, 1879.

Mr. Editor:—Upon invitation of Judge Acree, I came some two weeks since to Ponchatoula and on three different evenings had the pleasure of addressing the citizens on health and temperance. Coming to this quiet handsome village I have discussed the same subjects here, and the temperance order gathered thirteen new members, one of whom is their aged preacher another an intelligent school teacher. All classes feel cheered and more disposed to go forward. The colored friends, of whom Rev. James H. Bally seems chief, desired me to address them on temperance, which I took much pleasure in doing. Some three white men went with me to the nice little church on the main street in the suburbs and all listened with interest.

It is pleasant to observe the quiet order, industry and economy of this colored community, and also to learn that, excepting one ill considered raid never to be repeated, they live in peace with all the white citizens. May every class here and elsewhere learn that right in all respects and times is far preferable to error, and be happy in choosing it.

W. PERKINS.

General News Items.

Iquique, Peru, is blockaded by the Chilian squadron.

Austria and Turkey have reached a [illegible]

General Grant, will reach Hong Kong about the middle of April.

Italy decides not to participate in the mixed occupation of Egyptian finances.

Mr. Bell was admitted as U. S. Senator from New Hampshire by a [illegible]

Many political prisoners at Kieff, Russia, have been shot while attempting [illegible]

A resolution in favor of universal suffrage was discussed by leaders at [illegible] conference in [illegible]

The Liberals were excited over [illegible] at the American Congress [illegible] question and threat[illegible]

[illegible] nominated Robert [illegible] Pennsylvania, consul [illegible] W. [illegible] of North [illegible]

[illegible] the North [illegible] Sunday, terrified at [illegible]

[illegible] in the U. [illegible] to draw juries [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] of colored [illegible] visit the Tuskaloosa [illegible] convention at [illegible] adjourns to [illegible]

[illegible] in the [illegible] of the [illegible] the South [illegible] the Kingdom [illegible] only one [illegible] the Kingdom [illegible] were [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] He top[illegible] [illegible] only [illegible] the Kingdom [illegible] were [illegible]

[illegible] If the [illegible] the [illegible] regal [illegible] their [illegible]

[illegible] Grant [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] to ex[illegible]

Sunday School.

April 20, 1879. QUEEN ESTHER.

Scripture.—Esther 4:10-17.

Golden Text.—"Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass."—Ps. 37: 5.

Notes.—"Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell."—Matt. 10: 28.

(Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.)

Introductory.—The history contained in the Boook of Esther reads like a romance. Some critics have observed the fact that the name of God [illegible] the book we have before us. But if it does not, the hand of God is plainly discernible in two principal characters, yet in the fear of the Lord.

The events which occur previous to the date of our lesson are: 1. The deposition of Vashti. That happened in the third year of Ahasuerus, or Achashverosh—Graecized into Xerxes. At a great feast given by that monarch, just before his disastrous expedition into Greece, upon which he set out with 5,000,000 of men and returned with not than 5,000. This feast was remarkable for its length, splendor, and the number entertained, a prodigal revelry of six months' duration. During one of its carousals, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he sent for the queen to exhibit her beauty to the people. It was against law and usage, as well contrary to her own womanly instincts [illegible] to come before a half-drunken crowd for exhibition, Vashti did herself honor. But the monarch was wroth. And by the advice of counselors, Vashti was deposed from her high position.

2. The choice of Esther. Four years afterwards, upon the return of the king from the invasion of Greece, he [illegible] of fair virgins that the king might choose from among them a queen. Esther was among this number. By advice of her uncle, Mordecai, she concealed her Jewish origin. When [illegible] before the king loved Esther [illegible] upon her head, [illegible] instead of Vashti after her elevation [illegible] discovered the conspiracy [illegible] Haman to assassinate the king. [illegible] in the book of the [illegible] the king [illegible] Haman. Haman [illegible] his ambitious [illegible] He is made [illegible] By the king's [illegible] to [illegible] royalty. [illegible] Strange [illegible] with rever[illegible] alone, [illegible] stern [illegible] the throne. He top[illegible] the throne, as only one [illegible] the kingdom [illegible] were [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] regal [illegible] their [illegible]

[illegible] visit the [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] to ex[illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] to be [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] to ex[illegible]

[illegible] Queen [illegible] [illegible] Queen [illegible] [illegible] Queen [illegible] [illegible] Queen [illegible]

[

[illegible]

—Wide Awake.

[illegible] wanted to go home [illegible] confession of his [illegible] their forgiveness [illegible] met his [illegible] younger than [illegible] like the loving [illegible] she agreed to go with [illegible] brother and ask mother to forgive [illegible] met their parents just starting out to make purchases for the house, [illegible] when the mother saw the anxious look on the children's faces she willingly waited until John had told the story of his playing truant, and then asked to be forgiven. As in the case of the Prodigal Son, the parent was as willing to forgive, if not more so, as the son was to be forgiven. John was right; it was a good thing to go home for—to be forgiven.

The Niceties of French Law.

A Paris journal says: A gentleman is stopped on the street at midnight by a thief. Drawing a pistol from his pocket he forces the man to walk quietly before him to the station. Arriving there he tells the Chief what has occurred.

"Very well," replied that officer, "but have you permission to carry arms?"

"No, sir."

"In that case I must put you under arrest."

"But without the arm which I happened to have I would probably have been assassinated."

"That is possible, but the police ordinances exist, and it is necessary that it be obeyed."

"Is it allowed to carry arms which are not deadly?"

"Certainly."

"Then look at my pistol. It has no hammer. To oblige a friend I was going to take it to a gunshop to have it repaired."

"Oh, if I had only known," cried the thief.

A little fellow was eating some bread and milk, when he turned round to his mother and said, "O mother, I'm full of glory! There was a sunbeam on my spoon, and I swallowed it."

"Do you see my grapes, Bob?" [illegible] "Big [illegible]" "Yes, very big. [illegible] along—these grapes [illegible] you know."

[illegible]

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

[illegible] over all other plasters. It is [illegible] endorsed by Physicians, [illegible] and the Press. [illegible] manufacturers received a special [illegible] and the only medal given for porous plasters at the Centennial Exposition, [illegible] Paris Exposition, 1878. [illegible] great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once. Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, Coughs any local pain or ache should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. [illegible]

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL. For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated. Each box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths, NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS, WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.

Upholstery Goods

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA, 97 and 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

[illegible] ORGANS,

Cheap

For

Cash.

[illegible] churches wanting to [illegible] write to us. [illegible] paid for by [illegible] [illegible] Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT, New Orleans.

FOR SALE!

[illegible] Five-Horse Power Upright

Steam Engine,

[illegible] MAKE.

[illegible] at the office [illegible]

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education special advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the Institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about	$8 00

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878–9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 19th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS, Wiley University, Marshall, Texas.

n49 tf

Central Tennessee College

Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygiene will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent, with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden, NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in

Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month. Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $25 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after. For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, Holly Springs, Miss.

n6 tf

West Texas Conference

SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—central for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, competent, Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 00
Intermediate "	1 50
Higher "	2 00
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, President.
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st.
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.

mar20m

LATEST THINGS IN MUSIC!

SHEET MUSIC.

"Where is my Boy To Night?" Song and Chorus, with Piano accompaniment. Mailed on receipt of 25 cents.

SACRED MUSIC.

Hymn Service.

115 Songs with Music, for the Sunday-School. Only $10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

Gospel Hymns No. 3.

With Music, $30 per 100; 35 Cents by mail. Words only, $5 per 100; 6 Cents by mail.

Palmer's Book of Anthems.

192 pages; $10 per dozen; $1 by mail.

Easter Annual No. 3.

Six beautiful Carols for Easter, $4 per 100; 5 Cents by mail.

If you cannot find them at the nearest Music Store or Bookseller's, send to BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers, 76 East Ninth Street, New York. [illegible] Chicago.

[illegible]

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
24 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	530 lbs	75 00
35 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans, La.

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK.

Opening Spring Display

OF

NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

[illegible]

DRESS GOODS.

[illegible]

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

[illegible]

Suits and Costumes.

[illegible]

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

[illegible]

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

[illegible]

RIBBONS.

[illegible]

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

[illegible]

Boots and Shoes.

[illegible]

Broadway and Twentieth St., Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 apl3 3m

COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT

[illegible] REMARKABLE CURES [illegible] STRONGLY ENDORSED [illegible] FREE! [illegible]

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

[illegible] FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET [illegible]

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.

EPILEPSY OR FITS CURED!

[illegible]

EAR DISEASES!

[illegible]

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price ... $1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price ... $1 50.

Methodist Discipline. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price ... 40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price ... $3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price ... $1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price ... $1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it containing Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price ... $1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price ... $1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price ... $2 50.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages, of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price ... $1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price ... $1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saints' Rest is too well known to need comment. Price ... $1 50.

Church Ritual. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They are as follows: [illegible]

[illegible] With the Testimony of God and Man thereunto, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price ... $1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost ... $21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Records. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price ... $2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each ... 35 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price ... $2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen ... $1 00. Large size, each ... 20. Large and illuminated, each ... 50

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred ... $1 00. Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100 ... $1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders Meeting to a District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ... $1 00. From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ... $1 00. Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100 ... $1 00. Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100 ... $1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000 ... $1 50. Exhorters License, per 100 ... $1 00. Pastors' Quarterly Reports, per 100 ... $1 00. Certificates of Baptism, per 100 ... $1 00. Certificates of Church Membership, per 100 ... $1 00. Certificates of Removal, per 100 ... 75. Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 75 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES,

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price ... $1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.

Vol. I. The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. [illegible]
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By C. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price ... $2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price ... $2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price ... $1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price ... $1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price ... $1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price $1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able [illegible] comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price ... $24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

[illegible] we can now furnish the following: [illegible] Bible Dictionary, for Sunday-Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. [illegible] A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev. John Eadie. Price $2 [illegible]

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

Plantation Hardware, Agricultural Implements

—AND—

MACHINERY,

☞ Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOTHERN AGENT FOR

Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

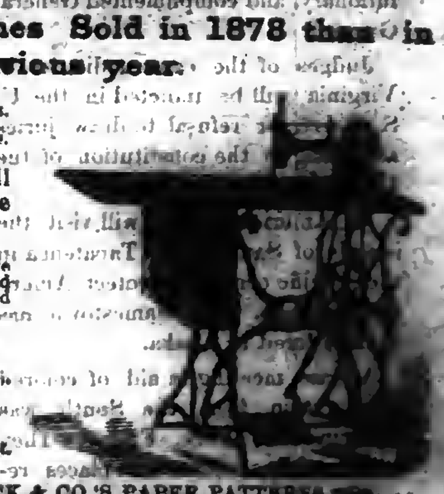
B. J. WEST,

115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1876 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.



We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

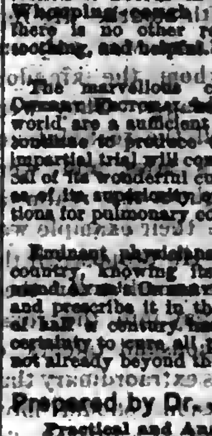
The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n31y

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.



AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Diseases of the [illegible] for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a [illegible] eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the [illegible] chemically united [illegible] physicians as well as invalids [illegible] confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proven its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

Dr. J. M. Howe's Inhaling Tube!

AND

COMMON AIR, WILL CURE CONSUMPTION IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

Send for Circular. The Tube, with full directions, postpaid. Sent on receipt of $[illegible], or call at his residence, Passaic, N. J.

The Rev. N. N. Beers, of the M. E. Church, Wayne, Steuben Co., N. Y., writes:

It is now nearly thirty years since I commenced the inhalation of the common air under your instructions, and I have undiminished confidence in it as a remedy for consumption and other throat and lung diseases. It is in harmony with Nature's laws. I have now been preaching twenty-seven years since my recovery from a condition of tuberculosis in which a council of physicians said it was impossible for me to live longer than three months. My lungs to-day are as sound as any man's can possibly be.

Yours affectionately, N. N. BEERS.

The Rev. B. M. Adams, of the N. Y. East M. E. Conference, [illegible]:

I thank the Lord that I ever saw you. The Inhaling Tube I purchased of you almost twenty years ago has been a wonderful blessing to me, and I am glad, through my recommendation, to many. [illegible] was over fifty years old when he commenced using it, and he led the Lord's battles with a shout long after the doctors told him he must stop. Many other friends of mine have had their lives lengthened by its use.

From Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., of the Sunday-school Publications of the Church.

I have used your Tube at times for several years, and have unbounded faith in the philosophy. [illegible]

CONSUMPTION!

[illegible] DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl Street, New York.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free [illegible]

[illegible]

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

[illegible]

CATARRH

[illegible]

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

[illegible]

CANCER

[illegible] Tumors removed [illegible] successfully treated [illegible] Asthma Specific [illegible] for a circular giving full particulars. Address W. [illegible]

NEW RICH BLOOD!

[illegible]

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14—NO. 17. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 35[illegible]

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN, [illegible] Natchez Street, New Orleans.

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

TERMS: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

[illegible]

stand at the head of this letter have agreed to serve as an Executive Committee.

It is intended to organize a general committee of one hundred, to be composed of eminent and active friends of the colored race in all parts of the country.

THE SPIRIT OF UNREST.
(New York Times.)

Accounts from North Carolina and from Louisiana and Mississippi, show that though the condition of the colored people in the former State is very nearly the same as in the other States, their movements are not identical. In North Carolina, where the Negroes have been oppressed and denied their political rights, they have ceased buying small homesteads and have hoarded their gains. The Times's correspondent at Newbern says that this change in the practice of colored people is marked, and it fairly indicates the spirit of unrest which pervades the black people. They are preparing for an exodus. In Mississippi on the other hand, the exit has already begun. Although less than 5,000 people, all told, have passed through St. Louis, bound for Kansas, it is certain that the exodus of this number of colored persons will have its effect on those who remain. They, too, will be influenced by the vague feeling of uneasiness which has driven so many to seek a more congenial home in the far West. The fugitives have been wronged, cheated, and denied all political rights. The evidence collected by our correspondents proves that neither prosperity nor political freedom can be enjoyed by the blacks in the cotton growing regions of Louisiana and Mississippi. It does not seem to affect the volume of this emigration to warn the [negroes] of the rashness of their venture. They are going, and they [absolutely] refuse to return.

IN KANSAS.

A Kansas despatch says: Of [illegible] who arrived at Topeka [illegible] have gone to Nicodemus [illegible] county, [illegible] near Council [illegible] following [illegible] A large [illegible] from the [illegible] Wyandotte, and [illegible] received [illegible] The negroes [illegible] their own [illegible]

[illegible]

Kansas, and to Kansas they are marching on.

A DESIRABLE ACQUISITION.
(Prof. Greener, Harvard University.)

Wherever the negro goes in the West he will be found a desirable acquisition. The statistics of the cotton crop since the war have forever disproved the charge of negro laziness, and shows him to be not a vagabond, but a thrifty and skilled cultivator wherever he has half a chance. Examine the tax-lists in any Southern State; read the educational advancement made by our race during the past decade, then think of the political turmoils through which which we have passed and the bitter persecutions we have endured for no crime except that of being black and professing Republican principles, and the cause of the present movement is not far to seek. I consider it the most hopeful evidence of the manhood of the negro we have yet had, and trust the work will go bravely on, guided, however, by sensible, practical men.

A LABOR CONVENTION.
(New Orleans Democrat.)

A call has been issued by a number of leading planters of Mississippi and this State for a Mississippi Valley Labor Convention, to be held at Vicksburg, Monday, May 5, to take into consideration the present agitation of the labor question. The call is signed by Gov. Stone, Jno. H. Woolfolk, president of the Vicksburg Cotton Exchange, and leading merchants, editors and planters of Mississippi and the upper river parishes of this State. The call requests the colored people to send delegates to the convention to participate in its deliberations and discuss the questions before it. The main question to be discussed by the convention will be the present negro emigration movement from the South, and the best mode of putting an end to it.

The Relation of the New Orleans University to the Louisiana Annual Conference.

BY PROF. A. A. JOHNSON.

A proper understanding of our relations to any institution is the basis of all successful action. Man cannot, and never has succeeded in any undertaking without a proper conception of the object to be attained, and the work to be accomplished. If this is true of individuals, it is especially true of co-operative bodies and joint organizations. Church work, and educational work as well, is the work of many individuals. One man cannot hold all the positions of trust nor do all the work. One man alone cannot achieve eminent success. There must be unity of action all along the line from the private in the ranks to the leader at the head of the column. Every man must do his duty and act well his part. Co-operation based on principle is necessary or failure is the inevitable result.

Pastors know that they cannot succeed in church work without the hearty co-operation of the membership of their churches. Their plans must be carried out by the membership. The pastor must work with the people, and the people with the pastor, and the entire efforts of the Church must be characterized by unity of action in order to win souls to Christ and build up the walls of Zion.

The Presiding Elder cannot succeed in carrying out his plans of finances, and in raising the benevolent collections without the preacher in charge, in his district, unite heartily with him, and assist him in his work. A conference is not a power in our great [illegible] without unity of action in its efforts to raise the masses to a higher standard of education and [Christian] experience.

[illegible] co-operation is one of the [illegible] elements of successful [illegible] work. In fact it is the [illegible] of success. [illegible] be a unity of all [illegible] and action. [illegible] belonging [illegible] are interested in the success of the college just as pastors are interested in their own charges.

Brethren of the Louisiana Conference, the New Orleans University is your school. It belongs to you and your children. It is the training department of our conference. From it must come our preachers, our teachers, and our laymen who are to lead the mighty hosts of our Church on to victory. And the success of the New Orleans University largely depends, my brethren, upon you. You cannot escape the responsibility. It rests on you now. And the cause of education, among our people, will succeed just in proportion as you put your shoulders to the work and push the interests of our school.

Your professors cannot build up your University and make it what it ought to be without your hearty support, and cordial co-operation. The University before it can reach the highest success, must have the combined influence of the conference. Each pastor has a duty to perform in this respect; and every minister is a commissioned recruiting officer, and should seize every opportunity of bringing our University and its interests before the people; and thus aid in filling our halls with students.

Who is going to do this work if the members of our conference do not? Will the Congregationalists send their children to our Methodist schools? They will send them to Straight University. The Baptists will send their children to the Leland University. And that is right. And so Methodists must patronize their own school.

Do we want our conference filled up with young men educated in other schools? Do we want our Sunday-schools managed by those trained in other denominations? Yet this is just what is being done, and will be done [still] if our preachers do not [illegible] of this matter, and give the New Orleans University their attention and support.

This [illegible] sacrifice. [illegible] all the results of your labors. But rest assured it is the Lord's work. And God has promised that "your labor shall not be in vain in the Lord." Your posterity will enjoy the effects of your work, and Christ's kingdom will be helped on in its conquest of evangelizing the world.

A Nut for Materialists to Crack.

The doctors in convention at Washington have been giving the materialists some nuts to crack. The theory that the brain is the mind has been subjected to a severe strain by the facts reported. It has long been known that people might lose half of their brains without losing any of their wits, but it has been the the theory that while one hemisphere was intact it would do the work of two. Now comes a report of a perfectly sane and very intelligent person, who was proved by a post-mortem examination to have "suffered from a disease which wasted away one side of her cerebrum and the other side of her cerebellum till neither was one-fourth of the natural size." The theory now seems to be that the mental faculties reside in the focus of nerves at the base of the brain. Dr. Brown-Sequard says, however, that the brain like the hand, does the work of the mind, as it is ordered; but is the instrument, not the motor." And that is something very different from materialism.—Sunday Afternoon.

California, in her new Constitution makes some changes in the time-honored jury system. In civil actions three fourths of a jury may render a verdict. In criminal cases, not amounting to a felony, and in civil cases, a trial may be waived by consent of both parties. In civil cases and cases of misdemeanor the jury may consist of any number less than twelve, which the parties may agree upon in open court.

The honest magistrate is a terror to evil-doers. Laxity and carelessness in the administration of the law have emboldened villians in all parts of the United States, until thoughtful men are filled with alarm. Further progress in this direction will be fatal. Let a [illegible] public sentiment, and [illegible] judges and juries [illegible]

Who Shall Educate the Negro?

It has been with sincere pleasure that we have noticed from time to time the more prominent indications of the progress which the South is making in regard to the education of the colored people. It has not seemed to us that this progress has been very rapid, and not until recently has there been any evidence of its encouragement by those by whom the efforts for the physical, social, and intellectual improvement of the blacks ought to have been led; and we have joined in the just censure which this indifference of the Churches of the South to the most solemn responsibility which Providence has devolved upon them has received from the religious press of the North. This fact, however, does not diminish the satisfaction with which we note every indication of improvement. Last week we published the letter by Ex-Governor Brown of Georgia, in which he not only cites some important facts showing what his State has done for the education of the colored race, but very candidly bears testimony to those gradual changes which are taking place in Southern sentiments, and on the completion of which must rest all hope of active, hearty co-operation of the Churches with the State, in efforts for the education of colored people. We accept this testimony with respect to Georgia, one of the most progressive of the Southern States. We could cite facts of a similar character to show the progress made in other Southern States, but this is unnecessary. Let it be admitted that, in the South, as the Secretary of our Freedmen's Aid Society says in his last annual report, "already the idea of free schools for the children of the rich and the poor, without respect to color or condition or previous condition of servitude, has many friends in the South, and the number is rapidly increasing." The signs of progress, however, relate not alone to [these] schools, or to the State patronage of higher education. There [is a] manifest increase of interest on the part of the Churches in the South in the education of the negroes. The Southern religious press, which until recently has been significantly silent, or more significantly feeble in its utterances, on this subject, is beginning to speak with some show of a purpose to produce conviction. It is in these utterances of the press that we feel especially interested; for they are the voices of a sentiment which when fully developed and effective, will, more than any other influence, shape the educational policy of the Southern States, and it is in this sentiment that the efforts of Northern Churches for the elevation of the Freedmen must meet an influence which will be antagonistic or helpful.

What, therefore, are the motives which seem to control this progress? What the special purposes which enter into and modify the plans and efforts for the education of the colored people in the South? On the side of secular education and of State control, we might look for the presence and perhaps predominance of political motives and partisan aims. And yet here we find some examples of broad, generous co-operation worthy of high commendation. Ex-Gov. Brown, in the letter above referred to, makes mention of a notable instance, in which Georgia, "having for many years appropriated $8,000 per annum from the State Treasury to the University of Athens, for white people, appropriated a like amount to the Atlanta University which had been established there by a benevolent society of New England, to aid them in conducting a college for colored people. These appropriations were continued until 1878, when it was incorporated in the new State constitution that the appropriations should be continued in the future. Here is an instance in which the aid of Northern benevolence is accepted, encouraged, and invited, without any hint of suspicion. The door is thrown wide open, without fear, to the most radical portion of all the radical North, and a hearty welcome is promised. Eight thousand dollars per annum—the same amount as is appropriated to the college for whites—is guaranteed to help the Yankee school-master educate the Southern negro! If the spirit of this measure—if the spirit which characterizes Governor Brown's [letter] controlled the leading minds [of the] South, both in politics and in the Church, the "negro problem" would soon be solved. But when we turn to the Church, or, rather, to the religious press as representative of the Church, we do not find the same indications of brotherly confidence and the same unhesitating welcome to Northern philanthrophy.

We have before us several issues of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, published at Macon, Ga.—a paper of positive convictions, and in point of merit second to none of the Church papers in all the South. We refer to its utterances, because they seem to us to fairly represent the most progressive element of the Church, South, especially in regard to the education of the blacks. The able editor labors hard, in various connections, to show that the religious press of the North wilfully, persistently and maliciously misrepresents of the South. He makes grave charges against the Northern editors—charges not sustained by a single quotation, nor by anything which we have seen in our exchanges—and adds:

"It is a shame that gifted men—that men we wish to regard as good men—should be so ungracious, so ungenerous, so unjust. They cannot deny the luxury of a stab at the long-suffering South. It has become their second nature to treat our people bitterly and unjustly; they are in bondage to an unlovely and unchristian habit of mind that prevents them from seeing or expressing the truth as to the character and spirit of the Southern people. Alas! that it should be so. Many years have passed since the South—crushed, conquered, humbled, surrendered. But these editors—these religious editors—do not forget, and they do not forgive. History furnishes other such instances; it is hard for the conqueror to forgive."

This misrepresentation of the spirit of the Northern Press is keeping with the declarations of a correspondent, on whose "platform" the editor confessedly stands, respecting the spirit and the purpose of the efforts of the Northern Churches in behalf of the freedmen. This correspondent boldly justifies the "social ostracism" (perhaps he does not include martyrdom in the [term]) which has, in the past, been visited on teachers of Negro schools, on the ground that "those who came among us to do that work, did not, generally, deserve to be received into pure society. He further affirms that the Negro has been badly taught when taught at all, and that "much of the instruction he has received has been from bad men" or from those who have "known little of his real wants and less of his peculiar nature." He characterizes the policy of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South, soon after the war, as "religious proselytism Federal influence." He asserts that the Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been supported largely by men who hoped by means of this society to influence the vote of the Negro." In short, he claims, and supports the claim by a variety of assertions, that the Church of the North cannot safely be intrusted with the education of the Negro.

This work, for which, it is asserted, Northern Christians are generally disqualified either by selfishness and partizan zeal or by ignorance of the wants of the black man, must, therefore, devolve upon the South. On this point, the writer says:

"We cannot delegate this trust to another; our social welfare depends on our doing the work after our own method, so as to meet the requirements of own civilization and of his [the Negro's] temperament. We understand him; no one else does. We cannot afford, for his sake and our own, to leave him in the hands of those who, however good their intentions, insist on regarding him as a stray prince, a hero in rags, and who, intentionally or not, educate him into distrust of his white neighbor. We must furnish him with Southern teachers."

Reduced to the briefest proposition, the expressions above quoted mean just this, that in all matters pertaining to the South, the North, or that part of which is represented in aggressive religious movements in the Southern States, is either a knave or a fool. Northern religious editors do not understand the South, or, if they do, they wickedly and habitually misrepresent the South; the Churches of the North putting forth efforts for the education of the blacks, are mainly actuated by political motives and are the mere channels of political influence, or, in so far as they are honest, they are ignorant of the wants of the negro and "educate him into distrust of his white neighbor." Therefore, Churches of the South must undertake and control the mental and spiritual culture of the Southern negroes. This duty, according to its teaching, is exclusively theirs; not only must it not be delegated to another, but it must be wholly assumed by themselves, the only party that can perform it intelligently and with fidelity to the interests of this Southern civilization.

Now we accept this zeal of our Southern brethren in the cause of Negro education as an indication that the world moves—though in the South not always steadily and smoothly. There is progress and we rejoice in it. But if our Southern brethren, awake, at last, to the certainty that the negro is to be educated, resolved that his education shall be conformed to the distinctive fundamental ideas of "Southern civilization"—shall be so restricted and controlled as to make it promote the realization of the Southern idea of society—they may rest assured that the Christian people of the North will take issue with them. The organized efforts which the Churches of the North have put forth for the intellectual and moral improvement of the Freedmen have been based not upon any peculiar or sectional idea of civilization, but upon the Christian doctrine of human brotherhood; and there is no insult more unjust and cowardly than that which drops so easily from Southern pens wielded in justification of the "social ostracism" of Northern teachers of negro schools, on the ground that they belonged to a class of persons who were unfit to be received into pure society. The change of partisan designs in the benevolent and ecclesiastical movements of Northern Churches among the Freedmen is equally unjustifiable and wicked. Not one in a hundred of the teachers or ministers who have gone South to labor among the blacks have known any other than the highest Christian motives—the love of Christ and of souls. Not one in five hundred of the contributors to our Freedmen's Aid Society has ever thought of possible political results in connection with his contributions. In short, all these efforts have been purely and simply Christian; and they will continue to be such; they will leave civilization to be what Christianity shall make it. But this will not prevent antagonism: if our white brethren of the South shall attempt to make "Southern civilization" a cardinal feature of Christian education, they will present themselves as guarding a system which cannot stand against the power of untrammeled Christianity. Is such a system worth preserving?

And then, that which is known as distinguishing Southern civilization has little in it to command the respect of the Christian world. It is breaking down and passing away just as fast as Christianity is admitted to fully control the regulations of society. There is not one of those changes to which Governor Brown refers in his letter as having been reluctantly accepted by the people of the South, that is not recognized as a change in favor of Christian principle and Christian government. We know what "Southern civilization" is; and the Northern Christian will not, if true to his principles, yield to it; but not yield to it is to practically antagonize and resist it. As for its ever having developed an idea of social economy, social virtue or Christian brotherhood, which the colored race should accept as a central and governing principle in their education, the thing is preposterous. Christianity has done something to give the South a civilization which is not Southern, and we trust her destiny is to enjoy more of its benefits. At any rate our Northern Methodists, through the agency of the Freedmen's Aid Society and an organized evangelism, will continue their work of intellectual and spiritual culture among the colored people, without special care to conform it to distinctively Southern ideas.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

I do wish the Lord would make us all gooder and gooder and gooder, till there is no bad left. So said a little Quaker lad once in a pause in meeting; and, in saying it, did he not express the great longing of a truly Christian heart, as well as it could have been explained in a volume!

At the reception of Gov. Hoyt in Philadelphia, Gen. Grant was unanimously spoken of as President Hayes' successor.

General News Items.

Stephenville, Texas, had a $50,000 fire.

Chilli has formally declared war against Peru.

Greece negotiated a loan of [illegible] million dollars.

Wade Hampton took his [seat] in the Senate on the 16th.

Senator Thurman was [illegible] President pro-tem of the [illegible]

Paris proposes to name [illegible] streets Washington and Lincoln.

Tucker & Cook's cotton mill, Conway, Mass., burned. $45,000.

Solowjeff is the name of the [per]son who fired at the Czar [illegible] is now in prison.

Striking miners are emigrating from the Durham, England [coll]eries to America.

The Canadian Commons [illegible] to investigate Chinese [illegible] British Columbia.

Several houses and churches were blown down at [illegible] Tenn., on the 16th.

The Senate committee [illegible] leges and elections are [illegible] Spofford-Kellogg case.

E. W. Keightley, [illegible] tive of Michigan, [illegible] auditor of the treasury.

The pretty village of [illegible] Vichy, France, [illegible] houses, has been [illegible] down.

The Republicans [illegible] Michigan by 4000 [illegible] candidate for [illegible] of the supreme court.

Pensacola [illegible] by a heavy hail storm on [illegible] a thing unknown before [illegible] hens' eggs.

150 employ[illegible] railway postal service [illegible] discharged to reduce the [illegible] of the app[illegible]

Private [illegible] St. Petersburg [illegible] revolutionists have [illegible] in Russia with in the [illegible]

The [illegible] general in north[illegible] doing great damage abo[illegible] and [illegible] sana. [illegible] neighborhood, [illegible] families [illegible] homeless.

The [illegible] people of [illegible] celebrat[illegible] anniversary of the adoption [illegible] amendment [illegible] a procession [illegible] Odd Fellows [illegible] and other civic societ[illegible]

President [illegible] message to [illegible] that the order [illegible] the pursuit of [illegible] revoked; and [illegible] to international [illegible]

The attempted [illegible] Czar creates [illegible] St. Petersburg. [illegible] houses were searched [illegible] the revolutionary committee [illegible] a proclamation threatening the [illegible] of the Czar and a second Bartholomew.

The colored convention of Arkansas at Little Rock, elected delegates to the Nashville conference May 6; affirmed they could not enjoy the elective franchise unmolested, endorsed Senator Windom's resolution, and a national loan to carry it into effect.

Six thousand British [illegible] gone to the relief of [illegible] who is surrounded by 35,[illegible] Col. Pearson signaled that [illegible] of his garrison were ill, and [illegible] wounded. Zulus attacked Col. Woods' camp and killed seven officers and seventy men.

A large number of houses were destroyed by the cyclone which passed over Collinsville, Missouri, on the 14th. The cemetery, just outside the town, was laid in waste, nearly every tombstone being leveled to the ground. Total damage estimated at $50,000.

A Washington dispatch says: That the charge has been made that the negro exodus from the South is being promoted for political purposes, and it has been suggested that Kansas may gain an electoral vote by it at the expense of Louisiana or Mississippi in time to tell. This, however, is impossible, as the basis of representation cannot be changed until Congress shall have taken action upon the census report, which it will not have before it until after the presidential election. Even if it were possible to submit the report before the close of a long session of [illegible] and 1880, it is not likely that Congress would be in haste to [illegible] if the Democratic party [illegible] lose thereby.

Southwestern [illegible]
[illegible] C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.
THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1879.

[illegible] of Rev. A. E. P. Albert [illegible] "The Negro," was republished [illegible] form, and is now [illegible] this office, for the author, [illegible] a copy.

[illegible] in the Methodist [illegible] of Atlanta claims that the [illegible] Methodist Episcopal Church [illegible] Southern soil after the war was organized March 5, 1864, fifteen years ago. Twenty-five persons [illegible]

[illegible] are indebted to Rev. S. H. [illegible] for complimentary tickets [illegible] concert, to be given for [illegible] Avenue [illegible] of which he [illegible] evening next [illegible] Hall. The congre- [illegible] to engage in a [illegible] and we wish [illegible] success.

[illegible]

[illegible] future it is theirs to mar or to mar. Widowers [illegible] more than [illegible] indicate the existence of a degree of inconsolable grief among men who lose their better halves far greater than we should have thought possible! judging by the number of those who, under such circumstances take to themselves a second wife.

Children tend to keep married women in the paths of virtue. We need not go far to find a reason for this. When affection for a husband has died out in a wife's heart, love for the children often remains in even intensified force and prevents the springing up of any unlawful passion when it might otherwise be looked for. It would hardly, however, be expected that widows with children should be more inclined to entertain criminal thoughts than those without. Yet so it is, according to M. Bertillon. The explanation is probably that widows with children are more often tempted to wrong doing through inability to provide for the little ones who are dependent on them.

Bertillon's statistics may not be reliable, but their publication should lead husbands to form a higher estimate of domestic life and induce bachelors to change their mode of life and make their [illegible] single ladies happy in wedded life.

The Negro Exodus.

Last week we said that the negro exodus had come to be a tremendous fact, that it was a more serious fact for the whites of the South than for the negroes, and that the causes of the exodus were manifold. [illegible] now state some of the main [illegible]

It is not necessary to enumerate the many inadequate explanations we hear and read. One of the most popular is that "it is [illegible] of the mule and forty acres [illegible]." Another is that [illegible] were in danger of [illegible] a few months a large [illegible] in helping the colored people to go to Central America. His death put a stop to this scheme. Before the war the underground railroad took thousands of fugitive negroes from the South to Canada. Since the war there has been a steady stream from almost every Southern State. In Chicago one ward is largely settled by negroes, and in one of the public schools of that city are nearly a thousand colored children. In the little city of Keokuk, Iowa, there are a thousand colored voters. It is so in all the cities of the North. These people there are lost in the vast multitudes about them, but they have schools for their children, can buy property and hold it unmolested, vote as they please, find work at fair wages and have protection in the courts. These multitudes already throughout the North write to their friends in the South, and so for years the stream of emigrants has been enlarging rather than diminishing. Just after the war some colored men in Tennessee began an emigration movement which has settled several colonies in Kansas. These historical facts show the absurdity of the remarks we hear and read that colored people cannot live in northern climates, and that this exodus began the sixth of last March when a company of negroes left Vicksburg for St. Louis. The only singular thing about the present exodus is that it threatens to be more general than any which has gone before. Instead of individuals and families it now threatens to be whole neighborhoods and states.

[illegible]

The first immediate cause of the present exodus of negroes is, The general condition of poverty in which the colored people find themselves after fifteen years of freedom. There are many exceptions, for millions of property have been accumulated by the negroes, but the masses are poor, and year after year they find themselves just where they began the year before. No doubt this is largely owing to lack of thrift and economy on their part, and to the general financial depression in the country by which money is scarce. But it is also true that as a rule they are unjustly dealt with in the matter of prices, rentals, etc. We were standing in a freight depot in this city not long since and saw a colored boy pick up an article of some value which had been thrown away, some white boys saw him and at once as by common consent took it from him by force. One white boy got the article and started off. Other white boys [illegible] to take it from him. "No," said one, "let him have it. Of course we would not let a nigger have it, but he is a white boy." This spirit pervades the South, especially in the country. There are noble exceptions among planters and families, but as a rule the negroes are the victims of every sort of unfair dealing. And the bad thing of the whole matter is that public sentiment in the South is yet largely the same toward the negro as it was when he was a slave, and had no legal redress but the will of his master. "He is only a nigger." Take for example one plantation owned by a millionaire who resides in the North, and is noted there for his liberality to the Episcopal Church of which his family are devout members. We visited the place and got the facts on the spot. The wages are, for men fifty cents a day, and four pounds of pork and a peck of meal a week, and for women where they can work forty cents a day and they find themselves. These wages are fixed yearly by a convention of planters. The laborers lose all rainy days and all time between seasons. Often it takes two [illegible] to make one. Cabins are [illegible] in which to live, but as a rule no gardens or stock is allowed to be had or raised. On the place is a store, where the laborers must do their trading. The prices here are fixed [illegible] rates; sometimes the [illegible] exorbitant for very ordinary [illegible] and worst of all whiskey [illegible]. The prevailing sentiment [illegible] moderate use [illegible] beneficial, and so [illegible] encouraged to drink, [illegible] with a view of [illegible] store pay. The [illegible] drink for the [illegible] whiskey, [illegible] storekeeper on [illegible] that the [illegible] run as a [illegible] dollars a [illegible] more. On [illegible] sometimes a [illegible] from [illegible]. The [illegible] [illegible] plantation represents the rule in the sugar regions of the [illegible]. Is it any wonder that these people should chafe at their condition of poverty, and as they see their children growing up in the same ignorance and vicious surroundings with which they have all their lives been cursed, that they should listen to any plan that would help them away?

If we look at the cotton regions the picture is the same in its general effect, differing only in details. Cotton lands of the South can be bought for five and ten dollars an acre, yet, as a rule, colored men are charged from five to ten dollars an acre rent for cotton lands, and then must pay from three to five dollars a bale to have their cotton ginned, to the man they rent from usually, and also, as a rule, buy their provisions from him at the inevitable "store" at high prices. To secure the payment of rent and provisions, and often for mules and plows he is compelled to buy, a cut-throat mortgage on everything the man has or can raise is inserted in the lease. Of course at the end of the year, as a rule, the negro is in debt or not anything more than even. His year's work and all he has raised gone—and he has nothing. As we said before there are exceptions, but we have illustrated the rule. The crop is raised, three-fourths of it by colored people, but they are, as a rule, swindled out of their wages. And the matter grows worse and worse. Our extended tours through the country convince us of this.

The only remedy is for the white people who, as a rule, own the soil and make the contracts to deal justly with their laborers, or the laborers will and ought to leave.

The Resurrection.

REV. GEORGE R. BRISTOR'S SERMON, ON ASSUMING THE PASTORATE OF AMES M. E. CHURCH.

Yesterday morning was one of unusual interest to the congregation of Ames Methodist Episcopal Church of this city. Rev. George R. Bristor, A. M., the newly appointed pastor, preached for the first time. It being Easter Sunday, the pulpit and altar were profusely decorated with flowers, and the entire service was arranged appropriately for this solemn [illegible].

Mr. Bristor was introduced by the presiding elder of the New Orleans district, Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., who gave him a cordial welcome to the pulpit and expressed the hope and belief that his coming would be signalized by a gracious outpouring of Holy Spirit upon the church.

Mr. Bristor is unmarried; is about thirty years old; is a graduate of Dickenson College; is a native of Baltimore and entered the ministry in 1871 by uniting with the Wilmington Conference of the M. E. Church. Since then he has been a successful pastor and popular preacher. Judging from the sermon yesterday morning he is a man of much more than ordinary talent. He is both a natural and cultivated orator. The congregation gave him a cordial greeting at the close of the service, all expressing by their actions and many by words their delight with their new pastor.

Mr. Bristor took for his text: St. Matthew xxviii—6—first clause: "He is not here, for he has risen as he said."

The varied conceptions of the words of Jesus Christ, as evinced upon the part of His appostolic followers and by the chief priests and Pharisees, contain much to awaken thought. It was to be supposed that some perception of His mission would have dawned upon at least one of His companions. Those who for many years had followed Him, listening to His words, noting His deeds, and, seemingly, entering largely into His mental state, it was presumable, would have caught some glimpse of His mission, have had some grasp of His invisible character. It goes beyond presumption, and becomes reasonable to judge that he, at least, who openly avowed, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," should have felt some lingerings of this proclaiming now to cheer him after the crucifixion of his master. And yet such was far from the fact.

It does not suffice for this strange condition to declare that the resurrection from the dead was not a clearly revealed doctrine in the Israelitish traditions, with which all probably were familiar. Again and again Jesus had taught them—first in figurative language and afterward in open avowal—of his death and reappearing. But to their carnal minds there was no possible conception of his Messiahship, save in the words and regal [illegible] earthly kingdom. The [illegible] to Emmaus give a [illegible] of the hearts of all [illegible]. "But we trusted [illegible] He which should [illegible] Israel." [illegible]

[illegible] that had suddenly encamped within their hearts—among all the [illegible] of the apostles than the language of Peter. Many months ago, at the invitation of a passing reputed King, he had abandoned his nets and his boats. They were of but little value, but they were his all. He had expected to become great and mighty. This one, as Messiah, would have positions to give upon his right hand and upon his left, there would be large gifts dealt out to his friends; there would be for his followers during the preliminary days of strife, hereafter the ermine and purple, and faring sumptuously every day. This asked for a present sacrifice, and received it. The little had been risked for the great. Now, the bubble burst, the hope blighted, the expectation crushed. Despair, like an armed warrior, stalks in. "I go a fishing." A wiser, but an infinitely sadder man, I go back to my discarded and despised boat and nets. The lost threads of his former life are to be again gathered up, and the old course of tiresome living to be renewed. Every hope is gone. The death of Christ has crushed every loving heart.

But there was some remembrance of His words. The chief priests laughed at his claims, the Pharisees mocked at much of His doctrines. To all of them there had been manifest, comparative as to the disciples, but little of His miracle-power; of His great deeds they had learned only from report. Jesus, to them, was a poor deluded fanatic, an impetuous fellow led astray by impious and heretical thoughts. He deserved death as the only means of quieting His disquieting words. They recollect, strange as it seems, amid the forgetfulness of Jesus' friends. They remember. "Sir," says a large deputation unto Pilate, "we remember that that deceiver said while he was yet alive, 'After three days I will rise again. Command therefore, that the sepulchre be made sure.'" The heavy stone, Pilate's seal, the surrounding guard, tell not only of their fears, but of their faith. To them the words "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will build it again," had been as awakening [illegible] forebodings. If you decide [illegible] precautions arose not from faith, but from some doubt, or [illegible] in the minds of Christ's [illegible] one potent fact still abides. [illegible] and even fear, is but a foundation for faith. Nay, stronger, they are but weak forms of faith.

But aside from the faith is there visible another fact—the broader [illegible] thought as regards [illegible] by His enemies than by His friends. The Pharisees recalled not only his words, but caught a glimpse of the possible meaning, in the dark saying, "And in three days I will build it again." The disciples, hungry for such a chering truth, disconsolate and discouraged, hurry as they are able to other scenes and other means of living. The enemies, desiring not such a consummation, tarry and guard, lest their fears become actual, and their conception of his utterance truths. Fearing unbelief, watching and unbelieving, desire fleeing, these are strange figures to throw around a crucified God, or a forsaken tomb.

Now in studying this resurrection of the Lord—aside from the suggestions previously given—several thoughts are briefly to be compassed, and carried to our homes for enlargement and for meditation. We are not only to understand the resurrection of our Lord, and the necessary preliminary to His ascent to the eternal throne, but as embodying many lessons. Only a few of the most salient can be expected to think upon this morning.

One of the leadin thoughts to be gathered from the scene and its surroundings is the thought that matter is not inherent, is not necessarily an evil. Many of those who constituted the original churches were those who, searching for truth, had studied or hearkened to the Roman or Greek philosophies. So fondly devoted had these become to the tenets of their philosophic masters that in entering upon the new doctrines, they carried much of the influence derived from Plato, or Zeno, or the shadowing words of Socrates, with them. Rapidly from such influences the pure doctrines of the Lord began to be impregnated with the dogmas of these masters. In this way, Gnosticism had crept into many of the churches. Borrowing from Plato's dual-divinity, God and matter, the thought of the evil of matter, the idea was gaining rapid foothold among the new Christian converts. The teaching was prevalent that all sin was to be referred to the material, the soul was incapable of wrong-doing. They spoke with rapture of the day when the body should be cast aside as the time when they should be free from a burden and from a [illegible] part of their nature. [illegible] the body and the [illegible] organism as an [illegible] mitigated evil. In the midst of the [illegible] letter [illegible] nearer God, to settle the strife engendered. He declares to them that if, because of the evil inherent in matter, the resurrection from the dead be an impossibility, then, necessarily it had never occurred. But if this be true, then we have no risen Saviour, and all revelation and all preaching and believing in vain. Then, as an advance upon this strong argument, he demands: "What! know ye not that your bodies are temples of the Holy Ghost?" and lest they should fail to grasp the full import of the words, adds the declaration, "Whosoever defileth this temple, him will God destroy." Your material parts are not necessarily evil, to be wounded assailed, despised at will. I see here besides me flowers, placed as reminders that I am come to a land of flowers, and in remembrance of the day we celebrate. They are material. True not of that grosser form of matter, yet still material. Are they evil? This rose which breathes its fragrance about it, and by its beauteous form awakens within me a sense of the æsthetic and enlarges my conception of the beautiful, is an evil? This magnolia that is breathing its life out upon the surrounding air in perfume, and by its snowy casement reminds us of purity, is it inherently evil? Are there to be no fadeless flowers in the "land of bloom?" Will they be spiritual flowers?

When God made Adam and placed him amid Eden's beauties and vernal scenes, the book says, he pronounce him "good." The Hebrew word will bear the rendition "beautiful." But he was Adamah, the red clay being material. Was he necessarially evil? If so, how pronounced as "good"? When the Great Deliverer had finished His earthly career, He carried back a material form—in some directions, surely—to His throne and dominion. This body in which I now dwell shall bye and bye pass under the ban of its mortality but shall come forth again. Resurrection for Jesus and for us does not mean an escape from failing, nor a new outgrowth from former possibilities, it means the actual coming back again. My soul shall never enter the grave, it cannot be resurrected. Nothing but my material shall become the prey of the worm and decay, it alone can be brought out of the grave. The word is re-surrection—the bringing back of the same thing, the material.

Pause for a few moments upon another thought. This resurrection of Jesus teaches us that while our bodies shall be restored to just the same, they shall not be the same. Paradoxical as it sounds, it remains the truth. The man speaking to Mary, and whose feet she would gladly have clasped, as her lips utter "Rabboni," is the same friend whom she saw crucified; but the sudden disapperrance from her view is not according to His usual past manifestations. Two disciples, journeying to Emmaus, talk with the unknown stranger. They speak of Him and to Him as a man they treat as human; in this He partook of His former way, but His sudden flight from that inn-room is contrary to former materialism. All the disciples, save plodding Thomas, are in a little upper room. The barred doors and windows, a defence from persecuting Jews, speak of security from sudden and unheralded approach. But suddenly a figure stands in their midst. No bolt has flashed back, no bar been withdrawn. Neither from above nor below has He come. He is simply there. Is there the old materialism? Yet, He says, "Handle me and see that I am flesh and blood." And fingers touch the nail-marked hands and the spear-opened side, but to announce he is material, human. So of Ascension so of all His after appearings. The grosser forms of His materialism are gone, the purified matter remains. A parable seems to exemplify: "Sir, did you not sow only wheat? Whence then these tares?" The reply was, "An enemy in the night has done this." Let both grow together until harvest, and then" separation. In the pure form of material Adam, sin has scattered the seeds of corruption, of woe, of gross carnality. After awhile these shall through the grave be separated and cast away—the old-time pure retained. You speak of the after-preservation of this material organism as a stupendously wonderful thing? Pardon a homely illustration: I find the careful housewife in the wintry days places upon her table what looks, tastes and seems to be the luscious peach or fragrant strawberry. But the season for such fruitage is many days past. Ah! by some preservative power she has learned to check the easy decay of the peach or berry, preserve them regardless of passing days or years. Think you if the culinary arts can so defy and arrange above the loss or decay in nature, that it will be a hard task for my God to so envelope and cover our material natures—here only seen as decaying—as to forever preclude change?

Another, briefly noticed thought, and I leave the theme. I notice in the resurrection the proof of Christ's divinity. It is useless to conceal that Jesus' life, humanly speaking, was a failure. What books did he project upon the world? He started in motion no machinery. He left no organized school of followers and no formulated creed. He had quaffed sorrow, and His humanity had been clearly revealed. The Jews, speaking for the whole world, had announced His epitaph. "What shall I do with Jesus?" asks Pilate. "Away with him." God will speak and declare Him henceforth worthy of all power and life and praises. He had died as a just penalty for sin, His life is renewed as a world-token that His work was accomplished. He had conquered sin by His life; upon every hand evil assailed Him, but spotless he had come forth from the thirty-three years testing. Now the question remains as to His struggle with Death. Of that struggle in the darkened sepulchre, of that fierce conflict between this Jesus and the leagued powers of Death and corrupting grave, no eye caught a glimpse, no ear caught the sound of single blow. But on it hangs all hopes, all destiny. Lazarus had come forth only to die again; again come under death's bands; how of this conflict?

Amid the things seen by John in the upper land, amid the sights unspeakable by mortal lips or to mortal ears, one beatific fact bursts from his closed lips. He must tell them, upon the throne sat One ruling earth and sky, things terrestial and things celestial; and John shouts out the glad news, "He was like unto man." Naturally he cries to the enthroned ruling One, 'Who art thou?' Hark, to the reply! "I am he who am living and was dead. I am alive forevermore." The victory is known henceforth. Do you doubt yet? About his waist was a girdle, and upon it hung mighty keys. What are these? you ask. Hear His reply. "I have the keys of death and of hell." Our leader is from the grave gone up, holding captivity captive. So shall you and I ascend if we are His. We shall be made spiritualized humanity, and be abiders in His everlast[illegible] power and glory.—N. O. Times, 13th.

Letter from Columbus.

We have been in this place over two months, dividing our time equally among the Baptists and Methodists. The former have a flourishing Sabbath-school of one hundred pupils or more, with a corresponding number of teachers. One of these a white gentleman of Southern birth and education, seems to feel a deep interest in the spiritual welfare of his pupils, and labors earnestly to impress on their minds the necessity of a regenerated heart. We are glad to see that they use the Lesson Leaves. The superintendent is a live man, and means to keep up with the times. The pastor of this church is a young man of fine natural abilities, which if properly cultivated would elevate him to the best positions in the land; but his education, like most of his race, is limited, and in the years to come he will find this a great draw back to his usefulness. In some localities the people are already calling for an educated and refined ministry. This is one of the most encouraging signs of the times, and will increase as the masses become enlightened. In view of this fact the ministers of every denomination ought to set arpart certain hours of each day for study; this could be done without conflicting with their ministeria duties in the least. The M. E. Sabbath-school is growing. Some changes have been made, which we think, will prove beneficial ones, but there is still room for improvement. A few Sabbaths since a proposition was made to introduce the Berean Lesson Leaves into the school, but it was voted down by the members of the school board. I mention these things that you may fully understand the difficulties under which we labor. The first Sabbath in every month is the one set apart for the recitation of verses. The secretary reports five hundred for last Sabbath. Miss Hattie Austin, a young lady formerly of Louisville, deserves credit for the manner in which she acquitted herself, also Miss Fannie Billips, a little girl of not more than eight summers. The pastors of this church are now engaged in a protracted effort which promises to result in much good; a number of persons have already professed faith in Christ, while many others are soliciting the prayers of the Church.

H. A. DAVIS.

Columbus, Miss., April [illegible]

The Turks are fortifying the [illegible]

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

TEXAS.

Rev. Joseph Harden, Bleakwood: "I think I will soon have a church at this place."

Rev. R. Dibble, Harrisburg: "Baptized 11 on the 13th, seven of whom were adults."

Rev. A. R. Norris, San Antonio: "We are preparing for a Sunday-school picnic and exhibition."

Rev. W. M. McKenzie, [illegible]: "Elder Malloy visited us March 8; there were 105 at the communion table."

Rev. D. Gregory, Austin: "We have just closed a protracted meeting of near three weeks, which resulted in 30 converts. So the Lord has undoubtedly blessed us this year in Austin."

Rev. W. H. Mosby, Lavernia: "Our people are poor. We have no church; congregation numbers 25. We are going to build a church. Brothers Jacob Pastson, class leader, and R. Eads, an old member have died."

By letter from Rev. C. L. Madison, presiding elder of the Dallas District, Texas, we learn that the minutes of the annual conference have not been published, and possibly may not be. There is something wrong, and it may be submitted to the next conference. The elder desires to hear from all the preachers of his district to post him on the condition of their work. He has been detained at home owing to the long and severe illness of his wife.

MISSISSIPPI.

J. K. Comfort, Hickory Flock: "I am happy to see the work go on."

Rev. D. D. Goodwin, [illegible]: "We are stirring up Vicksburg. My protracted meeting is still going on."

Rev. Perry Jamison, [illegible]: "At the visit of our new presiding elder 135 partook of the communion."

Rev. P. Harris, Crystal Springs: "The prospect is bright. Received in full membership 11, conversions 13, on probation 18."

Rev. James Ellis, [illegible]: "Elder Bradford was [illegible] on the 29th and 30th. On Sunday he preached, and 92 were at communion. The collection for the elder amounted to [illegible] [illegible] a bite on his horse, and [illegible]. So you see that the work is [illegible] up here in the Yazoo Valley."

Rev. Henry York, Oxford: "The Lord is yet with us. My Sunday-school is a prosperous one; my church is growing. On Sunday I added seven to the church, and on the Sunday previous [illegible] brethren, that this year may [illegible] rich harvest year [illegible] are poor, but we are trying [illegible] and complete our church [illegible] year."

Rev. W. McDonald, Starkville: "Elder McLachlan administered the sacrament to 116, and preached two powerful sermons. When I came I found a debt of [illegible] on the church, and it was on the eve of being sold. We have gone to work to pay it, and raised [illegible]. Our white friends say they will help us. We have a Sabbath-school with 80 in attendance."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. A. Moore, Algiers: "Little Zion is improving much in membership. Fifty-five attended Sabbath School, of which Elijah Clark is superintendent, Miss Mary Lee, secretary, and Misses D. Washington, C. Cole, D. Makaise and Jane Harvey teachers. We are repairing the church building."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. J. Summerhill, Prairie Plain: "Elder Manson is much loved by the people of all classes. The ministers of all denominations speak in praise of our first colored elder. There will be a Sunday-school convention, May 11, at Southerland's chapel, for the purpose of organizing missionary societies on this work."

The City.

The new sanitary [illegible] is working in harmony with the city administration.

A severe hail storm [illegible] day evening 10th inst [illegible] surprise, and caused [illegible] to window glass and fruit [illegible]

The convention of [illegible] called to consider the [illegible] emigration, met at the [illegible] Church, on Common street, [illegible] 18th. Rev. Dr. Thompson [illegible] elected permanent chairman. [illegible] discussions were of an [illegible] character. We shall [illegible] tended notice of the [illegible] next week.

The Mower Post, G. [illegible] pointed the following [illegible] superintend the [illegible] Union graves [illegible] tional cemetery [illegible] May: Col. W. [illegible]

The Freedwomen.

Our missionaries among the Freedwomen in New Orleans have already over 200 young girls under their influence and teaching. [illegible] very much needed to [illegible] expenses. Will all who [illegible] cards with which to [illegible] for this great work, [illegible] collections and forward, [illegible] all money [illegible]. If your cards are not [illegible] forward [illegible] you [illegible] cards till the whole amount is raised.

[illegible] acknowledgment of [illegible] the following sums have been most thankfully received:

[illegible]

My Financial Tour.

[illegible] I lectured at Wesley [illegible] but money was [illegible] only received $31 35. [illegible] Rev. D. Gregory, says [illegible]

[illegible] May 2, [illegible] May 3-4, [illegible] San Antonio May 10 11, [illegible] May 17-18, Halletsville May 21-23, LaGrange May 24-25, all in May.

I have written in as brief a manner as possible. Please publish to the end that all may be informed.

MACK HENSON,
Financial Agent.

Words of Commendation.

MR. EDITOR.—I wish, through your columns, to say a few words to my kind brethren of the Mississippi Conference, in regard to our Church organ, the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. It was remarked at our last conference that less was done for that excellent paper in the churches of Mississippi than in any of our churches in the surrounding States. As a friend to the editor, and admirer of the paper, I deeply regretted that such was the case, but was at at no loss to find the cause of it. In doing so, I will first remark, that it is not because they are not pleased with the paper that our people in Mississippi do not more generally take it,—for I only express the opinion of the leading portion of the preachers and lay members of our church in Mississippi when I say the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is one of the best and most ably edited and conducted papers of the M. E. Church; that its able editor, and the enlightening and interesting information, not only on church and religious matters, but also on all the great subjects, and topics which are now engaging the attention of the enlightened world, render it one of the most interesting, useful and profitable papers to reading people everywhere. I would say further, that not only our own people, but the numerous readers of the SOUTHWESTERN without the pale of our church do not hesitate to say that the extent to which its broad columns teem every [illegible] with instructive and, is every [illegible] interesting and profitable [illegible] matter fully evinces the in[illegible] of its [illegible] editor [illegible] our [illegible] and [illegible] to the [illegible]

[illegible] the admiration of our [illegible] and people in Mississippi [illegible] our Church organ, [illegible] they [illegible] take the same [illegible] of his [illegible] behalf of all [illegible]

[illegible]

Sunday School.

April 27, 1879.—THE COMING SAVIOUR.
SCRIPTURE.—Is. 42: 1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."—Matt. 3: 17.

TOPIC.—A Covenant Saviour.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.]

The Connection.—Our lesson falls in a cycle of prophecies which extend from chapter xl–xlvi. In those which precede the one of which our lesson forms a part, there are prophecies of a deliverance to Israel from her captivity, some of which also refer to the great deliverance to be wrought for her through the Messiah.

A New Servant (1-4).—That which confused the Jews when Christ came was, that he should come as a servant. Instead of a king, he stood among them as "one that serveth." They could not reconcile that with the glory which the Messiah must have with the Father before the world was. He was perfect in his character—the one of whom God could say, "In whom my soul delighteth." At his baptism, and at his transfiguration, this expression of delight in him was repeated. Matt. 3: 17; 17: 5. "The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand." John 3: 35. The service that he was to do for the world was to "bring forth judgment to the Gentiles." Through him the Gentile nations first learned to have true notions of the God who had manifested himself to Israel so frequently and so gloriously.

V. 2. In this verse the humility of Christ is particulary dwelt upon. "He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street." He was not to appear like a conqueror, preceded by a blare of trumpets. All of his wonderful works were to be quietly done.

V. 3. His tenderness. "A bruised reed shall not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench." A rush, or reed, such as grows in marshy places, with its hollow stalk, is the emblem of frailty.

V. 4. "He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment in the earth, and the isles shall wait for his law."

A New Covenant (5-7).—The one who makes this covenant is one upon whom we can rely. The prophet reminds us that he has the power to carry out all that he promises. He is the one that created the heavens, that stretched them out as a curtain, and spread forth the earth as a carpet, and that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein. He points out the fact that some scientists deny, that the God of nature is the same as the God of the Bible. The one who does wondrous things in the realm of nature is the same one who promises to do wondrous things in the realm of grace. Why should he be any more hampered in the one realm than in the other.

The covenant was made with the Messiah for the world. "I the Lord have called thee in righteousness." Christ is the means by which the love of God is made the permanent possession of man. He is the covenant by which that is assured—not only the Mediator, as in the New Testament he is termed, but the fulfilment of the promise itself.

"To open the blind eyes." He was "the light of the world," the New Testament says. So is the sun, but there are many who can not behold its light. And there are more people morally blind than are physically so. "The god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them."

"To bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness from the prison house." The religion of the Saviour not only brings light, but liberty. The sinner [illegible] to moan, "For the good that I would, I do not; but the evil which I would not, that I do." But whom the Son shall make free, shall be free indeed.

The Song. 1. It was to be a new song. It was to catch its inspiration from a new theme. That theme could be none other than redemption through Christ. It was the song of Moses and the Lamb. [illegible] be a song of praise. [illegible] by those [illegible] opened, and [illegible] released from their [illegible]. 2. It was to be [illegible] to come "from [illegible]." All were to [illegible] in the sea" [illegible] inhabitants [illegible] how [illegible] and [illegible] until [illegible] had

General News Items.

The Attorney General of Ohio decides that women can be appointed notaries public.

The majority of Upson, Democrat, for Congress, sixth district of Texas is near 4000.

Martial law was proclaimed in Odessa, and many political arrests made in Russia recently.

The President nominated T. W. Minor, to be United States attorney, for the northern district of Texas.

A syndicate of nineteen firms of New York and Boston subscribed for $150.000.000 of four per cent bonds.

Aleko Pasha is appointed Governor of Eastern Romelia for five years, with approval of the treaty powers.

The Secretary of War recommends the continuance of an appropriation for the survey of the Mississippi river—158,000.

The Argentine Confederation has ceded the city and district of Villa Occidental to Paraguay, in accordance with the award of President Hayes.

The Colored Emigration Society of St. Louis, J. Milton Turner, President, is to be a permanent organization. Over 6000 people arrived from the South.

Judge Spofford, before the elections committee of the Senate, charged that Senator Kellogg had bribed members of the Legislature to secure his election to the Senate. Senator Kellogg obtained leave to interrupt Judge Spofford and denied the assertion. He said a committee of the Nicholls legislature, composed of two Democrats and one Republican, appointed in March 1878, failed to find anything to substantiate the charge, and never made a report. He believed it could be readily proven that Democrats had used money to induce members to desert the Packard legislature.

"A Tribute."

EDITOR SOUTHWESTERN—Your late interesting obituary and reminiscences of Rev. Rufus Spaulding, who died at San Antonio, Texas, and followed the youthful and heroic Cox as the first Methodist Missionary to Africa, revives the memory of events near half a century ago.

The old Methodists of New England will recall the following beautiful [illegible] the first missionary [illegible] Africa, [illegible] Church [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible]

THE GRAVE OF COX.

From Niger's dubious billow,
From Gambia's silver wave,
Where rests on death's cold pillow,
The tenant of the grave;
We hear a voice of weeping,
Like low toned lutes at night,
In plaintive echos sweeping,
Up Mesurado's height.

The Moon's low chain of mountains,
The plain where Carthage stood,
Jugurtha's ancient fountain,
And Tsembo's palmy wood,
Are wild with notes of sorrow,
Above their sainted friend,
To whom there comes no morrow,
But glory without end.

The palm trees o'er him waving,
The grass above his head,
The stream his clay-couch laving,
All—all proclaim him dead;
Dead—but alive in glory,
A conqueror at rest,
Embalmed in sacred story,
And crowned among the blest.

Marriages.

At the Murrey street M. E. Church, Wednesday at 8 p. m., by the Rev. J. F. Marshal, Mr. Edward Powell to Miss Peggie Gaines. The couple are both young members of the above church. After the ceremony we repaired to the residence of Mr. Sarah Robinson to spend an hour or so of pleasure.

H. J. WRIGHT.

Alexandria, La., April 11th, 1879.

Our beloved superientendent, Prof. G. W. Williams, has taken to him Miss Callie Kennedy of the Baptist Church. Rev. S. Miller officiated at 2:30 p. m. Returning home from the church to the bride's residence, all dined most heartily, after which the choir gave congratulation by singing. Both are of Choctaw county, Mississippi.

B. R. WARREN,
Hopewell S. S., Secretary.

April 6, 1879.

Deaths.

Bro. Hiram Sathure, a steward at Ocean Springs, Miss., departed this life on the 15th. He died in the full triumph of faith.

JOHN GASTON.

Our beloved sister, Maria Randall, departed this life April 8, 1878, leaving a husband and six children to mourn her loss. She died in the triumph of faith. She said there was not a wave or cloud between her and God. She was one of the [illegible] founders of our church in [illegible]. She was [illegible] death [illegible] carry it on. She was born in Lexington, Ky. Her age was forty-six.

JOHN RANDALL.

Springfield, Livingston parish, La.

A SAD DEATH.—Dear Editor—I wish to publish the death of a stranger, which occurred on the 17th inst. His occupation was working on the railroad. He had been here on this section about a week. I was called by his companions on the railroad to attend his funeral, and in doing so I asked them where he was from. Said he came from Louisville Ky., some time ago. His name is James McFowlen. He is about 45 years old. Complexion yellow, scattering beard and gray hair, and whiskers. He is a heavy built man. He said he had a wife and three children in Louisville, Kentucky, and a mother. I hope that his family may learn his decease through this. He also said that during the war he belonged to a regiment in Indiana, 5th Heavy Artillery.

Fraternally,
H. HESLUP.

Durant, Miss., April 18th, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR: I desire to add a few words to what Bro. Gregory has said respecting the Christian life and triumphant death of Mrs. Amelia Smith, my mother-in-law, who departed this life March 19th. She was the wife of Mack Smith, (formerly known as McKinney) who died a Christian two years ago. My mother-in-law was converted when she was thirty-eight years old, and joined the M. E. Church South and continued a faithful member of that church till the Methodist Episcopal Church was organized in Austin. She was among the first to welcome the old mother church, and gave largely out of her scanty earnings toward the erection of the stone church on the hill, known as Wesley Chapel. She was always at her post and always contributed liberally toward the support of the minister. The poor and sick have often had occasion to "arise and call her blessed" for her liberality. As she came near the Jordan of death she asked Bro. Thomas King to sing part of the 1032 hymn:

"I suffer on my three score years
Till my deliverer comes," etc.

And then she said, "I am only waiting for the old ship," and from her words it was a glorious waiting, for the old ship was ready at the banks to take her over to the promised land.

G. W. SMITH.

Columbus, Texas, April 16, 1879.

MERIDIAN, MISS., April 8, 1879.

The M. E. Sunday schools of the Meridian district are respectfully solicited to participate with the M. E. Sunday-school on the 8th of May at the laying of the corner stone of the Meridian Academy.

H. E. MCELROY, Sup't.
M. ADAMS, Pastor.

New Publications.

The evidence of one's own senses is more convincing than any argument or indorsement; therefore, we say, examine the Golden Hours for yourself, and see if it would not be wise and kind to put it into the hands of the children. Address, Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, Ohio, or Phillips & Hunt, New York.

A "tidal wave" of popular favor seems to have struck Scribner's Monthly. The increase in sales during the past six months has been nearly twenty thousand copies, and the addition in England has doubled. The May issue (95,000) contains thirty-three articles and departments. In order to give new subscribers the opening chapters of Mrs. Burnett's Great Novel, "Haworth's," the publishers offer, or any dealer will supply, the bound Volume XVII in the new and elegant olive-green embossed covers (instead of the unbound numbers) for the past six months without charge; that is, for $4.00 will be sent Volume XVII bound, and a six months' subscription (May '79 to October '79 inclusive), with four frontispiece portraits of Longfellow, Emerson, Holmes and Whittier. Scribner & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

A new serial story by Jean Ingelow will begin in the number of Littell's Living Age for the week ending April 26th. It is published from the author's advance sheets, and opens in a very interesting way. The progress of a new story by this popular writer will be largely watched. A new volume of The Living Age, by the way, began with the first number of April, affording a good time for the beginning of new subscriptions. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, publishers.

The May number of Haus und Herd maintains well the average standard of excellency of our German monthly. It spreads before the reader a great variety of very readible articles, many of which are original productions. The beautiful steel engraving, "Catharina von Bora" (wife of the great reformer, Luther), is accompanied by a sketch of her life, by the Editor. Next follows, "Revolutions within the Domain of Science," showing [illegible] late discoveries, how uncertain [illegible] ground is on which all scientific [illegible] rests. Illustrated are [illegible] of Nature," and "In Olden Times." Among the other articles we mention, "Confession of a Spendthrift," "From the Journal of a Martyr," "Protestant Sisterhoods," "The Grave in the Ice," and "The History of Rings." There are several poems. The Sunday-school and Editorial Departments are well supplied as usual.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife, who has done her own house work for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

"JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y."

Compound Oxygen

Does not cure by the substitution of one disease for another, as when other drugs are taken, but by an orderly process of revitalization. See what has been said before in this paper, and send for our Treatise giving full information. It will be mailed free. Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Many readers of this paper little think or even suspicion that they are the selected victims of a very dangerous disease that is slowly but surely fastening its intestine and cancerous fangs upon their system, and dragging them down to an untimely grave. It is Catarrh in its incipiency; and delay in treating it is very dangerous. If any reader is desirous of obtaining relief speedily, and a permanent cure, we would recommend to use the remedy of Messrs. Dobyns & Mitchell, North Middleton, Ky. See advertisement in another column.

Somebody's Child.

Somebody's child is dying—with the flush of hope on his young face and an indescribable yearning to live and take an honored place in the world beside the companions of his youth. And somebody's mother is thinking of the time when that dear face will be hidden where no ray of hope can brighten it—when her heart and home will be left desolate—because there was no cure for consumption. Reader, if the child be your neighbor's, take this comforting word to the mother's heart before it is too late. Tell her that consumption is curable, that men are living to-day, aged, robust men, whom the physicians, pronounced incurable, at the age of twenty-five, because one lung had been almost destroyed by the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a most efficient alterative for separating the scrofulous matter from the blood and lungs, and imparting strength to the system. It has cured hundreds of consumptives.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	10 @—
Ordinary	—@10¼
Good Ordinary	—@10¾
Low Middling	—@11
Middling	—@11¼
Good Middling	—@11¾
SUGAR—
Common	4¼@ 5¼
Strictly Prime	5½@ 6
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7¼
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Common	20@ 22
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	30@ 32
COFFEE—
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14¼
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.	$11 25
BACON—
Shoulders	—@ 4½
Clear Rib Sides	—@ 5¼
Clear Sides	5½@ 5¾
BEEF—
Medium Western	to 9 50
Choice Extra Western	to 12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	8½@ 9½
Choice	9¾ a 10
LARD—
Refined	7½ a 8
FLOUR—
Common	$3 50 to 3 75
Extra	3 75 to 4 00
Double Extra	4 25 to 4 50
Family	5 25 to 5 50
Choice Fancy	5 75 to 6 00
BUTTER—
Choice New York	22 to 24
Good New York	15 to 20
Choice Western	17 to 18
Good-Western	12 to 13
POULTRY— ₩ doz.
Old Chickens	3 50 to 3 75
Young do	2 50 to 3 00
Ducks	3 00 to 3 50
Geese	3 00 to 4 00
Turkeys	17 00 to 18 00
EGGS— ₩ doz.
Western	11 to 12
Louisiana	11 to 13
POTATOES— ₩ bbl.
New Louisiana	5 25 to 5 75
Western	— to 4 25

Quarterly Conferences.

Greenwood (Miss.) District.

SECOND ROUND.

Goodman, May 3-4; Lexington, May 10-11; Pickens, May 17-18; Hernando, May 24-25; Caney Creek, May 25-26; Benton, May 31 and June 1; Deasonville, June 1-2; Yazoo Circuit, June 7-8; Yazoo City, June 8-9; Silver Creek, June 14-15; Holly Grove Circuit, June 15-16; Mississippi City, June 21-22; Rosbuck, 22-23; Greenwood, June 28-29; Good Hope, July 5-6.

L. BRADFORD, P. E.

Okolona (Miss.) District Conference.

SECOND ROUND.

Corinth, May 3-4; Okolona, May 10-11; Buena Vista, May 17-18; Aberdeen, May 24-25; Athens Tabernacle, May 31 and June 1; West Point and Tampico, June 7-8; Columbus and Columbus Circuit, June 14-15; Crawford Cross Road, June 21-22; Starkville and Circuit, June 27-29; Whitefield and Pleasant Grove, July 5-6; Walthall and Spring Valley, July 12-13; Bellefontain, July 19; Mt. Pisgah and Woodward, July 19-20; Houston, July 22; Pontotoc, July 26-27; Union Grove, August 2-3; Tupelo, August 9-10.

Over two-thirds of the Quarterly Conferences in the Okolona district have asked me to discontinue the District Conference, therefore I hereby notify the brothers of the Okolona district that all the business heretofore done in the District Conference will be attended to in the Monthly Conference.

[illegible] P. E.

Okolona, Miss., April 4, 1879.

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates. Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, [illegible] of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. [illegible] returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used [illegible] of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a [illegible] thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. [illegible] credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1879. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee, $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't.
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Keziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWN, President.
LAZARUS O. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALL, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice-President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committee on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.

ELEGANTLY

Furnished Rooms,

WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.

123 Carondelet Street

Bet. Poydras and Lafayette Streets.

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each	40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each	50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each	50 cents
Roan, embossed, each	75 "
Morocco, gilt edges	$1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each	75 cents
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper,	$1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges	1 50

12 mo.

☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.

Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Sheep, each	$1 50
Roan, embossed	2 00

12mo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each	$1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper,	$1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges	2 50

Send orders to

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY. M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

Upholstery Goods

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june8'78-tf. New Orleans.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once A. C. MORTON & CO., Atlanta, Ga.

n13 tf

ARTISTS' MATERIALS, Wm. [illegible], [illegible], Chicago.

West Texas Conference SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin [illegible] for the Conference and easy of [illegible]. The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the [illegible]. This School has earnest [illegible] Christian Teachers who have [illegible] in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month [illegible]
Intermediate " [illegible]
Higher " [illegible]
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo [illegible]

Colored Ministers of the M. E. [illegible] will have their tuition paid by the [illegible] men's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, [illegible]
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, [illegible]
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial [illegible]

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with STEEL RAILS

Equipment improved, Track ballasted, Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line [illegible] all points

North and East

[illegible] 120 Miles Shorter to Chicago, 112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis, [illegible] Miles Shorter to Louisville, [illegible] Miles Shorter to Cincinnati [illegible] THAN ANY OTHER [illegible] Pullman Palace Sleeping [illegible] Through without change [illegible] Louis, to Louisville [illegible] but one change to New York, [illegible] ington, Baltimore, Philadelphia [illegible] leading Eastern Cities. No Transfer at any [illegible]. All Connections Strictly First [illegible] Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m. Ticket Office, [illegible] City Hotel.

LATEST [illegible] MUSIC [illegible]

BIGLOW & [illegible]

Indexical Silver Soap [illegible] For Cleansing and [illegible] Plated Ware, [illegible] and effective preparation ever offered to the public. [illegible] Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware used this soap, and have given it their qualified approval. CAUTION.—The original and only genuine Silver Soap is known world-wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, and is the only proper thing to use for cleaning Silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by ROBINSON BROS & CO., Boston, Mass.

MODEL OF [illegible]

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music is sold at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $2 to $3. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO., Atlanta, Ga.

AGENTS WANTED [illegible]

Young Men or Girl [illegible]

Young Folks' Corner.

GIVE ME A LETTER FROM HOME.

Oh, give me a letter from home,
'Tis the place that is dearest to me,
For my mother is there,
And her dear loving care
Goes with me where'er I may be.
Oh, home! dear home!
Give me a letter from home.

Yes there are the friends of my youth,
The hearts that will ever be true,
In adversity's blast
When troubles come fast,
Then old friends are better than new.
Old friends! tried friends,
Ah! old friends are better than new.
—Household.

Chip Lee.

A TRUE STORY.

He is not a squirrel nor a monkey, but a live boy, with skin in color more like a new leather trunk than anything else. His eyes are [illegible] and black; his hair is perfectly shaven with the exception of one lock, into which are braided black silk cords—and then the whole is wound in a coil around the crown of his head.

His loose white cotton sack has tiny brass buttons, and his funnily turned up shoes have soles of many thicknesses of cloth; he wears [illegible] cotton aprons, which are [illegible] clean. When he goes [illegible] "Hang High" at the wash-house, he leaves his apron and puts on a [illegible] queer coat. It is of black cloth, is lined with blue, is very [illegible] wadded and neatly quilted, and buttons with the same tiny brass buttons always used by his people.

Chip Lee is only sixteen, and yet [illegible] you suppose he spends his [illegible] does not play baseball, [illegible] nor marbles; does not have [illegible] mind baby," nor run errands; [illegible] not go hunting or fish- [illegible] go to school or to church. What does the boy do? What can he be good for?

He has [illegible] at our house for six months, and we could not spare him for a day, for the boy does all the cooking and house work for our family of six.

He makes good bread, pies and [illegible] and vegetables [illegible] charge of the [illegible] some of na[illegible] ection, but al- [illegible] a good re- [illegible] fresh papers [illegible] a shining [illegible] as white [illegible] them.

[illegible] blunder [illegible] bill of [illegible] of [illegible] treating [illegible] berry jam; [illegible] sixteen [illegible] lessons [illegible] great [illegible]

[illegible] Chip Lee [illegible] tub at four [illegible] to call him [illegible] down to breakfast. He [illegible] at night, [illegible] and early in [illegible]

[illegible] the industrious [illegible] shirt bosoms that [illegible] appear anywhere, [illegible] dresses that are [illegible] and smooth. As a [illegible] I do not think he [illegible] by any one, for a [illegible] work; he came to [illegible] a wash-house where he was [illegible] Then when sweeping [illegible] he goes through the [illegible] dusting even in the [illegible]

[illegible] Chip Lee is a treasure! [illegible] here we found so [illegible] so engaged [illegible] he [illegible] wash- [illegible] the Chinese [illegible]

[illegible] that Chip did [illegible] at Hang High's [illegible] o'clock night— [illegible] o'clock—no no [illegible] Perhaps the soft [illegible] table was not [illegible] but Chip [illegible]

[illegible] bed, two [illegible] and establish [illegible] our unfinish- [illegible] Before the first [illegible] was gone, [illegible] of one corner of [illegible] had papered it, had [illegible] table, taken posses- [illegible] hang up a [illegible] of him- [illegible] hand, and [illegible]

[illegible] book shows [illegible] is not en- [illegible] walls of [illegible] does not [illegible] time he [illegible] a Chinese [illegible]

Think of a boy of sixteen hard at work all day, and then spending his evenings in painfully spelling out word after word of the great truths of salvation! That he is thoroughly in earnest is clear from his anxiety to re-read, and from the questions he asks.

If our American boys were half as ambitious and industrious, we would have less anxiety about the future of the coming generations.—Congregationalist.

Lincoln on the Auction Block.

Of the good stories told of President Lincoln, the following is lately published:

"Soon after President Lincoln went to Washington he attended the Foundry Church, occupying a seat within the altar while Bishop Simpson preached a missionary sermon. After the collection was taken at the close of the sermon and the congregation was about to be dismissed, an irrepressible brother rose and proposed to be one of a given number to raise $100 to make President Lincoln a life director of the missionary society. The proposition was put, and Brothers A, B and C responded glibly. But the inevitable pause finally came. A balance was wanting. When the Bishop announced, "Who will take the balance?" the pause became slightly impressive. The tall form of Lincoln was seen to rise, a long, bony arm was extended imploringly, and he said. "Bishop this is the first time I have ever been placed upon the auction block. Please let me pay the balance myself, and take me down."

"Like a Christian."

I heard of two children—a boy and a girl—who used to play a great deal together. They both became converted. One day the boy came to his mother and said, "Mother, I know that Emma is a Christian?"

"What makes you think so, my child?"

"Because, mother, she plays like a Christian."

"Plays like a Christian?" said the mother, the expression sounding a little odd.

"Yes," replied the child; "if you take everything she's got, she don't get angry. Before she was selfish, and if she didn't have everything her own way she would say, 'I won't play with you; you are an ugly little boy.'"

A lady was asked by her servant about the nature of the next world, and whether it would be just like this. The lady, being blessed with a happy family of eleven children, has a skeleton in the house in the shape of a stocking basket that never gets empty, and at whose side she has spent many a midnight hour in darning. With this spectre before her eyes, she replied to the girl playfully: "I don't think we shall be required to darn stockings after midnight." "Shure that's thrue for you, mum—for all the pictures of angels I have ever seen were barefooted."

A case of much public interest has just been decided in the court in Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. Eliza Ross left all her property to a Catholic priest for performing masses for soul and that of her deceased husband. Her daughter sued to break the will, and the court decided that the will was unlawful, and the property must go to the child instead of the priest.

It is a noticeable fact that the people in the prairie country of Iowa (says the Burlington Hawkeye) do more work than any other people in the West. This is because there is nothing about the top rail of a barbed wire fence that invites men to sit on it and talk politics while the grasshoppers get in the crops.

The Rev. Louis Wazawacanayana—Louis Iron Thunder—once a hostile savage, is now pastor of a church at Buffalo Lake, Dakota. His congregation numbers fifty-five persons, all full blooded Dakota Indians.

It is one thing to be familiar with a saint, and another to be in fellowship with God; saints may be separated from their companions, but God will not cast away His suppliants.

It is easy enough to pick holes in other people's work, but it is far more profitable to do better work yourself.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive or [illegible] doctors or using so much of [illegible] medicine that does [illegible] and dislike the pro- [illegible] put your trust in [illegible] simple, pure [illegible] that cures [illegible] cost, and you [illegible] and good [illegible] of it in [illegible] column.

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

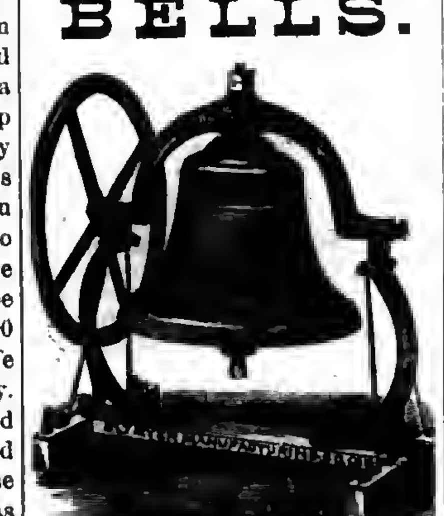
Overwhelming evidence of their superiority over all other plasters. It is everywhere recommended by Physicians, Druggists and the Press.

The manufacturers received a special award and the only medal given for porous plasters at the Centennial Exposition 1876 at the Paris Exposition, 1878.

Their great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once.

Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, or any local pain or ache should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. Price 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 Inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 Inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 Inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
36 Inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 Inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 Inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 Inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 Inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC
OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

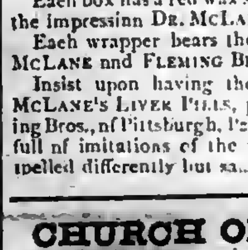
CHURCH ORGANS,



Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us, We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf New Orleans.

FOR SALE!

A First-class Five-Horse Power Upright

Steam Engine,

AMES' MAKE.

Can be seen at work at this office.

A Bargain Offered.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878-9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t
Third " " March 21, " June 12th

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
n49 tf Marshall, Texas,

Central Tennessee College
Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygiene will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in

Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month, Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after.

For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, n6 tf Holly Springs, Miss.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp. ALFRED [illegible] SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

mar 23 1y

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for Investors Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v12 n43 1y

LORD & TAYLOR,
NEW YORK.
Opening Spring Display
OF
NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tessier, Guinet, Girard, and other reputable manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for superior excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

Of OLD AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Market.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard fabrics, in splendid variety. Also, Anderson's [illegible] Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Mohair Cloths, Lonelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50; Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.95.

☞ Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 np13 2m

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 192 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

X CANCER

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 23 years. Doctors, Ministers and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific, and other remedies. Write for a circular giving full particulars.

Address W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D.,
n10 1y Rome, N. Y.

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
19 1y

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold and Jet, 10c. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.
n15 13t

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline: A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every Presiding Elder and Preacher in charge should have one. Price ....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price....$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price....$1 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price....$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price....$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it. contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price....$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price....$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price....$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:

Flexible cover, 12mo	$0 50
Flexible, Imitation Morocco, 12mo	75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo	1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo	2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price....$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors, 2. Record of Classes, 3. Record of official members, 4. Alphabetical record of full members, 5. Record of probationers, 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price....$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price....$3 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen....$1 50. Large size, each....20. Large and illuminated, each....25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred....$1 00. Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00. From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100....$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00. Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100....$1 00. Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000....$1 20. Exhorters License, per 100....$1 00. Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100....$1 00. Certificates of Baptism, per 100....$1 00. Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00. Certificates of Removal, per 100....75. Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price....$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.

Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price....$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price	$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price	1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price	1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price	1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price....$24 00.

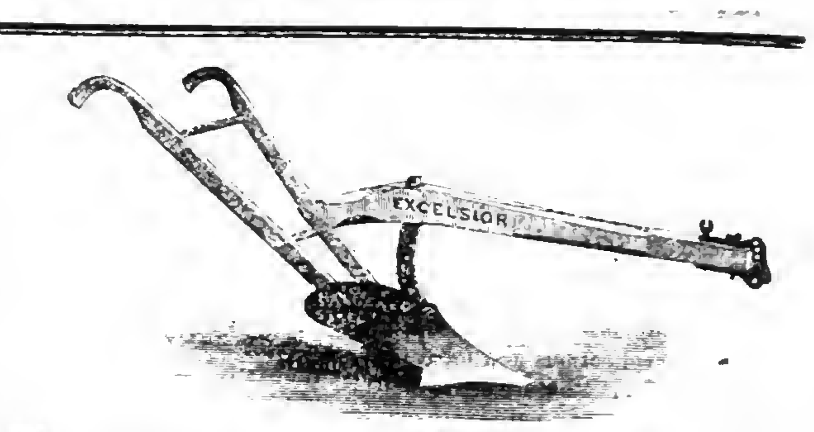
Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 50.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.



Plantation Hardware,
Agricultural Implements
—AND—
MACHINERY,

☞ Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOUTHERN AGENT FOR

Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

B. J. WEST,

115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

☞ AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS. ☜

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

This ALTERATIVE was first introduced to the profession and the public in the year 1820. It has the recommendations of the most eminent professors of Physic in the Universities of New York and Philadelphia; the late Dr. Valentine Mott, Professor Gibson, Chapman, Dewees and others, and has been used by thousands of families.

In Scrofula, whatever may have been its origin, and in diseases known as "Secondary Symptoms," in that distressing malady call Coxalgia and White Swelling; in Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofulous Ophthalmia, old Chronic Ulcers, &c., it displays its controlling influence, and in the great majority of cases ARRESTS the PROGRESS of the disease and restores the patient to health. It has been the means of saving thousands from beds of suffering and lingering death.

Druggists unacquainted with the properties of this remedy are assured it DOES NOT CONTAIN ANY MERCURIAL INGREDIENT WHATEVER.

Bear in mind this is not a new ephemeral remedy gotten up for speculative purposes, but has an unblemished record of more than half a century of testing, and stands to-day alone and unrivalled. Hundreds of Physicians, thousands of families have used it advantageously. To these we confidently appeal for recommendations of its value, and a fair trial will soon verify our statement. Address orders to DR. FRANKLIN STEWART, Manager (under whose supervision it has been manufactured the past thirty years).

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
Seventh Street, below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

FOUND AT LAST.

SURE CURE for Catarrh, Ozaena, Neuralgic and Nervous Headache, Hay Fever, Colds in the Head, Stoppage of the Nasal Passages, and all kindred complaints resulting from Colds and Exposure.

The Late ELDER BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Says of this remedy in the American Christian Review, of Oct. 29th 1878: "We call attention to "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" as a voluntary thing, and not for pay. We have been greatly troubled with Catarrh of the head for ten years, and were using the "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" about three months, can truly say that we feel about free from the entire trouble in the head. We have given "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" to others, as we have been in public nearly all the time, and it has invariably given relief."

Rev G. Fritz, No. 222 Barnalier Street, Cincinnati, O., March 18, 1878, says: "I have tried the "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" and find it to be just what you recommend it. The medicine itself is the best testimonial. Sure and speedy relief lies within your reach, and a very small outlay will convince you that "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" possesses almost Magical Curative Powers. It is perfectly simple and harmless, is convenient to carry and use at all times, and its good effects quickly follow the very first application.

Each box contains sufficient to last one month, and in many cases has been enough to perform a complete cure. Our circular, containing a list of some of the most remarkable cures performed by this simple remedy, will be mailed free of charge, to all applicants. We send "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" by mail post-paid for One Dollar per box, or Three boxes for Two Dollars. In remitting by P. O. Order get them payable at Paris, Ky. In ordering write your Name, Post-office, County and State plainly, and your orders will receive prompt attention. Address all orders to the proprietors.

DOBYNS & MITCHELL, North Middletown, Bourbon Co., Ky.

Dr. J. M. Howe's Inhaling Tube!

—AND—

COMMON AIR, WILL CURE CONSUMPTION IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

Send for Circular. The Tube, with full directions, postpaid. Sent on receipt of $3.50, or call at his residence, Passaic, N. J.

The Rev. N. N. Beers, of the M. E. Church Wayne, Steuben Co., N. Y., writes:

It is now nearly thirty years since I commenced the inhalation of the common air under your instructions, and I have undiminished confidence in it as a remedy for consumption and other throat and lung diseases. It is in harmony with Nature's laws. I have now been preaching twenty-seven years since my recovery from a condition of tuberculosis, in which a council of physicians said it was impossible for me to live longer than three months. My lungs to-day are as sound as any man's can possibly be.

Yours affectionately, N. N. BEERS.

The Rev. B. M. Adams, of the N. Y. East M. E. Conference, says:

I thank the Lord that I ever saw you. The Inhaling Tube I obtained of you almost twenty years ago has been a wonderful blessing to me, and I am glad, through my recommendation, to many. I think Schureman Halsted's life was lengthened years by it. His chest enlarged, although he was over fifty years old when he commenced using it and he led the Lord's battles with a shout long after the doctors told him he must stop. Many other dear friends of mine have had their lives lengthened by its use.

From Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., of the Sunday school Publications of the Church.

I have used your Tube at times for several years, and have unbounded faith in its philosophy. n2 79 1f.

Best Sewing Machine in the World.

Beautiful, Durable, Strong, Silent. TRIAL AT HOME. Swift, Simple, Light, Easy.

AUTOMATIC

NOISELESS SEWING MACHINE.

The great popularity of this machine has induced dealers in common tension machines to claim automatic and other features belonging exclusively to us. Examine and judge for yourself before purchasing.

W. & G. Pat. Mar. 19, 1861. Every genuine needle is thus stamped. Buy no other. Needles, &c., sent by mail.

Send for Illustrated Leaflet and Descriptive Circular.

WILLCOX & GIBBS S. M. CO.,
(Cor. Bond St.) 658 Broadway, New York.

n9 e o w 1f

TRUTHS.

HOP BITTERS,

(A Medicine, not a Drink,)

CONTAINS

HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,

AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Urinary Organs Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints and Drunkenness.

$1000 IN GOLD

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and free books, and try the Bitters before you sleep. Take no other.

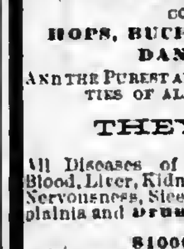
The Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief is the Cheapest, Surest and Best.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S
BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom, safely by mail, at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. ☞ Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture —60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.

n7 10teow



THE TAMPICO BUSTS

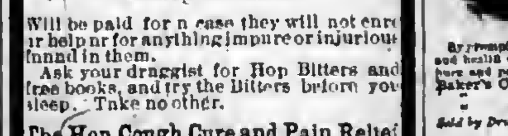
now used in DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSET and Skirt Supporter are the greatest improvement ever made in Corsets. They are soft as velvet, very flexible and unbreakable.

The FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) is very perfect and is Warranted not to break over the hips. Price, $1.25.

For Sale by leading Merchants.

WARNER BRO'S,
351 Broadway, New York.

n11 7t eow



By promptly using this [illegible] ASK FOR BAKER'S [illegible] Baker's Cod Liver Oil with Phosphates [illegible]

Sold by Druggists. JNO. C. BAKER & Co., Philadelphia.

10 ROSES MAILED FREE for $1

Splendid assortment of Plants sent safely by express or mail, any distance. Satisfaction guaranteed. Send 3 cent stamp for catalogue. Address, R. G. HANFORD & SON, Columbus Nursery, Columbus, Ohio.

n11 8eow

EMPLOYMENT AT HOME or to Travel.

State which preferred; also amount wanted per month for services and expenses. Business honorable, permanent, and easily operated. Write us. SLOAN & CO., 306 George Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

n10 6t

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14—NO. 18. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 352.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
39 Natchez Street, New Orleans
PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.
J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

[illegible]

NEW YORK OFFICE:
805 Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

ALLATAH!

[illegible]

The Exodus.

[illegible]

in power is to reduce the laborer and his interests to the minimum of advantages as freemen, and to absolutely none as citizens, has produced so absolute a fear that in many cases it has become a panic. It is flight from present sufferings, and the wrongs to come!

Kansas, with her freedom and broad prairies, with the memories of John Brown, and his heroic struggle, seems naturally the State to seek. There is a halo of liberty, justice and right about its very name which give the untutored minds of our people in this miserable condition, the same longing, and all pervading desire to leave here and go there as the magic name Canada gave in that time to the slave. The feeling is indentical, occasioned too, by nearly like conditions.

Your committee find that this exodus movement owes its effectiveness to society organizations among plantation laborers, began with the persecutions and political mobs of the years 1874-75 and organized as a Colonization Council, in August, 1874, for emigration. This organization, beginning in Caddo, spread rapidly from parish to parish, until it has permeated the State, and in the sections particularly known as the cotton belt, whose lawlessness and outrages upon black citizens are most frequent the society has been most active. To-day, this organization, your committee has definitely learned, numbers on its rolls 92,800 names, men, women and children over 12 years of age in Louisiana, Northwestern Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama. Sixty-nine thousand of these are represented in the different parishes of this State. The cohesiveness of this organization in its secrecy and management, entirely committed to plantation laborers and their direct representatives, secured its potency. The representative political leader was neither entrusted with nor informed of its existence. Year by year, from 1874, the organization, as encroachment after encroachment was made on the rights of the colored people, grew and strengthened, and now when reduced to virtual peonage and the threatened deprivation of all rights as freemen and citizens is imminent, the exodus has ensued and its consequences are manifest.

Your committee, had it the power in its recommendations or counsels to stem the tide of this mighty movement, would not prove so delinquent to all ties of brotherhood and every attribute of manliness as to impede or offer a single check to so righteously just a migration. On the contrary, we would wisely and practically aid it. Kansas is a free State, rich in uncultivated virgin lands, boundless prairies, awaiting immigration and labor for their development. A new and sparsely settled State, it is, therefore, comparatively a poor community. There are no large farms and rich farmers, in the general sense, as pertains to the South. The struggle for life on the Western prairies is keen and sharp, the value of existence and free institutions being thereby enhanced in the very effort made for daily bread. The government—national—gives each head of a family, over twenty-one years of age, a good quarter section of land, simply for planting trees upon it, and paying when he enters the land at the land office, the sum of $5 if the tract is 80 acres in extent, and $10 if he takes 160 acres. This liberal act was approved March, 1874. But there are conditions attending this grant which the intending immigrant from the South should well understand before he sets out. First, it is absolutely necessary that the immigrant should have money enough to sustain himself and family with food and clothing for at least three months after his arrival; that he possess farming implements, and [illegible] look not back [illegible] Egypt.

[illegible]

ple therein of all the turbulent, bulldozed parishes in this State. Then all sections yet remaining in Louisiana, mainly within the sugar-growing parishes of the State, where life and personal liberty are comparatively secure and where labor commands fair pay and good guarantees are given.

These parishes begin at Iberville, enter the Teche and portions of the Atchafalaya river country, and extend south along either bank of the Mississippi to the Gulf. Facilities for reaching these and for securing the advantages of Kansas, or the great West, or to inviting States in Mexico and Central America will be matured and presented by this convention's committee on relief and migration, which will sit after the adjournment of this body, and will be clothed with full power for aid. The representatives of freemen, imbued with a love of country and local attachments all the stronger from the very misery we have endured, the determination our people have come to relative to this matter is unyielding. There remains but the orderly process of a combined system of migration to insure success.

Let this be done. Let there be no undue haste, no impetuous stampede of any of our toiling masses, but under safe and judicious file leaders, with strong wills, earnest purpose and an abiding trust in God, and the people's own right arms, we will achieve our liberties, secure peace and homes and moral Christian independence and citizenship in its broadest and best sense.

G. T. RUBY,
T. MORRIS CHESTER,
JOHN G. LEWIS,
REV. EMPEROR WILLIAMS,
REV. GEO. B. LYNCH,
REV. L. GARDNER.

We, the representatives of the colored people of African descent in Louisiana, in convention assembled, solemnly and truly declare before God and the country, that we are denied the freedom of the ballot and equality before the law, and that in the unholy persecutions visited upon us for our political opinions, the utmost limit of endurance has been reached.

Our grievances, which we have patiently and hopefully borne, have been numerous and cruel.

We have suffered ostracism in violation of divine precepts.

We have been denied our civil rights in utter disregard of the laws of the commonwealth.

The courts have aggravated our wrongs by mocking our appeals for redress.

Our schoolhouses, churches and homes have been reduced to ashes with impunity.

We have been systematically cheated and plundered by planters and country merchants, until starvation stares us in the face.

By a wicked combination we are forced to rent land at $10 an acre per year, which could not be sold in fee simple for $5 per acre.

Our representative men have been driven from their homes and forced to abandon their property and household goods, because of their Republicanism.

Our people have been whipped, murdered and outraged when they would not be seduced and could not be coerced from the party which emancipated them.

Our cry in terror for help, for protection and against political assassinations has been shamefully ridiculed by our guilty enemies as the waiving of the "bloody shirt," without any foundation.

We have been astounded at the holy horror of the whites over the presence of the soldiers of the republic to protect American citizens in their rights, while they were organizing and equipping marauding military bands to perpetuate our wrongs. We have seen the cowardly murder of John Gair and a dozen other prominent men of African descent sanctioned by the press; the terrible massacre in Grant parish approved by the pulpit; assassination of 5000 of our people in Louisiana justified by public sentiment because of our loyalty to the government during the rebellion, and our fealty to the party which preserved the Union.

If we are illiterate, it is because white men made it a crime to teach us to read the Bible.

If we are poor, it is because we have been denied the right of [illegible] liberty and the pursuit [illegible]

[illegible] the South has been [illegible] of sorrow, tears and [illegible] under the unchristian and despotic public sentiment, the future is without a ray of hope.

We have almost been driven to desperation through the combined calamities at the same time of yellow fever, the Southern policy and political massacres.

For these and other reasons, which are a matter of record, we appeal for material aid to the official and moral influences of the President of the United States, for whom many persons of African descent, rather than be false to principle, willingly sacrificed their lives.

We appeal to Congress for a favorable consideration in behalf of the suffering, hunted, persecuted and starving exiles.

We appeal in our necessities, to the Republican party, to which we have conscientiously and faithfully adhered, and for which we have been scourged and massacred.

We appeal to the liberality of good men in the Democratic party who are opposed to the wicked method practiced upon a defenceless people for political opinions.

We appeal to the hearts of the Christian public; to the churches and all other organizations who have observed our patience and endurance under the reign of terror.

We appeal with confidence to the loyal sentiment which saved the republic, because much of the bitterness and hostility visited upon our people was intensified by our devotion to the Union in the struggle with rebellion.

We appeal for aid to the old anti-slavery apostles, who never failed us in the past when we fled from the house of bondage, and upon whom we now rely in our enforced exile from the spirit of oppression.

We appeal for succor to the Society of Friends, in this, our journey through the wilderness of Southern hate to the land of promise, where we may live in peace, security and happiness.

We appeal in our distress to the country at large, which has authentic and historic evidence of the outrages and massacres visited upon us with impunity, for no other reasons than attempting to exercise our rights as American citizens.

We appeal to these and all other classes and conditions who sympathize with us in our wrongs, who are willing to help us in our flight to save our lives and enjoy our liberty, to respond to our wail for moral and material aid to migrate to a State where political assassinations are unknown and where the bull-dozer cannot reach us.

The following committee on migration was appointed: Rev. Dr. Charles H. Thompson, Rev. Marcus Dale, A. R. Blount, A. N. Newman, Emperor Williams, G. Gardner, W. P. Forest, J. A. Kyser, G. H. Fayerweather, James L. Davis, Henry Adams, John G. Lewis, and T. Morris Chester.

Mr. Ruby moved that when the convention adjourned it should adjourn singing "John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave." It was so ordered and when the hour for adjournment sine die arrived, three verses of this song were sung.

AN IDEA.

[From the New York Mail.]

The negro migration may yet prove Providential in helping to bar the way of the Bourbon South and of the oligarchic monopolies of California towards an occupation of Northern Mexico.

THE COLORED EXODUS SCHEME.

(From the Houston, Texas, Telegram)

It has been known for some time that certain agitators in this country where endeavoring to start an exodus of colored people from Harris county, as well as other counties in the State, to some Western State, and it appears the movement has been steadily gaining ground, yet in a quiet way. Particular avoidance of imparting any information on the subject to newspaper men has been observed by the leaders of the movement, yet it crops out that Dick Allen is prominently connected with the movement, and is assisted by Hon. Shack. Roberts, the colored representative in the lower house from Harrison county. A secret meeting was held in the city last week, "to consider the propriety of colored emigration from Texas." Among the topics discussed were, "When shall we emigrate? and where to?" It was finally decided to call a State convention of leading colored men to be held on June 10, to consider the matter and to freely and fully discuss the feasibility of the movement. Circular letters to this effect have been sent out over the State laying the subject before the colored people, and inviting the selection of delegates to the June convention.

THE FEELING IN VIRGINIA.

(Norfolk Correspondence Boston Traveler.)

I accepted the invitation, and, at 9 o'clock at night, went to the schoolhouse, where about three hundred assembled. The room could not hold more than half the number, but those unable to gain admission hung about the door and windows, anxiously waiting to hear the committee's report, which was very indefinite, as they could get no direct reply from the railroad officials. Several short speeches were made, and from these, and the questions asked, it could plainly be seen that the colored men feared that the landowners had influenced the railroad companies. Most of the blacks present were able bodied men, one of whom, in his speech,—and holding up his large hands, said: "Dese hands of mine once sold for $1800, an' de whites here wants my labor for nuffin', but afoe God dey shan't have it, I'll go West if I have to crawl out dar on dese hands and knees." The loud applause which followed showed the temper of the assembly. The fact cannot be denied that the land-owners along the Rappahannock, the James river, extending into Fairfax, Fauquier and Culpepper counties, are much excited over the exodus, and are fearful that they will be left without a sufficient number of hands to work their plantations for the coming season. The rise in the price of the labor of field hands already being offered by the whites, and in many instances declined by the blacks, clearly shows the fears of one and the hopes of the other.

WHAT TO DO WITH THEM.

(A Topeka, Kansas, dispatch.)

A large meeting was held at the Opera House last night, to consider what should be done with the negro immigrants from the South. Gov. St. John presided. Resolutions were adopted asking the citizens to contribute to keep such freedmen as come from suffering, and transport them to localities where they may enjoy rights and privileges with all other citizens. Over five hundred dollars were subscribed. The governor to day appointed an executive committee, and a State committee will be appointed on Thursday.

Letter from Austin.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 21, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: Please chronicle the following from me. We have just held the second quarter. The Elder, Rev. L. Gale was at his post and did his work well. He is a warm-hearted Christian minister. The spirit of the Lord was with us and has wonderfully blessed us this year. Our protracted meeting was a great success: about 30 were converted, and have had about 50 additions to the church this year. At our Love Feast on Friday night there were 360 present who partook of the Feast. I used Love Feast tickets and charged each one entering ten cents, for benevolent purposes in the church, and found it a great means of raising money for this purpose. I believe the Austin church and congregation is the banner church of Texas, though, as in all churches, some of our members are not all that they should be. I do not care to write unless I have something of interest to communicate. Will you be kind enough to give full statement as I give it to you. Sister Amelia Smith departed this life on the 24th day of March, aged about fifty one years of age. She was a devoted Christian and a converted member of the M. E. Church. She died at her post, faithful to the end and clinging to the cross triumphed at last over death and the grave. She leaves behind her two dear Christian daughters who are unconverted.

I am blessed with a good board of stewards who are well posted in their duties. I feel grateful that it was my lot to assist in planting the old Church in this great Empire State of Texas, under Rev. J. P. Newman and Bishop Thompson, in Galveston in 1865. I am now 51 years of age. The Lord has made me an instrument in His hands to help to plant Methodism among the colored people of this State. Although I have suffered almost untold misery with liver diseases for 13 years, I have, with the blessing of God, been able to keep at my work.

When I have anything further of interest to communicate, you will hear from me. In the meantime I remain yours in Christ,

D. GREGORY, P. C.

The Board of Education.

The following questions are often asked, and the answers will supply a demand.

Question. Has the Methodist Episcopal Church any general organization for the encouragement of education?

Answer. Certainly. The Board of Education of the M. E. Church was incorporated in 1869 by the State of New York, according to the petition of the General Conference. It consists of twelve members, six ministers and six laymen, two of the ministers must be bishops. Each General Conference appoints four members and supplies vacancies, and the term of service is twelve years. The Board now consists of the following persons. Term expires in 1880: Bishop Bowman, Dr. J. W. Lindsay of Boston, Mr. John Elliott of New York and Hon. O. Hoyt of Stamford, Conn. Term expires in 1884: Dr. C. A. Holmes of Louisville, Ky., Dr. E. O. Haven of Syracuse, N. Y., Hon. Wm. Claflin of West Newton, Mass., Mr. F. H. Root of Buffalo, N. Y. In 1888: Bishop Simpson, Dr. D. P. Kidder, of Madison, N. J., Mr. C. C. North of New York and Mr. J. Long of Philadelphia. Bishop Simpson is President and E. O. Haven, corresponding secretary.

Ques. What is the object of this Board of Education?

Ans. It was established primarily to take charge of the money collected in 1866 during the Methodist Centennial Celebration, which is invested in the form of two funds: the Centennial Educational Fund, collections in the Churches, and the Sunday-school Children's Fund, collections in Sunday-schools. The present amount of these funds are: Centennial Educational Fund $13,000; Sunday-school Children's Fund $89,000; total $102,000. The income of the first fund is used only to aid students called to the ministry. The income of the second is used for the same purpose, and may also be used to aid any needy pious Sunday-school scholars, male or female, to obtain an education for greater usefulness in the Church of Christ.

Ques. When did the Board of Education actually begin its work?

Ans. In 1872, when the General Conference elected a Corresponding Secretary.

Ques. Has the Board of Education any other income?

Ans. The General Conference has recommended all our Sunday-schools to observe the second Sunday in June as "Children's Day," and to take a collection to increase the income of the Sunday-school Children's Fund, on that day, and to send it to the Board of Education. This practice is regularly increasing. Last year Children's Day was observed by at least two hundred Sunday-schools that contributed about five dollars apiece on the average. Some contributed less than a dollar, but we did not "despise the day of small things." This year it will probably be observed by a thousand Sunday-schools, for wherever practiced it is a delightful success and the contributions will increase.

Ques. How does the Board use its money?

Ans. Thus far the Board has not deemed it best to undertake to help schools. That is too vast an undertaking. But simply to help needy pious students by loaning them each not more than a hundred dollars a year, to be repaid by them if they live and are able to do so, after obtaining this school education. The first student (now a missionary in India) was aided in 1872: now 475 names are on our books, the most of whom are still students, but of the others some are in India, China, Bulgaria and in many of our home conferences. The demand for such assistance is great. The Board is now distributing $8,000 a year among at least 100 students. These are all highly recommended by competent authorities.

Ques. The Conference Minutes record large collections for "Education," what becomes of that money?

Ans. Each Conference has a right to use the money taken in the Churches for "Education" just as the Conference may vote. The Conferences mostly vote that money to home schools or to conference education societies. If the Conference takes no vote on the subject, the money should come to the Board of Education. By-and-bye, probably, the Board will receive more and more of this money: heretofore it has not received it. But the Children's Day collections, though reckoned by the pastor in with the education collection in his report to the Conference, must, according to the Discipline, be sent to the Board of Education. See Discipline, paragraph 247, section 5, page 154. The collections can be sent directly to the Corresponding Secretary, Syracuse, N. Y., or to the Book Concern, but in the latter case they should be expressly stated to be Children's day Collections for the Board of Education.

Ques. How can Children's Day be best observed?

Ans. That requires so long a reply that we will devote a whole article to it in a future number, but before June 8th, Children's Day for this year.

E. O. HAVEN,
Corresponding Secretary.
Syracuse, N. Y.

Points of Brazilian Civil Law.

The empire is subdivided into twenty-one provinces, each of which is under the control of a president. They have their respective provincial assemblies, as also in turn have the cities and towns their municipal councils. In these particulars the divisions of Brazil and their administration so closely resemble our States that they may be passed without notice. The following are some of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution:

No citizen is bound to do, or leave undone, any thing unless by the virtue of the law.

No law can have a retroactive effect.

Freedom of speech and liberty of the press, subject to action for damages for libel.

No one can be oppressed for his religious opinions.

Titles to property are guaranteed in all their plenitude.

The right of petition.

It will be seen from the foregoing that nothing exists in the laws of Brazil to prevent her people from acquiring as advanced a state of civilization and as great national prosperity as any nation on the globe. How nearly the spirit of the people approaches the spirit of the Constitution may be best determined by a glance at various localities.—National Repository for May.

Infidelity and Crime in Germany.

Crime is increasing fearfully in Germany. In 1871, the number of offences legally investigated was 82,000; in 1876, it swelled to 133,700. Perjuries increased from 491 to 800; offences against morality rose from 1,072 to 2,000, and bodily injuries from 7,900 to 15,400. In six years the number of offenders, under eighteen years of age, increased nearly 2,000. This increase in crime has kept pace with the growth of infidelity. The Sabbath has been abandoned to a large degree in that land, and as the moral barriers with which it shielded society against vice, which have broken down, the flood of crime has overspread the land. Let these facts be pondered by those who desire to substitute the beer-garden for the house of God, and would change the peaceful Sabbath of our ancestors to the bold license and wild carousal which makes up the heaven on earth for the reveler.

Success in Africa.

Great prosperity is reported in regard to Bishop Crowther's work among the Negroes along the Niger River, in Africa. The Bishop is a colored man and a native of Africa. He is in the service of the English Church Missionary Society, and has ordained missionaries at nine stations on the river. At Bonny, which is one of the principal of these stations, the converts suffered from bitter and protracted persecution, which has now nearly ceased. About eleven hundred persons are reported in attendance at the preaching services on Sundays. One of the triumphs of the missionary work is that an important chief named Sambo was recently married according to the forms of the Church of England. Another eminent chief who bears the pleasant name of Oko Jumbo, has thrown his influence in favor of Bishop Crowther and the work, and says he will do what he can to win the subordinate chiefs to his way of thinking.

Give according to your means, or God will make your means according to your giving.—Dr. John Hall.

The Czar, when he drives out, is surrounded by Cossacks, for fear of assassination.

General News Items.

Ekowe was burned by the Zulus after its evacuation.

The government will encourage the development of Alaska's resources.

There is a deficit of $250,000 in the account of State Treasurer Gates of Missouri.

Louisiana members of Congress declared there is no reason to fear repudiation by the constitutional convention.

A majority of the Cuban elections for members of the Cortes were in favor of Liberal Conservatives.

Garabaldi, at a meeting of Republicans, declared Italy must be armed and ready to claim her unredeemed provinces.

Italy has pledged herself to support the claims of Greece to the utmost limits of the frontiers assigned by the treaty of Berlin.

The Legislature passed resolutions tendering the hospitalities of the State of New York to General Grant on his return from abroad.

Aleko Pasha, the newly appointed governor of Roumelia left Paris for his post. He intends to accept the throne of Bulgaria, if it is offered him.

Lord Chelmsford's camp, at Girglilova, on the road to Ekowe, was attacked at day-break, on April 3, by 11,000 Zulus, who made frequent and desperate attacks on all sides, but were repulsed and pursued with great loss. 471 Zulus were found dead round the trenches, Col. Pearson was rescued.

In order to supply the mint at New Orleans with silver bullion for the coinage of the standard silver dollars, the treasury department is inviting bids from bullion dealers at St. Louis, Denver, Omaha, and the more eastern points of the silver producing regions, for bullion delivered at the New Orleans mint.

The suit against the Northwestern University, at Evanston, Ill., to decide whether or not the charter granted by the Legislature, whereby all University lands were excepted from taxation, was a power vasted with the legislative body, has been decided by the U. S. Supreme Court in favor of the University. The case has been one of many years' standing; three lower courts have decided successively against it; but the final decree from the United States Supreme Court gives it a clear verdict. The taxes in question amounted to $60,000, and the payment of that amount at this time would have seriously crippled the institution.

A memorial signed by the pastors of the Methodist, Congregational and Episcopal churches in Yankton, Dakota, was presented to the Senate in behalf of the Ponca Indians, who recently made an attempt to escape from the Indian territory, and return to their homes in Dakota. The memorial sets forth that the climate of the Indian territory is deadly to Northern Indians like the Poncas; that one-fifth of their number have already died; that they still own their reservation in Dakota; that they have always been peaceable and friendly; and that they were removed against their wishes and under protest from all their white neighbors. The memorial prays that they be allowed to return to their former homes in Dakota, or that at least a commission be sent to investigate their unfortunate case.

A special from Mt. Vernon, Ky., to the Courier-Journal, states that for some weeks past a party of men have been holding meetings near that place, and have effected an organization to kill several persons in the town and county, now on trial in the circuit court, should they escape conviction. They have also threatened to burn the town and hang certain county officials. On Saturday a warrant was issued for several persons known to be members of the organization. The writ was placed in the hands of Ashley Owens, the county detective, who summoned a posse of twenty-five men and proceeded to the house of Jesse Pillman, who lives near Pinehill; not finding him they returned, and when a short distance from Pittman's house they were fired at by a party of bushwhackers. Fire was returned; two hundred shots were exchanged, when the bushwhackers withdrew. Two officers and one of the bushwhackers were wounded.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1879.

An Odious Municipal Order.

The several ministers in charge of colored congregations in this city, numbering perhaps fifty, have had the following extraordinary order served upon them by policemen:

To the Preacher of ——— Church on ——— street:

Your attention is called to the following order:

Office Chief of Police, April 22d, 1879.

To all Stations:

Commanding officers are hereby instructed to notify the preachers of the various colored churches in your precinct that services whenever held must terminate at 10 o'clock, p. m. Under no circumstances must they be allowed to hold services after that hour. Affidavits must be made against preachers violating this order for disturbing the peace.

By order of the Mayor.

T. N. Boylan,
Chief of Police.

By this order it is made the duty of all policemen in New Orleans to arrest as a disturber of the peace any pastor having charge of a colored church in the city, who under any circumstances holds a service later than ten o'clock p. m.

This order is an outrage upon the liberty of public worship. If the Mayor of New Orleans can justly command one class of congregations to close their services at a given hour, he can with equal justice command all religious bodies to close their services at any hour he may see fit. And if he can name the time of closing he can name also the time of beginning. And if he can fix the number of hours during which a congregation may worship when they are together, he can also with equal justice say how many times they shall be permitted to come together. The principle is the same in all these cases. The constitution of the United States prohibits all laws—"respecting an established religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble."

[illegible] Mayor Patton forbids any [illegible] of religious wor[illegible] to hold their services after [illegible] at night, or after any [illegible] he is a violator of the [illegible] law of the land. [illegible] "free exercise" in the [illegible] religious belief and wor[illegible] too sacred, and have cost [illegible] world too much blood and [illegible] to be infringed upon, in [illegible] particular, by any officia[illegible] bringing upon [illegible] of the people [illegible] to make [illegible] correct his error, he [illegible] be made to suffer [illegible] the law he violates. [illegible] Episcopal Conven[illegible] in this city [illegible] its evening ses[illegible] Mayor Patton or [illegible] who might complain to [illegible] Does any [illegible] suppose [illegible] Mayor could legally dis[illegible] Or to put [illegible] suppose that Con[illegible] after 10 o'clock p. m. [illegible] Episcopal [illegible] New Orleans [illegible]

Bishop Edward Raymond Ames, D. D., L.L.D.

This distinguished minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church was born in Amesville, Adams, Co., Ohio, May 20, 1806, and died in Baltimore, Md., April 25, 1879, at 3:25 a. m. He was at the time of his death within a few days of seventy-three years old.

Of his childhood life or education we know nothing, except that he grew up amid the earnest activities and not unfrequent hardships of early western life. He belonged to a family of strong physiques, vigorous intellects, great business tact and sagacity, and of untiring energy. He completed his education in Ohio University, and for awhile afterward engaged in the profession of teaching. He was converted during his student life, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of twenty-one. In 1840 he joined the Illinois Conference, which then included Indiana, Illinois and the whole northwest, so that in his early ministry he shared in the hardships of western frontier itinerant life. In 1832 the Indiana Conference was formed, and his lot was henceforth, up to his elevation to the Episcopacy, cast with Indiana Methodism. In 1840 he represented his Conference in the General Conference, and was elected Missionary Secretary for the West. During the four years he held that responsible position his powers as a pulpit orator and executive officer impressed the whole church. He traveled extensively throughout the frontiers of the West and North-west, establishing schools and churches among the Indians, from what is now Minnesota to Arkansas. In 1844 he was again in the General Conference and took part in the proceedings of that great historic gathering, in which the aggressions of the slave power in the Methodist Episcopal Church received their complete and final check. The organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church South followed that Conference. From 1844 to 1852, Bishop Ames held prominent positions in the Church in Indiana as Pastor or Presiding Elder. He was elected President of Indiana Asbury University, but declined the position, preferring the active ministry. In 1852 he was elected to the Episcopacy by the General Conference, of which he was a member and which met in Boston. In the same ballot which elected him, were cast the votes which elected to the same high office, Levi Scott, Matthew Simpson and Osmond S. Baker. Of that group of remarkable men Baker has preceded Ames across the flood; while Scott, the John of our Methodism, and Simpson the Holy Man Eloquent of the American pulpit, yet linger among the churches everywhere loved and honored.

The office of a Bishop in the Methodist Episcopal Church is one of the highest and most responsible ecclesiastical positions in the world. The number of bishops are few in proportion to the membership; now there are but ten to a membership of twelve thousand preachers and [illegible] and three fourth millions of the laity. Ever year these thousands of ministers are stationed by the Bishops. The borders of our Zion now extend to nearly all the principal nations of the earth, and it is the work of our Bishops to travel throughout the connection in all lands each year, dividing the labor as they may mutually arrange. Our Episcopal superintendency is general, that is, the authority of each Bishop is the same in every Conference whether in China or Louisiana. Besides, they are official advisers in all the benevolent enterprises of the church.

To this great work Ames brought a stalwart manhood; an intellect clear and cultured in the earnest, practical affairs of life; a profound conviction in the truth as preached by his church and in the divine commission of that church to carry that truth to the uttermost parts of the earth; a heart, saved by divine grace and in sympathy with humanity; a will which knew no law which meant failure, and an executive ability which made him the acknowledged peer of the great statesmen of the nation. He had his faults, chief of which perhaps, was his outspoken and sometimes harsh judgments of [illegible] on the conference floor [illegible] unfrequently these brought [illegible] his instantaneous and [illegible] from wounded brothers [illegible] when great constitutional que[illegible] came to be discussed, [illegible] responsibilities met, [illegible] interest of the [illegible] to be defended, [illegible] of Bishop Ames [illegible] He was himself a man [illegible] and he believed in men [illegible] their work and [illegible] [illegible] of conservative mould he was not given to extremes in thought or act; and so it was, that in the exciting tumults which immediately preceded the war Bishop Ames was not a prominent actor. But when the hour of trial came, he gave his great heart and intellect to the national cause. Living on the border he had many friends in both sections, and understood perfectly the tremendous issues at stake. But his faith in the preservation of the nation never faltered. In the darkest hours of that terrible struggle, when to human thought the nation's life trembled in the balance; his counsels whether to Mr. Lincoln and his cabinet, or to the soldiers in camp, or to the thousands of citizens who hung for advice on his lips; were always, to the end, that the Republic would survive, that slavery would die, and that America would step to the front among the nations of the earth. He was tendered responsible positions in the gift of the President but these he invariably declined, stating his work was that of the Christian ministry.

In the reorganization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Southern States since the war, Bishop Ames had from the first a leading and in many particulars a directing part. To the older Bishops—Ames, Simpson, Scott and Janes—the Church is chiefly indebted for the wisdom which marked the organization of our Southern work. Others have built on the foundations they laid. An illustration of Bishop Ames' power to grasp a critical situation and inspire his ministers and the Church occurred in connection with our work in this city. It was in one of the dark hours of the organization of our work under Dr. Newman. A bitterly adverse public sentiment had concentrated its power against the Doctor and his faithful associates. Money was needed to inaugurate an aggressive policy and it was not in hand, and the policy of the general church was not fully settled as to giving the men and means needed for the South. Dr. Newman wrote to Bishop Ames the whole situation. The answer came by telegraph: "Occupy till I come." That was enough. It meant endorsement, men, money and the sympathies and prayers of the whole Church.

A prince indeed has fallen in Israel. He has fallen on the field of battle with his armor on. On the tenth of the present month he closed the East German Conference with these words: "This is my last conference. My work is done." From that hour he knew he must die. He saw few friends. He spoke but little, but his mind dwelt on the church he loved. He approached the grave without a shudder or the expression of a regret. He knew his work on earth was over and he had no desire to tarry longer. "It's all right; it's all right," often fell from his lips. His last words were, "It's all right, bless the Lord."

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial services were held in Ames Methodist Episcopal Church in this city last Sunday night. A large audience was present, among them many of the oldest citizens of the place who in former years knew Bishop Ames.

The church was tastefully and appropriately decorated. The altar railings, the pulpit, the bible, the altar and pulpit chairs were all draped in black, relieved by an occasional magnolia. On small stands on each side of the pulpit were large boquets of orange blossoms and heliotropes. Behind and above the pulpit the drapery was festooned in excellent taste. On the pulpit front, in full view of the whole congation, in large capital letters made of white rose buds and mignonettes, was the name AMES.

After singing and prayer the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN gave a biographical sketch of the dead Bishop, closing with the following telegram received by him Saturday evening from D. H. Carroll, Esq. of Baltimore:

Baltimore, April 26th, 1879.

Rev. J. C. Hartzell, Editor Christian Advocate, New Orleans:

Bishop Ames was dying for months, yet his indomitable will sustained him until on the tenth inst., when he closed the [illegible] German Conference in this city, saying: "This is my last Conference. My work is done." He then went to bed, but [illegible] medicines or stimulants or anything [illegible] prolong life beyond his natural powers. He had no desire to live, but rather to depart, saying: "Life is worth nothing now my work is over." During his illness he saw [illegible] few friends and spake but little, but his mind dwelt on the Church. As the end drew near, he showed as little concern as the approaching the commonest incident of his life. Throughout the last night he said repeatedly, "All right, it's all right." His voice sounded far away as of one calling [illegible] to another. He died peacefully [illegible] minutes past three, Friday [illegible]. His last words were, "It's all [right, bless] the Lord."

(Signed.) D. H. Carroll.

General Cyrus Bussey for [illegible] an intimate personal friend [illegible] the deceased gave some [illegible] personal reminiscences [illegible] expressed the deepest [illegible] at his death. The [illegible] and the congregation by [illegible] rising vote authorized [illegible] him to send the following dispatch:

New Orleans April 29, 1879.

To Mrs. Bishop Ames, Baltimore Md:

Ames M. E. Church extends its prayerful sympathies to the widow and children of the beloved Bishop whose name we bear. Memorial service to-day: Revelation xvi chapter, 13th verse.

George R. Bristor pastor.

The pastor of the church Rev. G. R. Bristor A. M. followed with a memorial address of great beauty and power, on the blessedness of dying in the Lord.

The services throughout were solemn and impressive.

Success Among the White People of the South.

The success of the Methodist Episcopal Church among the people of color, in the Southern States since the war, is admitted by every body who knows, or will hear the facts, to have been well nigh marvelous. Over 200,000 people of color have been gathered within our communion, over a thousand churches have been built, and ministers received and largely educated to fill their pulpits, and over 3,000 colored young men and women are in our Freedmen's Aid Society schools in the South.

The success of the Methodist Episcopal Church among the white populations of the South since the war has also been marked. Beginning with Missouri, Kentucky and Virginia, the work has steadily gone forward until on what was slave territory we have nearly 200,000 white members. And the good work goes on.

The revival, under Rev. L. A. Rudisill, in Spruce Street Church in Nashville, as well as several other churches in Central Tennessee Conference, the great work of Bro. Webb in Fort Worth, Texas, which we have fully reported, and in scores of other white churches in Georgia and Alabama, all give evidence of God's gracious favor.

Two interesting items just at hand bear on the point of our growing success among white populations in the extreme South.

A correspondent writing from

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS,

April 7, says:—

One week ago yesterday Rev. M. A. Daugherty organized the Society of Trinity M. E. Church of San Antonio, starting off with near 25 members. Services was held morning and evening in Odd Fellows Hall, at which there was each time a congregation of 60 to 75 persons. Yesterday the congregation was still larger. Our prospects are good. Plans and specifications for our new church are being finished, and we hope in a month or so to have building under contract. Subscription in our city now amount to a trifle over $5,000. This with the promised donation and loan from Board of Church Extension will help us to a good church. In our subscription so far only large donors have been taken ($100 or over) except in a few instances. All those who will give small sums are to be seen yet, and we expect $2,000 to $3,000 from this source.

Another writing from

SHERMAN, TEXAS,

gives an account of the good work there as follows:

The little branch of Methodism planted with such untiring zeal by Bro. L. H. Carhart in this city some sixteen months ago has taken root, and bids fair to flourish and bear fruit. True, soil and climate have not been all that could be desired at times, and there has been danger of being too much shaded, if not entirely overgrown by the other trees in our spiritual orchard, and yet, kindly watered by the dews of grace and lighted by the sun shine of God's smile, the tree has grown. Our Methodism is no longer an experiment in the city of Sherman. A beautiful brick edifice, by far the most elegant in town, large congregations, spiritual prayer and class meetings, all indicate our share in the favor of God and man, and form the groundwork of our confidence in the prosperity and permanence of our Church. A year ago we entered our church building; difficulties surrounded us, embarassments hedged us in. We were few in numbers, poor in this world's goods, but rich in faith. Bro. Carhart having pushed the church enterprise to completion, resigned the pastorate to other hands and devoted himself to the care of his district. Rev. Conrad Haney, A. B., fresh from the Garrett Biblical Institute succeeded him. The summer of 1878, with all its trials and burdens of hard work, passed away and at its close material advancement had been made. We were knit more closely together, enthused with greater ardor in the work, and imbued with stronger desires for the salvation of men. The new year found us in battle array. Right prevails always. Faith ever triumphs. A week's struggle culminated in victory. Our membership was doubled, and our Sabbath-school trebled. The first year's harvest is glorious. A year ago men prophesied failure; to-day they marvel at our success. A year ago we were weak: to-day we are strong through Christ. Our fitness to live as a church is demonstrated by our living. Opposition has well nigh ceased. Our sister churches cordially extend the hand of Christian fellowship, and with them we march against the hosts of evil.

X. Y. Z.

Sherman, Texas, April 15, 1879.

A supply of bibles and testaments for Sunday-school use have been received, and placed on sale at this office.

Kansas—"Let them Come!"

Joseph D. Smith, a well known and respected citizen of Topeka, Kansas, writes to his friend in this city as follows:

Topeka, Kansas, April 20, 1879.

* * * Last evening we all went to the Opera House to attend the meeting called by the Governor and many leading citizens of Topeka to take measures for the relief and aid of the colored people coming to Kansas. The meeting was one of the most earnest and enthusiastic I have ever attended in Kansas. The speeches were all stirring ones, and every body was alive to the topic of the evening, and in hearty sympathy with its object. Gov. St. John is a man Kansas is proud of. He is a champion for the right, and I wish his address could have been fully reported. All the speeches were able, and filled with the right spirit. I will send you a paper containing a brief report of the proceedings.

How wonderfully affairs do turn in this world of ours! Kansas was the territory where the battle for freedom began, and you can trace the history of events since then better than I can. Now it seems that Kansas is destined to decide the question by furnishing homes for all the colored people who can get here."

Rev. E. E. Cooper, Biegel, Texas, writes: "Please tell the brethren I have kept my word as I promised at Columbus. I thank God I have not tasted tobacco since, neither pipe nor cigars, I was a s ave to the use of tobacco eighteen years. I am very thankful to our beloved Bishop Haven and Rev. C. L. Madison for insisting that I should abandon the filthy weed. This is from my heart. People tell me that I look better since I quit using the weed, so I never intend to use it again."

One Dollar and Fifty Cents.

The SOUTHWESTERN costs one dollar and fifty cents from April until close of the year, nine months. We cannot give the John Wesley premium to these nine months subscribers. New subscribers are coming in every mail. Let every agent make renewed efforts among his friends.

The Sunday-schools of the Meridian district, and others, are respectfully invited to attend the turning out of the M. E. Sunday-school, and to participate on the 9th of May at the laying of the corner stone of the Meridian Academy.

On our first page to-day we republish from the May number of the National Repository a poem by Gen. Hugh J. Campbell, formerly a resident of Louisiana, and now United States district attorney for Dakotah Territory.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate has changed from the large four page to the smaller eight page form. The purpose is to give the usual amount of reading matter in a more convenient shape. It is the organ of the M. E. Church South in North Carolina.

Circular of information No. 1—1879, has been received from the Bureau of Education, Department of Interior. Subject — "Training Schools for Nurses".

We have received a copy of the fifteenth annual report of the Board of Managers of the Washingtonian home of Chicago, for 1879.

Letter from Sherman.

Sherman, Grayson Co., Texas, April 15th, 1879.

Dear Editor: I arrived at my work on the 11th of March, finding it in a very poor condition. I have charge of four points on the H. & T. C. R. R., and no church at either of them. The membership on the entire work does not exceed twenty. It was reported that we had a church at McKinney, but I find there is none. When I went to that work I found them in a dispute about the church; five other denominations contending for it. They all claimed a right to preach in the house, so I went to the court house, and on examining the deed on record, I found it was not deeded to any church, but was deeded for school and divine purposes; so I told the brethren not to have any more contention about it. It is almost impossible to do any good on this work without any house to go in, and the people are, generally, too poor even to bear my traveling expenses over the road from one point to another. I have attempted to urge the people to build, but they are not able. I believe there could be a grand work established here, but we will have to get help from abroad to build houses for worship. My presiding elder, C. L. Madison, has been prevented from traveling on his work on account of his wife being very low.

Yours truly, B. F. Smith.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. A. Hilton, Cheneyville: "Since conference I have had a revival, and gained many souls for the Lord—33 in all. We are preparing to build a church."

H. J. Wright, Alexandria: "After a revival of eighteen days, the Alexandria Church, Rev. J. T. Marshall, reports: April 4, joined on probation 5, by letter 1; April 13th, on probation 12; total 18. Converts 5, infants baptized 3; ready 5."

TEXAS.

Rev. John Prince, Spring Hill: "My church has been repaired, and a protracted meeting held; 58 participated at love feast."

Rev. London Morris, Gonzales: "One house is completed, save the doors and windows. A meeting was held in it on the 13th. There were two converts."

Rev. Wade Hamilton, Brewer Hill: "During our protracted meeting, we had 30 additions, and 25 converts. Rev. John Guess, of Courtney, was with us two days."

W. H. Jackson, San Felipe: "Rev. Lewis Lane held a meeting March 30th, and had one convert, baptized seven children. We are starting a protracted meeting. Pray for us. Our work is very heavy. Four appointments. I have visited them all several times they have a Sunday-school with 165 pupils."

Rev. Taylor Moore, Texarkana: "On the visit of Elder Rippetoe eight joined on probation. My salary was estimated at $350. Amount of cash received $53. The Elder's salary at $20, paid $5. While we were enjoying a grand time with our church Elder Rippetoe received a telegram to return to the Legislature."

P. M. Carmichael, Fayetteville: "My work is in a growing condition, but we have no house of worship. I am going to try to build one as soon as I can. Bro. E. Cooper performed faithful work the past two years, considering the various surroundings. The Sunday-school has been without a superintendent, but I will organize it next Sunday."

Rev. E. Cooper, Biegel: "Elder Gates is the right man in the right place. He is a man that we are proud of. He sat in the chair as a wise father. I have two appointments, have received into full membership eight. Sister Lucinda Galogo and Susan Johnson have passed from this world to their reward. They were both faithful members of the M. E. Church. Pray for us."

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. L. R. Brown, Kosciusko: "Rev. Stewart has sent us $2, in response to our appeal for aid."

W. M. Logan, Abbeville: "Elder Johnson was with us April 4, and preached a good sermon at Buford chapel."

Rev. A. J. Allen, Enterprise; "Our Sabbath-school is prospering, and 14 have joined the church. Elder Dunn held our quarterly on the 15th."

Rev. W. D. Sims: "We have just closed the first quarter on Quitman and Desoto circuits. Our presiding elder, Dunn, was with us. The signs indicate a prosperous year."

Rev. N. Cannon, Moss Point: "My circuit is prospering. Good congregations meet me at each of my four appointments. I have three Sunday-schools, and fourteen additions to the church. Elder Campbell pleased us during his visit."

Rev. C. P. Clemens, Bay St. Louis: "On the 30th of April we began our meeting at Bay St. Louis. The church is greatly revived. Six professed a hope in Christ. Fifteen joined the church, and the work goes on. On the work, since my arrival, 20 have been added to the Church, 12 professed religion.

Letter from Clarendon.

Clarendon, Texas, April 7, 1879.

Dear Editor: We hail you from the extreme western bounds of our district, where we have just arrived with a company of some twenty worthy recruits for our new Christian and temperance colony. The trip from Dodge City, Kansas, extending over 225 miles by wagons, consumed about two weeks. Three nice and substantial families with nine children, all under fifteen years, and several young men, together with Rev. Geo. Noss, of Strassburg, Va., a veteran in years and in the service of God and the church, composed our party. With wagons and tents, teams and tools, and every equipment from a plow to a sewing machine, these Massachusetts and Pennsylvania people enter upon their work and share of toil in hedging up and pre-empting this vast waste for God. Bro. Noss declared that the half had not been told; the country and the outlook for success was far better than he had imagined. Driving for a solid week over thousands of acres to rich and well favored lands, and sniffing the free, bracing air peculiar to northern Texas, seems to create new inspiration and life. Such sleeping! such appetites! such water! Few of our people fully understand the intent of this flank movement upon the wilderness, the buffalo and the devil. Think of it! One hundred and fifty miles to the nearest town of any note, and 225 miles from a railroad! and still the old flag of our salvation floats, and some forty are banded together with as hopeful a church as Texas can boast. To-day at our quarterly meeting our school house-church was packed; eight children were baptized and the altar was thrice filled with faithful witnesses, and at the Love Feast the same old story, the same songs and the same victory:

"Jesus shall reign where ere the sun."

Vast herds of cattle and sheep have their homes in these parts, and this is "rounding up" time. Next week Charles Goodnight rounds up his herd of 10,000 head. Bates & Beal, of the Canadian river, who probably have a thousand head among Goodnight's herd, are here for the Sabbath with forty men and one hundred and thirty horses. This week they scatter over a vast area, and every creature will have to make swift tracks toward the centre. Then follows the branding and "cutting out," and the removal of all not properly there. Among the stock men prevails the highest code of honor: a cattle thief must hang! Several creatures from the colony have been missing for several months: they will doubtless come to light in this round up. Raising stock in this rich, well grassed and watered land is wonderfully profitable. We think distinctively Christian men should have a voice and hand in this. These vast and fruitful fields belong to our Messiah. The desert also shall blossom as the rose. The cattle upon a thousand hills are His also. This vast country is well known to be the finest stock region in the Union. As to agriculture, some have been in doubt, fearing a lack of rain; but last year we had a goodly supply, and this season our farmers, nearly all from the North and East, are planting a large acreage, in confident expectation.

One of the features of this colony is the firm and uncompromising exclusion of whisky, and tobacco (a curse and destroyer but little less deadly than whisky). They are not sold by the leading business house and will not be. Our new village of "Clarendon" is well situated and growing, not with "Leadville" speed, but in a healthy and permanent way. Rev. Joseph Woodroff, our P. C. (supply) has been doing a good work. In a few days we shall again be at Sherman, ready for another round on the eastern end of our district, faint yet persevering. At Sherman Bro. Haney has had a good ingathering and from all points favorable reports. O! for increased power with God and men, until the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Lord.

C.

Thibodaux Items.

Thibodaux, April 15, 1879.

Dear Editor:—The weather for the last three or four weeks has been quite dry. This, together with cold mornings, and a hot sunshine during mid-day acted severely to the injury of the gardens, and to some extent upon the crops generally. Night before last, however, the good Lord blessed us with a bountiful shower.

It is hardly possible to say anything about the cane crop at this time as three or four months must elapse before it is even laid by. With the very best crop, however, the planters have very little encouragement, when the low rates at which sugar is selling are considered. Even the highest prices now obtained, are by no means, a sufficient recompense for the planter.

Rice is paying very well this year. The demand is good, and planters obtained $3 50 to $4 00 per sack delivered at the landing, and thus more persons have been induced to plant this crop than last year.

The Irish potato is not cultivated to an extensive amount this year. A year ago the rates for this product were so low that the loss caused thereby is no doubt felt by some to-day. In many instances, the crop, though of a very good quality, failed to bring the amount laid out for shipping it to the city.

The Lord's supper was administered night before last. Rev. Austin Kennedy officiated, and a good congregation was in attendance.

A new brick work has been laid under the foundation of Calvary Church. The work was one much needed and should have been done long since, as the security of the entire building depended upon it. We will commence painting the church on the 1st of May.

A.

Letter from Oakland.

Oakland, Colorado Co., Texas, April 15th., 1879.

Dear Editor:—Knowing that you are always glad to hear of the prosperity of the Master's kingdom, I drop you a few lines of my work and prospects here. When I entered upon this work two years ago, it was, to speak the truth, in ruins, but by the good hand of God upon us, saints have been edified, backsliders returned, and sinners brought to Christ. My circuit embraces four preaching stations, giving me a route of not less than fifty miles, with a Sabbath-school at each point. Whenever there is an increasing interest there we try to render special aid. We have too, active and earnest members to labor in the good work.

Last Sabbath we closed a protracted meeting of our work. At the Sabbath preaching, the last day, the congregation numbered not less than 400. At the love feast 100 participated, and many persons expressed their desire and purpose to live the Christian life. There were many mourners and six converts since the close of the meeting. Christians are saying that it was the best time they have had at Oakland for several years, and there is, I perceive, a renewed determination to live an earnest Christian life. Family prayer and secret prayer will be better observed, and I look for an increased attendance upon the public means of grace. Like many other fields of Christian labor in Texas, our entire members are farmers, working hard, early and late in the field, and many of them living at a distance from their house of worship. Some of our members are well to do farmers owning good large farms, stock, improvements, etc., and are becoming able to aid in the support of Gospel and church enterprises.

My determination is to work while the day lasts. I am doing what I can to circulate the ADVOCATE. It is a noble paper. Times just now are hard, financially, but I expect to get new subscribers, at any rate, this fall. Two weeks ago I made a trip to Washington county, visiting Broth Van Banks—found him actively engaged in his work. He is erecting a church at Industry, which must now be completed. I preached there twice, had good attendance and interest. Our German Brethren I found actively engaged in the work of the Lord, and heartily co-operating with us. Brother Banks is beloved by all classes of people.

Hoping that God will aid you in your arduous labors, I remain yours truly,

P. Johnson.

The Constitutional Convention.

FIRST DAY.

The convention met on Monday, 21st inst., and was called to order by Governor Nicholls. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Percival. The vote for president stood: Lieut. Gov. Wiltz 102, Senator Pierre Landry 27. President Wiltz delivered an address. W. H. Harris of Pointe Coupee was elected Secretary.

SECOND DAY.

Election of officers was completed. A resolution was adopted calling on the Auditor to furnish a statement relative to assessments, collection, and forfeiture of property for non payment of taxes.

THIRD DAY.

James H. Cosgrove, of the Natchitoches Vindicator, (one of the bitterest Bourbon journals in the State, noted for its malignant and unreasonable abuse of opponents of the Democratic party,) was elected convention printer. Propositions to adjudicate printing to the lowest bidder were voted down, and the caucus nomination was carried. A committee of fifteen to consider the debt and government of the city of New Orleans was authorized by resolution adopted. A resolution of Mr. Stephenson's declaring a feeling of alarm exists among colored people, and there is no intention entertained by this body to imparing any of their rights, was substituted by one simply declaringt there was no intention to impair constitutional rights, and adopted in that form by a vote of 76 to 49.

FOURTH DAY.

The chair announced the following committees: On printing, parochial affairs, rules, general provisions, amendments to new constitution, on schedule, militia, distribution of powers of government, contested elections, executive department, impeachment, enrollment and contingent expenses. A proposition to administer an oath to members was tabled.

FIFTH DAY.

Committees appointed: On limitations, homesteads, federal relations, public education, apportionment, manufactures, State lands, legislative department, bill of rights. A large number of ordinances and resolutions were introduced.

Boston Letter.

The New England Conference has just closed a very pleasant session at Worcester, a city in the interior of the Bay State. The members were mostly entertained at the hotels, the expense being met by a contribution from the various churches of the Conference. In some respects the new mode is an improvement. It relieves the few churches from the care experienced which, in the case of so large a body, is considerable. It brings the preachers together in a body and equalizes the expense among the churches. Large conferences are thus possible. But on the other side, the question may be raised whether smaller conferences meeting in many medium places will not be more profitable.

The Conference spoke out with something of its old time ring on the state of national politics. The report on the state of the country, a ringing and incisive document, was prepared and read by Dr. Fox, an expelled carpet-bagger from the Palmetto State, and passed by a unanimous and hearty vote. Able speeches on the Southern work were made by Dr. Fuller, of the Atlanta Advocate. The doctor is a telling and earnest platform speaker, always having something to say and knowing how to say it. His visit to the North has made a very favorable impression on our preachers and people, and has tended to awaken our interest in the state of things in the South. The North is now prepared to hear and the "solid South" has sent up squads of carpet-baggers to speak of the [illegible] of your new order of things. As before the war the South [illegible] the North [illegible] abolitionists to [illegible] the country, so now she [illegible] into this section scores of [illegible] from whom she will [illegible] in due time. They have the ear of the people as never before. They have a message. The Hayes' policy held them in check for a time; people said the South will be wise and just only once let the leaders get hold of the reins. [illegible]

[illegible] of the freedmen. [illegible] Whoever thinks that violence and injustice can hold sway in this land, will find he is greatly mistaken. [illegible] rule, and liberty for black, white, brown and yellow is to dominate from sea to sea and from the lakes to the Gulf. Providence is [illegible]

The last Preacher's Meeting was an occasion of interest. Josiah Henson, the old fugitive, the [illegible] of Mrs Stowe's Cabin was present and spoke in behalf of his people in Canada. Though over eighty the old man is still bright and shrewd, abounding in humor and pathos. He told a bit of his biography—how he was born in [illegible] sold to Tennessee, [illegible] Louisiana. On the sugar [illegible] the north star [illegible] and three children [illegible] to his back and [illegible] made for Canada. He [illegible] to the slave States [illegible] several hundred of [illegible] to the land of the [illegible] he went to [illegible] done at once. A new church is needed here. The church at Franklin has been blessed with over 15 conversions and a general quickening of the spiritual interests of the church. Bro. Miles Williams, one of the students of the Central Tennessee College, is supplying the work this year.

[illegible]

The Nashville District Conference has just closed its session at Lebanon. The reports show the spirit of revival to be quite prevalent over the entire district.

The commencement exercises of the Central Tennessee College take place on the 16th of May, instead of the 23d, as heretofore advertised. This is owing in part to the effort to arouse a deeper interest among teachers for better qualifications for their work, by holding a four week's institute, beginning on Monday, May 10. Rev. Dr. M. W. Taylor is to preach the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 11th. The examinations begin on Monday, May 12th. The public exercises of the normal class take place on Monday night. Rev. Dr. Taylor is expected to deliver an address Tuesday night, and Rev. Dr. Fitzgerald, editor of the Nashville Christian Advocate, on Wednesday night. The theological class will deliver addresses on Thursday night. The Excelsior Society will occupy Friday night. The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held on Wednesday, May 14, at 2 o'clock p. m. J. BRADEN.

Nashville, Tenn., April 19.

Letter from Houma.

DEAR EDITOR—Our church is in a very good condition, and our services are well attended. Our basket meeting comes off on the second Sunday in May. Rev. Bro. Davis will be down, with his church, to compliment our visit to him several Sabbaths ago. We anticipate a grand success. Under the auspices of our dearly beloved pastor, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, several temperance societies have been formed and a Lodge of Good Templars. The temperance society in town numbers about one hundred and twenty, the Lodge about twenty-six. We have just accepted an invitation from a church several miles from town to inaugurate a temperance society, and are on our way. Pray that we may be successful, and thus do much toward banishing that great destroyer of homes and happiness, Intemperance, whose painful influence is felt in every community. We think the Constitutional Convention should at least give us a Sunday Law prohibiting the sale of intoxicants on that day. We know to do justice to the State, justice to her people, she can but pass such a law. We hope to have our beloved pastor with us another year, but if the conference think differently and we do not have him, we feel [illegible] having tested [illegible] servant of the [illegible] him to be such a noble worker in the temperance cause, of which our people are so much in need, we can easily recommend him as a faithful worker and an earnest Christian. Yours in Christ. M. C. B. MASON.

Houma, La., April 21st, 1879.

Letter from Holly Springs.

DEAR EDITOR: Since my last communication to the SOUTHWESTERN, there has been a gracious revival of religion in Asbury Chapel. There were 40 conversions and 48 accessions, and the church greatly revived. At our first quarterly conference, which was held on the 12-13th of March, Rev. J. G. Johnson presided to the great satisfaction of the members and friends of our church. His fatherly advice, words of cheer in the conference, and his able sermon on Sunday, greatly endeared him to the hearts of our people.

Prof. W. W. Hooper was chosen secretary of the conference. Reports from pastor, Sunday-school superintendent, leaders and trustees showed the church to be in a prosperous condition. During the [illegible] there have been 52 accessions to the church and the Sabbath school numbers more than 250. [illegible] W. W. Hooper is our superintendent. He is an earnest and [illegible] worker. A much needed [illegible] room 14x36 feet [illegible] Asbury Chapel—has [illegible] built, to which our Sabbath school donated $25. The day [illegible] in our church gave [illegible] and Edward McGowan $5. This additional building greatly increases the value of our church [illegible] Our services are largely [illegible] Six hundred people can [illegible] seated in our church, and [illegible] overflowing. Collections [illegible] doubled. The SOUTHWESTERN is very popular [illegible]

[illegible]

Sunday School.

May 4, 1879.—THE SUFFERING SAVIOUR.

SCRIPTURE.—Is. 53: 1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree."—1 Pet. 2: 24.

TOPIC.—An Atoning Saviour.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.]

Introductory.—Our lesson is the very center of the prophetic cycle embraced in chapter xl.-lxvi.

In our last lesson, we have a view of Christ as the servant, but in this we gain a deeper insight into himself and his mission.

One thing which can not fail to excite a deep interest in those who thoughtfully read or study this chapter is, the exact fulfilment of its prophecies.

The Saviour Despised (1: 3).— 1. "Who hath believed our report?" it is an exclamation of Isaiah in behalf of himself and his fellow prophets, caused by the fewness of those who have believed. And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? "Arm" is the symbol of power.

V. 2. For he shall grow up before him, etc. He came up before the Lord as a "tender plant," or sucker, and as a "root" or sprout out of the dry ground. In these similes is expressed the insignificance of the Saviour's entrance into this world.

V. 3. He was despised and rejected of men. In his vision the prophet saw that the Saviour was to be treated as an outcast. None of the rulers was to believe on him. He came unto his own, and his own received him not. Even his own brethren after the flesh did not believe on him. He was called a Nazarene. He was spoken of as "the carpenter." He was denounced as being a sinner, as having an unclean spirit, and as possessing a devil, and was declared to be beside himself. See Mark 6: 3; John 8: 24; Mark 3: 21, 30; John 8: 48. A man of sorrows. His sorrows so numerous that they gave character to his life. He entered deeply in the woes of mankind. He was despised, and we esteemed him not. They did not see how one who could stoop to do a carpenter's work could be the Messiah.

The Saviour Dying (4-9).—V. 4. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows. They had despised him, and yet all the while he was bearing their sufferings (griefs), and carrying their sorrows. From many a tortured body he took away all of its infirmities and carried away its sickness. All of his lowliness, his meekness, his patient forbearance, and endurance of insult and torture, were misconstrued into weakness and merited punishment.

V. 5. He was wounded for our transgression; he was bruised for our iniquities. This is absolutely fulfilled in the facts of the crucifixion. Matt. 27: 26, John 19: 18, 34. The chastisement of our peace was upon him. The punishment by which we obtain peace with God, and by which we, though deserving, come off safe and uninjured. And with his stripes we are healed. There are other things which produce worse stripes than blows. The scourging was only typical of other lashings that he received. The Roman soldiers laid their armed thongs upon his back—but the other cut deeply into his heart. "Stripes" do not mean the blows themselves but the wales produced by the blows. By the punishment of Christ our punishment was averted.

V. 6. All we like sheep have gone astray. There is in this an intimation that man ought to do better than sheep, which have so little judgement.

V. 7. He was oppressed. He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter. With the appealing innocence of a lamb, as well as without resistance. Ferocity on one side—gentle submission on the other.

V. 8. He was taken from prison and from judgment. The idea is that he was awarded no fair trial And how exactly that came true! He was arrested late on Tuesday evening, taken immediately before Annas, the ex-high priest; early in the morning, before it was yet light he was brought before the hastily-summoned Sanhedrin; while it was still early he was dragged before Pilate; from thence he was taken before Herod; back again to Pilate; the judgment was pronounced, the scouring was inflicted, and the Son of God was on the way to the cross—all before nine o'clock in the morning!

V. 9. And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death. The word "wicked" refers, of course, to the two malefactors between whom Christ was crucified, the word "rich" should be "rich man."

The Saviour Justifying (10-12). V. 10. It pleased the Lord to bruise him. Set forth in John 3: 16; "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The Son of man came, literally, "to give his soul a ransom for many." Matt 20: 28.

V. 11. He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied. The sufferings of Christ were the labor-pains by which the new kingdom was brought into the world. His death is to be so fruitful of results that he shall be entirely reconciled to all his sufferings. The knowledge of him must be an inner, heart knowledge.

There are no fewer than eleven expressions in this short chapter that indicate the vicarious sufferings of Christ. The great thought in the lesson is the atonement that he made through shame, and injustice, and anguish. Is there any one so hard of heart that he can listen to this story, and not "make his soul an offering for sin"?

General News Items.

The Senate passed the army appropriation bill on Friday.

Gen. Trevino will be a candidate for the Presidency of Mexico.

Gen. John A. Dix, died on the night of the 21st, in New York city.

The German import taxes on tobacco paralyzes trade in San Domingo.

F. W. Miner was confirmed as United States attorney for the northern district of Texas.

The government does not intend to amnesty M. Blanqui and his election to the Chambers may be canceled.

On the occasion of his silver wedding, the emperor of Austro-Hungary has decreed the amnesty of 212 persons.

The Servians lost 700 hundred men in attempts to dislodge the Albanians, who occupied the heighths of Gamakoff.

Bismarck has completed the draft of a curt and compact law for a more independent administration for Alsace-Lorraine.

The attorney general has decided that Captain Eads must have the required depth of water, not only in the jetties proper, but above them, before he shall be entitled to his payments.

Gen. Gourko, governor general of St. Petersburg, has ordered all gun makers to send lists of their stock to the city commandant, and to sell only to persons presenting special autnorization, under penalty of the confiscation of stock and prohibition of trade. Private persons possessing arms can only retain them by special permission. Porters must be kept at the doors of all houses, day and night, to prevent the posting of placards and scattering explosives in the streets.

Deaths.

Edward Daggett died April 19. He was a member of the M. E. Church; a faithful worker at Hopewell, on this circuit, and will be greatly missed there.

JOHN H. COOK.

Pontotoc, Miss.

Siter Ellen Frank fell asleep in the arms of Jesus on the 11th of April, and left good news. She had been called and wanted to go to her Saviour. Sister Frank was a faithful member of the church for ten years; and died at the age of 35, leaving a husband and seven children. P. HARRIS.

Crystal Springs, Miss.

HONOR FROM EUROPE.—It is conceded on all sides that Dr. Ayer's Pills are above comparison with other medicines. Uniting the best elements known to the chemist, they are particularly effective against the numerous stomachic disorders for which they are recommended as a cure. These pills are so mild, yet searching, that they are often prescribed by doctors who do not favor patent medicines. Indeed, with the fruits of Dr. Ayer's genius in the shape of Pills, Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Cherry Pectoral, one might with impunity travel through the swamps of tropical America, or follow Stanley on his travels through the interior of Africa.—Amsterdam Nieuws van den Dag.

New Publications.

The latest popular song is Somebody's Coming When the Dewdrops fall," song and chorus by James C. Macy. It is a gem of melody, the chorus being effective and pleasing. It has already reached a sale of over twenty thousand copies. Send Brainard Brothers, 74 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, O.,

The National Repository for May has for its initial article "Spring with Poets," an illustrated series of poems written about the month of love, and arranged by the editor. D. S. Kidder gives a picturesque sketch of "Brazil," which is followed by one or two selections, and a pleasent translation from the French by Mrs. Bell T. Speed, entitled "The Sheperdess of the Alps." Rev. B. Wheatley writes about "Lorenze Dow," and an unnamed contributor furnishes a critique of "Poetry, Ancient and Modern." The selections which follow are all good, and the Editorial Miscellany fresh, seasonable, and piquant. The original poetry of the number is somewhat above the average of this species of magazine literature. The National Repository is published monthly at three dollars a year, post-paid. Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, Chicago, or St. Louis. Phillips & Hunt, New York.

Sundy Afternoon ($3.00 a year; Springfield Mass.) for May opens with The Room's Width, a poem by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. Then comes an article by Pres. John Bascom of the University of Wisconsin, formerly of Williams College, entitled The Kingdom of Heaven. Prof. Francis A. Walker of Yale College, Suprintendent of the Census, writes of the The Present Standing of Political Economy. The Humility of Positivism is by the writer of The Two Methods of Changing Creeds in the March number. T. L. Rogers has a second article on the Mormons. about their religion both theoretical and practical. Mrs. Helen Campbell writes ot the tenement question. Mrs. Julia McNair Wright tells of some experiments in economy by both cultured ladies and laboring women as related by Miss Jane Help. The deep religious tone of character of Sir Isaac Newton, is shown in an account of his life. There are two short stories. The short articles include an account of the mirage in Colorado by Alfred Terry Bacon, of the origin of our year and months as at present arranged, A Night on the "Bitter Lake," with contributions from Rev. Dr. Tucker and Mary Bradley. The Three Departments, The Still Hour, Literature, and Editor's Table conclude the number.

Wide Awake for May opens with "Spring is Fully Awake," illustrating a bird poem written in Switzerland by Mrs. Mary B. Dodge. William Round follows with "Jabberwock," one of the best of his stories. "Boston Whittling School" will interest everybody, owing to the wide-spread art-awakening of the last two or three years. This article, fully illustrated, gives an account of the "Sorrento Wood-Carving Co.," the "Co." being two ladies. No. V. of the series upon "Our American Artists," gives a fine portrait of Sandford R. Gifford, and an engraving of his painting "Pallanza—Lago Magiore." Chapter XI., of the "English Literature" papers, by Lucy Cecil White, relates to Dr. Johnson. There are several excellent poems "My Little Love," by Mary Clemmer, and a very funny one of "The Dancing Cow," by Miss Ogden. "Posie," by Elizabeth Matthers, is the story of a lazy little girl, and "Chippernip," by Miss Whitney, is the true tale of a comical little squirrel, one of the series of true Pet stories by which Wide Awake is seeking to sympathetically interest its little readers in "Our Dumb Animals." The instalments of each of the three serials are excellent, Miltiades Peterkin Paul is the hero. Only $2 00 a year. Ella Farman, Editor. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston, Mass.

Gigantic Offers.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. Daniel F. Beatty, of Washington, New Jersey, in this week's paper. Mr. Beatty's celebrated Pianos and Organs are so well known throughout the civilized world that they require no word of commendation from us. Lowest prices, superior workmanship and complete satisfaction have brought this house prominently forward, until to-day he stands the only man in his trade who dares to ship his instruments on test trial, and if unsatisfactory refunds not only the price but all freight paid. No fairer offer can ever be made or even suggested. His sales now amount annually to several millions of dollars, and when it is taken into consideration that a few years ago he was only a poor plough-boy, it must be evident to every reader that Mr. Beatty is the possessor of rare talent in his vocation.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

"JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y."

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	9½@—
Ordinary	—@10¼
Good Ordinary	—@10½
Low Middling	—@10¾
Middling	—@11¼
Good Middling	—@11½
SUGAR—
Common	4½@ 5¼
Strictly Prime	5¾@ 6
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7¼
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	30@ 32
Common	20@ 22
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$9 75
New	11 00
BACON—
Shoulders	—@ 4½
Clear Rib Sides	—@ 5¼
Clear Sides	5¼@ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	to 9 50
Choice Extra Western	to 12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	8½@ 9½
Choice	9½ a 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$3 75 to 4 00
Extra	4 25 to 4 50
Double Extra	4 75 to 5 00
Family	5 25 to 5 50
Choice. Fancy	5 75 to 6 00

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates,

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n10 1y

ECONOMICAL

COOK BOOK, or how to prepare nice dishes at a moderate cost, containing over 400 carefully tried receipts, selected and arranged by a practical house-keeper. The compiler, in offering the public this volume feels that it will supply a long-felt want. These receipts are published for the benefit of those who like good plain living without incurring unnecessary expense. All directions are given in a clear concise manner. This valuable book contains 128 pages neatly bound, and is the best COOK BOOK ever published. We give this Book FREE, Postpaid, to any person who will send Thirty Cents for a 3 months' subscription to LEISURE HOURS, an illustrated Magazine of choice literature, published at the popular price of $1.00 per year; 30 cents for three months. Each number contains 40 large quarto pages (equal to 80 ordinary magazine pages) filled with illustrated articles, stories, poetry, etc., by the ablest writers. It is the best illustrated magazine published for the price, and a favorite with all readers. The ECONOMICAL COOK BOOK IS A GIFT by the publishers to induce all who read this to try our magazine 3 months. Agents wanted; large pay given; stamps taken. Subscriptions begin now. Address the publishers,

J. L. PATTEN & Co.,
47 Barclay Street, New York.

Quarterly Conferences.

Greenwood (Miss.) District.

SECOND ROUND.

Goodman, May 3-4; Lexington, May 10-11; Pickens, May 17-18; Hernendo, May 24-25; Caney Creek, May 25-26; Benton, May 31 and June 1; Deasonville, June 1-2; Yazoo Circuit, June 7-8; Yazoo City, June 8-9; Silver Creek, June 14-15; Holly Grove Circuit, June 15-16; Minta City, June 21-22; Roebuck, 22-23; Greenwood, June 28-29; Good Hope, July 5-6.

L. BRADFORD, P. E.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabrell Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Cheplein.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kazieh Bellad, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,

—AND—

WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew, and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

* * * * * * *

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judical investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations. —Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA, Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

Indexical Silver Soap.

For Cleansing and Polishing Silver and Plated Ware, Window Glass, Mirrors, Marble, Paint, etc. This is the most convenient and effective preparation for these purposes ever offered to the public. It may be used even by inexperienced help with entire safety, as it contains nothing that can possibly injure the finest plate or jewelry. Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware have used this soap, and have given it their unqualified approval.

CAUTION.—The original and only genuine Silver Soap is known world wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, and is the only proper thing to use for cleaning Silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by

ROBINSON BROS & CO.,
n10 12t] Boston, Mass.

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors' 15c.
n13 13t] LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878–9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
n49 tf Marshall, Texas,

Central Tennessee College

Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygiene will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in

Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free, Incidentals, 50 cts per month, Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after.

For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, n6 tf Holly Springs, Miss.

West Texas Conference

SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—central for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, competent, Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 00
Intermediate " "	1 50
Higher " "	2 00
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, President.
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st.
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.
mar6 3m

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,

A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

7 SUPERIOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SINGING BOOKS.

Should you want a new Music Book, select from the following list:

PURE GOLD (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
ROYAL DIADEM (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
BRIGHTEST and BEST (Board Cov's) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
WELCOME TIDINGS (Board Covers) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
NEW HYMNARY (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
BOOK OF PRAISE (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
HYMN SERVICE (Paper Covers), $10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

Any one of the above sent on receipt of the retail price, or the 7 books sent on receipt of $2.00.

Sold by all Booksellers and Music Dealers.

BIGLOW & MAIN,
73 Randolph Street, Chicago. | 76 East Ninth Street, New York,
n18 tf

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price!

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each	40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each	60 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each	50 cents.
Roan, embrossed, each	75 "
Morocco, gilt edges	$1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual,

Cloth, each	75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper,	$1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges	1 50

12 mo.

Suitable for Pulpit Use.

Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Sheep, each	$1 50
Roan, embossed	2 00

12mo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each	$1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper,	$1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges	2 50

Send orders to

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

BOOKS

—FOR—

Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Young Folks' Corner.

HELPFUL LITTLES.

I'm only a little stray sunbeam,
I can't do much, you know,
To brighten the world as I pass along,
But I'll do what I can as I go.
Perhaps some little corner
Would be darker without my light;
If that be true, it's my duty to try
And make that corner bright.

Such a wee, wee little birdie,
And my voice is not very strong:
No doubt, in a crowd of singers
You would scarcely hear my song,
For it's only a feeble effort
When I do my very best;
But if I can't sing to the wide world
I can sing for my home nest.

Just a little drop of water,
What good can one drop do?
But the blade of grass it fell on
Was refreshed and greener grew.
Then little drops, you know, make up
The rivers and ocean wide.
Though only a drop, I, too, must help
To swell this wondrous tide.

Such a tiny wayside flower,
Most hidden among the grass,
Men go on hurriedly by me,
Nor notice me as they pass.
But then, if this spot is gladder
For my growing here, I know
It is just what God designed for me,
And so I'll continue to grow.

Just a little boy or girl
Doing the best they can.
She grows up to thoughtful womanhood,
And he to an earnest man.
But all along life's journey
Heart and hand find work to do,
For the "fields are white to harvest
And the laborers are few."

"I Wish He Had Lived."

The other day, when a burly, big driver of a cart backed his vehicle up to the alley gate of an old house in Detroit to dump out half a ton of coal, some children came out of a side door, and the driver beckoned them near and said:

"Last time I was here, one of the wheels crushed a bit of a dog belonging to one of you. I heard a great cry out, but I can't be stopping to look out for dogs on the street."

The children made no reply, but as they watched him unload the coal, they wondered if he had little children of his own, and if he ever spoke kindly to them. He may have felt the burden of their thoughts, for suddenly he looked up and said:

"Well, I own I am a bit sorry, and being as I knew I was coming [illegible] I brought along an orange to give to the child that owned the dog. Which of you is it?"

"The dog belonged to little, lame [illegible] in that house there," answered [illegible] "It was all the dog [illegible] and when you killed it [illegible] himself almost to death [illegible] never have no plaything [illegible] dog."

[illegible] will you take him this or[ange] [illegible]

[illegible] because he's dead, [illegible] coming to take him to [illegible] pretty soon."

[illegible] looked up and down, [illegible] the matter, and [illegible] to the other house. [illegible] and his burden was [illegible] room, and two or three [illegible] weeping over their [illegible] in low tones. The [illegible] hand on the closed [illegible] [illegible] knew it was his dog— [illegible] he was lame and sick. [illegible] I made sorrow [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] drove up at [illegible] and the big, burly [illegible] [illegible] alive, I'd buy him [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] him softly [illegible]

[illegible] took up the coffin in [illegible] carried it out, [illegible] his lips quiver[illegible] he had placed it in [illegible] looked up at the [illegible] way, and [illegible]

[illegible] slow; he was [illegible] [illegible] but be [illegible] the coal [illegible] the [illegible] he [illegible] [illegible] Detroit

St. Patrick's Three Wishes.

The following curious extract is from Roger of Wendover's Chronicle: In the year of grace 491, St. Patrick, the second Archbishop of Ireland, rested in the Lord in the one hundred and twenty-second year of his age. Of his sanctity and miracles many wonderful things are recorded; for during forty years he was a pattern of apostolical virtue, whilst he gave sight to the blind, made the deaf hear, cast out devils, ransomed captives, raised nine dead men to life. He wrote three hundred and forty-five elementary tables, ordained as many Bishops and three thousand presbyters; he converted twelve thousand men in the country of Connaught to the Christian faith; he baptized in one day seven kings, the sons of Almogith; he fasted forty days and as many nights on the top of a hill called Hely, where he offered three prayers for those Irish who had embraced the Christian faith: first, that all should have the grace of repentance even at the point of death; secondly, that unbelievers might never overcome him; and, thirdly, that not one of the Irish might be alive at the coming of the Judge, by virtue of which prayer of St. Patrick, they will all die seven years before the Judgment.

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

I desire to know the whereabouts of Jordan Grear, colored. Last heard from in Yazoo county in 1870.

E. J. CLARK,
Carrollton, Carroll Co., Miss.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to inquire for some of my lost friends—sisters Jane, Harriet, Creasy, Annie; brothers Hartwell, Wilson, Joshua, Andrew, Marcus, Daniel; nieces Eliza and Frances Johnson; nephews Foster and George Hankens. My father's name was Param Seay. My name was Dred and I belonged to Matthew Hankins. I now go by the name of

D. W. TUCKER,
San Antonio, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to get some information of my aunt. Her name is Juliet. She belonged to Lewis May, in Louisiana, and he sold her to a man by the name of Phillip. I can only think of some of her children's names: Sigh, May, Green, Myaud, Charley. Elias is here with me. My father's name was Bill May and my name was May, but I go by the name of

WADE HAMILTON.
Bryan, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I desire to inquire for my sister Polly, who lived in Carrollton, New Orleans, and has a son named Edward. Her husband's name was Wesley. I have not heard from her since I left there seven years ago. Then my name was Louisa Biggs. I have since married F. J. Irvine and live in Galveston, on 24th street, between Church and Minnie streets. My sister's husband was a member of the Free Mission Baptist Church in Carrollton. LOUISA IRVINE, Galveston, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I left my father at Tuskegee, Macon county, Ala., ten years ago this fall. His name was Thomas Perry. He belonged to D. a Perry during the war. I had two brothers, Eli and William, and five sisters, Lydia, Martha, Emily, Mary and Louisa. My father was a Methodist preacher and had charge of the Warrior Stand Church, about twelve miles from town. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gladly received. Address

A. J. CRINER,
Grandview, Johnson Co., Texas.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive or quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

It is good for a man to be [illegible] crossed, disappointed, [illegible] to feel his own ignorance, [illegible] folly; made to feel his [illegible] God; to feel that, in spite [illegible] and self-confidence, [illegible] all in this world [illegible] [illegible] eternal [illegible]

[illegible] Kingsley.

LAME BACK, WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

Overwhelming evidence of their superiority over all other plasters. It is everywhere recommended by Physicians, Druggists and the Press.

The manufacturers received a special award and the only medal given for porous plasters at the Centennial Exposition 1876, at the Paris Exposition, 1878.

Their great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once.

Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, or any local pain or ache should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. Price 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists.

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches....	175 lbs.......	325 lbs..........	$40 00
28 inches....	225 lbs.......	375 lbs..........	50 00
32 inches....	350 lbs.......	550 lbs..........	75 00
36 inches....	550 lbs.......	800 lbs..........	110 00
40 inches....	750 lbs.......	1050 lbs..........	150 00
44 inches....	1000 lbs.......	1350 lbs..........	200 00
48 inches....	1300 lbs.......	1800 lbs..........	250 00
54 inches....	2100 lbs.......	2900 lbs..........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

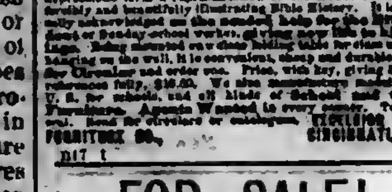
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. [illegible] CINCINNATI, O.

FOR SALE!

A First-class Five-Horse Power Upright

Steam Engine,

AMES' MAKE.

Can be seen at work at this office.

A Bargain Offered.

READER! BEFORE BUYING A PIANO OR ORGAN

Do not fail to send for my latest 20-page Illustrated Newspaper with much valuable information Free. New Pianos $125, 135, and upwards. New Organs $65 to $440. Be sure to write me before buying elsewhere. [illegible] Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price.......................$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price.......................$2 50.

Methodist Discipline. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price.......................40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price.......................$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price.......................$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price.......................$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price.......................$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price.......................$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price.......................$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price.......................$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price.......................$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price.......................$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
- Flexible cover, 12mo.......................$0 50
- Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.... 75
- Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.......................1 50
- Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo.......................2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price.......................$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost.......................$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 50 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price.......................$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each.......................25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price.......................$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen.......................$1 50.
Large size, each.......................20.
Large and illuminated, each.......................25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred.......................$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100.......................$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100.......................$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.......................$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100.......................$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.......................$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100.......................$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100.......................$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000.......................$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100.......................$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100.......................$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100.......................$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100.......................75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price.......................$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } Vol. II. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price.......................$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price.......................$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price.......................$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price.......................1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price.......................1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price.......................$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.
I. Ceval's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev. John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

ORGAN BEATTY PIANO

$340 ORGAN FOR $85. $1,000 PIANO FOR $255.

(NEW STYLE, No. 1685.)

(NEW STYLE, No. 2023.)

BEATTY PIANO Square Grand, New Style, No. 2023. Magnificent rosewood case, three strings, seven and one-third octaves, Beatty's full agraffe iron scale. All round corners, and back finished same as front. French grand action. Beautiful foot desk. Handsomely carved pedals. Heavy rosewood moulding around the entire instrument. Fully warranted for six years. Sent anywhere on half month test trial. No money required until you have fully tested the Piano at your own home. Order at once. If you are not entirely satisfied with the instrument you are under no obligations whatever to keep it. Monopolist's Price, about $1,000;

My Price Only $255

Thousands Now in Use that are GIVING ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

BEATTY ORGAN Take notice: Upon my return from Europe in 1878 I advertised largely, "Beatty's offer for this month. This beautiful Piano Upright Parlor Organ, style No. 1685, thirteen Stops, two Knee-Swells, three sets of Reeds, in solid black walnut case, with handsome French veneering, laid on solid walnut. Weight when boxed, about 350 pounds; height, 75 in.; depth, 24 in.; length, 50 in." etc. So great was the demand for this beautiful Piano Upright Parlor Organ one men at the factory were compelled to work until 10 o'clock P. M. to fill orders. Monopolist's Price for this instrument, about $340;

My Price Only $85 In order to meet the public demand this unparalleled offer is extended until further notice. We have made a judicious and large CASH purchase of the best materials which enter into its construction, at an extremely low price, and are thus enabled to continue to sell this beautiful new style at the unprecedented price of only $85. Order at once, as every instrument when introduced into a new locality sells others, as it becomes a standing advertisement for me in your own home. This it is that I am enabled to sell this instrument, in order to have it introduced, at this very low price.

ORDER NOW! To assure yourself that you can secure these unparalleled offers you must order now, as I cannot guarantee to keep them down thus low for any definite time. I may be able to do it only a single month, or I may be able to continue it six months or a year. One thing is certain; the price never will be lower, and may at any time be higher; so if you have thoughts of buying a Piano or Organ in the near future, you must order now to assure yourself of these splendid offers.

Large Illustrated Newspaper, with much valuable information about Cost of Pianos and Organs, sent FREE.

Address: DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey, U. S. A.

LORD & TAYLOR,
NEW YORK.
Opening Spring Display
OF
NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also, COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, Anderson's Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Corelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $3; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50; Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

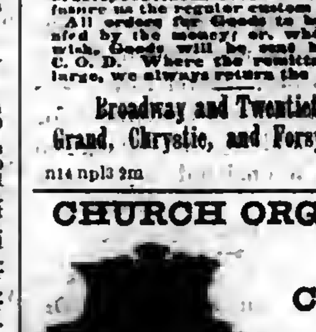
Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.85.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a fair trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 npl3 2m

CHURCH ORGANS,



Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

tf]

COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT for the cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Headache, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders, by a natural process of revitalization. REMARKABLE CURES have been made, which are attracting the widest attention. STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, T. S. Arthur, Hon. Montgomery Blair, Judge Field of U. S. Supreme Court, and others who have used the new Treatment. FREE! A Treatise (200 pp.) on Compound Oxygen, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address feb21'78-2teow.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Phila.

EAR DISEASES! CATARRH

Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's Book on Deafness and Diseases of the Ear and Catarrh, their proper treatment, especially Running Ear. How to get immediate relief from all annoyances of these diseases, and a sure, harmless and permanent cure. A book every family should have. Sent free to all. Address Dr. C. E. SHOEMAKER, Aural Surgeon, Reading, Pa.

no4-jan23-13t-eow.

HOME ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES.

Devoted to the Arts That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3ct. stamp. ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

TEACHERS WANTED $50 to $100 per month during the Spring and Summer. For full particulars address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

m16 6t eow!

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

Worthy of Close Reading by Women

TEN YEARS OF FEARFUL AGONISING SUFFERING CURED BY THE USE OF Swaims Panacea

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

40 pieces of bone as Relics

Mrs. Dugan, No. 909 Dauphin St., Philadelphia, one of the most respectable ladies of that city, is not only willing, but desirous, in state for the information of any of her sex that they may know what remedy availed her after agonising suffering for ten long years (in which the disease, beginning one month after marriage, originating from no fault of hers, ravaged her entire system, and gradually spreading until she had 30 Ulcers at one time on one arm, and 20 on the other; having lost all the fingers on one hand, they rotting off; one parent dying broken hearted witnessing her suffering; she having had some sixteen physicians of Philadelphia, and the disease defying their skill,) that she found in SWAIM'S PANACEA the remedy she needed. In a few months after beginning on it she gained over 55 lbs. in weight, her ulcers all healed, and she has now some 40 pieces of bone as relics. She is in splendid health and returns grateful thanks to almighty God that she was directed to the use of this remedy! Pamphlets furnished gratis on application to Dr. Franklin Stewart, Swaim's Laboratory, 113 South Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE GREAT
JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with
STEEL RAILS!

Equipment Improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS

180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
63 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

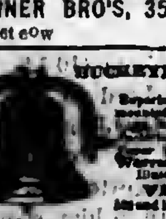
No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS



Received the Highest Medal at the recent PARIS EXPOSITION, over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (120 bones) fits with perfect ease, and is Warranted not to break down over the hips. Price by mail, $1.25. THE HEALTH CORSET is not made with the Tampico Busts, which is soft and flexible and contains no bones. Price by mail, $1.50. Nursing Corsets, $1.75.

For Sale by leading Merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.

n12 6t eow

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

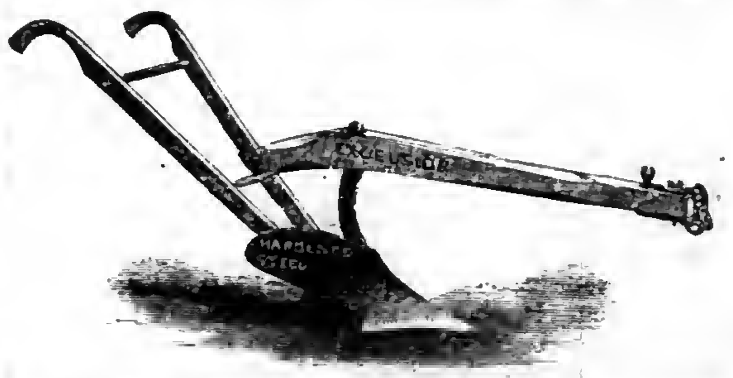
Established in 1837. Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

mar 20 1y

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold and Jet, 10c. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.

m15 13t]

Plantation Hardware,
Agricultural Implements
—AND—
MACHINERY,



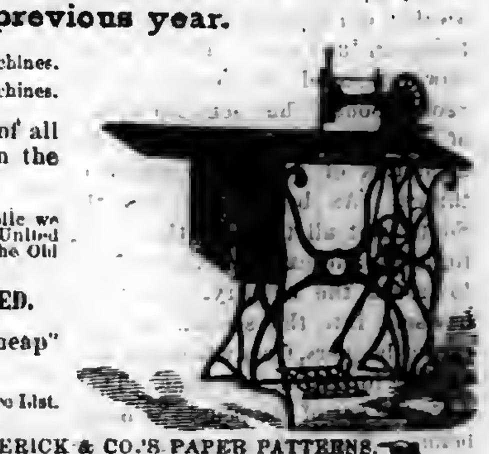
Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,
AT LOW PRICES
Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOUTHERN AGENT FOR
Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing

B. J. WEST,
115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.



In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

FOUND AT LAST.

SURE CURE for Catarrh, Croup, Neuralgia and Nervous Headache, Hay Fever, [illegible] and all kindred complaints resulting from Colds and Exposure.

The Late ELDER BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

Says of this remedy in the American Christian Review, of Oct., [illegible] "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" [illegible]

Rev. G. Fritz, No. [illegible] [illegible] "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" [illegible]

[illegible] We send "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" by mail [illegible] Three boxes for Two Dollars. [illegible]

DOBYNS & MITCHELL, North Middletown, Bourbon Co., Ky.

n27 4t

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

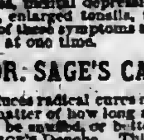
SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH



SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York.

v13 n45 1y

Dr. J. M. Howe's
Inhaling Tube!
—AND—
COMMON AIR, WILL CURE CONSUMPTION IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

Send for Circular. The Tube, with full directions, postpaid. Sent on receipt of $2.50, or call at his residence, Passaic, N. J.

The Rev. N. N. Beers, of the M. E. Church, Wayne, Steuben Co., N. Y., writes:

It is now nearly thirty years since I commenced the inhalation of the common air under your instructions, and I have undiminished confidence in it as a remedy for consumption and other throat and lung diseases. It is in harmony with Nature's laws. I have now been preaching twenty-seven years since my recovery from a condition of tuberculosis, in which a council of physicians said it was impossible for me to live longer than three months. My lungs to-day are as sound as any man's can possibly be.

Yours affectionately, N. N. BEERS.

The Rev. B. M. Adams, of the N. Y. East M. E. Conference, says:

I thank the Lord that I ever saw you. The Inhaling Tube I obtained of you almost twenty years ago has been a wonderful blessing to me, and I am glad, through my recommendation, to many. I think Schureman Halsted's life was lengthened years by it. His chest enlarged, although he was over fifty years old when he commenced using it, and he led the Lord's battles with a shout long after the doctors told him he must stop. Many other dear friends of mine have had their lives lengthened by its use.

From Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., of the Sunday-school Publications of the Church.

I have used your Tube at times for several years, and have unbounded faith in its philosophy.

n23 13t

TRUTHS.

HOP BITTERS,

(A Medicine, not a Drink,)

CONTAINS

HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,

AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints and Drunkenness.

$1000 IN GOLD

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and free books, and try the Bitters before you sleep. Take no other.

The Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief is the Cheapest, Surest and Best.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

CANCER

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 20 years. Doctors, Ministers and the poor cured free. Cancer eyes straightened. Tumors removed. Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific, and other remedies. Write for a circular giving full particulars.

Address W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D.,
Rome, N. Y.

n10 1y

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 1y

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 19. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 353.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,

30 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year (52 times)	4 "
Quarter of a page	25 "
Eighth of a page	8 cents. net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:

805 Broadway, New York,

WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

NOT IN VAIN.

[illegible] tarries long and seems to say,
[illegible] forgotten me.
[illegible] it come, and when it comes,
[illegible] shall the answer be.

[illegible] and so long to watch,
[illegible] on weary sea;
[illegible] break, and when it comes,
[illegible] shall the answer be.

[illegible] the church thus pleads,
[illegible] of agony;
[illegible] cry is heard;
[illegible] shall the answer be.

[illegible] Christian cries in bonds,
[illegible] to be free;
[illegible] heard, and when it comes
[illegible] the answer be. —Bonar.

The Exodus.

[illegible] FEVER.

(La. Eagle.)

[illegible] colored people [illegible] Hawk fever." A [illegible] them on the [illegible] and a person [illegible] to Kansas regarding the [illegible] sent to Immi-

[illegible] OF KANSAS.

(April 22.)

[illegible] two large settlements of colored people in the [illegible] of Kansas. They [illegible] opened [illegible] a village. They [illegible] "Exodusters." In [illegible] have stores and [illegible] and two [illegible] of the farms are [illegible] One man [illegible] has a [illegible] their being cordially welcomed as an element of our population. We have an area of about 81,000 square miles, comprising 55,000,000 acres of arable land, not more than one-tenth of which has been reduced to cultivation. The remainder is open to settlement under the Homestead act, requiring five years' residence before title can be secured, and I am inclined to think we could absorb 100,000 of these people without serious injury or inconvenience. It is not unlikely that in consequence of the proportions which the movement is assuming, early action will be invited in Congress to ascertain the causes and consequences of the emigration. If, as is alleged by Judge Dillon and many other prominent citizens of St. Louis, the wrongs of which these negroes complain actually exist, and they are forbidden the right of free transit from one portion to another of this country by violence, it presents a case which requires the closest legislative inquiry, and the South may yet learn as one of its results that in the end nothing is so unprofitable as injustice.

STOPPING THE STAMPEDE.

(Philadelphia Christian Recorder.)

Already do we hear of plans to stop the stampede. As might be expected force is first suggested, exerted not directly upon the colored people themselves, but upon the owners of steamboats, not allowing them to land, only at certain places. One Mississippi journal cries out: "They are in our debt, arrest them as persons absconding from their creditors." Another says: "They owe taxes; insist on payment." And so, with a worse than Egyptian justice, they are despoiling the fleeing freemen and citizens. But despite all, the tide rolls on.

GARRISON.

(Zion's Herald.)

William Lloyd Garrison very earnestly seconds the pathetic appeal of Rev. Moses Dickson—a colored preacher of St. Louis, and chairman of a committee—to aid the flying colored men in their exodus from the Gulf States and their search after Northern homes. He offers to receive and forward any funds sent to his address.

THE ISSUE.

(Chicago Standard.)

One thing seems clear, and that is that the questions underlying this whole matter cannot much longer be neglected, nor played with in the game of fast-and-loose. The colored population of the South are capable of being made an element of prosperity and blessing, not only to that section, but to the whole nation. The issue now forced upon those in charge of matters there and at the national capital is, whether they shall be made so, or whether in a continued course of political blundering, or worse—if anything can be worse—they shall remain what they have so long been, a problem, a perplexity, and a peril. The people of the United States should demand that the issue be met at once, and that it be disposed of, not in a spirit of partisan tampering, but of statesman-like wisdom and honesty.

NOT ALL NEGROES.

(Philadelphia Times.)

"A gentleman in the interior of Illinois," writes on to his Congressman at Washington that they are [illegible] around him—"genuine confederates, who fought in the [illegible] army"—so fast as to [illegible] the supremacy of the [illegible] party. Reports of a invasion come from other [illegible] in the section, and one estimates the number of Kentuckians who have settled in Illinois and Iowa during the past [illegible]

NEGROES IN KANSAS.

(Special to the Times, Emporia, Kansas.)

[illegible] two large settlements of colored people in the [illegible] of Kansas. They [illegible] opened [illegible] a village. They [illegible] "Exodusters." In [illegible] have stores and [illegible] and two [illegible] of the farms are [illegible] One man [illegible] has a [illegible] and toole to open a farm. Others have no money, but they can make them a "dug-out," and on this rich soil they can cultivate enough with a spade and hoe to furnish them bread, and by degrees they can advance to better things.

"OLE VIRGINNY"

(Boston Traveller.)

By the middle of the month it is believed that one thousand colored men will be on the move from three Virginia counties alone, and more will follow.

THE TOPEKA MEETING.

(From the Topeka Blade.)

At the Citizens meeting on the 20th ult, called and presided over by Gov. St John, besides raising over five hundred dollars on the spot, a Central Executive Committee composed as follows was appointed: Governor St. John, president; Mayor M. H. Case, Rev. T. W. Henderson, M. Bosworth, Attorney Gen. Davis, A. Washburn, Bradford Miller, A. Prescott, C. H. Bowen, J. K. Hudson, Mrs. N. C. McFarland and Mrs. E. Chrisman. A committee of ten ladies representing the foremost families of the city was also formed to solicit donations.

BURIAL OF THE LOST CAUSE.

(Boston Traveller.)

If the negroes leave the South, the South cannot persecute and proscribe them; if there are not there to be counted, the South must yield up the representation now held by virtue of their being counted, and with it must yield up, too, its supremacy at Washington; if the negroes are elsewhere, their votes would be both cast and counted against the South; while the South itself, freed from its race troubles at home, and deprived alike of the power to disturb the national peace, as well as of the main motive that now tempts it in that direction, would, we might hope at least, invite free white labor from the North, set about building up its waste places in earnest, and give a bona fide burial, without hope of resurrection, to the lost cause!

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Letter from Arkansas.

DEAR EDITOR:—Let me give to the readers of your paper some of the facts connected with the murdering of one of the best and most promising young preachers, Rev. Wm. M. Todd, Little Rock Annual Conference M. E. Church.

He was sent to Brinkly circuit by Bishop Andrews, Feb. 24, 1879. Reached his work about the 5th of March. On the 21st I met him in Brinkly, and on the following day he and I went to the country, but came back Sunday afternoon and preached in town at night. Again on Tuesday and Wednesday we held services. As we were passing through the streets after services, about 10 o'clock at night, two men came up to us with pistols in their hands and ordered us to hold up our hands; examined us for weapons, but found nothing more dangerous than the Bible. I asked them who they were; if they were civil officers, telling them who we were. They said they were, then ordered us up the street. I asked a friend who was with us to go and see what they did with us, but they forbade him, and having seen them present their pistols at us and having smelt their whisky, etc., he turned away.

They soon came to a dark passage-way, leading between an empty store and a large billiard room. In this way they ordered us to go. I objected, saying, "If you are officers give us an open trial. The Marshal of the town, who had charge of us, wanted to take us to his office, I said take us in at the front door. At this instant Bro. Todd broke to run, thinking it was his only chance for life. They shot at him three times; the first ball taking effect in the upper side of the left thigh, but he made his escape. The post master, who had joined us by this time, offered to keep me; so leaving me in his custody, the marshall and deputy ran after Bro. Todd. I was taken into the saloon, and on the marshall's return was handcuffed, marched through two rooms into the third and the doors closed behind me. I again demanded their authority for so doing. A paper, purporting to be a U. S. detective's license, was held before me; and then having [illegible] of my clothing, [illegible] took off the handcuffs and for certain [illegible] saying they [illegible] of men who [illegible] called, but refused to dress the wound until at least $5 was advanced, although we told him neither of us had a cent of our own. I finally gave him some missionary money which I was taking to one of my preachers.

Bro. Todd was stretched out on a little hard and dirty bunk with one old blanket for a cover and his pants for a pillow and I set to watch with him till morning, both of us being released. Thus, in a side room of a saloon where only a plank wall separated us from the noisy crowd who, until late at night, caroused in the whisky shop, in the beautiful town of Brinkly, about 70 miles from Little Rock, on the Memphis and L. R. R. R., I and our sainted Bro. Todd spent the weary hours of the night of the 26th of March 1879.

There were two others who stayed with us; one of the saloon keepers, who treated us very kindly, and the King of Kings, our dear Jesus. By-and-by the day came. I moved Bro. Todd two miles out in the country, to a colored man's house, where he stayed about a week; after which I took him to Bro. Bell's, near Cotton Plant, about 10 miles from Brinkly. Here I left him, telling him to stay on his work at the cost of his life, which he intended to do. A brother of his came to see him, but took very sick and after a few days Bro. Todd was compelled to take him to Brinkly, to send him to Little Rock, his home. While there at the hotel waiting for the train, which passed about 11 o'clock in the night, some masked men came for him, but he made his escape out a back door and across the back yard fence and through a dark allyway to a field. As he went he saw them looking for him about the house, and soon they followed him into the field, but he said, "I laid low, flat on the ground, and prayed 'O God save me from them.'" He said he did not see why they did not see him for they were very close to him a number of times. He crawled on his hands and knees, as they would go away from him until late at night they gave up the search. He crossed out of the fields into the woods and started for Little Rock, dragging himself along. In the forenoon of the next day he heard dogs coming on his track and also heard men. He turned through the swamps, wading through the the water for miles; and thus for seven weary days and nights, through swamp thicket, brush, briar and thorns, our beloved Brother went without seeing, any one, or eating a bite, until finally he reached Surrounded Hill, a flag station on the railroad, bleeding and almost dying. He got on the freight train and came to this place to die, as he did on the 23d inst., in the full triumph of faith, perfectly happy. About 12 o'clock bidding all goodby, after making arrangements for Rev. A. W. Decker, of one of our churches in this city, and the writer to attend his funeral; and saying he forgave his enemies for all they had done in destroying his life, he passed away to join those who, out of great tribulation, come up washing their robes in the blood of the Lamb. His brother, Benjamin Todd, who was with him sick, started for Little Rock and died a few days before he got here, from this shock caused by the treatment his brother, the preacher, had received, as he supposed that the masked men had killed his brother.

Thus two of the noble sons of the old church laid down their lives for no higher and more malignant crime than that of preaching to the colored people. For this was the shameful offence for which we were so badly treated. The coroner of Pulaski county, the county in which the capitol of the State is located, testified before a grand jury the other day, so I am informed, that he had been bulldozed, (or something to that effect,) while holding an inquest over a dead man. I understand that the Governor of our State advises preachers in this State to close up their mouths, and when they do open them to be careful what they say, for, says he, "we have bad men in this country." Well, his last statement about the bad men is certainly true. At the the time of these remarks he was talking about the treatment we received.

Nearly all of my preachers are [illegible] and what is to follow [illegible] tell. The will of the [illegible] is done. I. G. POLLARD.

[illegible] April 28, 1879.

Support of Bishops.

One of our city dailies made a statement some time ago, which has been largely copied, that the Methodist Episcopal Church fails to support its bishops by the plan adopted by the last General Conference. This statement, doubtless, had its origin in the fact that the Episcopal Fund is indebted to the Book Concern; and that fact appears in the Annual Exhibit of the Book Committee to the conferences. That indebtedness, however, is the result of deficiencies in the collections of the four years preceding the General Conference of 1876. Previous to 1872 the salaries of the bishops were paid by the Book Concerns at New York and Cincinnati.

There were many in the Church who questioned the propriety of this use of the avails of the Publishing Houses. At the General Conference of 1872 a collection was ordered to be taken in all the churches for the support of the bishops, and the Book Concerns were authorized to loan to the Episcopal Fund an amount sufficient to meet any deficiencies in case the collections did not meet the entire claim. At the General Conference of 1876, the amount which the Book Concerns had thus loaned to this fund was justly reported by the Agents among their assets.

Had the General Conference ordered that item to be charged to the account of profit and loss, nothing more would have been heard of it. But as that body did not so order, the Agents were obliged to carry this amount forward among its assets; and this is the item which has been made the occasion of so many newspaper paragraphs, both in our church and out of it, reflecting alike on the Church and its General Superintendents.

At the General Conference of 1876 it was found that the collections had been so large during the preceding quadrennium that the duty of the support of the bishops could safely be thrown upon the Church, where it legitimately belongs, as they are among the pastors by the very nature of their office and work, and the Book Concerns were forbidden to advance or loan to the Episcopal Fund, unless it might be necessary to do so temporarily to meet house-rent and traveling expenses.

The Church at large has fully justified the confidence of the General Conference in this plan. The first year after this plan was adopted the contributions for this purpose were sufficient to meet the entire claims. At the close of the second year there was found a slight deficiency, but we have full confidence that the Church will honorably and fully meet this demand for the support of her chief pastors during the present quadrennium.

PHILLIPS & HUNT.
HITCHCOCK & WALDEN.

Cookman Institute, Jacksonville, Florida.

The catalogue of Cookman Institute is at hand, thanks to the Principal, Rev. S. B. Darnell, B. D. We are glad to learn that the past has been the best year the Institute has had, and that in numbers and scholarship there is much to encourage. The Principal has associated with him the following teachers: Wm. B. Owen, professor of mathematics; Mrs. C. A. Darnell, general literature; Wm. S. Darnell, primary department, and Mrs. E. V. Long, teacher of music. 189 students are enrolled; of these 12 are in the Biblical class, and a good proportion are in the advanced classes.

Board is furnished at $1 25 a week. Thirty-five dollars will pay the bill for a whole term. Of the location and buildings the catalogue says:

Cookman Institute could not occupy a more eligible or advantageous position in the State. The means of travel all converge at this State Metropolis, and both the local patronage and surrounding community lends to it intellectual and religious culture not found elsewhere.

The buildings have been greatly improved this year. To the main edifice has been added a three-story brick dormitory, and the residence for the teachers have received its needed improvements. To meet these expenses all the funds received from friends has been expended and three hundred dollars in addition thereto. We hope the friends of education will not allow us to be embarrassed for the necessary funds to pay these bills and others, accumulating from yearly expenses. Can there be a place found where the same amount will accomplish so much as here, by our rigid economy?

The present term ends may 1st, and the next term begins Oct. 14, 1879. Principal Darnell will be glad to correspond with friends.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

A Thoughtful Opinion.

The following is from one of the leading colored men of America:

MR. EDITOR:—Your editorials have enlightened me more than anything else I have seen or heard on the subject, and I do earnestly hope that those editorials will be continued. Indeed I think you are in this behalf, performing a Christian duty, I agree with you in the belief, that it is the greatest event that has occurred since the war, and it may be that it is, in God's providence, to complete a work which the war started, that is the destruction of race oppression and degradation. It is in vain that the white people of the South, who are positively threatened with financial ruin by this exodus, appeal to others to use any means to check it, for whatever may be done to this effect, must be done by themselves.

And if it be asked what they can do, the answer is, that those of them who possess the wealth, learning and influence which would give weight and force to their counsels, must speedily come to the front and stop bulldozing, and secure to the colored people all their legal rights. They must rent them lands at a reasonable price and pay them the full worth of their labor. And the sooner they take these steps the better, for two reasons: 1. The colored people who have been working for them ever since the war and are as poor, if not poorer than they were when they commenced working for them, are determined to abandon them forever unless they are soon assured of a change for the better. 2. The low ignorant class of white people who compose the bulldozing organizations, are doing all they can to get colored labor away that they may bring their more fortunate white neighbors on a level with themselves.

Veto of the Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 29, 1879.

The army appropriation bill was returned to the house to-day without the presidential signature, accompanied by a message stating, at length, the reasons for the veto. The President says if the bill contained no other provisions than those for the support of the army it would receive his prompt approval, but it includes further legislation and involves a question of the gravest character. He recites the statute now in force, embodied in sections 2002 and 5528 of the revised statutes, and says:

The adoption of the proposed amendment may be considered in two aspects:

First—As it affects the United States government to use the military force to keep the peace at elections.

Second—As it affects the right of government, by the civil authority, to protect elections from violence and fraud.

He then quotes and calls attention to sections 2003, 5529, 5530, 5531 and 5532 revised statutes; section 15, army appropriation bill passed June 18, 1878, together with remarks upon the purpose and effect of the latter, as stated in the speeches of senators and representatives who supported it. From these laws, he says, it appears there can be no military interference with elections, and that consequently there is no necessity for the enactment of section 6 of this bill.

He then calls attention to the existing laws for the prevention of discrimination on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, and to punish fraud, violence and intimidation at federal elections, and says: These laws it is the duty of the executive department of the government to enforce. The intent and effect of the sixth section of this bill is to prohibit all civil officers of the United States, under penalty and imprisonment, from employing any adequate civil force for this purpose at the place where their enforcement is most necessary, namely, at the places where congressional elections are held. If the proposed legislation should become law, there will be no power vested in any officer of the government to protect from violence the officers of the United States engaged in the discharge of their duties.

Their rights and duties under the law will remain, but the national government will be powerless to enforce its own statutes. The States may employ both the military and civil power to keep the the peace and enforce the laws at State elections. It is now proposed to deny the United States even the necessary civil authority to protect national elections. No sufficient reason has been given for this discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority.

With regard to the manner in which it is sought to repeal the law authorizing the use of troops at the polls, he says:

"The object aimed at is altogether foreign to the purpose of an army appropriation bill."

The practice of tacking to appropriation bills measures not pertinent to such bills did not prevail until more than forty years after the adoption of the Constitution. It has now become a common practice; all parties, when in power, have adopted it. Many abuses, and great waste of public money have in this way crept into appropriation bills. Public opinion of the country is against it. The States which have recently adopted constitutions have generally provided a remedy for the evil by enacting that no law shall contain more than one subject, which shall be plainly expressed in its title. The constitutions of more than half the States contain substantially this provision.

Public welfare will be promoted in many ways by a return to the early practices of the government, and to the true principles of legislation, which require that every measure shall stand or fall according to its own merits. He says: "This Congress has ample opportunity and time to pass appropriation bills, and also to enact any political legislation which may be determined upon, in separate bills, by the usual and orderly methods of proceeding. But the majority of both houses have deemed it wise to adhere to the principles maintained in the last Congress by the majority of the House of Representatives, namely, that the House of Representatives has the sole right to originate bills for raising revenue, and therefore has the right to withhold appropriations upon which the existence of the government may depend, unless the Senate and the President shall give their assent to any legislation which the House may see fit to attach to appropriation bills. To establish this principle is to make a radical, dangerous and unconstitutional change of the character of our institutions. That a majority of the Senate now concurs in the claim of the House adds to the gravity of the situation, but does not alter the question at issue.

The new doctrine, if maintained, will result in the consolidation of unchecked despotic power in the House of Representatives.

A bare majority will no longer be what the framers of the constitution intended—an equal and independent branch of the government.

The principle of this bill places not merely the Senate and executive, but the judiciary also, under the coercive dictation of the House. The House alone will be the judge of what constitutes a grievance and also of the means and measures of redress.

An act of Congress, to protect elections, is now the grievance complained of, but the House may, on the same principle, determine that the treaty made by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, nominate or appoint to office, or decision or opinion of the supreme court, is a grievance, and that measures of redress are to withhold the appropriations required for the support of the offending branch of the government. Believing that this bill is a dangerous violation of the spirit and meaning of the Constitution, I am compelled to return it to the House, in which it originated, without my approval."

The publisher of the Revolution Francaise has been condemned to three months imprisonment and to pay a fine of one thousand francs for publishing a letter justifying the commune.

He who does good to another man does also good to himself, not only in the consequence, but in the very act of doing it; for the consciousness of well-doing is a very ample reward.

General News Items.

The insurrectionists in Macedonia have been dispersed.

The Danubian fortresses will be demolished by the Russians.

Ex-Senator Conover is inspector of customs on the Florida coast.

Princess Christina, cousin of the King of Spain, died on the 28th.

Nearly the entire town of Gorham, New Hampshire, was destroyed by fire.

Ten buildings were burned in Durant, Miss., on the night of the 28th.

Gen. Alfred Sully died suddenly at Vanconver barracks, Portland, Oregon.

The Supreme Court has decided the jurors' test oath to be unconstitutional.

A great fire in Orenburg, Russia, destroyed the principal part of the town.

The Union Telegraph Company has been incorporated with a capital of $10,000,000.

Herr Martin Simeon has been appointed president of the supreme court of justice, of Germany.

Austria refused to consent to the prolonged occupation of Bulgaria by the Russian troops.

Congressman Rush Clark, of Iowa, died suddenly in Washington on the afternoon of the 29th.

German agriculturists are petitioning for the prohibition of the importation of American cattle.

The British army is tired of the Afghan war, which brings endless discomfort and little or no glory.

The Senate confirmed James M. Melton, collector of internal revenue, second district of Tennessee.

Senator Logan refused to take any notice of a challenge sent him by Congressman Lowe, of Alabama.

Gen. Pope is directed to use the troops to prevent an invasion of the Indian Territory by white immigrants.

The Pope has asked foreign powers for protection in case of attacks upon the vatican by Republicans.

The private property of the Queen Dowager, of Hanover, has been restored to her by the Prussian government.

Governor Robinson of New York vetoed a bill allowing Sunday parades, and the Legislature passed it over the veto.

The two powers demand that the Khedive hand the portfolios of finance and public works to English and French ministers.

The German government has prohibited the importation into that country of three newspapers published in the United States.

The Bulgarian assembly of notables unanimously elected Prince Alexander of Battenberg to the throne of Bulgaria with the title of Alexander the First.

It is stated on good authority that the prince of Battenberg stipulates that the Russians employed in Bulgaria shall retain their posts five years, and afterward be naturalized if they so desire.

In the House of Commons, Sir Robert Peel, Liberal Conservative member for Tamworth, will ask the government whether, in consideration of some years ago, in the interest of humanity, Mr. Gladstone, owing to an appeal made to the government, took steps to mitigate the sufferings endured in consequence of state persecutions in Neapolitan prisons, her majesty's government will take any steps in the interest of humanity to mitigate the horrors and atrocities said to be the reign of terror is now being carried on in Russia over 80,000,000 of people.

The colored people's national immigration board has received information that several thousand negroes are now at different places along the banks of the Mississippi river, below Memphis, ready to start North as soon as transportation can be procured, or are preparing to leave their homes for St. Louis and beyond. One party of nearly one hundred are now at Lake Port, Chicot county, Ark., almost [illegible]. It is said the steamers refuse to transport them, and that the whites in the vicinity refuse to sell them provisions. About two hundred refugees have been [illegible] since Saturday last. [illegible] stood that Jay Gould [illegible] free transportation for them [illegible] of Kansas City, and they [illegible] bably go to [illegible]

...thwestern.

...B. D., Editor.

...SDAY, MAY 8, 1879.

...note from Rev. M. A. ...ty of San Antoino says: ...is ever. Every-thing hope-

...York Advocate published ...and sixty memorial ...in issue of May 1.

...: "Don't fail to keep the ...movement lively in our ...it will help much here."

...people lost seven churches ...down in South Carolina ...cyclone in that State,

...cities and towns of ...have just voted against ...for prohibition of the ...representing a pop- ...

...indebted to Rev. Dr. A. C. ..., West Virginia, ...his memorial sermon ...of the life and ...Ames.

...Christian Advocate ...excellent refections ...safety and peace, in its ...8, suggested by the ...of Confederate ..., Ga.

...is abstract ...message, in ...reason for ...the Army bill. ...right, as may be ...careful reading of his

...Rev. L. Rudisill, ...street church, ...who is ...money for his ...that he has ..., and will be

...has issued a ...all persons ...the Indian ...belongs ...treaty ...and the ...to protect

..."Bro. P. ...fashioned ...on Ma ...available ...season

...17th, ...

Prayer.

Why do we pray? That we may get something for the asking? Not always. Prayer is a necessity. There are times when if we would we cannot cease to pray, for as the aching heart is relieved by a sigh, so is the burdened spirit by prayer. In times of deep sorrow, or pressing anxiety, there is something within us that must cry out, some times it is true with a half defined fear that after all there is nobody to respond; but far oftener with the firm undoubting conviction that somebody hears and pities and will help.

We are told sometimes that we pray only because we have formed a habit of praying; but alas, the habit is not so strong as many people imagine, and if it were, so much the better, for even if nothing came in answer to our petitions we should still be the better and the stronger for sending up the daily prayer. In these days of consuming activity, the regular practice of securing a few minutes from the busy day is fraught with beneficial results to body, mind and soul; and there are few who are not candid enough to own, at least to themselves, that where the practice has been discontinued, the duty slighted, there has been a recognized deterioration of character, and a weakening of moral and spiritual strength. We pray, therefore, because even if we had no needs we should be the better for praying; but we pray also because our needs are so great that we cannot do otherwise. Is there not something that appeals to every heart in that true poet thought:

> "What am I?
> An infant crying in the night;
> An infant crying for the light;
> And with no language but a cry."

An infant does not always know why it is crying, nor what it wants; but the mother understands the cry better than the infant itself; and when we are unhappy and depressed, scarcely knowing what is the matter with us, but only that we are full of undefined wants, we get the same tender response, for "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, saith the Lord."

Now there are people—are they increasing in number?—who say that all this is imagination and superstition, and that if there be a God, it is certain that He is too great and too much occupied to listen to every cry that rises to Him, much less to alter His plans at the request of any of his creatures. These people are welcome to their belief if they find comfort and strength in it; but there is a glad, great host of believers in prayer whose faith is so strong that it could not be shaken by all arguments that unbelievers could bring, no matter how specious they be. They have tales to tell of answers to prayer, of deliverances Divinely sent, of peace settling on the storm tossed spirit, of strength in weakness and comfort in sorrow, which to them are solemn and undoubted facts; and it would be as vain to tell them not to eat as to tell them not to pray. They feel—none more so—how great and mighty is the God in whom they trust; but they remember the Master's words, "Men ought always to pray and not to faint" and "When ye pray, say, 'Our Father which art in heaven.'" Surely, there is great need of prayer, prayer for ourselves, for our families, for the heathen, for the Church and for ... Pray without ceasing.

... Odious Municipal Order.

Last week we published and commented upon an order issued by order of the Mayor of New Orleans, directing ... policemen to arrest, as disturbers of the peace, all ministers in charge of colored congregations in the city, who continue their services later than 10 o'clock p. m.

NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' ... TO THE MAYOR.

... Thursday the New Orleans Preachers' Meeting considered the Order and adopted an ... protest, and appointed ... to present its views to ... Mayor Patton received ... cordially and listened to the presentation of the ... the order as set forth in the following paper:

... Patton, of New Orleans: ... Preachers' ... Episcopal ... of twenty-five ... denomination ... Elders ... or the ... ministers ... and ... Church know no distinction based on color. We give the name and location, as well as the name of the pastor of each of these "colored churches" as follows:

1. Thomson Chapel, on Poet street, near Love street; Rev. Anthony Ross, pastor.
2. LaHarpe Street Church, on LaHarpe street, between Roman and Perrier streets; Rev. E. P. Royal, pastor.
3. Union Chapel, on Bienville street, between Marais and Villere streets; Rev. J. M. Vance, pastor.
4. Pleasant Plains Church, on Perdido near Johnson street; Rev. Stephen Priestley, pastor.
5. Wesley Chapel, on Liberty street between Perdido and Poydras streets; Rev. Marcus Dale, pastor.
6. Mount Zion Church, on Jackson street; Rev. Prince King, pastor.
7. First Street Church, on First street corner Dryades; Rev. Henry Green, pastor.
8. Sixth Street Church, on Sixth street between Laurel and Annunciation streets; Rev. Wm. Smith, pastor.
9. Algiers Church; Rev. Addison Moore, pastor.
10. Simpson Church, on Valence street between Camp and Chestnut streets; Rev. W. P. Forest, pastor.
11. Clinton Street Church, in Carrollton; Rev. Stephen Duncan, pastor.
12. Plum Street Church, in Carrollton.

With the foregoing information before you, we beg leave to call your attention to the following, to us, extraordinary order issued by your direction through the office of the Chief of Police of New Orleans, and which order has been served by policemen upon nearly all the pastors named above. The order is as follows:

"To the preacher of —— Church, on —— street:

"Your attention is called to the following order:

"OFFICE CHIEF OF POLICE, April 22, 1879.

"To all Stations:

"Commanding officers are hereby instructed to notify the preachers of the various colored churches in your precinct that services, whenever held, must terminate at 10 o'clock p. m. Under no circumstances must they be allowed to hold services after that hour. Affidavits must be made against preachers violating this order for disturbing the peace.

"By order of the Mayor.
"T. N. BOYLAN, Chief of Police."

We respectfully submit that this order is in violation of the letter and spirit of the Constitution of the United States. The order directs all policemen in the city of New Orleans to arrest any pastor, who has charge of a congregation of colored persons in this city who for any cause holds services later than 10 o'clock p. m. If you as Mayor can issue such an order respecting one class of church pastors, you can with equal justice issue a similar order respecting all churches. If as Mayor you can determine the number of hours a congregation of worshipper can remain when they are together, you can with equal justice declare what time and how frequently they shall assemble. But the Constitution of the United States explicitly forbids all laws—"respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." The "free exercise" of "religion" must certainly include the right to meet and hold religious services, as frequently and as long as congregations or their recognized leaders may think wise. If there be individual cases where, in the judgment of neighbors, a congregation violates recognized laws as to the public peace, accusation can be made before the proper tribunal, and if the complaint is just, the proper penalty ought to be enforced. But the mere fact of continuing services after 10 o'clock p. m., is in itself no violation of the law, and in pronouncing it such, we submit that you have done violence to the fundamental law of our land. The "free exercise" of "religion" in matters of belief and worship are too sacred and have cost the world too much blood and treasure to be infringed upon in the least particular. The order applies only to "colored congregations," but if it be admitted that such an order can legally issue respecting this class, all congregations of worshippers in New Orleans can have the times and hours of their worship fixed by your honor.

But the very fact that this order applies especially to colored congregations and not to all classes alike makes it illegal in another and very important sense. It is a manifest distinction on account of race and color. In the Civil Rights Act of April 9, 1866, passed by Congress, Section 2, is as follows:

"Any person who under color of any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom, shall subject, or cause to be subjected, any inhabitant of any State or Territory to the deprivation of any right secured or protected by this act, or to different punishment, pains or penalties on account of such person having at any time been held in a condition of slavery, or involuntarily servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, or by reason of his color or race, than is prescribed for the punishment of white persons; shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court."

If complaints are made against any congregation of colored persons for disturbing the peace and tranquility of a neighborhood there are proper legal remedies which can and ought to be used. But an order such as the one we are considering, is not only a plain interference with the "free exercise" of "religion" as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, but is also a gross violation of the law quoted above, in that it pronounces as disturbers of the peace colored persons, for doing that which white persons can do without question or condemnation.

Irrespective of the legal points we have cited, upon which we ... the order as a violation ... and therefore not to be ..., we submit to your Honor ... order is not in keeping ... changed condition to ... in his providence has ... people of New ... of slavery and ... been swept away, and are now forbidden by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and by the Constitution and laws of our State. Added to these are the oft repeated pledges of the great party to which you belong, and which now rules our City and State that these laws shall be faithfully executed. But if our colored congregations are to have policemen stationed at the doors of their houses of worship; and, acting under orders, are to arrest as disturbers of the peace the pastors of these congregations and drag them to prison for no other offense than that of continuing their services after 10 o'clock p. m. we submit that the laws and pledges referred to are without force or meaning.

We therefore respectfully but with profound earnestness submit to your honor our protest respecting this order.

1. As ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church representing a population of fully 10,000 people of different races and language in New Orleans, we pronounce this order an outrage upon the liberty of public worship, and also as being an invasion of the sacred rights of our colored worshippers, in distinct violation of the constitution and laws of the United States, and of Louisiana.

2. If any of our ministers or congregation are complained of as violating any law of the city or state, (as for others we are not responsible) it will be our duty and pleasure to aid in seeing that the complaints are legally investigated, and if proven guilty to see that the party receive the proper penalty; but, we hereby notify your Honor that the pastors and churches named above will continue their services as their interests or judgment may dictate irrespective of the order named.

3. The following members of our body are hereby appointed a committee to present this paper to your Honor and to personally represent us to you in relation to the order, viz: our President the Rev. J. C. Hartzell, and Rev. J. Braun, Rev. Emperor Williams, Rev. J. M. Vance, Rev. W. P. Forest.

Respectfully Submitted.
J. J. KIENLE, Secretary.

MAYOR PATTON'S REPLY.

Mayor Patton frankly admitted that the wording of the order gave ground for complaint, and stated that the sentiments of the address and protest were his. He had no authority to interfere with public worship in any church. There had been a mistake in the transmission of the order. So far as he was concerned no such order was ever contemplated. The history of it was this:

He had received complaints respecting several churches of the city, who held their services into very late hours, to the annoyance of the people in the neighborhoods; and, had sent word verbally to the Chief of Police to have the services of these noisy churches stopped at 10 o'clock p. m.. He stated that as soon as he saw the order as published in the SOUTHWESTERN last week he cut it out and sent it to Col. Boylan, Chief of Police, and asked if such an order had been issued. He was informed by the Chief of Police that a mistake had been made in the transmission of the order by telegraph, and that on the 25th instant when complaints first reached the police headquarters concerning the order the following was issued:

Office CHIEF OF POLICE, April 25, 1879.

To all Stations:

The order concerning the churches is not intended to cause the Force to interfere with congregations that are peaceable in their worship. Only such as are noisy, must be informed to close, and then if the notice is not heeded then the proper affidavit must be made.

(Signed.) T. N. BOYLAN, Chief.

The Mayor said he had erred in not writing the order and sending it in writing to the Chief of Police. The original order as published, he said, was an undue assumption of authority as he did not for a moment claim any right to control the times or length of public worship among any class of people.

The Mayor stated in writing as follows: "My order to the police was that if in any church there was such a condition of affairs as to justify the charge of disturbing the peace, that the pastor should be notified of the fact, and be warned to conduct the services more quietly after 10 p. m., and if they failed to comply with such order to have proper affidavits made."

Col. Boylan confirmed the Mayor's statement that the original order was a mistake, and that so far as his office was concerned the error had been in the telegraphic transmission, and that the corrective order of the 25th expresses the real intent, which is to stop noisy churches after 10 o'clock when complained of by the people in the neighborhood.

THE REPLY OF THE COMMITTEE.

The Committee replied through its chairman that whatever may have been the intention of the Mayor or the Chief of Police all the pastors of the churches named in the address, had the original order served on them either in writing or verbally, and in some cases twice. Some of the pastors had remonstrated with the policeman that the order was unjust but were told that they were simply doing their duty. The Committee considered it very unfortunate that so grave an error should have been committed, and was at a loss to know how such an order could have been so universally acted upon if not genuine.

As to the second order of the 25th, it had not as yet been served upon the pastors or churches, so far as the committee knew, so that for anything the public knew the original order was still in force. As the first order had been served upon the preachers publicly, the Committee thought that it ought to be as publicly withdrawn. As to the second order, the Committee suggested that even that might be used wrongfully by indiscrete policemen. The Committee held that no policeman could legally complain of a church, only as he acted upon the affidavit of the people in the neighborhood who complained. In conclusion, the Committee assured the Mayor that while the thousands of Methodists it represented, would protest against any act they considered unlawful, they could always be depended upon to aid his Honor and his officials in carrying out any measure calculated to make New Orleans a city that shall be peaceful, temperate, Sabbath-keeping and law-abiding second to none in the United States.

THE CITY PRESS AND THE ORDER.

None of the city papers have defended the order, but the daily papers, all of which are Democratic, speak of the order as having been misconstrued by the Preachers, or that there was a mistake in its transmission. Not one of these papers published the order itself. Here is what the Picayune says:

A late number of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE strongly denounced an order alleged to have been issued by the Mayor prohibiting worship in colored churches after the hour of 10 o'clock at night. In commenting upon it this paper uses such vigorous language as the following:

"This order has the ring of the old slave whip in it, and gives a suggestive echo of the once familiar blood hound's howl on the fugitive's track. It is a reminder that the men who used that whip, and who followed those hounds, yet blight the land with their accursed spirit of injustice to the negro."

The indignation evidence in the paragraph might be justified if the premises upon which it is founded were correct. The Mayor states that he did not issue an order prohibiting divine worship after 10 o'clock at night in colored churches, but sent out a general order that after that hour no church whatever will be permitted to interfere with the quiet and response of the neighborhood in which it is located. Frequently churches hold services after 10 o'clock, but in no instance is the public quiet disturbed except by a few colored churches, where disorderly proceedings often interfere with the public peace.

REMARKS.

The above covers the whole case and our readers can judge for themselves. The original order as published and denounced by us last week was promulgated from the police headquarters, and served in nearly every colored church in the city. Its words were so plain "that a wayfaring man though a fool could not err" concerning it, and all talk about it being "misconstrued" is folly. We accept Mayor Patton's explanation, that his verbal message to the Chief of Police was misunderstood. Beyond that there is no explanation, except; either, that the order was intended to mean exactly what it read; or, that the telegraph operator, or the captains of police throughout the city, made a blunder and assumed authority which should subject one or all of them to instant discharge. The latter explanation is hardly possible. We trust that Mayor Patton will clear up this whole matter, by embodying his statements in a new Order that will be within the law, and free from objection.

Dr. Fuller at Home Again.

Rev. Dr. Fuller, editor of the Atlanta Methodist Advocate has returned to his post after an extended tour in the North, visiting the conferences, and speaking in the interests of the Freedmen's Aid Society.

The Doctor, in returning to his office says:

Our brief experience has led us to wonder more than heretofore at the measure of results accomplished by the active and efficient Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, Rev. Dr. Rust. There is no work in the Church more important than that of the Freedmen's Aid Society. We of the South fail to appreciate it as we should. It does more to defend and sustain our work in the South at the conferences and before the Church than any other Society. This alone is devoted exclusively to the South.

The Commonwealth of Topeka, Kansas, says that Lycugus P. Jones who name signed to a circular said to be circulated among the colored people of the South, is a myth. Neither such a man or a colored colonization society are in Topeka. The papers which have made so much of this "circular" will of course note this.

A feeling of gloom prevails in Russia over despotic rule.

Our Mission Rooms.

A monthly meeting of the Board was held April 15th, Rev. Dr. Curry vice-president in the chair. Present, Secretaries, Drs. Crawford, Curry, A. S. Hunt, Dunn, Sauford, Hurst, Kettell, Butler, Van Horne, Newman, Brice, Tiffany, Samuel S. Hunt, Messrs. Falconer, Howe, Forrester, McLean, French, Hoyt, Oakley, Odell, Stephenson, Fuller, Stout, Skidmore, Cornell. Cheering tidings from Africa were received of the health of Bro. Kellogg and of the enthusiasm of Bro. Osgood in relation to work among the natives. Measures were taken to accommodate a greater number of students in the Monrovia Seminary. Remarks of a happy character were made in relation to the sons of our Missionaries who are now in different parts of this country. It was reported that they are a credit to to their parents, to the Society and to the Church at large. This feature in connection with our mission work is a somewhat new one, but children of our Missionaries born in our Foreign fields are now to be found in this country and in others—occupying honorable and profitable positions in secular callings. Some of our friends continue to remember us in their last will and testament. This feature of our work comes out more and more as it did in this late monthly meeting.

Hundreds of answers to a circular issued to the pastors of last spring's conference have been received which, in the main, have been of a very encouraging character and promise increased activity in the missionary cause. The Board advise that copies of the same circular should be forwarded to the pastors of the last fall's conferences. In all probability each one of them will have received a copy ere these remarks appear in print. The Board further advised certain attention to our S. nday-school and juvenile missionary auxiliaries. Of which they will hear in due time.

That Circular.

Many of our people will be glad to know the tenor of the "Circular" which the Board of Managers of the Missionary Society M. E. Church have caused to be sent to all our pastors. First we state to them the amount of missionary money which they reported last year, and how much that is per member—and then ask if in their judgment more can be done the current year. The Board then goes on to say: We are desirous of ascertaining to what extent the Disciplinary plan for collecting missionary money, as contained in the following provisions, is observed throughout the Church: 1. That each school be organized into a Missionary Society. Discipline, paragraph 258. 2. The pastor to act efficiently as Chairman of the Committee on Missions for his charge. Discipline, paragraph 204. 3. To provide for the diffusion of missionary intelligence to the Church and congregration. Discipline, paragraph 266. 4. To institute a monthly missionary concert. Discipline, paragraph 267. 5. To call, in person or by a collector, upon every person in the congregation for a contribution to missions, and to keep a record of the same in a book and report the same to the annual conference. Discipline, paragraphs 268, 269. 6. To preach at least once a year on the subject, and take a public collection, with special injunction to give a whole day to the cause of missions. Discipline, paragraph 270.

We would especially emphasize the seeing of every member of your Church and congregation who on the Sabbath fails to make his contribution. Personal appeals from the pastor and Missionary Committee are of the first importance. Let the objective point be to reach the last man in your congregation. The answers received from North East, South, and West are encouraging.

A Public School System Begging.

Georgia has a school population of 433,444, while the entire school fund of the State is only about $300,000. This gives only sixty-nine cents a head for the education of the children of that great State. The Constitution of the State says: "there shall be a thorough system of common schools for education of children in the elementary branches of English education only." Funds can be raised by taxing property, by a special tax on the sale of spirituous and malt liquors, and by a tax on dogs. The State Commissioner of Education, Mr. G. J. Orr, is appealing for the Moffett register in Georgia to raise money for school purposes.

The people of Tennessee will vote for or against the settlement of the State debt at fifty cents on the dollar.

Information Given.

The New Orleans Democrat of Saturday, April 19, published the following editorial:

The New York Christian Advocate is a religious paper; its editor, Dr. Fowler, is a minister, and president of the Northwestern University at Chicago, but, for all that, the most stalwart Radical in the land. Indeed, no Radical campaign paper has ever equalled the bitterness, vituperation and nastiness of the Advocate, which pretends to preach Christianity. It contains among other falsehoods a story of the murder of a minister, Mr. Todd, in Arkansas, for preaching the gospel and that another minister had been shut up in prison in the same State for the same offense. "We are tired of these assassinations," the letter winds up. If Hayes cannot protect the citizens of this country with his army, he will not find it difficult to find other armies where Lincoln found his help. "Ask and and you shall receive." It now turns out that the murdered Todd is alive, well and in good condition. The New York Christian Advocate and Okolona States would make a good match. Let them fight out this sectional question, while the rest of the country devotes itself to bettering its condition.

We request the editor of the Democrat, and all readers of the SOUTHWESTERN, to carefully read the letter from Arkansas, published on the first page of this paper. It gives full particulars of the shooting and subsequent pursuit of Rev. Wm. Todd by masked men, also his death, and that of his brother, in consequence. We are charitable enough to believe the editor of the Democrat will denounce this unprovoked crime, even if he does not acknowledge that his criticism of Dr. Fowler has been unnecessarily harsh, and due to erroneous statements of the facts in this case. We should take pleasure in republishing an editorial from the Democrat in these columns, to show that even a leading partisan paper can afford to be just and impartial.

The City.

The Governor having asked for specific reasons for the request, the Board of Health reconsidered its resolution asking him to remove Dr. Carrington from Quarantine Station.

The Democrat showed a commendable spirit of enterprise in giving the Presidents message complete the morning after its presentation to Congress. The other dailies contented themselves with a synopsis. The importance of the message, as well as justice to the President as a political opponent, seemed to require its full publication.

The Constitutional Convention.

SIXTH DAY.

The resolution of Judge Hough requiring members to take an oath to support the constitution of the United States, was tabled as unnecessary by a vote of 74 to 73.

Judge Lund, of Caddo, introduced a resolution declaring the sovereignty of the convention to impose any property, educational or poll tax qualification for the right of suffrage, to transfer the government of the State from the negro to the white race from whom it was taken by the constitution of 1868, which was referred to committee on judiciary.

Mr. Lagan proposed a financial scheme for the State to borrow $6,000,000 and buy up its funded debt at the present market value, and reissue bonds for the amount borrowed.

Mr. Pinchback moved that a committee be appointed to investigate the order of Mayor Patton, instructing the police to close colored churches, after 10 p. m. Referred to committee on bill of rights.

SEVENTH DAY.

Standing committees on judiciary, emigration and immigration, finance, and to investigate the State debt were appointed.

EIGHTH DAY.

The committee on debt and government of New Orleans was appointed.

The judiciary committee was increased to 21 members.

Resolutions to investigate State debt were referred. H. C. Warmoth, J. Madison, and W. P. Kellogg were mentioned as individual issuers of bonds, and not as Governors for the State.

NINTH DAY.

The committee on State debt was authorized to use compulsory process for attendance of witnesses.

TENTH DAY.

The committee on agriculture was appointed.

ELEVENTH DAY.

A resolution was adopted providing that the treasurer be ordered to pay the warrants of the convention from any general fund moneys in the treasury.

The Methodist Advocate of April 30, has this complimentary note on the SOUTHWESTERN of April 24th:

"The last number of the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE is one of the best papers ever issued from that office."

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

TEXAS.

J. H. Caruthers, Spring Hill: "Rev. J. Prince met the Sabbath-school, and catechised it. The average is 33."

Rev. H. Swann, Dallas: "Elder Madison held our quarterly conference nicely. Twenty persons came forward for prayers after his Sunday sermon. We are greatly encouraged."

Rev. Mack Henson, Austin: "My protracted meeting resulted in 1 conversion; 2 accessions. It is a pretty tough job to build up a new charge in some places, and this is one of them."

Rev. P. G. Brown, Fairfield: "I am doing the best I can. Conversions are satisfactory considering all disadvantages. The church was weakened by the death of its ex-pastor Bro. McDonald, but is now improving."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. George Washington, Woodlawn: "I am about to commence a protracted meeting. On the 27th 58 communed with us."

Rev. R. L. Beal, Cypremort: "The conference in placing Rev. J. Matlock over the La Teche District, has added another star in this State for the advancement of Methodism. We held the protracted effort two weeks. We have received 18 into full membership and 20 converts. We raised $262 55 cents. We paid $107 on church debt. The Lord has blessed us. Pray for us.

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. L. O. Crowder, Walthall Miss: "I would be glad to help brethren at Kosciusko, but I cannot do it. We are laboring under a burdensome debt ourselves."

J. Zentea, Hickory: "The elder and pastor in charge are welcomed by the people. Will do all we can for the missions."

W. B. Dantzler, Macon: "Our Church is in better spirit than ever before. Our pastor is highly esteemed. We have a beautiful Sabbath-school, with 48 in attendance."

The Impending Exodus.

The idea is too prevalent that papers effect but little, and that citizens can well afford to do without them. No more history than that of our own country is needed to correct this sad error. All our Fathers saw and asserted that virtue and intelligence were the only pillars on which our free government could stand. Washington's farewell address implies and expresses this from beginning to end. Had the virtuous intelligence published in our better journals before the war been received the terrible conflict had never come. Had the people but read and pondered the solid facts and just principles published in the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, the impending—yea existing—exodus of the mistreated colored citizens had never occurred. Even now it is seen by such as have ignorantly and rashly impelled it that the ADVOCATE pleads for the only true remedy. A cautious and rather timid leader in the Times of Tuesday last, concedes this. Politicians, dissimulations, and excuses, as that leader proclaims, can never stay the exodus nor arrest its impoverishing consequences. "To do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly," hold out the only lingering hope. But this sovereign remedy is suggested by such journals as the Times, even after the eleventh hour. Moses and his abused tribes are moving, and nearly all left for Pharoah and Host, is the impossibility to pursue. True, the desperate idea has been published of a called legislature to blockade the emigrants. "Whom the gods intend to destroy they first make mad."

While honesty and justice may not return the members already gone, nor even arrest those now resolved on going, still these virtues will bless all who remain. The wisdom is gathered from ages, inscribed as upon tables of stone, that honesty is not only the best but the only true policy. Any measure adverse to the golden rule, is spurious, unendurable, and in the end disastrous. Were it possible to crush truth and justice, they would rise again, while error and injustice must fail by their own weight with hope of resurrection only to shame and contempt.

As secession and war were the desperate means to destroy slavery, so this colored exodus may be the means of a second emancipation. Those who go will finally prosper, and those that stay will be treated better and therefore will do better. By this just policy, enough may remain and enough henceforth be brought into Louisiana, to more than recover from the serious draw-back now upon her. May the ADVOCATE—opposing all that is wrong and maintaining all that is right—aid in this and all other good works, and may other journals ... and do likewise. W. F...

Foreign Missions.

The Missionary Herald says of the bible house in Constantinople: "In this bible house both the American, British and Foreign bible societies have their offices, here the missionaries meet, here the Scriptures have been translated into the many tongues of the empire, here a prayer meeting is held each day at noon, here people of all nationalities—American, English, Scotch, Greek, Armenian, Bulgarian, Turkish—are engaged in preparing a Christian literature, including four weekly newspapers in as many languages, to be scattered throughout every portion of Turkey. May the glory of the Lord fill this house!"

Bro. B. A. Carlson, Presiding Elder of Stockholm district, Sweden Conference, writes: "If we have attentively and continually looked at the work of our church in Sweden from its beginning to the present time, and seen all the dreadful heavy seas breaking over her, we must be astonished that our church has a mission in this country. Indeed, we have still some fright to endure, but we trust in the Lord and look for a good result through the direction of Almighty God. [illegible] power is small, but we hope [illegible] will increase by the grace of [illegible].

I am glad to say that the work of [illegible] is progressing in the district of Stockholm. During the past [illegible] we have had powerful revivals [illegible] many of our congregations, [illegible] 400 persons have united [illegible] church. Respecting the [illegible] state, our cause has had [illegible] some degree, though we [illegible] most pressing time. As [illegible] state of our people [illegible] any thing thereof; [illegible] best hope that our [illegible] true godliness, though [illegible] that many are [illegible] but little of [illegible] of our Church and of [illegible]"

[illegible] Maclay writes [illegible] Japan, March 11, [illegible] safely and in [illegible] 6th inst., and [illegible] and Sis- [illegible] work. Bro. [illegible] to start on [illegible] country, [illegible] the recent [illegible] is now [illegible]

Sunday School and Theological Institute for West Texas Conference.

The West Texas Conference at its last session resolved to hold a Sunday-school and Theological convention some time during the present summer, for the benefit of all the traveling and local preachers and Sunday-school superintendents throughout the conference.

The Four Presiding Elders were appointed a committee to fix the time and place for such a convention, and to secure speakers and instructors and arrange the programme.

The committee met and agreed that it was best to hold two conventions instead of one—as the conference was so large.

The San Antonio District and Columbus District will meet together at San Antonio, August 28th. The session is expected to last a week.

The Austin District and Dallas District will meet together near the same time. The time and place will be published hereafter. The same programme will be observed by both conventions. The morning session of each day will be devoted entirely to Sunday-school work. The following subjects will be discussed.

1. How to organize.
2. How to secure attendance of parents, especially those who cannot read.
3. How to retain the young people.
4. How to conduct Bible classes.
5. How to conduct primary classes.
6. How to handle the whole school together and conduct a general review.
7. Teachers' meetings.
8. Sunday-school books and helps.
9. Sunday-school missionary societies.
10. Pastors relation to Sunday-school.
11. What is meant by the question asked in quarterly conference. "Have the rules respecting the instruction of children been complied with?"

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Systematic and careful instruction in the doctrines of the Bible as taught by the M. E. Church.

1. The fall of man.
2. The atonement.
3. Justification by faith.
4. Christian perfection.
5. Baptism.
6. The Lord's supper.

In preparing for examination on these subjects, preachers should study Binney's Theological Compend and Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection. Also read Wakefield's Theology.

Each one of the traveling and local preachers are requested to prepare an essay before they come to the convention, on some one of the six theological subjects laid down in the programme.

The essay should be a plain concise statement of the doctrine as you understand it, and not be longer than you can read in from five to eight minutes.

Night sessions, mass meetings in the interest of missions, temperance, education, and the promotion of holiness.

G. W. RICHARDSON,
Secretary of Committee.

Letter From Columbus.

DEAR EDITOR.—Our second [illegible] meeting has just closed. [illegible] with us Rev. G. W. Richardson, presiding elder of San [illegible] District, who has exchanged [illegible] our own beloved presiding [illegible] Cooper for the second round. [illegible] Richardson's presence at the [illegible] meetings on this district, [illegible] as I can learn from the [illegible] has been a blessing to [illegible] and people by stirring [illegible] preachers to more thorough [illegible] for their pulpit work, [illegible] by guiding them in their [illegible] of books for their course [illegible]; and to the people by [illegible] temperance, education [illegible] living. Our quarterly [illegible] a real success. The [illegible] reports in quarterly [illegible] showed that our organi- [illegible] complete, and every [illegible] of our church work [illegible] than ever before. [illegible] Sunday-school, [illegible] on to Per- [illegible] the lecture [illegible] has left us [illegible] than ever to [illegible] department of [illegible] the good [illegible]

Sunday School.

May 11, 1879.—THE SAVIOUR'S CALL.
SCRIPTURE.—Is. 55: 1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT.—"If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink."—John 7: 37.
TOPIC.—A Free Salvation.
[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.]

Preliminary.—In our last lesson, it was prophesied that the suffering servant, in spite of the fact that he was cut off out of the land of the living, should have a great spiritual posterity. The kingdom of grace was not to have the narrow boundaries of the kingdom of Israel. Chapter liii. sets forth the Redeemer chapter liv. the church he has redeemed, and the present chapter gives an invitation to every one to become a member of that church.

V. 1. Ho, every one that thirsteth. The image here brought up is that of a man who stands by a fountain calling earnestly to the caravan of weary travelers, who toil by in the hot sun ready to perish with thirst. Such is the Lord Jesus Christ, and the water he offers is of the kind of which if a man shall drink he shall never thirst again. One would think that there would be no one but that would gladly avail himself of such an invitation. But, alas, there are but few who hear, and who turn aside to drink of this wonderful spring. "I have called, and ye refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded." Pr. 1: 14.

From the statements of the preceding chapter, it is evident that "every one" was meant, no one must hesitate on account of his nationality. There is only one condition—and that is that he is thirsty. "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely." Rev. 21: 6.

He hath no money. This follows the beneficent rule that the most necessary things in life are absolutely free. Come ye, buy and eat. For the soul there is food as well as drink. Buy wine and milk. The gospel has that in it which stimulates and cheers as well as nourishes. In the realm of the soul, the Spirit takes the place of wine. "And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess," says Paul, "but be filled with the Spirit." Eph. 5: 18. In that is a delight far preferable to any physical intoxication. In the Word of God we obtain the milk that here we are exhorted to buy "As new born babies, desire the sincere milk of the Word, that ye may grow thereby." 1 Pet. 2: 2. Without money and without price

V. 2. Wherefore do ye spend your money for which is not bread? The world is spending all of its energies, all of its wealth of soul, on that which is "no-bread." And you labor for that which satisfieth not? Let us put along with that the injunction of Christ: "Labor not for meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the son of man shall give unto you. John 6: 27.

Hearken diligently. Eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness. That food is "the bread of life." "I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst." John 6: 35.

V. 3. Incline your ear, and come. 1. Hear God's words. 2. Seek God's face. The first indicates faith—the second repentance and forsaking of evil. And your sin shall live. Away from God it is not living, but is dead in trespasses and sins. I will make an everlasting covenant with you. God wants to enter into no temporary agreement. God promises to be to him an everlasting friend, a counselor, helper, instructor and guide. Even the sure mercies of David. This is explanatory of the "everlasting covenant" which God desires to consummate. It is that David should have a son that should sit on his throne forever.

V. 4. I have given him for a witness. Not David, but Christ. He was a witness to the truth. John 18: 37.

V. 5. Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not. So Ps. 18: 43: "Thou hast made me the head of the heathen; a people whom I know not shall serve me." And nations that know not thee shall run unto thee. Nations that did not know Christ when he was alive. They now are all the while coming to him.

V. 6. Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near. In finding the Lord there is a condition of time. The opportunity for repentance is limited. Just where that limitation ends, it is not for us to say, nor wise for any one to explore. It is sufficient that there is a boundary. [illegible] anyhow at death—it may [illegible] of it.

V. 7. Let the wicked forsake his [illegible] the man of iniquity his [illegible] return unto the [illegible] with [illegible] many [illegible] upon him; and to God, for he will abundantly pardon.

"None of his sins that he hath committed shall be mentioned unto him." Ezek. 33: 16. His pardon is "abundant." It is able to cover all offenses. Man's patience soon reaches its limit. It is well for us that we fall into the hands of a merciful God rather than into the hands of revengeful man.

Vs. 10, 11. In these two verses is a beautiful comparison—so beautiful that it is difficult to touch it without marring. In the summer the rain refreshes the earth, and in the winter the snow is the "treasure-house of the spring." What the earth would be without rain or snow the heart is without the reviving influences that come from heaven directly from God.

General News Items.

General Grant arrived in Hong Kong in good health.

In Chicago 38 guns were fired in honor of the President's veto.

The Sanitary Council of the Mississippi valley organized at Memphis.

Forty-nine failures of business houses of New York were recorded in April.

Marriages.

In Coffeeville, April 24, by Rev. D. A. Williams, of Grenada, Mr. J. E. Evans of Grenada to Miss Ollie Miller of Coffeeville. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. Louis Napoleon.

April 17, 1879, by Rev. D. A. Williams Mr. J. M. Golden to Miss Maggie Harrison. Both of Grenada. Mr. Golden is one of our best young men. May they so live in this life that in the world to come they may have everlasting life.

At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ella Taylor, Mr. William McKinney and Miss Susie Parker were joined together in holy wedlock. The parlor was crowded to its utmost capacity with invited guests, and all made happy at the sight of the pair. Miss Parker is an earnest worker of our Sabbath-school. May they live long and happy. The pair have moved to San Antonio, Texas, to live. We miss Mrs. McKinney in the Sabbath-school so much, but as Mr. McKinney's business calls him we must part. May the Lord smile on them. GEORGE W. SMITH.
Columbus, Texas, April 29th, 1879.

Deaths.

Sister Judy Eattenhead, one of our faithful members, died March 6, in full triumph of faith.
R. HAYES, pastor.
Coffeedallah, Miss.

Narcise Starks died April 28th. She had professed religion on the 13th and made her peace with God.
J. P. GREGG, P. E.
Springfield, Tenn., April 30.

Catherine Burton died April 26. She was formerly a member of Wesley Chapel of New Orleans, and supposed to be forty-five years of age. WM. A. PRIMUS, Pastor.
Lake Providence, La., April 26, 1879.

On the 22d of April, sister Martha Jarett, a member of Asbury Chapel, departed this life. She will be greatly missed. J. M. S.
Holly Springs, Miss., May 2, 1879.

Rev. Calvin R. Vann, aged 23, formerly a student in the Central Tennessee College, was taken sick with pneumonia, while visiting a brother and sister at the college, and after a brief illness died in peace on the 21st of April 1879. He was a faithful, studious, quiet student, and a true Christian. He was a thoughtful preacher and promised a useful life to the Church, as it was his aim to fit himself for the work of the ministry. His life work has suddenly terminated here, and his life is the best evidence that he has entered into rest. J. BRADEN.
Central Tenn. College, April 25, 1879.

New Books.

JOY BELLS. By W. A. Ogden. W. W. Whitney, publisher, Toledo, Ohio.

A recent contribution of sacred music for Sunday-schools, by favorite authors. It is of the usual style, with 160 pages. Mr. Ogden prepared the "Crown of Life."

New Publications.

The National Sunday School Teacher is full of good things on the lessons and other matter of interest and profit to Sunday-school people. The Scholar's Weekly, The National Quarterly, and the illustrated Little Folks for infant classes, came with the May number. Chicago: Adams, Blackmer, & Lyon Publishing Co.

El Abogado Cristiano Ilustrado.—The April number of this paper—the Christian Advocate of our Church and mission work in Mexico—is full of excellent editorial and selected reading matter; its half dozen wood cut illustrations adding greatly to its attractions for the youthful reader. Dr. Butler and his four colaborers at the City of Mexico have grandly inaugurated this Christian work in that country. The paper at hand has, among others, a statistical article upon the comparative missions, domestic and foreign, of the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches of this country and the world. A good article on the Pope's encyclical, a leader upon the pernicious influence of the theater; a sermon—one of a series—of D. L. Moody upon Joshua, and other instructive selections we have not space to enumerate. Success to El Abogado Cristiano in Mexico!

Doctors Gave Him Up.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! If that is so, I will go this minute and get some for my poor George. I know hops are good."

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 5, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	10½@—
Ordinary	—a 10¾
Good Ordinary	—@11
Low Middling	—@11¼
Middling	—@11½
Good Middling	—@12¼
SUGAR—
Common	5 @ 5½
Strictly Prime	6½@ 6¾
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7¼
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	34@ —
Common	27@ 28
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14¼
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$9 75
New	11 00
BACON—
Shoulders	4¼@ 4½
Clear Rib Sides	5¼@ 5½
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	.. to 9 50
Choice Extra Western	.. to12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	8½@ 9½
Choice	9½ a 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$3 75 to 4 00
Extra	4 25 to 4 50
Double Extra	4 75 to 5 00
Family	5 25 to 5 50
Choice Fancy	5 75 to 6 00
LARD—
Refined	7½ a 8
BUTTER..
New York Creamery, fine	20 to —
New York Dairy, fine	17 to 18
New York Dairy, good	14 to 16
Western, fine	13 to 14
Western Dairy	13 to 15
CHEESE..
Western Reserve	7 to 8
Chicago	6½ to 7
Factory, poor	2 to 4
New York Cream	10 to 10½
POULTRY—℔ doz.
Old Chickens	4 00 to 5 00
Young do	2 50 to 3 50
Ducks	2 50 to 3 50
Geese	4 00 to 5 00
Turkeys	16 00 to 18 00
EGGS—℔ doz.
Western	10 to 12
Louisiana	12 to 14
POTATOES—℔ bbl.
New Louisiana	4 50 to 4 75
Western	— to 3 25
SWEET POTATOES—℔ bbl.	1 75 to 1 90
CABBAGES..per crate	3 25 to 3 75
BRAN—℔ cwt.	— to 75
HAY—℔ bale
Prime	13 50 to 16 00
Choice	17 00 to 17 00
WOOL..
Burry	— to —
Louisiana Clear	18 to 19
Lake	20 to 21
CORN MEAL—℔ bbl.	— to 2 25
GRITS..
Choice Western	2 80 to 2 85
CORN—℔ bu.
Mixed	47 to 48
White	56 to —
Yellow	48 to 50
COW PEAS..℔ bu
Choice Clay	1 45 to 1 50
Mixed	1 30 to 1 36
SALT..
Liverpool per sack	90 to 1 35
Turk's Island, per bu	27 to 40
Pockets	1½ to 7
FISH..
Mackerel, ℔ kit	55 to 1 10
Codfish ℔ quarter box	— to 1 10
Herring ℔ box	— to 30
Salmon ℔ kit	— to 2 00
HIDES—
Steer hides over 85 lbs. ℔ lb	— to 6½
Steer hides, 70 to 84 lbs, do.	— to 7
Steer hides under 70 lbs, do.	— to 5½
Cow hides, as they run, do.	— to 5½
Kips, 20 to 24 lbs, ℔ lb	— to 7
Kips, 25 " 30 " " "	— to 6½
Calf skins, each	50 to 75
Country hides, flint 25 lbs	10 to 11
Country hides, damaged	half price
Beeswax, prime yellow ℔ lb	20 to 21
Ox horns, each	— to 6
Tallow, ℔ lb	6 to 6½

Quarterly Conferences.

The White River District Conference will convene at Rich Woods, Lonoke circuit, May 29, at 9 o'clock a. m.
ISAAC O. POLLARD, P. E.
Little Rock, April 30, 1879. 19-20

Gulf (Miss.) District.
SECOND ROUND.

Crystal Springs, May 14-15; Hazlehurst, May 17-18; Brookhaven, May 21-22; New Hope, May 24-25; Union Church, May 28-29; Fayette, May 31 and June 1; Hamburg, June 4-5; Meadville, June 7-8; Liberty, June 10-11; Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, June 17-18; Handsboro and Ocean Springs, June 19-20; Pascagoula, June 21-22; Augusta, June 24-25; Columbia, June 28-29; China Grove, June 30 and July 1; Simpson, July 5-6.

The brethren of the Gulf District will please take particular notice as to the dates on which their quarterly meetings will be held, so that there will be no more disappointments. J. CAMPBELL, P. E.
Brookhaven, Miss., April 29, 1879. 19-20

Murfreesboro (Tenn.) District.
THIRD ROUND.

Murfreesboro Station, May 31 and June 1; Alexandria, June 7-8; Cainnafork, June 14-15; Summerville Circuit, June 21-22; North Lebanon, June 29-30; Murfreesboro Circuit, July 5-6; Woodberry, July 12-13; Shelbyville, July 19-20; Cookville, July 26-27; Sparta, August 2-3; McMinnville, August 9-10; Stone River Circuit, August 16-17; Martin Creek, August 23-24.
19-20 B. B. MANSON, P. E.

Meridian (Miss.) District.
SECOND ROUND.

Shuqualak, May 10-11; ExPrairie, May 17-18; Brooksville, May 21-22; Macon, May 24-25; Mashulaville, May 27-28; Louisville, May 31 and June 1; DeKalb, June 7-8; Philadelphia, June 10-11; Daleville, June 14-15; Lauderdale, June 16-17; Meridian Circuit, June 18-19; Shubuta, June 21-22; Shubuta Circuit, June 24-25; Waynesborough, June 26-27; State Line, June 28-29; DeSoto, July 5-6; Enterprise Circuit, July 8 9; Enterprise, July 12-13; Claiborne, July 15-16; Paulding, July 19-20; Garlandsville, July 22-23; Hickory, July 26-27; Meridian, August 2-3.
19-20 J. W. DUNN, P. E.

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates.
Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.
Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.
The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,
TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.
For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Oabrell Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kazieh Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committee on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

Ecclesiastical Law
—AND—
Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.
—BY—
HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.
8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases. . . . . . .

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work, and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may Obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fullness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have make this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

Shaw University!

The present collegiate year of the Shaw University will close on Wednesday, May 28th. The examination of classes will begin on Thursday 22d and continue from day to day till the 28th.

On Sabbath morning, the 25th, at 10:30 will be held the Student's Love-feast; and at 3 P. M., the Annual Sermon will be preached by Rev. L. Bradford.

On Monday evening the anniversary exercises of the Literary Societies will take place in the college chapel. The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at 2 P. M., Tuesday, in room No. 3 of the college building. In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the school will give its annual exhibition. On Wednesday evening will be held the Student's Sociable.

All friends of the School are cordially invited to be present at all the exercises. All members of the Board of Trustees are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting of that body. Respectfully,
W. W. HOOPER.
Holly Springs, Miss., May 3, 1879.

FARM GRIST MILLS AND CORN-SHELLERS. Over 25,000 Now in Use. Every machine is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or no pay. Price of mills, $12; Shellers, $5. Every Farmer should have them. Send for illustrated circulars and terms to agents. Address, LIVINGSTON & Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.
19 2t eow.

AGENTS WANTED for the Best and Fastest Selling Pictorial Books and Bibles. Prices reduced 33 per cent. Address National Publishing Co., Phila., Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo. 19 2t.

AGENTS WANTED For DR. MARCH'S Great Work FROM DARK TO DAWN. A magnificent NEW BOOK just from the press. Address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.
n15 7t eowl

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
n19 1yl

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about	$8 00

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878–9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
Marshall, Texas,
n49 tf

Central Tennessee College

Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygiene will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity
For a Liberal Education,
CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES
besides the First Steps in
Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month, Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are every where sought after. For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, Holly Springs, Miss.
n6 tf

West Texas Conference
SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—central for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, competent, Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 00
Intermediate " "	1 50
Higher " "	2 00
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, President.
Rev. O. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st.
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.
mer63m

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SEWING MACHINES
Cheap for Cash.

We have some Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf New Orleans.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what each music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $6 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

The New Hymnal

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each	40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each	50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each	50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each	75 "
Morocco, gilt edges	$1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual,

Cloth, each	75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper,	$1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges	1 50

12 mo.

☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.
Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Sheep, each	$1 50
Roan, embossed	2 00

12mo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each	$1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper,	$1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges	2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

BOOKS
—FOR—
Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 40); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield; a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY. M. LARA.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containing about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

AN ELEGANT IMPORTED VIOLIN For only [illegible]

[illegible] C. W. [illegible]

You Can Learn [illegible]
Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. [illegible] this a humbug write for [illegible] and we will send, free, [illegible] satisfy the most skeptical. A. C. [illegible]
n12 tf

60 Chromos [illegible]

[illegible] Folks' Corner.

[illegible]AYING HER WAY.

[illegible] my darling been doing to-day,
[illegible] her washing and mending?
[illegible] manage to keep out of debt
[illegible] much caressing and tending?
[illegible] I wait till the years shall have [illegible]
[illegible] the hands have grown larger and [illegible]
[illegible] be able the interest to pay,
[illegible] debt runs many years longer?

[illegible] How they fly to my side!
[illegible] arms my neck are carressing,
[illegible] of kisses are laid on my cheek;
[illegible] my shoulder is pressing,
[illegible] at all from my darling is due—
[illegible] may angels defend her—
[illegible] discharged as fast as 'tis made,
[illegible] love is a legal tender!

Cricket's Sunbeam.

BY FRANCES C. SPARHAWK.

Cricket's mamma was sick. At [illegible] thought the child often grew [illegible] in the midst of her play, and [illegible] when mamma would be [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Flitner was well [illegible] to go about freely again, [illegible] a week of sharp east [illegible] She felt that every [illegible] was a loss to her, and [illegible] a loss of cheerful[illegible] complained, perhaps too [illegible] having been able to [illegible] long a time, never [illegible] her little child suffered [illegible]

[illegible] to-morrow," she cried [illegible] "I certainly shall [illegible] go to buffets." [illegible] upon the lounge at [illegible] said this, while [illegible] nestling [illegible] in hers. [illegible] little five-year-old [illegible] was only a quotation [illegible] She heard the [illegible] she could only [illegible] the words meant [illegible] sick mamma. [illegible] found her [illegible] window with [illegible] her little [illegible] she held [illegible] for silence, [illegible] moment, allowed [illegible] But the [illegible] why she was [illegible] she burst into [illegible] you needn't [illegible] go to ride. [illegible] I've brought [illegible] Cricket? [illegible] a nice [illegible] to be had for nothing. Success is not thrust upon a man. If you want any good, you must work for it. The eye that never falters, and the nerve that never quails, are the true elements of victory in the mental and the moral, as well as the physical world. Don't skip the hard point.

[illegible]

A noble boy of fourteen recently lost his life at Lansingburg, N. Y. A host of young friends were skating together, when he and a little girl of twelve skated into an air hole. He held her up until he was exhausted calling for help, then with the words: "Hold on to the ice, Cora, I'm going, good bye," he sank and was drowned. She clung fast until she was rescued. He could have saved himself, but with real heroism preferred to save his little playmate.

The Candle Fish.

There is a little fish of the North Pacific Ocean known as the Candle-fish. It is the fattest of known fishes. Dry it, touch its tail to the fire, and it will burn with a bright flame until consumed. A wick of woody fiber runs through it, making it a veritable candle. The fish is also used for food. The first shoals in March are greeted with extravagant joy by the Indians.

A baker has just been arrested in Berlin for making a gingerbread caricature of Prince Bismarck, and the child who ate it was taking into the back yard and solemnly spanked for assimilating democratic ideas. The police are now on the trail of socialistic propaganda in barley and sugar, and have made some important seizures of subversive gum drops.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

A Good Rule.

A distinguished writer says: "I resolved, when I was a child, never to use a word which I could not pronounce before my mother without offending her." He kept his resolution, became a pure-minded, noble, honored gentleman. His rule and example are worthy of imitation.

A Wise Investment.

BY REV. C. C. M'CABE.

The injunction of silence concerning a noble deed has been removed by the death of Miss Mary Garrettson. Her attention was called to the marvelous work of the Board of Church Extension by her pastor and friend, Rev. Andrew Hunt. The Loan Fund feature of the work pleased her exceedingly. She sent Dr. Kynett a draft for twenty thousand dollars, stipulating that no name should be given to this fund publicly until after her death, and then it should bear the name of her honored father, Rev. Freeborn Garrettson. This fund has been known hitherto as the "Memorial Fund," and bears the motto, "He being dead yet speaketh."

On page one hundred and one of the recent annual will be found a statement of what has been accomplished with the money. This board has aided thirty-six churches with it. It has collected ten thousand five hundred dollars of these loans, and has used, therefore, thirty thousand five hundred dollars in aid of building houses of worship. These churches are worth nearly a quarter of a million of dollars, and furnish sittings for twelve thousand five hundred people to hear the gospel of Jesus. [illegible] fund has not been and will not [illegible] by expenses of any [illegible] The time will come when the [illegible] record will be repeated. [illegible] a few years more than one [illegible] churches will illustrate [illegible] vast power for good of this fund [illegible] be perpetually returned [illegible] treasury to be used again [illegible]

[illegible] Garrettson was not able to [illegible] a box without an in[illegible] it. During the few [illegible] remained to her after [illegible] was made, the board [illegible] necessity,—for which [illegible] to draw upon the [illegible]

[illegible] this movement, more [illegible] marble, [illegible] of the illustri[illegible] and his [illegible] ministry, and togeth[illegible] they will [illegible] coming home to [illegible] churches erected [illegible] instrumentality. [illegible] follow them."

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

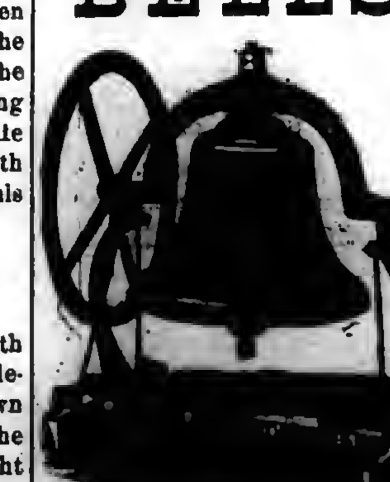
Overwhelming evidence of their superiority over all other plasters. It is everywhere recommended by Physicians, Druggists and the Press.

The manufacturers received a special award and the only medal given for porous plasters at the Centennial Exposition, 1876, at the Paris Exposition, 1878.

Their great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once.

Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, or any local pain or ache should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. Price 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches....	175 lbs......	325 lbs........	$40 00
28 inches....	225 lbs......	375 lbs........	50 00
32 inches....	350 lbs......	550 lbs........	75 00
36 inches....	550 lbs......	800 lbs........	110 00
40 inches....	750 lbs......	1050 lbs........	150 00
44 inches....	1000 lbs......	1350 lbs........	200 00
48 inches....	1300 lbs......	1800 lbs........	250 00
54 inches....	2100 lbs......	2900 lbs........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC
OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,
DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE
will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper. —:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

If you want a new Sunday School Song Book select from Messrs. Biglow & Main's list, which you will find occupying this space in the next issue of this paper. When ordering, please mention the fact that you saw this Advertisement in the Southwestern Christian Advocate.

FOR SALE!

A First-class Five-Horse Power Upright

[illegible] Engine,

[illegible] MAKE.

[illegible] at this office.

[illegible] Offered.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and reacher in charge should have one. Price........$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price........$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price........40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price........$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price........$1 50

One Hundred Years o Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existance. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price........$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price........$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price........$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price........$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price........$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price........$1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price........$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo........$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo........1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo........2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price........$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost........$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors, 2. Record of Classes, 3. Record of official members, 4. Alphabetical record of full members, 5. Record of probationers, 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price........$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each........25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price........$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good.
Price, per dozen........$1 50.
Large size, each........20.
Large and illuminated, each........25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred........$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100........$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100........$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100........$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100........$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100........$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100........$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100........$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000........$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100........$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100........$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100........$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb're'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100........75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price........$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price........$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price........$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price........$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price........1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price........1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries, Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price........$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

I. [illegible] Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 50.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price........$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics, delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

LORD & TAYLOR,
NEW YORK.
Opening Spring Display
OF
NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold. Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scalloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $5; One quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50; Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.95.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us their regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

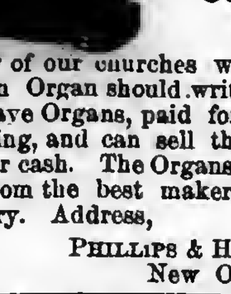
n14 apl3 2m

CHURCH ORGANS,



Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

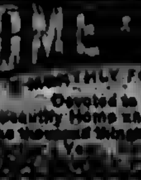
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf] New Orleans.

Indexical Silver Soap.

For Cleansing and Polishing Silver and Plated Ware, Window Glass, Mirrors, Marble, Paint, etc. This is the most convenient and effective preparation for these purposes ever offered to the public. It may be used even by inexperienced help with entire safety, as it contains nothing that can possibly injure the finest plate or jewelry. Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware have used this soap, and have given it their unqualified approval.

CAUTION.—The original and only genuine Silver Soap is known world wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, and is the only proper thing to use for cleaning Silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by

ROBINSON BROS & CO.,
n10 12t] Boston, Mass.



[illegible] BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
mar 20 1y

HOME ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL [illegible]
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive, [illegible]

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

THE GREAT
JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with
STEEL RAILS!

Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS

180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
63 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

Dr. J. M. Howe's
Inhaling Tube!
—AND—
COMMON AIR, WILL CURE CONSUMPTION IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

Send for Circular. The Tube, with full directions, postpaid. Sent on receipt of $3.50, or call at his residence, Passaid, N. J.

The Rev. N. N. Beers, of the M. E. Church Wayne, Steuben Co., N. Y., writes:

It is now nearly thirty years since I commenced the inhalation of the common air under your instructions, and I have undiminished confidence in it as a remedy for consumption and other throat and lung diseases. It is in harmony with Nature's laws. I have now been preaching twenty-seven years since my recovery from a condition of tuberculosis, in which a council of physicians said it was impossible for me to live longer than three months. My lungs to-day are as sound as any man's can possibly be.

Yours affectionately, N. N. BEERS.

The Rev. B. M. Adams, of the N. Y. East M. E. Conference, says:

I thank the Lord that I ever saw you. The Inhaling Tube I obtained of you almost twenty years ago has been a wonderful blessing to me, and I am glad, through my recommendation, to many. I think Schureman Halsted's life was lengthened years by it. His chest enlarged, although he was over fifty years old when he commenced using it and he led the Lord's battles with a shout long after the doctors told him he must stop. Many other dear friends of mine have had their lives lengthened by its use.

From Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., of the Sunday-school Publications of the Church.

I have used your Tube at times for several years, and have unbounded faith in its philosophy. n2 79 tf.

Worthy of Close Reading by Women

TEN YEARS OF FEARFUL AGONISING SUFFERING CURED BY THE USE OF Swaims Panacea
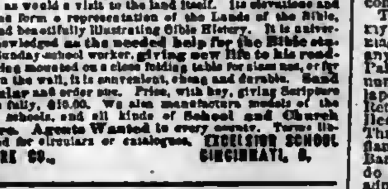
40 pieces of bone as Relics

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

Mrs. Dugan, No. 909 Dauphin St., Philadelphia, one of the most respectable ladies of that city, is not only willing, but desirous, to state for the information of any of her sex that they may know what remedy availed her after agonising suffering for ten long years (in which the disease, beginning one month after marriage, originating from no fault of hers, ravaged her entire system, and gradually spreading until she had 30 Ulcers at one time on one arm, and 20 on the other; having lost all the fingers on one hand, they rotting off; one parent dying broken hearted witnessing her suffering; she having had some sixteen physicians of Philadelphia, and the disease defying their skill,) that she found in SWAIM'S PANACEA the remedy she needed. In a few months after beginning on it she gained over 55 lbs. in weight, her ulcers all healed, and she has now some 40 pieces of bones as relics. She is in splendid health and returns grateful thanks to almighty God that she was directed to the use of this remedy! Pamphlets furnished gratis on application to Dr. Franklin Stewart, Swaim's Laboratory, 113 South Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.
n17 t

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
13 1y

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors' 15c.
n16 13t] LYMAN & CO. Clintonville, Ct.

Plantation Hardware,
Agricultural Implements
—AND—
MACHINERY,

Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,
AT LOW PRICES
Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOTTHERN AGENT FOR
Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

B. J. WEST,
115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we so'd 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n9 1y

FOUND AT LAST.

SURE CURE [illegible] Cold in the Head, Stoppage of the Nasal Passages, and all kindred complaints resulting from Colds and Exposure.

The Late ELDER BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Says of this remedy in the American Christian Review, of Oct. 26th 1871: "We call attention to 'DOBYNS' SURE CURE' as a voluntary thing, and not for pay. We have been greatly troubled with Catarrh of the head for ten years, and now after using the 'DOBYNS' SURE CURE' about three months, we [illegible] We have given 'DOBYNS' SURE CURE' to others, as we have been in public nearly all the time, and it has invariably given relief."

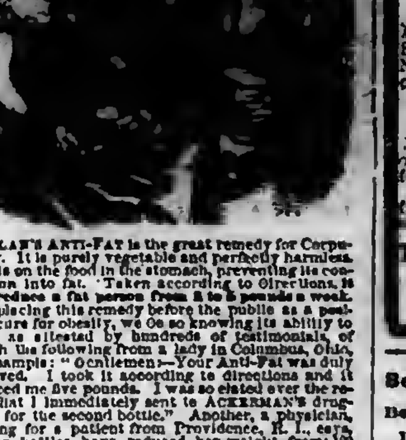
Rev. O. Fritz, No. [illegible] Street, Cincinnati, O., March 11, 1879, says: "I have tried the 'DOBYNS' SURE CURE' and find it to be just what you recommend it."

The medicine itself is the best testimonial. Buy and try it. [illegible] reach, and a very small outlay will convince you that 'DOBYNS' SURE CURE' possesses almost Magical Curative Powers. It is perfectly simple and harmless, is convenient to carry and use at all times, and its good effects quickly follow the very first application.

Each box contains sufficient to last one month, and in many cases has been enough to perform a complete cure. Our circular, containing a list of some of the most remarkable cures performed by this simple remedy, will be mailed free of charge to all applicants. We send "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" by mail postage-paid for One Dollar per Box or Three boxes for Two Dollars. In remitting by P. O. Order get them payable at North Middletown, Ky. In ordering write your Name, Post-office, County and State plainly, and your orders will receive prompt attention. Address all orders to the proprietors,

DOBYNS & MITCHELL, North Middletown, Bourbon Co., Ky.
n17 4t

ANTI-FAT



ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drugstore for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 192 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

TRUTHS.
HOP BITTERS,
(A Medicine, not a Drink,)
CONTAINS
HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,
AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints and Drunkenness.

$1000 IN GOLD

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and free books, and try the Bitters before you sleep. Take no other.

The Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief is the Cheapest, Surest and Best.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Best Sewing Machine in the World.

Beautiful, Durable, Strong, Silent. — TRIAL AT HOME — Swift, Simple, Light, Easy.

AUTOMATIC

NOISELESS SEWING MACHINE.

The great popularity of this machine has induced dealers in common tension machines to claim automatic and other features belonging exclusively to us. Examine and judge for yourself before purchasing.

W.&G. Every genuine needle is thus stamped. Buy no other. Needles, &c., sent by mail.
Pat. May 19, 1861.

Send for Illustrated Leaflet and Descriptive Circular.

WILLCOX & GIBBS S. M. CO.,
(Cor. Bond St.) 658 Broadway, New York.
n9 eow tf

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v16 n49 1y

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S
BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom, safely by mail, at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture—60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.
n7 10teow

THE TAMPICO BUSTS
now used in
DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSET
and Skirt Supporter are the greatest improvement ever made in Corsets. They are soft as velvet, very flexible and [illegible]
The FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (120 bones) [illegible] Warranted not to break over the hips. Price, [illegible]
For Sale by leading Merchants.
WARNER BRO'S,
351 Broadway, New York.
n11 tf eow

X Cancer

Cured by Dr. [illegible]

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 20. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 354.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,

39 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

[illegible]	8 cents
[illegible] (4 times)	7 "
[illegible] (12 times)	6 "
[illegible]	5 "
[illegible]	4 "
[illegible]	25 "
Special notices	8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:
[illegible] Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

STRENGTH.

BY CHARLES F. RICHARDSON.

[illegible] power that shaped the everlasting hills
[illegible] nerve with ghostly strength the Christian's arm.
[illegible] His servants' hope fulfils,
[illegible] bids them onward go, secure from harm.

[illegible] defend us not, our strength shall fail,
[illegible] set about with all that man can [illegible]
[illegible] by God, the weakest shall not [illegible]
[illegible] shall arise, the dead shall live.

[illegible] we wait for some great crucial day,
[illegible] we seek in God's defense to stand;
[illegible] the sweeping planets on their way,
[illegible] His little children by the hand.
—Zion's Herald.

The Exodus.

[illegible] STOP THE EXODUS.

[illegible] Christian Advocate [illegible] S. C. leads the [illegible] press in a clear [illegible] of the duty [illegible] the negro, as [illegible] the Exodus. That [illegible] the inevitability of [illegible] make the best [illegible] can. [illegible] rights. Let [illegible]. It is not [illegible] of our [illegible] these [illegible] to create [illegible] opinion as to [illegible] for the rest [illegible] disturb [illegible]

[illegible] part of many colored people, produced by insidious reports circulated among them, that their civil and political rights are endangered or are likely to be.

Fifth—Hurtful and false rumors, diligently disseminated, that by emigrating to Kansas, colored people would obtain lands, mules and money from the government, without cost to themselves and become independent forever

Many retail country storekeepers are engaged in the business of selling whiskey to laborers and tenants, whereby their morals have been corrupted, their labor rendered insufficent, and the pleasant relations between them and their landlords and employers destroyed. It is a matter of astonishment to your committee that the colored people could be induced to credit the idle stories circulated of a promised land where their wants could be supplied and their independence secured without exertion on their part. It was going to the extent of ignorance and credulity to credit them, and yet evidence of an undoubted character was furnished your committee as to this matter. It is one of the factors in the movement.

There are in the State of Mississippi alone, 5,500,000 acres of land belonging to the United States now subject to homestead entries. Any thrifty colored man in the South can pre-empt 160 acres of this land, at moderate cost—about $18. Lands in Kansas cannot be acquired for less, in no part of the civilized world can unskilled labor secure larger return, by honest toil, than among us; but idleness, accompanied by extravagance, produces suffering and want here as elsewhere. The committee believe that the legislation of our States should be shaped so as to foster habits of industry among the colored people, elevate the standard of social morals and improve and preserve our common school system.

Resolved, That the interest of planters, laborers, landlords and tenants are indentical; that they must prosper or suffer together; it is the duty of planters and landlords of the States here represented to devise and adopt a contract system with laborers and tenants, by which both parties will receive full benefit of labor, governed by intelligence and economy.

Resolved, That this convention does affirm that the colored race has been placed by the constitution of the United States and of the States here represented, and the laws thereof, on a plane of absolute legal equality with the white race, and does declare that the colored race shall be accorded practical enjoyment of all the rights, civil and political, guaranteed by said constitution and laws.

Resolved, That to this end the members of this convention pledge themselves to use whatever power and influence they possess to protect the colored race against all dangers in respect to a fair expression of their wills at the polls, which they apprehend may result from fraud, intimidation or buldozing on the part of the whites; and as there can be no liberty of action without freedom of thought, they demand that all elections be fair and free; that no repressive measures be employed by the colored people to deprive their own race, in part, of the fullest freedom in the exercise of the highest right of citizenship.

Resolved, That the unrestricted [illegible] system pervading the States [illegible] represented, based upon liens [illegible] on stock, and crops [illegible] in future, followed by [illegible] that crop, has provoked [illegible] created unrest and dis[illegible] the entire laboring popula[illegible] All laws authorizing liens [illegible] advances; constituted [illegible] other than those of [illegible] at moderate profits, [illegible] advances are made [illegible] planter or merchant, [illegible] discontinued and re[illegible] emigration as reasonable human beings, providing in advance, by economy and effective labor, the means for transportation, settlement and sustaining reputation for honesty and fair dealing, by preserving intact until completion of contracts, for labor and leasing, which they made. If when they do this they desire to leave, all obstacles to their departure will be removed, all practical assistance be afforded them, and their places be supplied by other and contented labor.

[illegible] That this convention [illegible]

The committee believes that if the views employed in the foregoing resolutions are practically carried out by the people of both races in good faith, the disquiet of our people will subside. We appeal to the people of both races, in the States represented, to aid in carrying these resolutions into effect and to report to the authorities all violation of laws and interference with private rights.

Gov. Foote moved to amend by substituting other resolutions, and addressed the convention in support of his motion. Speeches were made in favor of the original resolutions by Judge Simrall, Hon. James Hill, Capt. W. B. Pitman, Mr. Robinson of Arkansas, and Col. Nugent. The resolutions were then adopted unanimously, and the convention adjourned sine die.

Houston District, Texas Conferences.

MR. EDITOR:—The life of a Methodist minister is the school of patience. Its duties, its difficulties and its delights are constantly recurring. Only the work of today can be done to-day. There is much of a sameness in the mere external form, an ever recurring round that must disgust or make one a mere mechanical drudge unless the heart is put into all that is done. Every day comes with a lesson as to the practical exercise of patience. There are sharp corners to be rounded off, rough surfaces to be made smooth and crooked ways to be made straight, and irregularities to be adjusted. Each day will bring occasion to put his principles to test. There are great diversities of taste, of feeling, of judgment of principle. Happy are those preachers who can yield sometimes their own preferences so cheerfully that the diversities of character he is sure to find in whatever congregation he may be called to preach to, are softened and shaded off into harmonious varieties and not hardened into irritating any hostile enemies.

A great many failures in the ministry are caused by an unwillingness to yield a little to the diversities of taste and feeling. Between the preachers and their congregation on the Houston district there is generally great harmony and consequently a good degree of real prosperity. In Houston we have four churches and four regular pastors. The first is the mother of the other churches and is doubtless the strongest church in the city, but she has no time for repose. All of her energies must be in one direction. Her daughter just across the Bayou is putting on strength and will soon become one of the strongest churches in the conference. There is no schism here. West Point is "looking forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun." While the Circuit goes into every nook and shoreline of the city doing work for Jesus.

At Oyster Creek Bro. Kelley is having a good degree of success. A log chapel is nearly completed. The general work under his supervision has been considerably enlarged.

At Columbia we have a good church and the church has a good preacher. Bro. Wesley is doing a noble work in repairing and beautifying the house of the Lord. "The hireling fleeth because he is an hireling and careth not not for the sheep." George Davis was stationed last December at Chancer Prairie. In March he came in possession of $100 of Church Extension money, he borrowed what he could of his friends and left for parts unknown. But the church at Chancer Prairie still remains. True, some of the brethren are a little cast down but not destroyed. [illegible] may have a little less con[illegible] in men, but their faith in [illegible] is unshaken. We spent a week with this people preaching [illegible] the Lord's sup[illegible] Stavill and Chancer [illegible] more kind [illegible] The love feast Sabbath night was one of the events written in the "book of remembrance." Sixteen men and women came as penitents to the mourners seat. Any Methodist preacher that will go to Chancer Prairie will find a warm welcome and plenty of work with these and personal piety, if he is not happy he ought to be expelled from the connection, or sent to a poorer charge.

Galveston is a thriving city, indications of activity are witnessed in all directions. There we have two churches whose pastors are active and diligent in every good work, they seem to see eye to eye and strive according to the Gospel requirement to bear one another's burdens. Bro. Cole deserves great credit for the persistency and faithfulness with which he has devoted himself to his work. He sees in part the increased spiritual and temporal prosperity of his church. As one result of a wonderful work of grace over sixty have joined the Tabernacle Church on probation.

The East Church is active and wide awake. Bro. Douglas is on his third and most prosperous year. He is laboring very harmoniously and successfully with the people of his charge, and is now in the midst of one of the most powerful revivals of religion the old East Church has ever experienced. He already reports fifty converts and nearly sixty on probation. At the same time the Trustees are erecting one of the best parsonages in the conference. L. P. CUSHMAN.

Houston, Texas, May 1, 1879.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Cincinnati Letter.

Our colored friends all over the South will be gratified to learn of the great success attending the efforts of Dr. Rust, who is in attendance upon the Spring conferences, representing the interests of the Freedmen's Aid Society. Wherever he goes the people give him a respectful hearing, and their consciences and liberality have been quickened by his appeals for increased contributions. During his recent trip to the Kansas Conference, the old battle ground of freedom, he came in contact with the freedmen seeking shelter there, and saw many marks of thrift and prosperity among these poor refugees from the land of their nativity. He saw the bow of promise in the horizon in this movement for the poor freedmen, and with a prophetic ken foresaw a redeemed, disenthralled and enlightened people. In speaking at the anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, at the South Kansas Conference, he said:

"If it was our duty to set the poor colored people free, it is our duty to save them from superstition and ignorance. The colored people believe that God delivered them from slavery in answer to their prayers. Such people must be protected from influences which would destroy their faith in God. We must teach them how to read. As soon as one reads he is a man. During the year just past we have raised $63,000. What have we done with your money? We have employed a host of teachers. These teachers not only teach in the school houses, but go from house to house teaching the women how to keep house and do all sorts of work. We tried to compete with the Catholics by sending pictures of the Cross among them with Paul's declaration unto them, but the law-men of the South declared our pictures illegal while the Catholic's were all right. The only difference was a scriptural text on ours. Pictures educate, and our teachers go on putting them upon the walls of the houses of the colored people. The roughs have burned up our school houses and churches, but our teachers stay there and teach on. We are building seminaries faster than the incendiary fires can consume them. We are building them upon beautiful sites where they will exert a far reaching influence. Bennett Seminary has been completed at a cost of $11,000. It has an attendance of 300 students, a corps of enthusiastic and competent teachers. and a grand bell ringing out the glad tidings of a risen Savior. A mighty work is being done in North Carolina. The Central Tennessee College has buildings worth $75,000. Efficient colleges are established at New Orleans, Orangeburg and Atlanta, and at all the most important Southern centres. The 'Prince of Life' helped on this work. He had to flee from persecutions once, and His father after the flesh carried Him down to Egypt. When He broke down under the Cross, a Cyrenian, a black man, bore His burden for Him."

The Doctor has visited the Eastern conferences and told the story of the freedmen's wrongs with telling effect. He has plead for enlarged liberality and increased consecration to this important benevolent church interest. At the Providence Conference the Doctor was cordially received. A correspondent to Zion's Herald says: "Dr. Rust addressed the audience in his characteristic and enthusiastic style. It was a most eloquent and instructive effort, and held the multitude spell-bound." Speaking again of his speech before the Conference, the correspondent adds: "His words electrified all. For thirty years the Conference has not been so moved under any speech." C.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Notes from Florida.

Our school year has evinced far more interest than any preceding one. Larger numbers, greater zeal and more perfect recitations have prevailed and encouraged both the teachers and friends of our Cookman Institute.

The young men who have found a home in the Dormitory have exhibited industry fully equal to any school your correspondent ever saw. Their hours of study were as faithfully kept, their devotion to class work, their deportment in the building and in the city have been a cause of congratulation to all who have seen them. The annual picnic was, through the generosity of Dr. Ward and Mr. Matthews, a free passage on a steamer to Arlington and return, where the well filled baskets, the festive spirit and sweet gospel songs contributed much to the happiness of over a hundred young ladies and gentlemen soon to form an army of teachers for the young, and preachers for the churches of the Living God.

Our Music Department has been a very interesting feature of our work. An excellent college organ has been given us by the noble hearted and unsurpassed organ builder, Lowel Mason, of the firm of Mason & Hamlin. A music teacher has found almost constant employment through the year. Prof. Wm. G. Fischer, of Philadelphia, offered two musical prizes, and F. W. Pardee, of New Haven, two more. For these there were some earnest contestants, and some very commendable advances made.

An earnest spirit of penitence was manifested at one time and several will lead lives of devotion to Christ as they never would had they not learned the benefits of our joy, and just pride of our conference. DISCIPULUS.

Letter from Bishop Simpson on Children's Day.

The second Sabbath in June has been designated as Children's Day by the General Conference, and all our Sabbath Schools are requested to take a collection on that day in behalf of our Board of Education. As the President of the Board it may be proper for me to testify that the demands upon it are great, and that the aid which it is enabled to render to some forty or fifty students annually is doing much good. Some of the young men and women preparing for missionary work, and others preparing for usefulness in the home fields, are embarrassed by poverty, and a little timely aid is of great service to them. After obtaining this education the students may be able to repay the Board, and thus maintain a high sense of honor while availing themselves of temporary assistance. The bringing of this subject before the Sunday-schools will also be of profit to them, and may be made an occasion of great interest. I would therefore earnestly recommend to all Pastors and Superintendents of Sunday-schools, that the Children's Day be observed according to the institutions of the General Conference.

M. SIMPSON.

Norwich, N. Y., April 14, 1879.

Religion at Home.

"Let them learn first," said Paul, "to show piety at home." Religion begins in the family. One of the holiest sanctuaries on earth is home. The family altar is more venerable than any altar in the cathedral. The education of the soul for eternity begins by the fireside.—Baptist Messenger.

Notes by the Wayside.

MR. EDITOR—It has been a long time since I have used my pen in writing to the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE. Often I thought of doing so, but procrastination is my excuse. To-night, I will "chat" with you for a few moments.

It has been my privilege to spend some time with Dr. Godman and the University Singers, hailing from your city. Yesterday the Doctor presented the claims of the Orphan's Home, in the M. E. Church of this place and received $39. The troupe sing in Reem's Hall to-night. New Orleans may feel proud of these singers, and I am glad Nashville furnishes two of the troupe. Wherever they go, they give satisfaction and are urged to return. Their singing is splendid. Said the proprietor of a good hotel: "They are gentlemen and ladies, one of the most, quiet and refined troupe stopping at my house. I am glad to entertain them." True.

Miss Jones is winning quite a reputation. God has given her a sweet voice. Mr. Hughes, the basso, and Mr. Alexander, the tenor, are also highly spoken of, and deserve all the praise they get. The doctor and his co-laborers are doing grand work for Jesus, and deserve the sympathy of all the friends of our Lord. May God prosper them and save the Home. Never shall I forget my pleasant association with the troupe.

Bro. Young, the pastor of the M. E. Church of this city—an ex-federal soldier—gave us his pulpit, and the privilege of taking collections, and spoke favorable words. He believes in our Church being in the South and avails himself of every opportunity of assisting those who labor in that field. May God give us many more such men. What the North needs to day is a large circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN and Methodist Advocate among its people.

It has given me no little pleasure to read of the "exodus." God will care for the "colored" man. He will lead them to a place of shelter, where shot guns and midnight assassins cannot harm them. Shame! 'tis a shame that they are receiving such treatment from the hands of those who last summer were fed, clothed and nursed by Northern people. God is not dead, neither will he be mocked. "Vengeance is mine," saith the Lord. The end is not yet. Scourge after scourge has visited the South, yet they will not heed; God's people are still held in bondage—other plagues may follow, if this fiendish work continues. R.

Carlisle, Pa., April 28, 1879.

A Word from the far North, on the Exodus.

E. E. Payne, Esq., of Rochester, Minnesota, writing from Flandreau, Dakota Territory, April 28, and sending to this office a remittance of money to aid in educating young men for the ministry, speaks of the exodus. We quote his words as indicating how this movement affects the conscientious, thoughtful people of the North. Brother Payne says:

"I am very much interested in the 'Exodus' of the colored people, and was almost wishing I had reserved my mite to help them in this their time of need. Then it occurred to me money in educating those who would go forth to enlighten others was the best investment that could be made. I espoused the cause of the oppressed over forty years ago when it cost something to be an abolitionist even at the North, and have ever watched with much interest every change in their condition. "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform," and who knows but this may help to solve the great problem of the African and the Chinaman. Yesterday I attended an Indian meeting and heard an Indian preach. The services were conducted in all respects like our own, and I was much pleased with the devotedness of all present, and these are the Sioux who participated in the great massacre in Minnesota only a few years ago. There are about eighty families or farmers here who live and act very much like their white neighbors. Within a week I have traveled over 500 miles over Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota. Our grass and grain are now putting on their beautiful robes of green and all nature looks smiling."

Let us make ourselves examples that others may safely imitate.

Encouragement to Declining Preachers.

BY JOHN M. HOWE, M.D.

Declining health had driven the writer from his home in quest of restoration. A beautiful summer's Sabbath morning in 1838 found him in City Road Chapel in London, England. The Church, the pulpit, the chancel; the tablets on the wall to the memory of Rev. John and Charles Wesley, Dr. Clarke, and others; the marble column to the memory of Rev. Richard Watson—indeed, the whole surroundings, were fraught with memories of the worthies who had laid the foundation of our Methodism, whose sainted spirits seemed to pervade the place. The singing, the prayers, the sermon by the pastor, accompanied, as it was, by the Holy Spirit's influence, the whole service, was beautiful, and to edification; and then the sacramental service which followed—the elements being consectrated by the venerable Rev. Henry Moore, then in very advanced age and very feeble, the contemporary of Mr. Wesley and his biographer. The whole service, with the surroundings, seemed quiet on the verge of heaven. After the service, on being introduced by the late James Randal, one of the stewards of the Church, in the vestry, to the pastor and Mr. Moore, Mr. R, remarked that I was in poor health, Mr. Moore took hold of my hand with both of his, and, giving me a hearty grasp, said, "I wish, sir, I could give you the reception you deserve." I replied, "Sir, you give me a better reception than I deserve." He then added, "When I first began to preach I broke down in three years, and it was thought that I was in a deep decline; but I wanted to do it all in my own strength; but I have lived to preach the gospel sixty years since that time. I speak this for your encouragement;" and, wonderful to tell, the writer, through then in pulmonary decline, and prospects for usefulness all blighted, though more than forty years have passed away, still not only lives, but enjoys comfortable health. The means used for his restoration being as simple but, not less efficacious, than was the clay with which the blind man's eyes were anointed, followed by washing in the pool of Siloam, by which means he received sight. Providence led him to Dr. Rumadge, who, on examining him, said, "You have come just in time to save your life." He instructed him to inhale common air through a tube three times a day systematically for a long period, and that he would certainly recover. The richest earthy blessing I can bestow on my fellow-men now is, the knowledge of the benefits to be derived from the inhalation of common air in incipient consumption, bronchitis, etc., medicines being only of value in controlling the inflammatory symptoms as they arise.

The writer has demonstrated times innumerable that the remedy for consumption consists in no drug, nor in any combination of drugs, neither in any secret remedy or going far from home, but in the full expansion of the lungs, which more perfectly invigorates the entire system, enlarging the pulmonary organs—thereby bringing the surface of cavities in the lungs in opposition, by which means a healing process is effected and the health restored. The common air in lungs (no medicated vapors) contains the properties the system requires.

Passaic, N. J.

The Blue and the Gray in Congress.

In the United States Senate there 4 Ex-Union soldiers, and 20 Ex-Confederate soldiers. In the House of Representatives there are 50 Ex-Union soldiers and 65 Ex-Confedrate soldiers. In both Senate and House there are 54 Union and 85 Confederate Soldiers.

The Inter Ocean thus summarises:

Total number of Representatives and Senators from States recently in rebellion, 93.

Total number of Representatives and Senators from States not in rebellion, 269.

Total Senators and Representatives in Congress, not including vacancies, 362.

The case stands this way: Twenty-seven loyal States furnish 269 Senators and Representatives, of whom 54 were Union soldiers. Eleven disloyal States furnish 93 Senators and Representatives, of whom 85 were rebel soldiers.

General News Items.

Insurgents in Macedonia defeated the Turkish troops at Prakowa.

The National Woman's suffrage convention met in St. Louis on the 7th.

The new constitution of California was probably defeated by the popular vote.

Dr. Isaac Butt, a well known member of the English parliament, died on the 5th.

Prince Alexander of Bulgaria dined with Emperor William and will visit the Czar.

Yakoob Khan is on his way [illegible] the British camp at Gundamak, escorted by infantry.

Because of a reduction of wages 1000 laborers on the Canada Pacific railway have struck.

It is proposed to organise an Irish militia on a basis with [illegible] volunteers of England.

Two companies of cavalry have been ordered to eject white settlers from the Indian Territory.

The French prince imperial [illegible] suffering from a sharp attack [illegible] fever in the Zulu country.

Fears are entertained of a desire on the part of England and France to absorb the republic of Liberia.

Alexander Cohen, whose forgeries amounted to $15,000, was arrested in Richmond on the 6th.

The municipal election in Indianapolis resulted in a Republican gain of between 500 and 600 votes.

New testimony will be taken in the case of H. M. Spofford, for the seat of Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana.

In Atlanta, Georgia, Cox, for the murder of Alston, was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

An explosion in a Wilkesbarre, Pa., coal mine, terribly injured several miners, and was followed by a fierce conflagration.

England has no intention of relinquishing the Transvaal Republic on the petition of the people. [illegible] annexation will be final.

The national colored conf[illegible] in Nashville was called to order by Gov. Pinchback, and presided over by Hon. John Lynch of Mississippi.

Frederick Douglass is opposed to the exodus, believing that the colored man should work out his destiny at the place of his birth.

A Bolivian army of 4000 men, under command of President Daza, is marching toward that portion of the territory occupied by the Chilian army.

A naval engagement between two Peruvian and one Chilian [illegible] vessel took place April 14th off [illegible] river Loa, resulting in the flight [illegible] the Chilian vessel.

About 150 colored men, women and children were reported as returning home from Kansas, disappointed in their expectations, [illegible] the steamer Howard.

About 2000 men have gone into the Indian Territory to settle in defiance of the warning proclamation of the President that troops would be issued to eject them.

The Prince of Wales introduced a bill into the House of Commons to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister. It was strongly opposed and a second reading defeated by a vote of 181 to 81.

The Spaniards have concluded a convention with the King [illegible] Annam, Cochin China, for the purpose of supplying Cuba with Annamite laborers. The English parliament will order inquiries as [illegible] their proper treatment.

A meeting to aid the exodus [illegible] Southern negroes was held [illegible] Lincoln Hall, Washington, on [illegible] 5th. The principal speakers [illegible] Senator Windom and ex-[illegible] Gorham. A committee was [illegible] pointed to canvass for funds in [illegible] of immigration North.

A car loaded with dynamite exploded at Stratford, Canada, on [illegible] Grand Trunk railroad. [illegible] buildings were thrown to [illegible] ground, 50 freight cars [illegible] wrecked, and in the town, a [illegible] distant, thousands of dollars [illegible] damages to windows and property was caused. The damage [illegible] exceed $250,000.

The Western Advocate says: [illegible] W. M. Blackburn, of Chicago, [illegible] prepared a "History of the [illegible] ian Church from its Origin to [illegible] Present Time." It will [illegible] large octavo volume, [illegible] printed in handsome [illegible] Messrs. Hitchcock & W[illegible]

[illegible]uthwestern.

[illegible] C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1879.

Rev. M. Adams writes that the corner stone of the Meridian Academy was laid with much delight on the 8th.

The Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church hold their semi-annual meeting at Wheeling, West Virginia, May 15th.

The grand jury of Webster parish recommended the use of [illegible] hounds in tracking criminals, [illegible] from justice.

Sarah Yancy, a Sunday-school [illegible] of Columbus, Texas, says [illegible] rejoices over the news [illegible] each week in her paper.

A Nihilist printing office was discovered at the office of the Ministry of Public Communications in [illegible] Petersburg. Eight officials [illegible] arrested.

[illegible] are requested to push [illegible] and the canvass for the [illegible]. Let the paper be [illegible] in the hands of every reader [illegible] the church.

[illegible] Christian Standard and [illegible] Journal of Philadelphia in [illegible] issue of May 3d, devotes the [illegible] of eleven lines under the head "[illegible]," to giving an account [illegible] life, sickness, death, and [illegible] services of Bishop Ames.

[illegible] Traveler of May 5th [illegible] Bishop Haven's eulogy [illegible] the life and character of [illegible] Ames. It is by far the most [illegible] and able review [illegible] Bishop's work we have [illegible]. We only regret we cannot, [illegible] of space, publish it en[illegible]

[illegible] to have another Metho[illegible] On the first of June [illegible] the initial number of [illegible] Methodist. This new [illegible] in accordance with [illegible] of the Baltimore Con[illegible] season. It will [illegible] as a semi-weekly the [illegible] year.

[illegible] to Rev. W. T. [illegible], Conn., for [illegible] East Confer[illegible]. It is a neatly [illegible] pamphlet [illegible] the interests [illegible] but con[illegible] interest. [illegible] Tibbals & [illegible]

[illegible] week an in[illegible] Col. Pearsall, [illegible]

The Vicksburg Convention.

We publish on our first page the resolutions of the Vicksburg Convention called to consider the Exodus of negroes from the South The Convention was largely attended and ought to have resulted in great good, but its effect will be but small upon the Exodus question unless it be to increase the anxiety and uneaseness of colored people in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The resolutions fail to mention the chief cause of the Exodus. They talk just as the same men have talked for years, so far as pledges to the colored people go. These pledges were given by Gov. Stone, of Mississippi, and Gov. Nicholls, of Louisiana, when they were elected. They have been in every democratic platform for years, and still these pledges from gubernatorial lips, or in well worded platforms have meant nothing in many portions of these States. The Exodus will continue to increase unless something more than pledg-making is done. A few bulldozers must be hung, and public sentiment must be toned up to the point where, for example, such men as those who attempted to murder Gilbert Newman in Franklin, La., a short time since, shall be brought to justice. Some of those men are members of a prominent church, and are accounted among the best young men of their town. Hard times, continued poverty, the tenant system as now worked in the cotton regions; the credit system, and bad whisky sold at every corner grocery have much to do with the present discontent among the colored people of the South. But the real cause of the Exodus is that colored people are shot and murdered and terrified and persecuted in portions of half the counties of Mississippi, and more than half the parishes of Louisiana, and there is no law to punish the offenders. There are more than a hundred colored men in this city to-day who dare not go to their homes in the country parishes, where many of them have property now going to waste, because they obeyed a United States summons to appear and testify in court, against democratic politicians; who, by their own admission had notified these same colored men to leave the parish or take the consequences—which consequences meant death. On the other hand the politicians who did the bulldozing were greeted from the court room with the boom of a hundred cannon in this city, escorted to the boat by a multitude, and for three hundred miles greeted with roar of cannon and shouts of praise on their route home. We do not say that all the fifty Natchitoches prisoners were guilty; we do not know that one of them was guilty. But we do know that colored men were driven from the parish for no other reason than that they were Republicans, and were leaders in the organization of that party. Somebody did that work. But there is no public sentiment to find out the offenders. Until this state of things ceases the Exodus will and ought to increase.

In the Vicksburg Convention colored men had no vote in adopting the resolutions. Nine-tenths of the delegates were colored men, many of whom were strong men. They spoke on the first day, but did not cast a vote on the resolutions. They had no faith in them. Besides this, the expenses of two or three prominent colored men were paid to the Convention with a view of having their influence, and these very men refused to endorse the resolutions because they did not go beyond the old hackneyed pledges.

The Convention rejected the counsels of wise and prudent Southern men. There were from this city Gov. Foote, Col. J. M. Sandige and Gen. [illegible] Tyler, as representatives of the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce. These men all stand among the foremost of this city, and Gov. [illegible], now seventy-five years old, [illegible] national history and reputation as Governor and United States [illegible], which make his words [illegible] with all thinking men. On [illegible] the Convention, while per[illegible] treated with kindness, they [illegible] that they were to have [illegible] part nor lot in the matter. [illegible] resolutions, as adopted, had [illegible] for several days. [illegible] it was proposed to invite [illegible] and his associates into [illegible] room to consider the [illegible], the suggestion was re[illegible] the resolutions came [illegible] Gov. Foote, [illegible], offered [illegible] following:

[illegible] publicly [illegible] in vari[illegible]

of, have been heretofore flagrantly violated, and the precious rights and immunities designed thereby to be secured as a permanent heritage to a most meritorious and long suffering class of people have been deliberately disregarded and set at naught; and whereas it has been of late made abundantly evident, that owing to the causes which we have not now time minutely to explore, misunderstandings and distrusts have arisen, which clearly indicate the coming upon us of evils of a far more serious and detrimental character than any heretofore experienced—evils too, which it is not possible to avert, save by the application, of remedies of a more comprehensive and effective character than any heretofore put in use; therefore,

Be it resolved, That the President of this Convention, and two other persons to be associated with him by the unanimous vote of those here assembled, are hereby appointed a committee for the purpose of carrying into effect the wishes and objects sought by this Convention to be attained, and it shall be the duty of this committee to nominate and appoint, at as early a day as practicable, a local committee of at least five members in each of the counties and parishes belonging to the States now represented in this connection, (of known probity, impartiality and patriotism,) and that it shall be the duty of the local committee so appointed to watch with unceasing vigilance over the rights and interests intended by this plan of protection to be guarded and maintained, to take charge of some grievances as shall be brought to their knowledge, and provide, as far as may lay in their power, for the redress of the same; and to adopt such legal and proper expedients as they may judge necessary for the future prevention of of grievances of a like nature.

It is expected that these local committees shall correspond freely with each other and with the committee of three above mentioned touching all matters connected with the great moral and physical interests committed to their care, and in regard to the remidial agencies which may be found needful, from time to time, to bring into existence.

This preamble and these resolutions admit the real grievance of the colored people, and propose a plan by which the conservative good men of these States, could unite in enforcing law; or at least in hearing complaints and investigating their truthfulness and give the facts to the country. Gov. Foote supported his propositions with unanswerable facts, and appealed as a Southern man to his personal friends present to disprove his statements. His remarks were received with hisses by the white men, and cheers by the colored. Every colored man who followed endorsed Gov. Foote, and some gave their personal experience in being driven from their homes at night, and forbidden to take part in the last canvass. A motion was made for the previous question on the original resolutions and despite parliamentary rules which would have required a vote first on the amendment, the vote was taken. Not a colored man (nine-tenths present) voted; and the white men (one-tenth) voted to adopt. The chairman did not even put the negative. The convention then adjourned sine die.

In the presence of these facts, especially the rejection of all acknowledgement of wrong doing to the colored people, and of the simple and effectual way to find out the truth as presented by Gov. Foote, we do not hesitate to pronounce the Vicksburg Convention a failure, in comparison to the good it might have done.

We have not advised colored people to leave the South, but we are determined to give the people the facts and let them judge for themselves. One thing we here repeat—this exodus is a far more serious matter for the whites of the South than for the negroes. We believe that unless the counsels of such men as Gov. Foote, Col. Sandige and Gen. Tyler prevail, and that soon, the cotton and sugar interests of the South will suffer incalculable damage.

Professional Misrepresentation

We elsewhere commend the New Orleans Times as largely representing the conservative element among the people of our city and State. We are sorry now to accuse the Times of publishing editorially, statements, which we have every reason to believe its editorial staff must have known to be false. We refer to its editorial of last Friday, headed "A Stalwart Sensation," in which that paper ridicules all who had spoken against the late order of the Mayor of New Orleans closing colored churches at 10 o'clock p m., and directing the arrest, as disturbers of the peace, of any one in charge of a colored congregation who disobeyed the order. The professed ground of the ridicule, is that no such order was issued, which the Times must have known to be false.

The original order dated April [illegible] read as follows:

[illegible] officers are hereby instruct[illegible] of the various [illegible] in your precinct that [illegible] at [illegible] must they be allowed to hold services after that hour. Affidavits must be made against preachers violating this order for disturbing the peace.

This order was first published in the SOUTHWESTERN, and during the past ten days it has appeared either in full or in substance in at least a score of the principal papers of the United States, and was by all denounced as an outrage upon the liberty of public worship. The New Orleans Preachers' Meeting of the M. E. Church sent a Committee to the Mayor with an addres protesting against the order. A full account of the interview was published last week. The Mayor said that his verbal order had been misconstrued, and the Chief of Police, who was present at the interview, said that a mistake has been made in its telegraphic transmission. But neither for a moment denied the order being a fact, or that it had been served on nearly fifty preachers in the city. Neither of these officials justified the order to the committee. On the fifth of May the Mayor rescinded the odious order and issued another which we publish elsewhere.

And with all these facts known and published the Times says:

The facts of the case are very simple and, as will be seen, furnish no color whatever for the sensational reports which have been disseminated. Some time ago there were so many complaints from citizens residing in the immediate neighborhood of some of our colored churches that the Mayor felt it to be his duty to make inquiry as to their justice. The result was that he became satisfied that, under the impulse of a "revival" or some other exciting cause, the negroes were turning their churches into absolute pandemonioms, assembling there early in the evening and prolonging the uproar until long after midnight. If any of our Northern friends have ever been in the vicinity of a negro church under full head of revival steam, they will admit that no other human contrivance can create a sound so colossal in volume and so diabolical in quality. There is nothing like it, so far as our experience goes. Who can wonder that the afflicted neighbors should complain of this deafening and blood-curdling uproar, and who can fairly object to the Mayor's having made a suggestion in the premises? At all events the neighbors did complain, and the Mayor—doubtless, fearing lest the complainants, driven to desperation, might commit some act of signal violence—asked the Chief of Police if some arrangement could not be made to limit the duration of the orgies, as, for instance, by having the revivalists disperse at ten o'clock p. m. No restrictions were sought to be put upon the violence of the noise, but it was suggested that two or three hours of solid yelling and galloping around the room ought to satisfy any reasonable congregation. The matter was mentioned to some of the leading brethren, but further consideration of it ended in the assurance on their part that they would subdue the pious raptures of their flocks so as not to make the windows rattle in neighboring houses.

This is the whole story. There were no ordinances passed, no orders issued. There was never an idea or desire in the direction of closing the colored churches or of interfering with them in any way further than to preserve the peace and to protect the neighbors in their lives and property.

This we call professional misrepresentation, because we do not suppose any one of the editorial staff of the Times would personally endanger his reputation for truth and veracity by signing his name to it. It is certainly very sad that a great paper, especially priding itself on its candor and fairness, should permit its columns to be so disgraced. Mayor Patton and Col. Boylan, Chief of Police, frankly admitted their blunder and corrected it by revoking the order and issuing one free from objections. Their's was the gentlemanly and right way. But the Times flatly denies, and says "there were no orders issued."

The editorial in the Times was not written for this community. It was written for the outside world. But the outside world knows the facts, and this attempt to counteract the truth by substituting a falsehood will only re-act to the injury of those the Times professedly befriends.

Repudiation in Prospect in Louisiana.

The Louisiana State Convention now in session in this city, to frame a new constitution, is, we fear under the control of political bourbons. The New Orleans Times, a leading Democratic paper is distinguishing itself by its opposition to everything like boorbonism in the Convention. Led by the Times, and encouraged by the approval of all conservative citizens, we hope the majority in Convention may be held in check in all matters which threaten the dishonor of the State.

On the question of the public debt there has from the first been a strong repudiation element, and we fear that practical repudiation is in prospect. The proposition is before the Convention to limit the State taxation to five mills on the dollar. Speaking of this the Times shows conclusively that this means repudiation. We quote as follows:

A limitation of State taxation to five mills on the dollar, which a majority of the committee recommend, means the repudiation of the public debt; it means a death stab to the commercial and industrial interests of the State; it means ascendency of demagogues; it means the commercial dishonor and political disgrace of this commonwealth—a State that once stood higher in the estimation of the financial world than any other in the Union.

A rate of taxation of five mills on the dollar means repudiation simply because the government cannot be maintained from the revenue which can be derived from that taxation, and leave anything to pay the interest on the debt or provide in any manner for its payment at maturity. And this is repudiation "pure and simple" as the Democrat says:

In 1879, the Legislature appropriated for the maintenance of the government proper $265,000; for the Judiciary $72,000; for legislative expenses for a term of one month $90,000; for the Executive department, to support the public institutions for the blind, etc., and for public printing and militia $210,000; making in all $637 000. To this add $300,000 proceeds of the the school tax and $150,000; proceeds of the tax for levees, and we have $1,387,000. Five mills tax on the assessed value of the property, $177,000,000 would give, allowing fifteen per cent off for losses, $752,250, to which add $400,000 possible receipts from licenses, and we have $1,162,250.

But allowing for the utmost reductions in the expenses, the tax of five mills, together with receipts from oppressive licenses, will not more than meet them. The primary school system cannot be kept up for less than $300,000; the repairs of levees will cost $150,000; at the least; the judiciary will require $200,000, the executive department $60,000, the legislature $100,000, public printing $40,000 and the maintainance of the public institutions $200,000, making $1,050,000.

These figures demonstrate, as we have said, that the proposition to limit taxation to the rate of one-half of one per cent means repudiation.

New Orleans Preachers' Meeting on the Death of Bishop Ames.

The New Orleans Preachers' Meeting at its session last Thursday unanimously adopted the following in relation to Bishop Ames:

Death has again invaded the ranks of our great system of itinerancy, and taken away one of our chief pastors. Rev. Edward Raymond Ames, D.D. LL.D, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at his residence in Baltimore, Md., on the morning of the 25th of April.

Bishop Ames was the organizer of our Southern work in New Orleans, and while his own loved ones, many admiring friends, and the great church which he honored by his counsel and wisdom, shall claim him as all their own; we, a band of brothers, claim him too—his name, his fame, his friendship.

While we bow the heart in sadness, yet in submission to the Divine will, shall we not call to mind, his life of virtue, faith, purity, and simplicity of purpose, as well as the marked ability which characterized him in the councils of the church? A man of deep and most tender sympathy, mingled with a rich vein of humor, he, both as a preacher and executive officer won all hearts to himelf. He was faithful in the discharge of his official duties, and the graces of a holy life, adorned his walk and conversation. Of national reputation, he was a very prince in Israel, whose death will be deeply felt, but whose memory will be a priceless heritage to the church.

How inspiring and christian-like are his last words? "My work is done." And then as he crossed the dark flood, he echoed back to his friends a note of triumph, "All right." He is gone! And we look through tears towards that fair city out of sight, of which he is now, and shall forever be an inhabitant. Truly "life is but a scene of meetings, and greetings and sad farewells."

As we draw the mournful, heavy lines around his honored name, let us remember and imitate his noble and devoted life; and so live, that with him on the bright plains of immortality, we shall be reunited in a purer and more sacred fellowship, and wear eternally the Heavenly Image.

With his life before us as a precious perfume poured forth; Be it resolved by the New Orleans Preachers Meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

First, That we will ever cherish the memory of our dear departed Bishop; and strive to build well upon the foundations which he so wisely laid.

Second, That we earnestly recommend that the indebtedness which threatens the existence of Ames M. E. Church, New Orleans, La., be speedily removed by the friends of the Bishop, that the church, of which he was especially fond, may be a fitting monument of his interest in our Southern work.

Third, That the bereaved family and relatives have our deep and most tender sympathy in this their great sorrow.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased, be spread upon the minutes, and published in our church periodicals.

Fifth, That we hereby request all the pastors of the Louisiana Conference to appropriately drape their churches on the first Sabbath in June as a memorial of our loss.

A. A. JOHNSON,
D. MATTHAEI,
JOSEPH GOULD,
GEO. B. LYNCH,
WM. MURRELL,
Committee.

New Orleans, La., May 8, 1879.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. Tenoesse Jackson, Shreveport: "We are holding a basket meeting to finish Fairfield church Added 5 converts and 20 probationers in protracted meeting."

Rev. J. W. Hilton, Natchitoches; "Our protracted meeting resulted in 40 additions, of which 28 were converts. Presiding Elder S. Davage was with us one week of our meeting. Our Sabbath school numbers 78 pupils.

Rev. Jas. Hudson, Whitehall: "We are at the close of a protracted meeting which resulted in adding to the church 10 converts 40 probationers. One convert is an old man 95 years of age, Dennis Garthright. The Sabbath-school numbers 150 children, organized into a missionary society.

A basket meeting was held for the purpose of building a Methodist church at Ashland, on the ground which is already secured. A large stack cake was to be given by the ladies to the preacher taking the highest collection. They were as follows: Samuel Cook, $4 15; Thomas Brown, $5 10; Jas. W. Hudson, $14 85; Milton Morris, $5 65; Hiley Rice, $12 55. Total $42 30.

TEXAS

Rev. D. Morris, Clarksville: "Four lots have been purchased, and one acre of land for a parsonage. We expect to complete a church this year, Elder Moore met us in Free Hope church on the 19th."

Rev. J. R. Carnes, Lockart: "We have bought another lot costing $100. We are getting our church out of debt and will settle it by September 1. I read so many encouraging reports from my brethren, that it makes me think I am doing little for the cause of Christ, but I am not discouraged."

Rev. A. R. Norris, San Autonio: "Our Sunday-school convention may be a grand success. Elder Richaroson is waking the people up all over the district, to the importance of Sunday-schools. We wish the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN could attend our convention. Mrs. Norris has made a banner for presentation at the School picnic on the first of May."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. H. W. Key, Murfreesboro: "We are building a new church."

Rev. W. C. Miller, Lebanon: "Elder Manson visited us, April 5th and 6th. His sermons were impressive, My work is growing spiritually and financially."

Rev. H. Primm, Memphis: "Centennary chapel has received 35 converts since conference. When I came it had only 18 members, now it has 75. Pray that the word may have free course with us."

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. M. Brown, Garlandsville: "My work prospers; 11 members added."

Rev. C. W. Ivey, Shuqulak: "The work is good. Two Sunday-schools organized. L. W. Watson is an efficient superintendent."

W. B. Kindrick, Woodward circuit: "I am proud to say I am not in the woods as I was last year. I have one good house, 28 members, and 40 pupils in Sabbath school, Elder McLachlan was on hand with his usual store of instruction."

West Tennessee District Conference.

DEAR EDITOR—The West Tennessee District Conference met in Mitchel's Chapel, near Alamo, Crockett county, April 16th, and continued until Friday, 18th. Our much loved presiding elder, W. S. Butler, was in the chair. The heavy rain that fell on the 17th caught several of the brethren on their way to the conference and baptized them anew. I think the conference greatly strengthened our elder in his old age. The members on Alamo circuit took first class care of the preachers, their wives and horses. From reports received West Tennessee is rising in every respect. Her Sabbath-schools are scarcely excelled. The reports on missions and benevolent causes will be good, if not better than ever before. We are fighting the fight of the righteous, and think of Wesley's song, "A charge to keep I have, a God to glorify." The Lord is blessing our labors.

The following are the assessments of the several circuits and stations, or the amounts to be raised from each charge:

	Bishops.	Church Exten'ons.	Missions.
Centenary Chapel, Memphis	$5 00	$2 50	$14 00
Memphis circuit	6 00	2 50	$15 00
Crittenden "	3 00	2 50	13 50
Fayette "	3 00	2 00	13 50
Mason "	6 00	2 50	15 00
Brownsville "	3 00	2 00	11 70
Cypress "	2 50	2 50	14 00
Purdy "	2 00	2 50	11 75
Henderson "	3 00	2 00	11 75
Mansfield "	3 00	2 00	11 75
Waynesboro "	3 00	2 00	14 00
Lawrence "	3 00	2 50	13 50
Gardner "	3 00	2 50	18 50

The tongue makes deeper wounds than the teeth.

How to Observe Children's Day

In another part of this paper will be seen a letter from Bishop Simpson, President of the Board of Education of the M. E. Church on the observance of Children's Day.

Every year since 1872, when the paragraph concerning Children's Day was placed in the Discipline, there have appeared letters in our church papers shortly after the second Sunday in June, speaking of the delightful interest awakened in the schools that observed that day. Why should not this pleasure be universally enjoyed?

After the lesson is studied and recited let at least a half hour be devoted to an explanation of the character and object of the day to the School. It is a Children's Day, a day in the early summer, when the season reminds us of seed time, of flowers, of beauty, and promise and growth. The children and youth in Sunday-schools should remember that they belong to an army, perhaps the best organized army the world ever saw. They should sometimes look beyond themselves and ask how to do good to all mankind. Among the youth in our Sunday-schools are many who are or will be called of God and commissioned by the church to go to foreign lands as missionaries and teachers. Some are equally called of God to get as good an education as they can to be useful in their own country. Many of these have fathers and mothers who can help them pay their expenses while they are studying. They have reason to thank God for such parents. Some have no such help. A little assistance now will be a great blessing to them. If they live and can do so, after they obtain their education they will pay back again what they now receive and it may be used to help others. The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church will take all collections made on Children's Day and use the money for this purpose only. It is now helping more than fifty such students by the expenditure of $8000 a year, and many more need help.

Ten or a dozen who are now missionaries in our foreign fields have been helped by the Board since 1872. Others are at work at home. We suggest that a good improvement of the occasion would be to relate to the Sunday-school some of the chief incidents in the life of John Wesley, the man who did more to bless mankind than any other man of his generation. He was the receipient of help to obtain his education. At the age of six he was rescued from a burning house, the last to leave it, just as the roof fell in. His father and mother and all the rest had escaped, but the little boy was left asleep alone in a room up stairs. Just at the last moment he sprang to the window, opened it and leaned out. A strong man leaned against the wall of the house, another stood on his shoulders, and little John springing into his arms was saved. He used himself sometimes to quote the verse from the Bible, "Is not this a brand plucked from the burning?" For five years he was a pupil at Charterhouse School in London, where his father had no expenses to pay, and for five years afterward he was a student in Christ College, Oxford, where he received forty pounds a year from the Charterhouse Fund to meet his expenses. During all these years God was preparing him for his great work. In like manner hundreds of missionaries, men and women, and ministers and teachers have been aided, and but for what such societies in England and the United States have done it does seem that the missionary enteprise would not have reached one-half of its present magnitude and promise. Let then every school observe Children's Day. Collections taken on that day can be sent directly to the Corresponding Secretary, at Syracuse, N. Y.

E. O. HAVEN.
Corresponding Secretary.

A Stirring Letter.

DEAR BROTHER:—It is Saturday night, May 3d, the evening before a Sabbath full of labor, which will demand as much strength as I can store up for the performance of its welcome duties. But this evening, which usually I spend quietly, I feel bound to give in part to you. The last mail gave me your SOUTHWESTERN of May 1st, and so much do its contents impress me that I should be ungenerous to take so welcome a gift without a hearty and grateful response.

You do us good when you send under the sanction of the Church, the latest and most stirring facts concerning the great interests of Christ's cause in the Southwest. It affects one differently to read the news items when they appear in a paper printed amid the scenes which are to-day attracting the attention of all good and loyal men throughout the nation. Every word you say about the Exodus of the colored people, I read with most earnest carefulness, and having read, I wish that a hundred thousand copies of your paper could be scattered among the thinking people of the North. It rings like the bugle call which sounds the squadrons to horse, when the battle hour lowers.

The present occasion is of mighty importance in the history of this country. The victories of peace 'tis said, are no less renowned than those of war. And surely the triumph of freedom will hasten on after the flying fugitives from oppression who now are moving out of the South. The address of the colored Louisiana Convention, like the great Declaration whose impress it bears, springs from the same free spirit and will receive the same applause and vindication from the generations to come. They speak like men, like freemen, like American freemen. The North is only waiting to know if the colored emigrant needs its help. Liberty's old and new champions are awaking. When the Exodus expands as it is likely to do, when the real need appears, there will be relief and aid associations started in a hundred cities and a thousand villages throughout the North. The colored emigrant will be welcomed, fed, clothed, protected. Up to this time, we have been afraid to trust the reports, not knowing who had started, nor the numbers who are going and desiring to go. We shall not cease with promises. The men who helped the escaping slave before Emancipation are alive. Their descendants are of the same mind as their fathers. The soldiers who put down rebellion are still friends of the oppressed.

They who had thousands to give last summer for the relief of a plague stricken people have millions for the defense of freedom, nor do they fail to see that the new rebellion fails with a broken back never to be healed, when the colored man now disfranchised, becomes a free citizen of a free commonwealth. Help the cause all you can in the name of God, of Methodism and of the liberty of man.

Thank you most heartily for your editorial in condemnation of the attempt of the Mayor of New Orleans to abridge the religious privileges of the colored people. He has some lessons to learn in the A B C's of American rights. You rebuke him most fitly.

We are living in a most eventful time. The clear light of God shines on national duty and shows us national dangers. The tides of His providence are resistless. I love to see them rise and fall and flow onward without asking human consent. Two short years ago when I was honored with a small share in the immortal work of the Freedmen's Aid Society, and when I plead for the rights and denounced the wrongs of the freedmen of the South, not a few conservatives thought I was far too severe in my arraignment of Southern oppressors, and would fain have stopped my mouth. In less than twenty-four months the flying thousands, whose burdens have been too great to bear, echo every word by which I tried to speak their woes. Can it be that God needs so little time to make good the voices which cried in the wilderness? Most true; for when we tell the truth the ages put their seal on it.

God bless you, brother Hartzell. You have stood up manfully these years on the side of God. Give us the whole truth. The church needs it and the nation must hear it or cease to be a nation. And in your work, if it will be any comfort to you, remember that you have the confiding prayers of your brother in Christ, ISAAC J. LANSING.

Meriden, Conn., May 3, 1879.

Letter from Napoleonville.

NAPOLEONVILLE, La., April 28, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—On Sunday the 13th inst. (Easter) we had a basket meeting at our little church, with more than 300 people attending, given by the lady members of the church. We had quite a lively time and the spirit pervaded. We were assisted by brothers Claiborne, Washington, Martin, Francis, Fountain, McElroy and Tunsen, of the Baptist church, who delivered awakening sermons with the following result:

Claiborne $4 00, Fountain $6 65, Martin $2 60, McElroy $5 35, Francis $1 35, Tunsen $3 25, Washington $9 15; Total $64 35.

The church is prosperous and gaining accessions, notwithstanding the aspersions cast upon it in this locality by ministers of the African M. E. Church, in advising the people not to affiliate with us for the reason that it is mixed with white people. Such remarks made from a pulpit we consider unwise and uncalled for, and wonder how it is tolerated. Yours in Christ,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Pastor Mount Zion M. E. Church.

Letter from Nashville.

NASHVILLE, TENN., April 24, 1879.

Feeling that the friends of the SOUTHWESTERN would like to hear from the District Conference just held last week at Lebanon, I take delight in writing something concerning it. We met and organized Tuesday morning, April 15th, Rev. C. Pickett in the chair. There were not as many present as we expected to see, but I believe every charge in the Nashville District was represented. The reports of the benevolent collections were good. Those of the spiritual condition glorious. I guess upwards of 400 conversions since the Annual Conference. I will mention several of the leading reports. Lebanon 82, Gallatin 70, Clark Chapel 45, Nashville Circuit 30. These reports are encouraging. The conference lasted two days, having only two sessions a day, as the protracted meeting was going on at the time, and all the brethren thought it just to have regular services at night. We were treated nicely by the people of Lebanon, of our church, who seem to take delight in entertaining members of different conferences as this was the second that I've attended there. We can't forget those friends nor their kind treatment. The next District Conference will be held in [illegible] Tenn. We trust that the reports will be better in every respect, notwithstanding those at the last were grand. The protracted meeting at our church ([illegible] Chapel) is still going on. We have had to date about 45 [illegible] and between 50 and 60 [illegible]. We are still going on [illegible] about 50 mourners at the [illegible] nightly. We have [illegible] this week Bro. Calvin and [illegible] Pickett, Peter Martin, [illegible] Woods, H. W. Key and [illegible] Williams, of the Tennessee [illegible]. Our church is crowded [illegible] night. We will have our [illegible] next Sunday if nothing [illegible] Rev. D. W. Hays, our [illegible] has worked faithfully since [illegible] meeting began. He [illegible] revivalist, and always [illegible] going home, leaving [illegible] matters not how [illegible] interest he took in [illegible]. Think it had a [illegible] make the members [illegible] for they have [illegible] seven weeks, [illegible] except Saturday [illegible] not seen our [illegible] so faithfully in four [illegible] became the [illegible] trusting in [illegible] He (God) [illegible] members [illegible] have [illegible] backsliders [illegible] We [illegible] grand [illegible]

[illegible] BROWN.

[illegible]

of Bro. R. Dukes, is doing well and organized into a missionary society, and their weekly collections are very encouraging. Bro. R. Dukes is one of our most promising young men and he means to keep up with the times. I found Bro. M. Henson at his post, faithfully engaged in a protracted meeting, the results of which, up to the present time, are one conversion and many serious persons at the altar. The steady rainfall will perhaps deter the meeting. At Georgetown, Williamson county, I found Bro. D. Mucker doing a good work. His membership is small, but full of courage. They have a frame California box, 28x40 feet, which they are preparing to take down and put it up again in a more inviting style. They have most of the money in hand to complete the job. Since the building of the railroad Georgetown has improved rapidly. At Lampasas, Lampasas county, I found Rev. C. Shanks at his post, but unfortunately the school house in which he was engaged in teaching a day-school, and also used it for divine worship, as we had no church edifice of our own, was burned to the ground in March. At present they have no place to hold services, but the members and pastor are standing firmly. The town has just been disturbed by a mob of unmasked men, who came to assassinate a colored man. However, the colored man escaped to Round Rock, after killing one of the mob and receiving a mortal wound, where he died seven days after. His wife was also shot through the thighs and left in that condition: have not heard whether she died or not. There were only a few colored people here, and they being threatened with destruction, fled the place after being advised to do so by some of the peaceable citizens who could not protect them. From there I went to Belton, Bell county. Here they have just finished a neat house of worship 30x40 feet. It is much better than the one burnt down in 1875. They have managed to build without aid from the Church Extension Society. It is sad to say that about twelve miles out of town the church was burned in January. Here we meet quite a decided opposition from other denominations who have no place of worship. Our church was said to have been set on fire by some treacherous person. Notwithstanding all these difficulties the work on our district is moving forward, and with men so determined to do their whole duty under all circumstances, we may expect cheering results from time to time.

S. GATES.

Letter from Macon.

MACON, Miss., April 26, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR:—I thought I would write you a few lines to inform our friends how our church is getting along here, and what progress it has made in the last few years. When Rev. G. W. Barney came to this charge two years ago, the church was largely in debt, and number of repairs were needed. The congregation was small, and a great want of harmony and Christian fellowship exhibited itself among the members.

Hence, the want of a man of character, zeal, and sterling integrity to accomplish what has been accomplished in the space of two years. The debt of the church has been paid. Several very necessary repairs have been made upon the church property. Suitable ground [illegible] for a cemetery near the [illegible] at a cost of $150, deeded to the church. A set of chandeliers, at a [illegible], was placed in the church. [illegible] cistern dug in the rear of the church which furnishes the very best water, which is a very scarce commodity here in the hot summer [illegible]. Besides that, and better [illegible] all, there has been added in [illegible] fellowship to the church more than 60 souls, among them a great [illegible] old and hardened sinners [illegible] are now faithful and zealous [illegible] in the cause of the Master. [illegible] Sabbath-school has been com[illegible] organized with a regular [illegible] of more than a hun[illegible]. We unhesitatingly say that [illegible] is second to none all [illegible] considered in the State. It [illegible] and energetic corps [illegible] who deserve to succeed. [illegible] to show what can be [illegible] has the cause at [illegible] in. [illegible] the hard times [illegible] which set like [illegible] breast of our [illegible] work in [illegible] the present [illegible]

[illegible] E. DAVIS.

Sunday School.

May 18, 1879.—THE SAVIOUR'S KINGDOM.

SCRIPTURE.—Micah 4: 1-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob."—2.

TOPIC.—Christ's Reign of Peace.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.]

The Connection.—The three palpable divisions in the Book Micah each commence with the exortation, "Hear!" Our lesson falls within the second section. The book opens with a prophecy of the destruction of Samaria, which, before the first chapter closes, turns into a wail at the coming overthrow and ruin of Judah and Jerusalem. In chapter ii. are stated the signs of an impending judgment upon Judah. They are: 1. The reign of utter and unscrupulous selfishness. The strong coveted fields, and took them by violence. Might made right. 2. The corruption of the prophetic office. Wine seems to have been their main inspiration. They prophesied falsely. In chapter iii, there is: 1. A denunciation of the nobles of Israel for making a prey of the people. They were so rapacious that, in the language of the prophet, they plucked off their skin and flesh. 2. A reprimand of the prophets who caused the people to err. 3. A rebuke against the judges, who abhorred righteous judgment, and perverted all equity.

But the prophet has a message of encouragement as well as of consternation. In chapter iv. he presents another picture.

The Nations Coming (1, 2).—V. 1. In this verse is set forth the future supremacy of the gospel. It has had its great seasons of struggle for existence, and, in spite of the herculean efforts to surpress it, has always come off the victor even from its very cradle.

But in the last days—The mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains. And this was the very spot of which a moment before the prophet had said that it should be reduced to a mere forest height! It was to recover and attain more than its former pre-eminence. Zion shall be exalted above the hills. It was to become an object plainly visible from afar, so the peoples could see and flow unto it—a city set on a hill that could not be hid. And peoples shall flow unto it.

V. 2. In this verse we have a prophecy of the coming universal desire to know and to obey the truth. Many nations shall come. The pilgrimage of the feet thither is as nothing compared to the wending of the soul to the spiritual Zion. He will teach us of his ways. The Lord's children shall all be well taught. And we will walk in his paths. If it were not for that resolution, no one would receive any instruction from the Lord.

For the (rather a) law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. From that city was to proceed the new law—the law of eternal life.

The Nations Changed (3-5)—V. 3. And he shall judge among many nations. It is beginning strongly to be felt that nations should not appeal to arms to decide the differences between them. And rebuke strong nations afar off. To this end the energies of commerce, the instant flashes of electricity, and the interchanges which are constantly now going on between nations are all doing their work in bringing about so vital a connection between them that the influence of the gospel shall be felt equally everywhere. And they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks. V. 4. But they shall sit every man under his vine and fig tree. And none will make them afraid; for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it. Looking at human nature as we find it now, such a blissful Arcadia seems to be utterly out of the question. But the Lord is not one who speaks without knowledge. V. 5. For all people will walk every one in the name of his God. Worship of some kind is a necessity. Never has there been found a people that did not have its god or its gods. But we will walk in the name of the Lord our God forever and ever. If the heathen so bow down to and serve with fidelity the senseless idols, we, who know the true God, ought to enter into a covenant to walk in his name forever. God's nation has long been a mourner. But there is comfort yet awaiting her. She is not always to be cast down. Her people are to be gathered together, and to make a nation once more. I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted. There is to be no redemption from captivity, no cessation from affliction, until punishment has had its perfect work. V. 7. And I will make her that [illegible] a remnant, and her that [illegible] off a strong nation. [illegible] shall reign over [illegible] Zion from henceforth [illegible]. At all events, [illegible] all the glory [illegible] as it was [illegible] David.

General News Items.

Gen. Garribaldi is seriously ill.

The California constitution was ratified by a small majority.

The lawless invasion of the Indian Territory has partially abated.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has commenced a Southern lecturing tour.

Yacoob Khan accepted the terms offered by the British government.

The Cincinnati health office took charge of a cargo of rags from the South.

The German government will probably prohibit the importation of tobacco.

The Senate on Friday last passed the bill preventing the use of the troops during elections by yeas 33, nays 23.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria will arbitrate on the questions between England and Nicaragua.

Tennessee Conference.

The meeting at Lebanon resulted in over 80 conversions and additions to the church. Bro. Jas. Pickett, the pastor, is to have the conference in his charge at its next session. There is talk of repairs on the church which are very much needed. Seventy-two have been converted and added to the church at Gallatin. Rev. Peter Martin is pastor. This is his first year in this appointment, and he has had, so far, grand success. Rev. Joseph Smith and Rev. S. Boddie have been holding meetings at Odam's Chapel, near Gallatin, on the Hartsville circuit: eight or ten conversions reported. They are building a new church at Lick Creek on this work. A little aid from the Church Extension Society helps them in their poverty. They are engaged in a church enterprise at Springfield: a neat frame church will be erected this summer. Here the Church Extension Board lends its aid. The foundation of a commodious brick church is soon to be laid in Murfreesboro. The ceremony of breaking ground for the Meharry Medical Department of the Central Tennessee College took place on the 27th inst. The building is to be four stories, brick with basement story and mansard roof, and will be forty by sixty feet. It will accommodate over one hundred students.

BRADEN.

Marriages.

In Winona, Miss., May 2, by Rev. H. L. Kennedy, Mr. N. Hemphill to Miss Hattie Johnson.

On the 15th of April Mr. Henry Howard to Miss Hester Moore; April 30, Mr. Henry Evans to Miss Kate Burr. JOHN GASTON.
Handsboro, Miss.

On Wednesday, April 16th at the bride's sister's residence, San Antonio, Texas, by Rev. A. R. Norris, Mr. Henry Lewis to Miss Callie Houston.

At the bride's residence, Miss Ida Lewis to Mr. Levi Smith, April 24, 1879. Miss Mellsie Richey to Mr. Baxter Thomas. Miss Caroline Landrum to Mr. Frank Cordle. A. M. GREGORY.
Waco, Texas.

I solemnized the rites of marriage between Martin McClough and Miss Elizabeth Harris at the bride's house; and Mr. Ishm Harris to Miss Dolly Mouroe, all of Carroll county. B. L. CRUMP.
Greenwood, Miss.

Deaths.

Sister Caroline Payne died April 24, 1879. She passed away in the full triumph of faith in her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. She was a true and faithful member, a cheerful and very affectionate mother. She leaves behind a bereaved husband and daughter to mourn her loss. SAMUEL COWAN.
Oxford, Miss., April 26.

We publish the announcements in our advertising columns for pay, and seldom trouble ourselves to enquire as to the qualities or merits of the wares advertised, further than to assure ourselves that they are legitimate and respectable. But when an article performs miracles in our midst, transforming the old to young, in appearance at least, we cannot pass it by unnoticed. We know of people who, years ago, were gray-headed and who now wear dark and glossy hair. How is this? It evidently is not colored, for it has a perfectly natural appearance instead of the harsh, dry, common hair dyes. No! it has been restored to its youthful color, lustre and vitality by the use of that wonder of wonders, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. It has many imitators, but there is nothing like it. The test of years only increases its fame, while its imitators die and are forgotten.—Boston Daily Globe.

New Books.

TEXAS RAILROAD GAZETTEER. G. C. Moore & Co., Galveston.

It is intended to promote emigration into that great empire State of the Southwest, by the diffusion of correct and full information concerning its soil, climate, agricultural resources, public school lands, prices, mode of selection and payment; cities and towns, their topography population, industries exports, — advantages, educational and religious; routes of travel, fares by railroad, stage coaches and steamers,—in a word, it is a very nicely gotten up epitome of everything that can interest any person desiring to be fully informed of the State, with a view of settling therein. We commend it to the attention of all people Texas bound. A good picture of Sam Houston adorns the frontispiece.

New Publications.

We have received the Lord's prayer, printed on fine white muslin in clear bold letters from A. H. Ellers Publishing Co., St Louis, Missouri.

The Preacher and Homeletic Monthly. The May number of this valuable magazine of sermons is before us with its usual variety of rich articles. Sermons by such men as Bishop Simpson, Dr. Stows, Dr. Talmage, Punshon, Fulton; and the thoughts and methods of others on many important subjects exhibit its high merits. Published by the Religious Newspaper Agency, 21 and 23 Barclay St., New York, at $2.50 per annum.

The Only Way

The only way to cure catarrh is by the use of a cleansing and healing lotion, applied to the inflamed and diseased membrane. Snuffs and fumigators, while affording temporary relief, irritate the affected parts and excited a more extended inflammation. Besides, no outward applications alone can cure catarrh. The disease originates in a vitiated state of the blood, and a thorough alterative course of treatment is necessary to remove it from the system. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has long been known as an efficient standard remedy for this disease, to insure a radical and permanent cure, it should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the best vegetable alterative yet discovered. The Discovery cleanses the vitiated blood, while the Catarrh Remedy allays the inflammation and heals the diseased tissues,

Compound Oxygen

In Chronic Catarrh, the cures made by this new treatment have been remarkable. Dr. Wm. H. Harris, of Sparta, Ga., who used it in his own case, says: "My desease, Chronic Catarrh, is so much relieved, that I have no need to use the oxygen, except occasionally. I would not be without it for a great deal." All information sent free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1112 Girard St., Phila., Pa.

Doctors Gave Him Up.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! If that is so, I will go this minute and get some for my poor George. I know hops are good."

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	10½@—
Ordinary	—a 11
Good Ordinary	—@11¼
Low Middling	—@11¾
Middling	—@12
Good Middling	—@12¼
SUGAR—
Common	5 @ 5½
Strictly Prime	6 @ —
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7½
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ '35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$9 75
New	11 00
BACON—
Shoulders	4½@ 4¾
Clear Rib Sides	5½@ 6½
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	9 50
Choice Extra Western	12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	8½@ 9½
Choice	9½@ 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$3 75 to 4 00
Extra	4 35 to 4 65
Double Extra	4 75 to 4 90
Family	5 50 to 5 65
Choice Fancy	5 90 to 6 00
LARD—
Refined	7½ to 8
BUTTER—
New York Creamery, fine	20 to —
New York Dairy, fine	17 to —
New York Dairy, good	14 to 16
Western, fine	12 to 13
Western Dairy	13 to 15
CHEESE—
Western Reserve	7 to 8
Chicago	6½ to 7
Factory, poor	2 to 4
New York Cream	10 to 10½
POULTRY—₩ doz.
Old Chickens	4 00 to 5 00
Young do	2 50 to 3 50
Ducks	2 50 to 3 50
Geese	4 00 to 5 00
Turkeys	16 00 to 18 00
EGGS—₩ doz.
Western	10 to 12
Louisiana	12 to 14
CORN—₩ bu.
Mixed	— to 48
White	53 to 54
Yellow	48 to 49
HAY—₩ bale
Prime	14 00 to 16 00
Choice	18 00 to 19 00

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates,
Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

10 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.
— AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF —
NEW NECKWEAR,
Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz.
EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.
☞ Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,
110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

120 15t

Quarterly Conferences.

Houston (Texas) District.

THIRD QUARTER.

Houston, First Church, June 13-15; West Point, June 14-15; Galveston, East Church, June 20-22; Galveston Tabernacle, June 21-22; Chences Prairie, June 28-29; Columbia, July 4-6; Oyster Creek, July 5 6; Stafford, July 12-13; Houston, Second Church, July 18-20; Houston Circuit, July 27; Richmond, August 2-3; Harrisburg, August 9-10; Lynchburg, August 10; Spring Station, August 16-17; Hockly, August 23-24. L. P. CUSHMAN, P. E.
Houston, May 1, 1879. 20-21

The White River District Conference will convene at Rich Woods, Lonoke circuit, May 29, at 9 o'clock a. m.
ISAAC G. POLLARD, P. E.
Little Rock, April 30, 1879. 19-20

Gulf (Miss.) District.

SECOND ROUND.

Crystal Springs, May 14-15; Hazlehurst, May 17-18; Brookhaven, May 21-22; New Hope, May 24-25; Union Church, May 28-29; Fayette, May 31 and June 1; Hamburg, June 4-5; Meadville, June 7-8; Liberty, June 10-11; Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, June 17-18; Handsboro and Ocean Springs, June 19-20; Pascagoule, June 21-22; Augusta, June 24-25; Columbia, June 28-29; China Grove, June 30 and July 1; Simpson, July 5-6.

The brethren of the Gulf District will please take particular notice as to the dates on which their quarterly meetings will be held, so that there will be no more disappointments. J. CAMPBELL, P. E.
Brookhaven, Miss., April 29, 1879. 19-20

Murfreesboro (Tenn.) District.

THIRD ROUND.

Murfreesboro Station, May 31 and June 1; Alexandria, June 7-8; Ceinnsfork, June 14-15; Summerville Circuit, June 21-22; North Lebanon, June 29-30; Murfreesboro Circuit, July 5-6; Woodberry, July 12-13; Shelbyville, July 19-20; Cookville, July 25-27; Sparta, August 2-3; McMinnville, August 9-10; Stone River Circuit, August 16-17; Martin Creek, August 23-24.
19-20 B. B. MANSON, P. E.

Meridian (Miss.) District.

SECOND ROUND.

Shuqualak, May 10-11; ExPrairie, May 17-18; Brooksville, May 21-22; Macon, May 24-25; Mashuleville, May 27-28; Louisville, May 31 and June 1; DeKalb, June 7-8; Philadelphia, June 10-11; Daleville, June 14-15; Lauderdale, June 16-17; Meridian Circuit, June 18-19; Shubuta, June 21-22; Shubuta Circuit, June 24-25; Waynesborough, June 26-27; State Line, June 28-29; DeSoto, July 5-6; Enterprise Circuit, July 8-9; Enterprise, July 12-13; Claiborne, July 15-16; Paulding, July 19-20; Garlandsville, July 22-23; Hickory, July 26-27; Meridian, August 2-3.
19-20 J. W. DUNN, P. E.

Shaw University!

The present collegiate year of the Shaw University will close on Wednesday, May 28th. The examination of classes will begin on Thursday 22d and continue from day to day till the 28th.

On Sabbath morning, the 25th, at 10:30 will be held the Student's Love-feast; and at 3 P. M., the Annual Sermon will be preached by Rev. L. Bradford.

On Monday evening the anniversary exercises of the Literary Societies will take place in the college chapel. The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at 2 P. M., Tuesday, in room No. 3 of the college building. In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the school will give its annual exhibition. On Wednesday evening will be held the Student's Sociable.

All friends of the School are cordially invited to be present at all the exercises. All members of the Board of Trustees are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting of that body. Respectfully,
W. W. HOOPER.
Holly Springs, Miss., May 3, 1879.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,
A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

FREE TO ALL
FLEETWOOD'S
LIFE OF CHRIST.
880 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.
Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.
178 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
n20 8t

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less then $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

TEACHERS WANTED $50 to $100 or $200 PER MONTH during the Spring and Summer. For full particulars address J. C. McCURDY & CO., n16 6t eowl St. Louis, Mo.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free
Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. via n48 ly

AGENTS WANTED For DR. MARCH'S Great Work
FROM DARK TO DAWN.
A magnificent NEW BOOK just from the press. Address J. C. McCURDY & CO.,
n15 tt eowl St. Louis, Mo.

20 Chromo Cards, Motto flowers, etc., with name, 10cts. Nassau Card Co., Nassau, New York. 20 8t

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
n19 1yl

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Olaude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshell.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't.
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddle, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes Hones, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elsmal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

Ecclesiastical Law
—AND—
Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—
HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

* * * * * *

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.
123 Carondelet Street,
Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

FOR SALE!

A First-class Five-Horse Power Upright
Steam Engine,
AMES' MAKE.
Can be seen at work at this office.
A Bargain Offered.

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

AGENTS WANTED for the Best and Fastest Selling Pictorial Books and Bibles. Prices reduced 33 per cent. Address National Publishing Co., Phila., Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo. 19 8t.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education special advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878-9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
n49 tf Marshall, Texas.

Central Tennessee College
Teachers' Institute,

Will begin May 19, 1879, and continue four weeks.

The course of study will be that required to be taught in the public schools of Tennessee and other Southern States.

Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, Object Teaching, Physiology and Hygieue will be delivered during the Institute.

This Institute is held for the special benefit of those teachers desirous of reviewing their course of study and for those who are preparing to teach. Applicants must be at least sixteen years of age to be admitted, and give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. The use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is most positively prohibited.

EXPENSES.

Incidental Fee	$1 00
Board with lights and furnished room	7 00
Room Rent with lights, to those not boarding in the Hall	2 00

Bills must be paid in advance.

At the close of the Institution teachers will pass an examination and receive a certificate of proficiency.

For further information and reduced rates of travel over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, address the President,

Rev. J. Braden,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Shaw University
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,
A Grand Opportunity
For a Liberal Education,
CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month. Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after. For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, n0 tf Holly Springs, Miss.

West Texas Conference
SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—central for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, competent, Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 [illegible]
Intermediate "	[illegible]
Higher " "	[illegible]
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, President.
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st.
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.
mar63m

E. HEATH. W. P. PIPPEY, M. LARA.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

Indexical Silver Soap.

For Cleansing and Polishing Silver [illegible] Plated Ware, Window Glass, Mirrors, Marble, Paint, etc. This is the most convenient and effective preparation for these purposes ever offered to the public. It may be used even by inexperienced help with [illegible] safety, as it contains nothing that can possibly injure the finest plate or jewelry. Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware have used this soap, and have given it their unqualified approval.

CAUTION.—The original and genuine Silver Soap is known world wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, [illegible] is the only proper thing to use for cleaning Silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by ROBINSON BROS & CO.,
n10 13t] Boston, Mass.

FARM AND CORN [illegible]
GRIST Over 20,000 [illegible]
MILLS [illegible]
for Illustrated circular [illegible]
Address, [illegible] & Co.,
[illegible]

[illegible] Folks' Corner.

TANGLED THREADS.

BY MRS. M. A. HOLT.

A scowl is on my Annie's face,
And tears are in her eyes,
And I can see the feeble trace
Of anger quickly rise,
In the young heart that has not learned
The lesson of the wise.

Her hair is tangled—that is all,
And yet enough to bear,
[illegible] mishap can befall
My little girl so fair,
Than smoothing out the tangled braids
Of golden shining hair.

My little girl is slow to learn
The olden lesson true,
[illegible] patience we should never spurn,
[illegible] we are passing through [illegible] ing out of tangled knots,
Which often come to view.

The mystic warp and woof of life
Have many a tangled thread
[illegible] care and trial, pain and strife,
[illegible] which our lives are led,
[illegible] impatiently we stand,
[illegible] tears we shed.

[illegible] would learn to patient be,
[illegible] but God's gentle hand
[illegible] out the tangled threads we see,
[illegible] meekly, gently stand—
[illegible] world would soon an Eden be,
And life a fairy land.

—Watchword.

"Be a Good Man, Papa."

[illegible] home this morning for [illegible] we kissed our little four- [illegible] good-bye, saying to him, [illegible] boy to-day." He some- [illegible] us by replying, "I [illegible] a good man, papa." Sure [illegible] we thought. We need the [illegible] more than he. And [illegible] give it more effectually [illegible] guileless prattler? The [illegible] the little preacher have [illegible] in our ears all day, [illegible] we wrote letters or [illegible] an irate corres- [illegible] effusion we could [illegible] or penned down a too [illegible] we seemed to hear [illegible] child-voice, saying, "Be [illegible] papa." If the exhorta- [illegible] by Paul or Peter, [illegible] had more force than [illegible] little apostle of [illegible] think not, at least [illegible], how many little [illegible] words, yet by the [illegible] of their lives and the [illegible] of their little hearts, [illegible] most eloquently, [illegible] good man!" May [illegible] be blessed [illegible] reaping of many [illegible] from the wreck and [illegible]—Christian.

[illegible] Drive.

[illegible] estimate of [illegible] to [illegible] from [illegible] years: [illegible] ......146,960 [illegible] ......151,618 [illegible] [illegible] than [illegible] thousand [illegible] rail, [illegible] to [illegible] per [illegible] and [illegible] the last [illegible] 1879 is [illegible] 171,360 [illegible]

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information of two brothers of mine, somewhere in Louisiana, named Belford and Patsy Mixon. Another brother here is Sandy Carter. The brothers were about 48 or 50 years old. I am a younger son of Sandy Donahoe, live ten miles west from here.

B. F. DONAHOE,
Beauregard, Copiah, Co., Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to find my sister, Charlotte Thompson. She used to belong to Jack Thompson, and came from Pontotoc, Mississippi. She left Waco with a hotel keeper named Beard, a year or two before the war closed. I will be under many obligations for any information concerning her. My name was Fanny Thompson. I had two sisters Charlotte and Maria, and a brother Jake.

Address, FANNY MOSS,
Waco, Texas.
care Rev. A. M. Gregory.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to enquire about my wife and children. They were owned by Dr. John Tarlton, who lived at Bayou Boeuf, below Morgan City or Brashear. He sold them to a man that carried them to Texas. I have heard that it was Alleyton, Colorado, but but do not know certainly. My wife's name was Lucinda Jemison before I had her. We had seven children: two boys, and Milly and Celia Ray two girls. Any information I can get as to their whereabouts will be gladly received by their father. Address,

NELSON RAY,
La Teche, St. Mary Parish, La.

DEAR EDITOR—I ask a space in your paper to inquire about my brother who left Choctaw agency, Jan., 9th, 1879. His aim was to go to Arkansas. He wrote to us on the 20th of January from Granada, and said he would write again when he got to a town called Hulberton, near the line of Arkansas, and we have not heard from him since. His name is Mansfield B. Cain, and he is thick, heavy built, and of yellow complexion, young looking, about twenty-five years of age. If such a man is found dear reader, please address me at Choctaw Agency, Oktibbeha county, Miss., stating your post office, State and county.

I remain yours, respectfully,
J. H. CAIN.

A Good Book.

Peter G. Thompson, of Cincinnati, has in press a little volume by Mr. Perry of the Gazette, entitled "Sixteen Saviours, or One? The Gospels not Brahmanic." The book is specifically a refutation of "The Sixteen Crucified Saviors," and the "Bible of Bibles," by Kersey Graves, which have had a wide circulation both East and West; but its scope is broader. Graves is a mere copyist of Dupuis, Higgins, Robert Taylor, and other writers, who have attempted to prove that the Gospel is only a modified reproduction of the hoary eastern superstitions. Mr. Perry's argument was originally published in letters to the Richmond (Ind.) Telegram. At the urgent request of many prominent ministers, and others, these letters are to be reproduced in book form, with an introduction and additions. The theories refuted, though obsolete among scholars, are those which are current among working men and [illegible] who are striving to break away from the restraints of faith. Moreover, they are not noticed in [illegible] of the popular defenses of [illegible]ianity. Their explanation [illegible] rebuttal must be sought in [illegible] and expensive works, all [illegible] which are quoted from by Mr. [illegible]. The book, therefore is not [illegible] a multum in parvo, but a guide [illegible] study of a very interesting department of religious in[illegible]. The reply which Mr. Perry [illegible] the arguments of the [illegible] skeptics, who are now [illegible] so many of the people [illegible] of the Bible and [illegible] the evidence upon which [illegible] of Christianity rests. [illegible] widely diffused. They [illegible] Graves and his allies no [illegible] stand on. Hence the [illegible] meet a necessity of the [illegible] measures should be [illegible] broadcast in every [illegible] affected with the views [illegible]

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

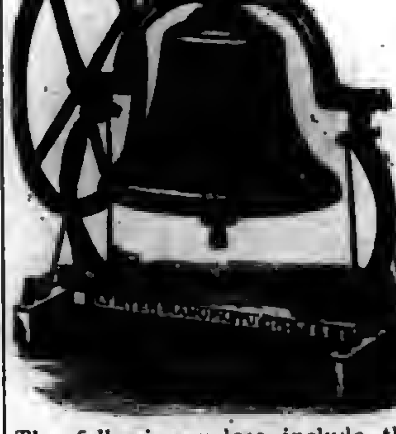
Overwhelming evidence of their superiority over all other plasters. It is everywhere recommended by Physicians, Druggists and the Press.

The manufacturers received a special award and the only medal given for porous plasters at the Centennial Exposition, 1876, at the Paris Exposition, 1878.

Their great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once.

Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, or any local pain or ache should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. Price 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches....	175 lbs......	325 lbs........	$40 00
28 inches....	225 lbs......	375 lbs........	50 00
32 inches....	350 lbs......	550 lbs........	75 00
36 inches....	550 lbs......	800 lbs........	110 00
40 inches....	750 lbs......	1050 lbs........	150 00
44 inches....	1000 lbs......	1350 lbs........	200 00
48 inches....	1300 lbs......	1800 lbs........	250 00
54 inches....	2100 lbs......	2900 lbs........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

7 SUPERIOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SINGING BOOKS.

Should you want a new Music Book, select from the following list:

PURE GOLD (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
ROYAL DIADEM (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
BRIGHTEST and BEST (Board Cov's) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
WELCOME TIDINGS (Board Covers) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
NEW HYMNARY (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
BOOK OF PRAISE (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
HYMN SERVICE (Paper Covers), $10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

Any one of the above sent on receipt of the retail price, or the 7 books sent on receipt of $2.00.

Sold by all Booksellers and Music Dealers.

BIGLOW & MAIN,
76 Randolph Street, Chicago. | 76 East Ninth Street, New York.

READER! BEFORE BUYING A PIANO or ORGAN [illegible]

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and reacher in charge should have one. Price........$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price........$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price........40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price........$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price........$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price........$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price........$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price........$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price........$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price........$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price........$1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price........$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo........$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo........ 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo........ 3 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price........$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost........$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept. 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price........$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each........25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price........$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen........$1 50.
Large size, each........ 20.
Large and illuminated, each........ 25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred........$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100........$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100........$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100........$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100........$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100........$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100........$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100........$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000........$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100........$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100........$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100........$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100........ 75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 90 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price........$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. Vol. II. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price........$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price........$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price........$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price........ 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price........ 1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price........$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.
I. Jewel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price........$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK.

Opening Spring Display OF NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girerd, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50; Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $3; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

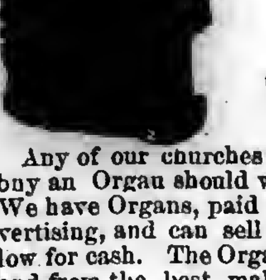
Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.95.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St., Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 apl3 2m

CHURCH ORGANS,



Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

tf

MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

n17 t

HOME ✣ ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp. ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

[illegible]

VANDUZEN & TIFT, [illegible]

mar 20 1y

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS

180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
61 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of DR. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

Has acquired an extended reputation, which its efficacy alone has sustained for more than FIFTY years as a remedy for Scrofula, Ulcerated Throats, long-standing Rheumatic Affections, Diseases of the Skin, White Swelling, Diseases of the Bones, Hip-joint Disease, and all cases of an ulcerous character. It is also particularly useful in Chronic Nervous Diseases occurring in debilitated constitutions, Inward Weakness, and all cases where the health is broken down by the injudicious use of Mercury, Arsenic or Quinine. It is a most useful Spring and Fall Purifier of the Blood, and is perfectly safe for the most diseased and debilitated.

Prepared only at

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

Received the Highest Medal at the recent PARIS EXPOSITION, over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) fits with perfect ease, and is Warranted not to break down over the hips. Price by mail, $1.25.

THE HEALTH CORSET is now made with the Tampico Bust, which is soft and flexible and contains no bones. Price by mail, $1.50. Nursing Corsets, $1.75.

For Sale by leading Merchants

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.

n12 6t eow

Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 33 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address

W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

CONSUMPTION!! CAN BE CURED.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send TWO Bottles FREE together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. Address.

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl Street, New York.

n 20 21

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 1y

EAR DISEASES!

Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's Book on Deafness and Diseases of the Ear and CATARRH [illegible]

no4-jan25-13t-eow

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED.

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—

No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n20 6mo

Plantation Hardware, Agricultural Implements

—AND—

MACHINERY,

Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOUTHERN AGENT FOR

Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

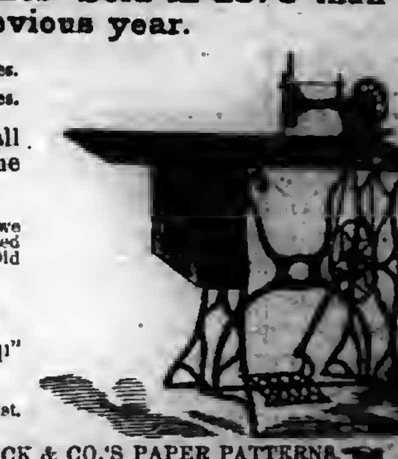
B. J. WEST,

115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.



We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

FOUND AT LAST.

SURE CURE [illegible]

The Late ELDER BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

[illegible] "DOBYNS' SURE CURE" [illegible]

Ky. In ordering write your Name, Post-office, County and State plainly, and your orders will receive prompt attention. Address all orders to the proprietors.

DOBYNS & MITCHELL, North Middletown, Bourbon Co., Ky.

n17 4t

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

PREPARED BY

R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

TRUTHS.

HOP BITTERS,

(A Medicine, not a Drink,)

CONTAINS

HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,

AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints and Drunkenness.

$1000 IN GOLD

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and free books, and try the Bitters before you sleep. Take no other.

The Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief is the Cheapest, Surest and Best.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

ESTEY ORGAN THE WORLD IS THE BEST [illegible] BRATTLEBORO

COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT [illegible]

REMARKABLE [illegible]

STRONGLY ENDORSED [illegible]

FREE! [illegible]

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, [illegible]

feb21 '78-26eow.

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors 15c. LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct.

n15 13t

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold, 10 cts. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.

n15 13t

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL, 14--NO. 21. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 355.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
39 Natchez Street, New Orleans.
PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.
J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.
Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.
Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.
Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.
(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
[illegible] notices	25 "
Special notices	8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:
805 Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

A LIFE'S REGRET.

Turning the leaves in an idle way,
Of a book that I was reading one day,
I found a line at the end of a song,
Which keeps on haunting me all day long,
With its sweet and mournful melody:
"Oh that I'd only been helpful to thee!"
A sadder burden could ever thee be:
"Would I'd only been helpful to thee!"

Few words, how simple; but, O, how much,
The [illegible] had told in that little touch,
[illegible] the story of chances lost,
[illegible] hopes blighted, and true love lost,
[illegible] in the [illegible] melody:
[illegible] I'd only been helpful to thee!"
[illegible] a sorrow the key may be:
[illegible] I'd only been helpful to thee!"

[illegible] rolls on, and the years roll by,
[illegible] perish, and memories die;
[illegible] up with a restless pain,
[illegible] longing, ever again,
[illegible] in the passionate melody:
[illegible] I'd only been helpful to thee!"
[illegible] have been, but not now can it be:
[illegible] I'd only been helpful to thee!"

The Exodus.

[illegible] OF THE BOSTON METHODIST PREACHERS' MEETING.

[illegible] appointed to con[illegible] and needs of [illegible] population of the South [illegible] of the nation and also [illegible] submitted the following: [illegible]

[illegible] the condition of the [illegible] of the South be[illegible] financial[illegible] morally, [illegible] physically; they [illegible] every hour, and [illegible] they were [illegible] as before, and [illegible] than [illegible] intellectually [illegible] keenly they feel [illegible] and at length [illegible] conclusion that [illegible] them in the [illegible] will yield [illegible] the laborer [illegible] crop, their [illegible] and [illegible] here [illegible] extent, [illegible] of money, [illegible] the ground [illegible] before, but [illegible] or [illegible] started [illegible] they [illegible] and [illegible] brethren [illegible] Whether [illegible] Ameri[illegible] is at [illegible] instead [illegible]

sive of all good government, and such corruption should be frowned upon by every American citizen.

Fourth—That in our deliberate judgment there is an increasing demand for the existence of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Southern States; and that we pledge ourselves to stand by our colors in the East and West, the North and South; and especially will we stand by our colored brethren, who stood by us in our conflict with the enemies of the government.

Fifth—That we, as ministers, in our public prayers on the Lord's Day, should remember with importunity the unfortunate colored people of our land and the well being of our civil government and its executive and legislative officers.

"God save the nation."

KANSAS METHODIST FREEDMEN.

To the Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States:

DEAR BRETHREN AND SISTERS: You have doubtless learned of the migration of colored people from the south to this State. Those who have arrived represent that thousands more are to follow. Many of them are in a destitute condition. To meet their immediate wants our citizens have been prompt and liberal, organizing committees of relief and extending a most cordial welcome in accordance with the spirit and fame of our State. Our worthy Governor is at the head of this charitable movement, receiving and disbursing funds in the most judicious manner, entitled to the fullest confidence of all. But the temporal necessities being provided, a more difficult question is presented,—How shall they be educated and Christianized and prepared for honorable citizenship, that they may take the place so long denied them, yet so earnestly desired for them by the philanthropic everywhere? The question involves the interests of the nation and the church as well as of this unfortunate race.

On the 30th of April, 1879, the Board of Church Extension of the Kansas Conference assembled in this city, and invited prominent members of the M. E. Church to confer with them upon this subject. A profound sense of responsibility rested upon all, and a prayerful interchange of thought was had. These opinions prevailed in the meeting,—that for a time the free school system of the state, though excellent in every respect and offering equal privileges to all classes, could not meet their educational wants, inasmuch as many of them settling in colonies would be unable to endure the taxation or institute the necessary supervision; that for the same reason, large numbers of them, even members of our church, would be deprived of all religious privileges. It was therefore resolved;

1. That ministers should be employed by the presiding elders to labor among these people, gathering into classes and societies those who belong to the M. E. Church.

2. That these ministers for the most part should be colored men, graduates if possible from our Freedmen's schools, receiving a small salary through the contributions of the benevolent.

3. That cheap buildings should be erected to serve the double purpose of the church and school.

4. That teachers and books should be furnished until the schools can be made self-sustaining, or until the free schools can be established.

5. That to meet the expenses of such work application should be made to the Missionary, Church Extension and Freedmen's Aid Societies of our church, but, inasmuch as those societies would be unable to meet the full expense, that an appeal be made directly to the members of our church throughout the land.

6. That a Committee be appointed, to be known as the "Kansas Methodist Freedmen's Aid Committee," charged with work on the [illegible] plans.

7. That the presiding elders and [illegible] be requested to [illegible] with the Committee.

The undersigned having been [illegible] said Committee and [illegible] a statement of the [illegible] no appeal is [illegible] prompt and [illegible] Any amounts aid [illegible] thankfully re[illegible] employed [illegible] by draft [illegible] I. Bone[illegible] [illegible] be mailed to each donor. We shall be thankful to publishers of secular papers, to the editors, pastors, presiding elders and bishops of our church, to the members and to all for any assistance. An immediate response from the people will enable us to meet a pressing demand. Further information will be cheerfully given upon application.

Finally, we earnestly request the prayers of all good people, that, in this service, we may have wisdom and grace to accomplish that which is committed to our hands.

REV. JAMES E GILBERT, Ch'n,
HON. P. I. BONEBRAKE, Sec.,
REV. JOHN D. KNOX, Treas.,
REV. G. W. HENNING,
GEO. W. HUME,
Committee.

Topeka, Kansas, May 3, 1879.

Valuable Information.

FORT SCOTT, KANSAS, May 5, 1879.
EDITOR SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

DEAR SIR:—Some of the soldiers of my old regiment have forwarded me a copy of your issue of the 1st inst., containing the address of the Louisiana Colored Convention, relative to the emigration movement.

Having become convinced, not only from this address, but from other sources, that the emigration of the colored men (to States where they can enjoy unmolested the full rights and privileges of American citizens) is one of the inevitable things that is sure to transpire in the near future, I feel in duty bound to give my suggestions in the premises, and ask the use of your columns for that purpose, believing as I do, that it will reach the greatest number in that manner.

I settled near here at the close of the war, and from April 1865 to 1866 served in the army in this State, with headquarters here, until September 1865, when I was ordered to proceed west via Fort Riley, Kansas, and relieve troops stationed on the mail route from there to Fort Union, New Mexico. I did this, choosing my headquarters at Fort Larned, Kansas, which is on the Arkansas river, about where Larned City now stands. During that period I had great opportunities to learn the topography and relative advantages of the different portions of the State. The settlements then were only as far west as Junction City, with no railroads on that line west of Topeka.

DESCRIPTION OF THE STATE.

Kansas has almost every variety of soil and climate; the latter ranging from the cold, rigorous climate of New York in the northern portion, to that of Kentucky and Tennessee in the central and southern portion. As a rule, the eastern portion has enough native timber to answer the limited uses to which it is applied; but all pine lumber has to be furnished from Chicago, or points on the Mississippi river. The Osage orange grows well, and is used extensively for hedge fencing all over the State. The western portion of the State, say from Wichita, on the south line to a northeast direction toward Junction City, and from that point to the north line of the State, is quite destitute of timber, there being not even enough, as a rule, to furnish fuel for the settlers. This want is supplied in most cases by coal shipped from the southern and eastern portion of the State; but in some places the settlers, when distant from railroads, burn corn for fuel. The freighters across that country before its settlement used to burn the buffalo chips (dry manure) it being the only article obtainable.

The staple crops of eastern and southern Kansas are Indian corn, oats, with quite a liberal acreage of wheat in some counties. Also flax and broom corn in limited quantities in places. The great staple of western and northern Kansas is winter wheat, the settlers raising, as a rule, only enough of other grains for home consumption. But as the settlements get older, the corn line is extending westward, as winter wheat does not succeed so well after the land has been in cultivation a few years; at least that is the result of my observations. There has been some attempts made to raise cotton in the southern counties, but with indifferent success. Vegetables of all kinds do well, varying according to culture and season. The same may be said of fruits, except currants, and some varieties of cherries.

The State is settled mainly by men of limited means from the eastern and northern States. Times are hard, and the most of the farmers are deeply in debt; caused by the change in the finances of the country, which unsettled their business calculations.

LANDS.

Wild lands in the eastern and southern parts of the State vary in price from two to ten dollars per acre, according to quality and location. There are no government lands of any value east of the 100th meridian. There are several railroad companies which have large grants for sale on long time and low rates of interest. The Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf Railroad have the unsold portion of what is known as the Neutral Lands. I enclose a copy of their advertisement, which you can use as you see fit. The M. K. & T. R. R., also Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fee R. R. have large quantities in the Neosho and Arkansas valleys.

Now to the all-important theme of suggestions on emigration. First, you will see that we are a people of limited means, as yet. Second, That there are no large bodies of Government lands in the portion of the State that is supplied with timber, except in small localities. Third, In consequence of our condition, labor is abundant and cheap. Fourth, That if you move to the extreme western portion of the State, there will be no chance to obtain labor at times when you could be spared from the crops, and would like to earn a little money either to pay current expenses or to pay for land until you could raise a surplus. The suggestion of the committee to emigrate by colonies is a good one, but the colonies should be small, and thus easily managed. By all means avoid the towns, for there is always a great surplus of both white and colored labor in every town in the State. That the greater share of you will move North is a foregone conclusion; but there are many other localities and States besides Kansas which you should examine. Get all the information you can, particularly from southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, where there are rich bottom lands which are more productive than in our State, with abundance of timber, and surrounded by men of accumulated wealth, who could employ you at different times of the year. There are vast coal and iron mines there which could doubtless employ a large number, and ten or fifteen acres will sustain a family in that section. To those who have a little means to start with, and desire to contend with the hardships and privations of a pioneer life, there are many localities in Kansas that are proper and desirable. Take, for instance, four men who are heads of families. They could, in the eastern part of the State, buy 160 acres of good land on ten years time, at seven per cent. interest, paying one-tenth down, viz: $80. They need one team, cost, $100; one wagon, $50; two double-shovel plows, $12; one harrow, $6; one three-horse plow, $16; one extra horse, $50; harness (second hand), $20; one wagon (second hand), $30; lumber for four cabins, $120; four cooking stoves, $60; 150 bushels of corn, $45; 400 pounds bacon, $25; coffee and sugar, $10; Total, $724; add other expenses, $76; Total, $800.

Now, if any four families can combine together and have this amount when they get here, they could, in my opinion, succeed; providing too many did not get into one locality. They could each build their own house on their own forty acres, and a greater share of the year three out of the four men could be at work improving the land, while the other could do the plowing, etc., until all got an outfit of their own; or they could get work from parties, and thus raise means to pay for their land. Of course, if too many get in one place, the chance to get employment would be ruined. To any that decide to come to Kansas, I will say that you should have about this amount, and you will need more, unless you combine in the manner indicated. I do not say that these are the exact figures. You might succeed with less, but with this amount and manner of management success would be assured. If you can get this amount by staying and suffering a little longer, you had better stay. The best time to emigrate to this State is in the fall; say October or November. In this there are two advantages. 1st, you will get acclimated; and second, you can build and get prepared for winter in time. Spring opens here about the 1st of March, and it is important to a new settler to be ready to raise a crop the first year. It will be found better to rent a good portion of the land for corn than to gamble on raising all sod corn, which, to a certain extent, is uncertain. I have omitted to state that the Chinese sugar cane grows successfully here, and makes fair molasses, which new settlers can raise and use in place of buying sugar.

In conclusion I will state that our prospects were never better at this time of year, and in case of a large crop the price of corn will be 15 cents instead of 30 cents, which will make living very cheap. All classes of merchandise can be bought as cheap here as in the interior towns of Illinois or any of the northern States. I will readily give any further information desired. Hoping you will succeed in your difficult but justifiable undertaking, I remain your sincere friend,

U. B. PEARSALL.
Late Col. 48th Wis. Infty.
Formerly Lieut. Col. 99th U. S. C. Infantry.

Barbarism, Semi-Barbarism and Civilization.

BY A. B. C.

MR. EDITOR:—The following account of a murder is clipped from the Summit (Miss.) Sentinel, of a late date. We sometimes hear ministers, when appealing for money for home missions, talk about "heathendom within Christendom." Does not this account show that we have barbarism at our very door? White men "take up" with colored women as mistresses all over the South. A pure-blooded African is an exception in our midst, because "gentlemen" "take up" and raise families with colored women. And some Southern States have laws for making legitimate these mulatto children without compelling legal marriage of the parents. But if in a single case the order is reversed, and a white woman marries or "takes up" with a colored man, then a wail of indignation is raised and the shot guns are seized, and "gentlemen" rush to the front, and even murder becomes justifiable. But here is the case which your correspondent can give no other name but

BARBARISM.

The Sentinel says:

We learn, from reliable authority, that a big, black, burly negro man, named Souchis, last week, "took up" with a white woman named Brooks, who resided on Tilton's Creek, Lawrence county, and were living together as man and wife. A number of gentlemen learning the relations existing between this ill-assorted pair, took measures to put a stop to it. The negro became aware of the intentions of these gentlemen, and fearing the result, left Tilton's Creek, the woman accompanying him, and proceeded toward Columbia, Miss., when the gentlemen, who had followed them, overtook the guilty pair, and although the woman begged them not to hurt the negro, saying that she loved him, they paid no attention to her, and commenced firing on the negro, literally riddling his carcass with bullets, killing him instantly. What became of the woman, we don't know, but trust that this lesson will be a warning to her in future.

It is terrible to contemplate the state of morals that is existing in our land, when a white woman will lower herself to such an extent as to "take up" and live with a loath some and stinking negro. It must be stopped, and those gentlemen engaged in this affair have taken the right steps to squelch all future affairs of this character in that neighborhood.

One step beyond barbarism is semi-barbarism. In the first, mobs rule, and the strongest make laws; and in the second there is a greater respect for laws; but these are often based upon low and false ideas which yet cling to the people from their barbarous notions in the past.

The following dispatch gives an illustration of

SEMI BARBARISM.

RICHMOND, Va., May 6.—The counsel for Edmund Kenny, the negro who married a white woman, and both of whom were sentenced to the penitentiary for violation of the laws of the State, have applied to Judge Hughes, now at Norfolk, for a writ of habeas corpus. The judge continued the case until the thirteenth instant, and directed that notice be served on the attorney general.

Having given these illustrations of different types of society, the following is given as an illustration of civilization. It is an account of the marriage of a colored lawyer, from the Boston Journal of April 2. This is

CIVILIZATION.

The account is as follows:

An interesting event took place last Saturday, when A. H. Grimke, Esq., a well-known colored lawyer of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Sarah E. Stanley, the daughter of an Episcopal clergyman of Wisconsin, and a lady of Caucasian blood. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mrs. Chas. P. Curtis, Mount Vernon street, in this city, Rev. C. A. Bartol officiating. The company assembled was select, and of the highest character. Mr. Grimke has had an eventful life. He was born in South Carolina, and until the Emancipation Proclamation was a slave, when, through the intervention of friends, he was sent North to be educated. He graduated from Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, and from the Harvard Law School, where he took high rank. From the Law School he entered the office of William I. Bowditch, Esq., but now has an office of his own. He is a gentleman of the finest literary tastes and qualifications, and the lady he has married is one every way qualified by natural endowments and by acquired knowledge for the companionship of any man. Mr. and Mrs. Grimke have the warm friendship of a circle of friends moving in the best ranks of Boston society. It is rare that we chronicle the intermarriage of the races represented by the contracting parties, and we do not remember the parallel of the above record, so far as the social circumstances attending it are concerned.

The Nashville Convention.

FINAL ADDRESS.

In the National Colored Convention the Committee on Address made a report, of which the following are salient points:

"Fifteen years have elapsed since our emancipation, and though we have made material advancement as citizens, yet we are forced to admit that obstacles have been constantly thrown in our way to obstruct and retard our progress. Our toil is still unrequited, hardly less under freedom than slavery, whereby we are sadly oppressed by poverty and ignorance, and consequently prevented from enjoying the blessings of liberty while we are left to the shame and contempt of all mankind. This unfortunate state of affairs is because of the intolerant spirit exhibited on the part of the men who control the South to-day. Free speech in many localities is not tolerated. The right of citizenship is denied when majorities may be overcome. Proscription meets us on every hand—in the school-room, in the church that sings praises to that God "who made of one blood all the nations of the earth," in places of public amusement, in the jury-box, and in the local affairs of the government. We are practically denied the rights and privileges of freemen. We cannot expect to rise to the dignity of true manhood under the system and pay as practically carried out in some portions of the South to-day. Wages are low at the best, but when paid in scrip, having no purchasing power beyond the prescribed limits of the land-owner it must appear obviously plain that our condition must ever remain the same; but with fair adjustment between capital and labor, we, as a race, by our own industry, would soon be placed beyond want and in a self-sustaining condition.

"Our people in the North, while free from many of the outrages practiced on our brethren of the South, are not wholly exempt from unjust discriminations. Caste prejudices have sufficient sway to exclude them from the work-shop, trades, and other avenues of remunerative business and advancement. We realize that education is the potent lever by which we are to be elevated to the plane of useful citizenship. We have the disposition and natural ability to acquire and utilize knowledge where equal facilities are accorded; but we are denied the necessary advantages, owing to the defective common-school system and the non-enforcement of laws in most of the Southern States.

"We therefore favor and recommend a national educational system embracing advantages for all, the same to be sustained by proceeds derived from the sale of public lands, wholly unbiased by party considerations. We contemplate the lamentable political condition of our people, especially in the South, with grave and serious apprehensions for the future. Having been given the ballot for the protection of our rights, we find that through systematic intimidation, outrage, violence and murder, our votes have been suppressed, and the power thus given us has been made a weapon against us.

"The migration of the colored people now going on from several Southern States has assumed such proportions as to demand the calm and deliberate consideration of every thoughtful citizen of the country. It is the result of no idle curiosity or disposition to evade labor; it proceeds upon the assumption that there is a combination, well planned, and with systematic purposes, to still further abridge their rights and privileges and reduce them to a state of actual serfdom. It is declared in holy writ "That the ox that treadeth out corn shall not be muzzled." If their labor is valuable it should be respected. If it be demonstrated that it cannot command respect in the South, there is but one alternative, and that is to emigrate. But, as the South possesses many advantages for them, they would prefer to remain here if they could peaceably enjoy rights and privileges to which they are legally entitled, and receive fair, equitable remuneration for their labor. The disposition to leave the communities in which they feel insecure is an evidence of a healthy growth in manly independence, and should receive the countenance and support of all philanthropists. We, therefore, heartily indorse the National Emigration Aid Society, recently organized in Washington, D. C., and bespeak for it a successful issue in its laudable undertaking.

"We view with gratification the recent efforts of the planters of Mississippi and Louisiana, at the Vicksburg Convention, to effect an adjustment of the labor troubles existing in that section of the country. Believing that through such a movement it is possible to establish friendly relations, adjust all differences between the races, and secure a final satisfactory settlement of grave causes underlying the unsettled and inharmonious condition of affairs now obtaining among them in the South, we would respectfully recommend to both classes the adoption of similar action in the future for the settlement of all disturbing public questions which may arise between them.

"Having said so much with regard to the disadvantages under which we labor on account of influences over which we have no control, we are not unmindful of the all-important fact that we are to a great extent the architects of our own fortunes, and must rely mainly on our exertions for success. We, therefore, recommend to the youth of our race observance of strict morality, temperate habits, and the practice of economy, the acquisition of land, the acquiring of agricultural education, of advancing to mercantile positions and forcing their way into the various productive channels of literature, art, science and mechanism. The sooner knowledge of our own ability to achieve success in these directions is acquired, the sooner we will overcome apparently insurmountable obstacles to our elevation.

"In the struggle for independence, our blood mingled with that of the white man in defense of a common cause. When our flag was insulted on the high seas, and naturalized citizens outraged, we sprang promptly to our country's call. In the war which followed, we did not stop to consider the fact that, although Americans, we were not citizens; that, although soldiers, we were not freemen. In the war of the rebellion, after the emancipation, we responded by thousands in the country's defense, and on the high seas, in tented camps and rifled parapets, the prejudice of race and caste were forgotten in the heat of conflict and the cause of secession disappeared beneath the bodies of white and black alike.

In the light of facts, we demand in the name of citizenship conferred by organic law, in the name of Christian brotherhood, the same treatment accorded other nationalities of our common country. Nothing more, nothing less. If the government has the right to make us citizens, surely it has the power to enforce the laws made for our protection. We have reached a crisis in the history of the race; with us it is a question of citizenship upheld by the general sentiment of the country and protected by its physical power, or of citizenship invaded, outraged and winked at, whenever party necessities and emergencies require it. More than this, it is a question of life and existence itself. We have submitted patiently to the wrongs and injustice which have been heaped upon us, trusting that in the fullness of time a generous and humane public sentiment would bring to our relief the enforcement of all laws passed for our protection.

If the nation desires to maintain the proud position it has maintained, it must say and prove to the world that every man in our midst is free and equal; that the same means will be used to avenge the insults and outrages against the country's flag, and for the accomplishment of these ends we invoke the prayers and sympathies of all liberty-loving citizens."

Mr. Pinchback, in addressing the conference, indirectly predicted the nomination of Grant, which was received with immense enthusiasm.

Ex-Congressman Rainey, of South Carolina, made a speech, in which he alluded to the action of the Vicksburg Convention, and declared that the negroes would no longer trust to the promises of Southern whites, which had always been broken.

This address of the committee was unanimously adopted.

General News Items.

No Zulu force of any size now exists.

Gen. Grant and party have sailed for Japan.

The communal elections in Spain favor the government.

Forest fires continue in the vicinity of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

The thermometer indicated 100 in the shade in Boston on the 13th.

Senator Vest will introduce a bill to organize the Indian Territory into a State.

Henry Ward Beecher lectured in Memphis on the 13th to an audience of 2500.

Charles H. Pulham, for many years city editor of the New-York Times died on the 13th.

Cardinal Newman promises to resist with all his powers the spirit of liberalism in religion.

The Southern Baptist convention at Atlanta adjourned to meet in Lexington, Ky., in May, 1880.

The Secretary of the Treasury accepted a bid for 100 000 ounces of silver bullion for the New Orleans mint.

The anniversary of the victory of the Mexicans over the French was celebrated in the city of Mexico on the 5th.

A confederate monument was unveiled at Columbia, S. C., on the 13th, in the presence of 12,000 people.

Secretary McCrary in conformity with the decision of Judge Dundy has directed that the Ponca Indians be released.

A combination of powerful interests has been formed against the free trade policy of the Cuban representatives.

The relief board at St. Louis resolved to send Rev. John Turner east to present facts relative to the negro exodus.

A meeting was held at the State house, Providence, R. I., to consider the Southern exodus, and devise means for relief.

A terrible explosion occurred at Walsall Iron Works, London. [illegible] persons were killed outright, and several others injured.

Judge Dundy of Nebraska decides that no rightful authority exists to remove by force the Ponca Indians to the Indian Territory.

The House committee on levees recommends that $175,000 be appropriated to complete the surveys of the Mississippi river.

The House failed to pass the bill over the President's veto prohibiting the use of the military in enforcing the laws of the United States.

Poonah, a government military centre, near Bombay, India, was nearly destroyed by fire, including government buildings and forty houses.

The czar has decreed that prisoners must be sentenced or acquitted of political conspiracy within twenty-four hours, and the sentences must be executed within twenty-four hours.

A conference to consider the negro exodus was held in St. Louis, wherein it was proposed to send steamers to carry away the people on the banks of the Mississippi, who were refused transportation by regular steamers. T. W. Conway was an active spirit in this conference.

Gov. St. John, of Kansas, has not forgotten how freely and unquestioningly the negroes of the South helped Union soldiers escaping from rebel prisons during the war, and he says that now that they are refugees, seeking new homes, they deserve as fair and as kind treatment as they gave.

In the United States Circuit Court in Richmond a writ of habeas corpus in the miscegenation case of Edward Kinney and Mary H[illegible] now confined in the penitentiary for violation of the State statutes prohibiting the inter-marriage of races, was refused by Judge Hughes on the ground that the United States courts have no jurisdiction over questions of marriage.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held May the 6th, at the Western Book Room, the exodus of the colored people to Kansas, in relation to our Church work and the welfare of this people, was taken up and discussed. A movement has been inaugurated to get all the facts on this subject, [illegible] to a plan of action at as [illegible] date as possible.

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 21. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 355.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,

39 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
Marriage notices	25 "
Special notices	8 cents net cash.

NEW YORK OFFICE:

805 Broadway, New York,

WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

A LIFE'S REGRET.

Turning the leaves in an idle way,
Of a book that I was reading one day,
I found a line at the end of a song,
Which keeps on haunting me all day long,
With its sweet and mournful melody:
"O that I'd only been helpful to there!"
A sadder burden could ever thee be:
"O that I'd only been helpful to thee!"

Few words, how simple; but, O, how much,
The singer had told in that little touch,
Ever sad the story of chances lost,
Of bright hopes blighted and true love lost,
As heard in the measured melody:
"O that I'd only been helpful to thee!"
To many a sorrow the key may be:
"O that I'd only been helpful to thee!"

The world rolls on, and the years roll by,
And day-dreams vanish, and memories die;
But it surges up with a restless pain,
That fond but longing, ever again,
Breathed in the passionate melody:
"O that I'd only been helpful to thee!"
That might have been, but not now can it be:
"O that I'd only been helpful to thee!"

The Exodus.

ACTION OF THE BOSTON METHODIST PREACHERS' MEETING.

The committee appointed to consider the movement and needs of the colored population of the Southern States of our nation and also of the country, submitted the following:

We deplore the condition of the colored citizens of the South because they are oppressed financially, socially, intellectually, morally, politically and physically; they stand in jeopardy every hour, and have done ever since they were emancipated as well as before, and more since their emancipation than when in slavery.

The more they are intellectually improved the more keenly they feel their deprivations, and at length have arrived at the conclusion that there is a home for them in the West, where the virgin soil waits for the cultivator, and will yield abundant harvests to the laborer all they want is the first crop, then; they can make improvements and increase the comforts of life; here is the pinch, they are poor and destitute of clothing to a great extent, and still more destitute of money, of seeds to put into the ground Books and papers are needed.

We have sent to them before, but they have been cheated out of everything that they had got or gained; now, if they can be started in life to make a beginning, they will become a happy people and make provision for their brethren as they arrive hereafter. Whether revolution, anarchy, or the American government is to prevail is at present in doubt. Men who once sought the ruin of the government and were treated leniently, instead of being punished as their crimes deserved, are now plotting to gain power by corrupt means, and hence their opposition to having the ballot box guarded and kept pure by federal authority. Such a people deserve to be forsaken by their upright laboring citizens, and it becomes us to afford aid to such citizens as they leave their oppressors for a free soil and liberty-loving friends. Therefore we present the following resolutions:

First—That we most heartily sympathize with our colored friends, and that we will do all in our power to aid, defend and provide for them in their distress, that they may make for themselves homes where the wicked hand of the spoiler may no more deprive them of their political privileges.

Second—That while 805 Broadway, N. Y., is the headquarters where the needed aid can be sent, with the assurance that it will be immediately forwarded to the needy, we will encourage our people to forward their gifts without delay.

Third—That any party or portion of parties that seek to accomplish their ends by ballot-box stuffing or [illegible] we do most earnestly [illegible] as subver-sive of all good government, and such corruption should be frowned upon by every American citizen.

Fourth—That in our deliberate judgment there is an increasing demand for the existence of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Southern States; and that we pledge ourselves to stand by our colors in the East and West, the North and South; and especially will we stand by our colored brethren, who stood by us in our conflict with the enemies of the government.

Fifth—That we, as ministers, in our public prayers on the Lord's Day, should remember with importunity the unfortunate colored people of our land and the well being of our civil government and its executive and legislative officers.

"God save the nation."

KANSAS METHODIST FREEDMEN.

To the Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States

DEAR BRETHREN AND SISTERS.

You have doubtless learned of the migration of colored people from the south to this State. Those who have arrived represent that thousands more are to follow Many of them are in a destitute condition. To meet their immediate wants our citizens have been prompt and liberal, organizing committees of relief and extending a most cordial welcome in accordance with the spirit and fame of our State. Our worthy Governor is at the head of this charitable movement, receiving and disbursing funds in the most judicious manner, entitled to the fullest confidence of all. But the temporal necessities being provided, a more difficult question is presented,—How shall they be educated and Christianized and prepared for honorable citizenship, that they may take the place so long denied them, yet so earnestly desired for them by the philanthropic everywhere? The question involves the interests of the nation and the church as well as of this unfortunate race.

On the 30th of April, 1879, the Board of Church Extension of the Kansas Conference assembled in this city, and invited prominent members of the M. E. Church to confer with them upon this subject. A profound sense of responsibility rested upon all, and a prayerful interchange of thought was had. These opinions prevailed in the meeting,—that for a time the free school system of the state, though excellent in every respect and offering equal privileges to all classes, could not meet their educational wants, inasmuch as many of them settling in colonies would be unable to endure the taxation or institute the necessary supervision; that for the same reason, large numbers of them, even members of our church, would be deprived of all religious privileges. It was therefore resolved:

1. That ministers should be employed by the presiding elders to labor among these people, gathering into classes and societies those who belong to the M. E. Church.

2. That these ministers for the most part should be colored men, graduates if possible from our Freedmen's schools, receiving a small salary through the contributions of the benevolent.

3. That cheap buildings should be erected to serve the double purpose of the church and school.

4. That teachers and books should be furnished until the schools can be made self-sustaining, or until the free schools can be established.

5. That to meet the expenses of such work application should be made to the Missionary, Church Extension and Freedmen's Aid Societies of our church, but, inasmuch as those societies would be unable to meet the full expense, that an appeal be made directly to the members of our church throughout the land.

6. That a Committee be appointed, to be known as the "Kansas Methodist Freedmen's Aid Committee," charged with work on the foregoing plans.

7. That the presiding elders and pastors of the state be requested to co-operate with the Committee.

The undersigned having been appointed said Committee and having made a statement of the case, feel assured that no appeal is needed to secure a prompt and hearty response. Any sums in aid of this cause will be thankfully received and judiciously employed. They should be forwarded by draft to our Secretary, Hon. P. I. Bonebrake of this city, and will be duly acknowledged in the church papers. An annual report of our work will be mailed to each donor. We shall be thankful to publishers of secular papers, to the editors, pastors presiding elders and bishops of our church, to the members and all for any assistance. An immediate response from the people will enable us to meet a pressing demand. Further information will be cheerfully given upon application.

Finally, we earnestly request the prayers of all good people, that, in this service, we may have wisdom and grace to accomplish that which is committed to our hands.

REV. JAMES E. GILBERT, Ch'n,
HON. P. I. BONEBRAKE, Sec.,
REV. JOHN D. KNOX, Treas.,
REV. G. W. HENNING,
GEO. W. HUME,
Committee.

Topeka, Kansas, May 3, 1879.

Valuable Information.

FORT SCOTT, KANSAS, MAY 5, 1879.

EDITOR SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

DEAR SIR:—Some of the soldiers of my old regiment have forwarded me a copy of your issue of the 1st inst, containing the address of the Louisiana Colored Convention, relative to the emigration movement.

Having become convinced, not only from this address, but from other sources, that the emigration of the colored men (to States where they can enjoy unmolested the full rights and privileges of American citizens) is one of the inevitable things that is sure to transpire in the near future, I feel in duty bound to give my suggestions in the premises, and ask the use of your columns for that purpose, believing as I do, that it will reach the greatest number in that manner.

I settled near here at the close of the war, and from April 1865 to 1866 served in the army in this State, with headquarters here, until September 1865, when I was ordered to proceed west via Fort Riley, Kansas, and relieve troops stationed on the mail route from there to Fort Union, New Mexico. I did this, choosing my headquarters at Fort Larned, Kansas, which is on the Arkansas river, about where Larned City now stands. During that period I had great opportunities to learn the topography and relative advantages of the different portions of the State. The settlements then were only as far west as Junction City, with no railroads on that line west of Topeka.

DESCRIPTION OF THE STATE.

Kansas has almost every variety of soil and climate; the latter ranging from the cold, rigorous climate of New York in the northern portion, to that of Kentucky and Tennessee in the central and southern portion. As a rule, the eastern portion has enough native timber to answer the limited uses to which it is applied; but all pine lumber has to be furnished from Chicago, or points on the Mississippi river. The Osage orange grows well, and is used extensively for hedge fencing all over the State. The western portion of the State, say from Wichita, on the south line in a northeast direction toward Junction City, and from that point to the north line of the State, is quite destitute of timber, there being not even enough, as a rule, to furnish fuel for the settlers. This want is supplied in most cases by coal shipped from the southern and eastern portion of the State; but in some places the settlers, when distant from railroads, burn corn for fuel. The freighters across that country before its settlement used to burn the buffalo chips (dry manure) it being the only article obtainable.

The staple crops of eastern and southern Kansas are Indian corn, oats, with quite a liberal acreage of wheat in some counties. Also flax and broom corn in limited quantities in places. The great staple of western and northern Kansas is winter wheat, the settlers raising, as a rule, only enough of other grains for home consumption. But as the settlements get older, the corn line is extending westward, as winter wheat does not succeed so well after the land has been in cultivation a few years; at least that is the result of my observations. There has been some attempts made to raise cotton in the southern counties, but with indifferent success. Vegetables of all kinds do well, varying accordinging to culture and season. The same may be said of fruits, except currants, and some varieties of cherries.

The State is settled mainly by men of limited means from the eastern and northern States. Times are hard, and the most of the farmers are deeply in debt; caused by the change in the finances of the country, which unsettled their business calculations.

LANDS.

Wild lands in the eastern and southern parts of the State vary in price from two to ten dollars per acre, according to quality and location. There are no government lands of any value east of the 100th meridian. There are several railroad companies which have large grants for sale on long time and low rates of interest. The Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf Railroad have the unsold portion of what is known as the Neutral Lands. I enclose a copy of their advertisement, which you can use as you see fit. The M. K & T. R. R., also Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fee R. R. have large quantities in the Neosho and Arkansas valleys.

Now to the all-important theme of suggestions on emigration First, you will see that we are a people of limited means, as yet. Second, That there are no large bodies of Government lands in the portion of the State that is supplied with timber, except in small localities. Third, In consequence of our condition, labor is abundant and cheap. Fourth, That if you move to the extreme western portion of the State, there will be no chance to obtain labor at times when you could be spared from the crops, and would like to earn a little money either to pay current expenses or to pay for land until you could raise a surplus. The suggestion of the committee to emigrate by colonies is a good one, but the colonies should be small, and thus easily managed. By all means avoid the towns, for there is always a great surplus of both white and colored labor in every town in the State. That the greater share of you will move North is a foregone conclusion; but there are many other localities and States besides Kansas which you should examine. Get all the information you can, particularly from southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, where there are rich bottom lands which are more productive than in our State, with abundance of timber, and surrounded by men of accumulated wealth, who could employ you at different times of the year. There are vast coal and iron mines there which could doubtless employ a large number, and ten or fifteen acres will sustain a family in that section. To those who have a little means to start with, and desire to contend with the hardships and privations of a pioneer life, there are many localities in Kansas that are proper and desirable. Take, for instance, four men who are heads of families. They could, in the eastern part of the State, buy 160 acres of good land on ten years time, at seven per cent. interest, paying one-tenth down, viz: $80. They need one team, cost, $100; one wagon, $50; two double-shovel plows, $12; one harrow, $6; one three-horse plow, $16; one extra horse, $50; harness (second hand), $20; one wagon (second hand), $30; lumber for four cabins, $120; four cooking stoves, $60; 150 bushels of corn, $45; 400 pounds bacon, $25; coffee and sugar, $10; Total, $721; add other expenses, $76; Total, $800.

Now, if any four families can combine together and have this amount when they get here, they could, in my opinion, succeed; providing too many did not get into one locality. They could each build their own house on their own forty acres, and a greater share of the year three out of the four men could be at work improving the land, while the other could do the plowing, etc, until all got an outfit of their own; or they could get work from parties, and thus raise means to pay for their land. Of course, if too many get in one place, the chance to get employment would be ruined. To any that decide to come to Kansas, I will say that you should have about this amount, and you will need more, unless you combine in the manner indicated. I do not say that these are the exact figures. You might succeed with less, but with this amount and manner of management success would be assured. If you can get this amount by staying and suffering a little longer, you had better stay. The best time to emigrate to this State is in the fall; say October or November. In this there are two advantages. 1st, you will get acclimated; and second, you can build and get prepared for winter in time. Spring opens here about the 1st of March, and it is important to a new settler to be ready to raise a crop the first year. It will be found better to rent a good portion of the land for corn than to gamble on raising all some corn, which, to a certain extent, is uncertain. I have omitted to state that the Chinese sugar cane grows successfully here, and makes fair molasses, which new settlers can raise and use in place of buying sugar.

In conclusion I will state that our prospects were never better at this time of year, and in case of a large crop the price of corn will be 15 cents instead of 30 cents, which will make living very cheap. All classes of merchandise can be bought as cheap here as in the interior towns of Illinois or any of the northern States. I will readily give any further information desired. Hoping you will succeed in your difficult but justifiable undertaking, I remain your sincere friend, U. B. PEARSALL.

Late Col. 48th Wis. Infty.
Formerly Lieut. Col. 99th U. S. C. Infantry.

Barbarism, Semi-Barbarism and Civilization.

BY A. B. C.

MR. EDITOR:—The following account of a murder is clipped from the Summit (Miss.) Sentinel, of a late date. We sometimes hear ministers, when appealing for money for home missions, talk about "heathendom within Christendom." Does not this account show that we have barbarism at our very door? White men "take up" with colored women as mistresses all over the South. A pure-blooded African is an exception in our midst, because "gentlemen" "take up" and raise families with colored women. And some Southern States have laws for making legitimate these mulatto children without compelling legal marriage of the parents. But if in a single case the order is reversed, and a white woman marries or "takes up" with a colored man, then a wail of indignation is raised and the shot guns are seized, and "gentlemen" rush to the front, and even murder becomes justifiable. But here is the case which your correspondent can give no other name but

BARBARISM.

The Sentinel says:

We learn, from reliable authority, that a big, black, burly negro man, named Souchia, last week, "took up" with a white woman named Brooks, who resided on Tilton's Creek, Lawrence county, and were living together as man and wife. A number of gentlemen leaching the relations existing between this ill-assorted pair, took measures to put a stop to it. The negro became aware of the intentions of these gentlemen, and fearing the result, left Tilton's Creek, the woman accompanying him, and proceeded toward Columbia, Miss., when the gentlemen, who had followed them, overtook the guilty pair, and although the woman begged them not to hurt the negro, saying that she loved him, they paid no attention to her, and commenced firing on the negro, literally riddling his carcass with bullets, killing him instantly. What became of the woman, we don't know, but trust that this lesson will be a warning to her in future.

It is terrible to contemplate the state of morals that is existing in our land, when a white woman will lower herself to such an extent as to "take up" and live with a loathsome and stinking negro. It must be stopped, and those gentlemen engaged in this affair have taken the right steps to squelch all future affairs of this character in that neighborhood.

One step beyond barbarism is semi-barbarism. In the first, mobs rule, and the strongest make laws; and in the second there is a greater respect for laws; but these are often based upon low and false ideas which yet cling to the people from their barbarous notions in the past.

The following dispatch gives an illustration of

SEMI BARBARISM.

RICHMOND, Va., May 6.—The counsel for Edmund Kenny, the negro who married a white woman, and both of whom were sentenced to the penitentiary for violation of the laws of the State, have applied to Judge Hughes, now at Norfolk, for a writ of habeas corpus. The judge continued the case until the thirteenth instant, and directed that notice be served on the attorney general.

Having given these illustrations of different types of society, the following is given as an illustration of civilization. It is an account of the marriage of a colored lawyer, from the Boston Journal of April 2. This is

CIVILIZATION.

The account is as follows:

An interesting event took place last Saturday, when A. H. Grimke, Esq., a well-known colored lawyer of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Sarah E. Stanley, the daughter of an Episcopal clergyman of Wisconsin, and a lady of Caucasian blood. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mrs Chas. P. Curtis, Mount Vernon street, in this city, Rev. C. A. Bartol officiating. The company assembled was select, and of the highest character. Mr. Grimke has had an eventful life. He was born in South Carolina, and until the Emancipation Proclamation was a slave, when, through the intervention of friends, he was sent North to be educated. He graduated from Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, and from the Harvard Law School, where he took high rank. From the Law School he entered the office of William I. Bowditch, Esq, but now has an office of his own. He is a gentleman of the finest literary tastes and qualifications, and the lady he has married is one every way qualified by natural endowments and by acquired knowledge for the companionship of any man. Mr. and Mrs. Grimke have the warm friendship of a circle of friends moving in the best ranks of Boston society. It is rare that we chronicle the intermarriage of the races represented by the contracting parties, and we do not remember the parallel of the above record, so far as the social circumstances attending it are concerned.

The Nashville Convention.

FINAL ADDRESS.

In the National Colored Convention the Committee on Address made a report, of which the following are salient points:

"Fifteen years have elasped since our emancipation, and though we have made material advancement as citizens, yet we are forced to admit that obstacles have been constantly thrown in our way to obstruct and retard our progress. Our toil is still unrequited, hardly less under freedom than slavery, whereby we are sadly oppressed by poverty and ignorance, and consequently prevented from enjoying the blessings of liberty while we are left to the shame and contempt of all mankind. This unfortunate state of affairs is because of the intolerant spirit exhibited on the part of the men who control the South to day. Free speech in many localities is not tolerated. The right of citizenship is denied when majorities may be overcome. Proscription meets us on every hand—in the school-room, in the church that sings praises to that God "who made of one blood all the nations of the earth," in places of public amusement, in the jury-box, and in the local affairs of the government. We are practically denied the rights and privileges of freemen. We cannot expect to rise to the dignity of true manhood under the system and pay as practically carried out in some portions of the South to-day. Wages are low at the best, but when paid in scrip, having no purchasing power beyond the prescribed limits of the land-owner it must appear obviously plain that our condition must ever remain the same; but with fair adjustment between capital and labor, we, as a race, by our own industry, would soon be placed beyond want and in a self sustaining condition.

"Our people in the North, while free from many of the outrages practiced on our brethren of the South, are not wholly exempt from unjust discriminations. Caste prejudices have sufficient sway to exclude them from the work-shop, trades, and other avenues of remunerative business and advancement. We realize that education is the potent lever by which we are to be elevated to the plane of useful citizenship. We have the disposition and natural ability to acquire and utilize knowledge where equal facilities are accorded; but we are denied the necessary advantages, owing to the defective common-school system and the non-enforcement of laws in most of the Southern States.

"We therefore favor and recommend a national educational system embracing advantages for all, the same to be sustained by proceeds derived from the sale of public lands, wholly unbiased by party considerations. We contemplate the lamentable political condition of our people, especially in the South, with grave and serious apprehensions for the future. Having been given the ballot for the protection of our rights, we find that through systematic intimidation, outrage, violence and murder, our votes have been suppressed, and the power thus given us has been made a weapon against us.

"The migration of the colored people now going on from several Southern States has assumed such proportions as to demand the calm and deliberate consideration of every thoughtful citizen of the country. It is the result of no idle curiosity or disposition to evade labor; it proceeds upon the assumption that there is a combination, well planned, and with systematic purposes, to still further abridge their rights and privileges and reduce them to a state of actual serfdom. It is declared in holy writ "That the ox that treadeth out corn shall not be muzzled" If their labor is valuable it should be respected. If it be demonstrated that it cannot command respect in the South, there is but one alternative, and that is to emigrate. But, as the South possesses many advantages for them, they would prefer to remain here if they could peaceably enjoy rights and privileges to which they are legally entitled, and receive fair, equitable remuneration for their labor. The disposition to leave the communities in which they feel insecure is an evidence of a healthy growth in manly independence, and should receive the commendation and support of all philanthropists. We, therefore, heartily indorse the National Emigration Aid Society, recently organized in Washington, D. C., and bespeak for it a successful issue in its laudable undertaking.

"We view with gratification the recent efforts of the planters of Mississippi and Louisiana, at the Vicksburg Convention, to effect an adjustment of the labor troubles existing in that section of the country. Believing that through such a movement it is possible to establish friendly relations, adjust all differences between the races, and secure a final satisfactory settlement of grave causes underlying the unsettled and inharmonious condition of affairs now obtaining among them in the South, we would respectfully recommend to both classes the adoption of similar action in the future for the settlement of all disturbing public questions which may arise between them.

"Having said so much with regard to the disadvantages under which we labor on account of influences over which we have no control, we are not unmindful of the all-important fact that we are to a great extent the architects of our own fortunes, and must rely mainly on our exertions for success We, therefore, recommend to the youth of our race observance of strict morality, temperate habits, and the practice of economy, the acquisition of land, the acquiring of agricultural education, of advancing to mercantile positions and forcing their way into the various productive channels of literature, art, science and mechanism. The sooner knowledge of our own ability to achieve success in these directions is acquired, the sooner we will overcome apparently insurmountable obstacles to our elevation.

"In the struggle for independence, our blood mingled with that of the white man in defense of a common cause. When our flag was insulted on the high seas, and naturalized citizens outraged, we sprang promptly to our country's call. In the war which followed, we did not stop to consider the fact that, although Americans, we were not citizens; that, although soldiers, we were not freemen. In the war of the rebellion, after the emancipation, we responded by thousands in the country's defense, and on the high seas, in tented camps and rifled parapets, the prejudice of race and caste were forgotten in the heat of conflict and the cause of secession disappeared beneath the bodies of white and black alike.

In the light of facts, we demand in the name of citizenship conferred by organic law, in the name of Christian brotherhood, the same treatment accorded other nationalities of our common country. Nothing more, nothing less. If the government has the right to make us citizens, surely it has the power to enforce the laws made for our protection. We have reached a crisis in the history of the race; with us it is a question of citizenship upheld by the general sentiment of the country and protected by its physical power, or of citizenship invaded, outraged and winked at, whenever party necessities and emergencies require it. More than this, it is a question of life and existence itself. We have submitted patiently to the wrongs and injustice which have been heaped upon us, trusting that in the fullness of time a generous and humane public sentiment would bring to our relief the enforcement of all laws passed for our protection.

If the nation desires to maintain the proud position it has maintained, it must say and prove to the world that every man in our midst is free and equal; that the same means will be used to avenge the insults and outrages against the country's flag, and for the accomplishment of these ends we invoke the prayers and sympathies of all liberty-loving citizens."

Mr. Pinchback, in addressing the conference, indirectly predicted the nomination of Grant, which was received with immense enthusiasm.

Ex-Congressman Rainey, of South Carolina, made a speech, in which he alluded to the action of the Vicksburg Convention, and declared that the negroes would no longer trust to the promises of Southern whites, which had always been broken.

This address of the committee was unanimously adopted.

General News Items.

No Zulu force of any size now exists.

Gen. Grant and party have sailed for Japan.

The communal elections in Spain favor the government.

Forest fires continue in the vicinity of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

The thermometer indicated 100 in the shade in Boston on the 13th.

Senator Vest will introduce a bill to organize the Indian Territory into a State.

Henry Ward Beecher lectured in Memphis on the 13th to an audience of 2500.

Charles H. Pulham, for many years city editor of the New York Times died on the 13th.

Cardinal Newman promises to resist with all his powers the spirit of liberalism in religion.

The Southern Baptist convention at Atlanta adjourned to meet in Lexington, Ky., in May, 1880.

The Secretary of the Treasury accepted a bid for 100,000 ounces of silver bullion for the New Orleans mint.

The anniversary of the victory of the Mexicans over the French was celebrated in the city of Mexico on the 5th.

A confederate monument was unveiled at Columbia, S. C, on the 13th, in the presence of 12,000 people.

Secretary McCrary in conformity with the decision of Judge Dundy has directed that the Ponca Indians be released.

A combination of powerful interests has been formed against the free trade policy of the Cuban representatives.

The relief board at St. Louis resolved to send Rev. John Turner east to present facts relative to the negro exodus.

A meeting was held at the State house, Providence, R. I., to consider the Southern exodus, and devise means for relief.

A terrible explosion occurred in Walsall Iron Works, London. Five persons were killed outright, and several others injured.

Judge Dundy of Nebraska decides that no rightful authority exists to remove by force the Ponca Indians to the Indian Territory.

The House committee on levees recommends that $175,000 be appropriated to complete the surveys of the Mississippi river.

The House failed to pass the bill over the President's veto prohibiting the use of the military in enforcing the laws of the United States.

Poonah, a government military centre, near Bombay, India, was nearly destroyed by fire, including government buildings and forty houses.

The czar has decreed that prisoners must be sentenced or acquitted of political conspiracy within twenty-four hours, and the sentences must be executed within twenty-four hours.

A conference to consider the negro exodus was held in St. Louis, wherein it was proposed to send steamers to carry away the people on the banks of the Mississippi, who were refused transportation by regular steamers. T. W. Conway was an active spirit in this conference.

Gov. St. John, of Kansas, has not forgotten how freely and unquestioningly the negroes of the South helped Union soldiers escaping from rebel prisons during the war, and he says that now that they are refugees, seeking new homes, they deserve as fair and as kind treatment as they gave.

In the United States Circuit Court in Richmond a writ of habeas corpus in the miscegenation case of Edward Kinney and Mary Hall, now confined in the penitentiary for violation of the State statutes prohibiting the inter-marriages of races, was refused by Judge Hughes on the ground that the United States courts have no jurisdiction over questions of marriage.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held May the 6th, at the Western Book Room, the exodus of the colored people to Kansas, its relation to our Church work and the welfare of this people, was taken up and discussed. A movement has been inaugurated to get at the facts on this subject, preparatory to a plan of action at as early a date as possible.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1879.

New Orleans University.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Annual sermon, Sunday, May 25, at 3 o'clock p. m., in Union Chapel, on Bienville street near Marais, by Rev. John Mathews, D. D., of New Orleans.

Lecture before the Theological Department Wednesday, May 28, at 8 o'clock p. m., in Wesley Chapel, Liberty St., near Perdido, by Rev. George R. Bristor, A. M., of New Orleans.

Lecture before the University, Thursday, May 29, in Wesley Chapel, at 8 o'clock, p. m., by ex-Gov. Foote, of Mississippi.

Annual Exhibition by the students in Wesley Chapel, Friday, May 30, at 8 o'clock, p. m.

For the lecture before the Theological Department an admission fee of ten cents is charged. For the Annual Exhibition an admission of fifteen cents is charged. Tickets for sale are in the hands of the students. The other exercises are free. Our friends will remember the success of our last year's commencement, and we are glad to be able to promise even better things this year. Come and judge for yourselves.

J. S. BEAN, President.

United States Senator Kellogg has our thanks for valuable public documents.

The letter from Col. Pearsall which we publish, gives facts and general information about Kansas, and the cost of beginning to farm there.

Rev. L. M. Moores has changed his postoffice address from Alamo to Freudship, Crockett county, Tenn, and desires his correspondents to know the fact.

Our brethren in Kansas are doing the right thing in seeking at once to provide churches and schools for the colored Methodists who may go there. Read their address on first page.

Col. Y. A. Woodward represents the Grand Lodge of Louisiana, I. O. G. T., at Right Worthy Grand Lodge of that order, which meets at Detroit, Mich., on the 27th inst. This order represents over 2,000,000 temperance workers throughout the world.

The address of the Nashville Convention is a dignified and strong putting of the colored people's case to the nation. A careful reading is requested, especially by those who are yet dwelling under the hallucination that the Exodus is a thing of small import.

The June Scribner will contain the first of a series of articles on "Edison and his Inventions," by Mr. Edwin M. Fox. This opening paper, devoted to the electro-motograph and its applications, will be [illegible] the most complete account of this important invention, which involves the discovery of an entirely new property of electricity, viz., [illegible] of destroying friction, and which has lately been brought to [illegible] perfection in its application to [illegible] purposes, that transmits [illegible] of the human voice is as [illegible] and clear as if the speak[ers] were face to face. The six [illegible] growth of this remarkable in[vention] will be described by Mr. [illegible] with much incidental light on [the] inventor's methods of work. [It is] announced that future papers [will] in like manner include much [that] is new, since the writer enjoys [illegible] favorable facilities in Mr. [Edison]'s laboratory.

[We] desire to call the attention of [illegible] to the advantages offe[red] [illegible] by the "Christian Apologete," [the] German Methodist paper [illegible] published by Hitch[cock] and Walden, Cincinnati, as an [advertis]ing medium. The circula[tion] of the "Apologete" is unsurpass[ed by] that of any religious paper in [the German] language in the United [States] [illegible] is read weekly by at [illegible] persons. Its circulation [extends] to all parts of the country, [from] the Atlantic to the Pacific, [and is] especially large in Ohio and [illegible]. It reaches all classes of [illegible] and exerts an influence [illegible] no journal in the land. [illegible] and editors exercise [illegible] surveillance over its [illegible] columns, admitting [illegible] are legitimate and un[illegible]. This of itself is a [illegible] to manufacturers [illegible], and many of [illegible] it to their [illegible] of [illegible] houses and [illegible] hold com[illegible] do well to [illegible]

The Kingdom of Heaven.

"And as ye go, preach, saying, the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This was the commission of the apostles. It is the commission of the church. The church by the very fact of its existence, by the very word of its life, is to preach, saying, the kingdom of heaven is at hand—is here! As then, so now it is the message which the Great Head of the Church instructs His servants to proclaim to mankind. It is the one great theme of Revelation; a kingdom which is to mend all the flaws, right all the wrongs and heal all the sickness of this great world of human society, restoring all things to their pristine peace and beauty, and banishing all sighing and moaning from our earth. But for the promise of the kingdom we can well believe that the waters of the Deluge would have buried the earth finally beneath their pall; for there is little apart from the promise which should make Heaven patient of all the wrong, the woe, the sin, which each day spreads forth beneath the sunlight and each night beneath the stars. It is the hope which rests on the promise of the kingdom which gives us the mastery of that haunting thought to which all heathen philosophy succumbs—that this great Creation is the sick dream or the abortion of the Supreme.

But God, when sin began to work the misery, announced the promise. It has been the key of man's history and the fountain of man's hope from that day until now. It is the justification of His ways in the creation and government of the realm of human freedom. It is the hope which He set before Himself to explain and justify His deep and far-reaching methods. It is the hope which He sets before us to nerve us through what would else be the desperate struggle to lift the life of our world above a level which might shame even the brutes.

God will renew and restore our earth, though the reign of His Christ in her man breaks—there is the fundamental truth of history. To help Him, the work of the regeneration is the one enterprise which can occupy every faculty and satisfy every aspiration of the human spirit; which can develop man to his full stature and proportion in this world, and give to him the standing of a son of God, a brother of Christ, a crowned victor in life's battles, in God's Heavenly Kingdom, in eternity.

This is the enterprise of the church "as Thou has sent me unto the world, even so I send them into the world." It expresses the word of Christ to the apostles, and His word to us who believed in Him through their word. The true church is just that portion of human thought, energy and will which is in sympathy with this purpose of the Son Jesus, and which has in it the same mind which was also in Him.

Southern Methodist Book Concern and Bishops.

The annual meeting of Southern Methodist Bishops occurred in Nashville May 7-10. At the same time and place the Book Committee of the same church met.

We are glad to note the favorable indications which point to the saving of the Southern Methodist Book Concern from its financial embarrassments.

The Committee makes the following earnest appeal to the friends and members of the Church, to which special attention is called:

The Book Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at their entrance into office, found the indebtedness of the Publishing House to be $300,000, of which $18,000 is the original purchase money for the ground, and secured by the vendor's lien, $100,000 is in ten per cent. bonds, secured by a mortgage on the entire property of the House, and the remaining $182,000 is mainly a floating debt with no security whatsoever.

We undertook to pay, as it accrued, the interest on the ten per cent. bonds, and appealled to all other creditors to withhold all demands for payment until July 1. 1879, so as to afford time to test, by actual experiment, the business capabilities of the House under our management, and upon this ascertained basis to project, and endeavor to execute, plans for its relief. At the end of eleven months we are enabled to make the following statement of facts:

First, The House under the present management has paid all its current expenses up to May 1, has paid the $10,500 of interest accruing on the first mortgage bonds, has a few thousand dollars in hand, an increased stock in trade, and a constantly growing business; so that the Committee are convinced of its ability to pay four per cent. on its entire indebtedness, meet all current expenses, and provide an annual fund for the gradual reduction of its debt.

Secondly, There have been procured satisfactory subscriptions to four per cent. bonds of the House to the amount of $221,000, on the condition that they are to be issued, and the contract binding, when the entire $300,000 have been provided for in subscriptions esteemed by the Committee good and valid.

Hence there now remain to be subscribed to these bonds $79,000 necessary to bind the $221,000 of subscriptions already made, and to provide for the entire $300,000, with the near approach of July 1, the limit of the indulgence asked by us, and promised by our creditors.

A failure of this scheme we would regard an end of all hope to relieve the embarrassments of the House—a disaster remediless and too ruinous to contemplate; and a failure to complete the subscription within the time granted by our creditors would lessen public confidence, damage our credit, and be hazardous to the entire scheme.

All who feel any concern for the honor and future of our church, or interesting in its great publishing enterprise, must see the urgency of its present demands, and the vast importance of prompt and liberal subscription to these bonds.

While the Book Committee are grateful for their ability to make this showing, they "rejoice with trembling," and between hope and fear await the response of the church and its friends to this urgent and final appeal for immediate help.

JAMES WHITWORTH, Pres.
W. H. MORGAN, Sec.

The circulation of all the publications has increased to a gratifying extent, The circulation of the Christian Advocate has increased from 7,000 to 12,348; the Sunday School Magazine to 13,500; Little People to 75,000; the Visitor to 30,000; Lesson Quarterly to 111,000.

An edition of 15,000 of the new song book, "New Life," was sold in April, and another edition is being rapidly disposed of. It is the work of Prof. McIntosh. The management of the House have adopted the sensible policy of paying as they go, and making no new debts.

The Nashville Advocate, speaking of the presence of the Bishops, says:

Our venerable senior Bishop Paine looks thin and feeble. His presence gave special satisfaction to his colleagues, who value his counsels and fellowship the more highly as the time draws nearer when he shall cease to go in and out among us.

Bishop Pierce looked stronger than when we parted with him at Charlotte last November, but his throat affection is obstinate, and keeps him reduced in flesh and strength. It was pleasant to see his face and hear his voice.

Bishops Kavanaugh, Wightman, Doggett, McTyeire and Keener are in excellent itinerant working order, ready for the hard service which surely lies before them during the coming year. The last General Conference declined to strengthen the Episcopal Board numerically, but the head of the Church seems to strengthen his servants for the heavier labors devolved upon them.

The Exodus Mass Meeting.

The following correspondence explains itself:

NEW ORLEANS, May 15, 1879.

Gov. H. S. FOOTE New Orleans:

DEAR SIR: The undersigned, the Migration and Relief Committee appointed by the late Colored Convention held in this city, and Pastors of Colored Churches of New Orleans unite in an earnest request that you should deliver an address on the "Exodus of Colored People from the South."

The late Convention at Vicksburg failed, in our judgment, to appreciate either the chief causes or the imminent serious results of the Exodus now going on. Your patriotic and practical propositions for carrying into effect the pledges of that Convention were unfortunately rejected. We feel that great good would come both to our people and the white people of this and other States by a full expression of your views on the subject now occupying so much of the public thought. Should it suit your convenience we would name next Wednesday as the day for your address, the hour and place to be hereafter fixed. Yours very respectfully,

C. H. Thompson, Marcus Dale, A. M. Newman, R. A. Blunt, L. Gardner, Charles Williams, T. M. Chester, James Brown, G. Fayerweather, J. G. Lewis, L. Davis, G. Adams, J. A. Kizer, W. P. Forest, Emperor Williams—Migration and Relief Committee.

James M. Vance, Prince King, E. P. Royal, Wm. Smith, E. Carter, George B Lynch, Pierre Landry, Levi Johnson, A. Armstrong H. Green of Shiloh, W. H. Golden, G. W. Walker, H. Caldwell, Guy Beck, John Marks, Thomas Peterson, Henry Davis, John Brown, and others, Pastors of Colored Churches in New Orleans.

GOVERNOR FOOTE'S REPLY.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16, 1879.

To Revs. C. H. Thompson, Marcus Dale, A. M. Newman, R. A. Blunt, L. Gardner, and others:

GENTLEMEN: I have this moment received your communication in which you have done me the unexpected, and, I fear undeserved honor of requesting me to deliver an address on the "Exodus of the Colored People from the South," and in which you declare that in your judgment the late Convention at Vicksburg failed to appreciate either the chief causes, or the imminent serious results of the Exodus now going on." You have done me the further honor of saying that in your opinion "propositions for carrying into effect the pledges of the Convention," brought forward by me, were "both patriotic and practical." I can hardly flatter myself that any address which I might deliver upon this deeply interesting and important subject could be productive of the happy effect which you seem to anticipate; but feeling that the dangers impending are not by you at all over-estimated, and that no citizen should withhold such aid as it may be in his power to supply toward turning them aside, if indeed it be not too late now to do so, I shall take pleasure in putting myself in your hands for the purpose mentioned, and have the honor to be, very respectfully and sincerely, your friend and compatriot,

H. S. FOOTE.

MAYOR PATTON GRANTS THE USE OF LAFAYETTE SQUARE.

NEW ORLEANS, May 17, 1879.

Rev. C. H. Thompson and others—Committee:

GENTLEMEN—In reply to your letter of even date herewith, asking a permit to hold a mass meeting in Lafayette square on Wednesday evening the 21st of May, I have to state that the square is at your service for the purpose indicated. Very respectfully,

I. W. PATTON, Mayor.

In accordance with the above correspondence the Mass Meeting was held in Lafayette Square on Wednesday night, May 21, at seven o'clock. We will give an account of its proceedings next week.

Not Too Much Exercised.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate, of the M. E. Church South refers to us when it says:

That order of the Mayor of New Orleans to close up noisy colored churches after ten o'clock at night has very much exercised one of our contemporaries. The Mayor explains that the Chief of Police misunderstood the matter, and that the order was intended to apply to all churches disturbing the neighbors. Well, it is hard for saints or sinners to sleep anywhere in the vicinity of some of these stalwart assemblies. We once lived within four squares of one of Bro. Hartzell's houses of worship, and the songs, prayers and shouts often rang out upon the midnight air. Being a Methodist, we could stand it very well, and we were not disposed to complain. Indeed, we rather enjoyed it, notwithstanding the loss of rest and sleep. But something is due to our friends who are not accustomed to Methodist thunder, and to worldlings who cannot appreciate such lusty worship. Surely even sinners have some rights which we Methodists are bound to respect, and among them are the privilege of repose and quiet after reasonable hours.

Editor Parker certainly does not wish to become a party to the sytematic misrepsentatious concerning the late odious order of our Mayor, which has characterized the secular press of the city.

The original order was a sweeping, unqualified command, to arrest any person who had charge of a colored congregation who held service after 10 o'clock p. m. at any time.

When the Mayor's attention was called to the grave and unjust character of the order, he immediately took steps to revoke it and issued another that was unobjectionable. He has done all that a gentleman of honor and candor, as he is, could do to disabuse the public of any intentional wrong. What he intended to do, appears to have been misunderstood by his subordinates.

But if Editor Parker will look over his list of exchanges, secular and religious from Maine to Illinois, and note their comments on this original order, he will see that the SOUTHWESTERN only did its duty in publishing and denouncing that order.

Tourists, Attention!

The tide of summer excursion travel that for two or three years past has set toward the resorts of the northwest, with its grand scenery of mountain, lake and river; its numerous charming retreats and cozy nooks will this season reach its flood, owing to the increased facilities extended to tourists by the wide awake and enterprising management of our popular Great Jackson Route. The time has been reduced one day, and with no change of cars to Chicago, and but one change to points beyond, a trip to the great northwest is now made with as much ease and in as short a time as formerly to Bladon Springs, or the lake shore villages Already considerate fathers are securing accommodations at desirable points of rest for wearied mammas and charming daughters, (worn down by their efforts in the cause of charity during the past more than usually exciting season,) and besiege the ticket office for choice sections in the sleeping cars. In another week the travel will have fairly started, and we predict for the Great Jackson Route a business it will tax its best efforts to accommodate. Sale of excursion tickets will begin on May 20th. They will be good until November 1st, thus giving ample time to enjoy the summer and fall seasons. Full information, with descriptive circulars, and guide books profusely illustrated in the highest style of the printer's art, may be had on application to A. D. Sheldon, Ticket Agent, 22 Camp street, corner of Common.

Death of Mrs. Matlock.

The following sad note from Rev. J. Matlock, Presiding Elder of the Le Teche District, Louisiana Conference, explains itself:

LA TECHE, La., May 12, 1878.

DEAR BROTHER HARTZELL—I pen this note in haste while being tempest-tossed on a sea of sorrows. My dear wife, the companion of my youth, and the loving sympathizing sharer of my joys and sorrows for nearly twenty-six years of itinerant life, has been suddenly and unexpectedly stricken down by my side.

As a family we are all broken up, and scarcely know which way to turn, or what to do, only to wait, trusting in Jesus, who will, in due time, come to our relief, and make "all things work together for our good," if we love Him as we ought.

To our dear brother we extend our most profound sympathies May the dear Lord Jesus sustain and bless him.

A proper obituary notice of the departed sister will appear shortly.

We are indebted to U. S. Senator Jonas for copy of bill introduced by him to complete a line of railroad and telegraph between the ports of the Lower Mississippi River, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Pacific Ocean along or near the southwestern frontier of the United States.

How a famous author of the olden time made his escape from a closely guarded castle by means of "A Curious Box of Books," is to be told in an article to appear in St. Nicholas for June.

The Holiness Movement.

MR. EDITOR:—May we ask a little space in the SOUTHWESTERN, to express a few thoughts in reference to the "Holiness movement" that at this time appears to be giving the general Church so much anxious thought, (1) and which in many localities has been the indirect cause of schisms and dissensions that must be deprecated by "all who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity." (2.) Feeling in our inmost souls that we belong to this class, and believing that there are many devoted Christians in the ranks of those who oppose the movement, we desire it possible to point out a remedy that true believers on both sides of the holiness line may be drawn together instead of being thrust asunder as they now are. (3.) The object of holiness leaders and people is the same as that of the Wesley's and their coadjutors—not to build up a separate church but to revive vital godliness in the church (4.) It is but a repetition of the old story—the Humble Nazarene. He came unto his own and his own received him not."

Repelled by traditions of elders, and rejected by his own, he turned to the Gentiles. The common people heard him gladly, and the result was the founding of the Christian church by Christ, and its upbuilding by the apostles.

In the reformation of Martin Luther the God of Heaven once more offered to his church, rendered cold and lifeless by false teaching and pagan traditions, the boon of heartfelt religion; a tearing away of the letter and a glorious substitution of the spirit. Thus did he come again to his own and his own received him not. Luther and his sainted compeers were thrust out, and history has duly recorded the glorious result of the reformation. It was a second visitation of the church by Christ, and its revival by the heroic martyrs and light of that dark age.

The forms and traditions of the elders again supplanting the word, and sure promise of God. But as in the days of the Nazarene and of Luther, so the Lord came again to his own, (the established church) in the person of John Wesley and his fellow-laborers, and again his own received him not.

Heart-purity and vital godliness were rejected, and the Wesley's were thrust out by the providence of God to raise up a peculiar people zealous of good works. While his followers were among the poor, and had nothing to pamper their pride, or foster a worldly spirit, they grew in numbers, and increased in intelligence, riches and honors, until their schools and colleges filled the land. Their ministers, who before were the butt of ridicule among the clergy of the established church, became learned, wealth flowed in, and then followed that curse of all churches-popularity-and gradually the walls of our beautiful Methodist Zion have been crumbling.

The six months probation rule is abolished; the class meeting is neglected, or forgotten, and a multitude of unconverted men or women have poured into the church, until the picture of pagan catholicism is returning. Fashionable worldliness, and social policy are fast doing for our beloved Methodism, what paganism did for the once catholic church. This is no overwrought picture. History is again repeating itself. We are on the eve of another reformation. (5.) The King of Kings is again holding out the sceptre and offering the precious jewel of sanctification to His true church. This reformation may be wrought within its folds, it it will but heed the voice of history.

Shall this fourth and grandest of all eras in church history prove its divine power by purifying, without dividing or destroying? The shell of Judaism, catholicism and ritualism stills exists as hollow mockeries in the church. We regard all churches founded upon Christ as the "three measures of meal." The working spiritual element of these churches is the "little leaven." The lump cannot be leavened except the leaven remain in it. Let every church have its "Holiness Band," or call it by what name it chooses, Baptist, Presbyterian or Methodist, fighting the common enemy under their own regimental leaders and colors. (6.) Holiness bands composed of the pious members of different churches take from the regular organized church its vital spiritual element, if organized outside the church, and they drift into fanaticism, causing their good to be evily spoken of. Meantime, the church, deserted by its live element, is led captive by the fashionable world. Holiness bands in their own churches are a power for good, but when composed of persons of widely differing doctrinal views, and meeting outside of their own churches, tends to disintegration.

How shall each church retain its leaven in its own limits, to the spiritual edification and growth of the whole body? We answer, let every church ordain another order of ministers of evangelists, to travel wherever the spirit may call them, preaching "Holiness unto the Lord" as a specialty.

[The writer draws a graphic picture of the advantages of a specially ordained ministry to preach holiness, over the prevailing campaign of the Big Tent. The regulars would go forth duly announced and accredited; they would meet a cordial welcome by the preachers in charge; a house warmed and lighted would open its portals at their approach; crowds would attend — revivals would follow—converts multiply; and when they apply for membership, no side-long glances or cold shoulders would confront them they do not come through the big tent. Wolves in sheep skins, impostors and ignorant fanatics would subside—all would be so regular and serene!

Here is our brother's panacea for troublesome innovations and divisions. Now let all the "evangelists" fall in, and the next General Conference get ready to lay hands on the new specials for preaching holiness—ED] He concludes as follows:

And lastly, let each church send out her own duly authorized evangelists and work through her own organizations for the set purpose of reviving vital godliness in all the regimental hosts of the Lord's army. Then shall we have peace within our walls. "Then shall the word of the Lord run, have free course, and be glorified," and the battle cry of every band of the vast army as it moves with all its newly adjusted and perfected organizations in one solid phalanx against the enemy shall be, "Holiness unto the Lord." W. D. K.

DALLAS, TEXAS, May 7, 1879.

NOTES.

1. Thirteen large letter folios, compactly written, is the "little space" asked for. It would occupy a large part of one page. Dear brother, let us boil it down. We like your spirit, and wish to give you a hearing.

2. The "holiness movement" ought to give the church of Christ "much anxious thought;" but why should that cause "schism" or "dissensions?"

3. Devoted Christians opposing holiness strikes us as absurd. True believers are all on one side of the holiness line—the Lord's side.

4. "The object of these societies," said Mr. Wesley, "is to spread scriptural holiness over these lands."

5. There has been no departure in our churches in the South from Methodist usages, in respect of the probation role or touching class-meetings. The writer must refer to the church South. Among ourselves, however, there is great need of a revival of holiness and Godly living.

6. "Let every one that nameth the name of Christ be careful to depart from iniquity."

Temperance Convention.

We, the undersigned committee on preamble and resolutions, met Wednesday evening, may 7th, 1879, and after careful consideration, your committee drafted the following preamble and resolution, in consideration of the promotion of the great cause of temperance, in the State of Mississisi, and especially in behalf of our race.

WHEREAS, It is the sense of this committee, that intemperance is the greatest evil of our land; and that God's book abounds in awful warnings against drunkenness—and that the Bible tells us that wine is a mocker and strong drink is raging, and whosoever is decieved thereby is not wise; it also warns us against moderate drinking, and the gift or sale of it to others: therefore be it

Resolved, That we earnestly call upon the several fountains, traveling preachers, and colored people of this State to send delegates to the convention to convene at Grenada, Miss., Thursday, June 19, 1879, at 9 a. m, for the purpose of establishing a more uniform system of conducting the great work of temperance among our race in the State of Mississippi, and for the purpose of organizing a grand lodge of the United Order of True Reforms; having been supplied heretofore and sustained by the grand lodge of Tennessee and Alabama, but feeling that we can promote the interest of the great cause of temperance and the U. O. of T. R. by having a grand lodge of this State: before we appeal to the preachers of the several charges to urge upon their congregations the necessity of sending delegates to this convention.

Respectfully yours,

D. A. WILLIAMS, Ch'n.
J. M. GOLDEN.
J. B. GOLDEN.
J. E. EVANS.
J. H. PHILLIPS, Sec.
Committee.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. Geo. Washington, Assumption: "Our protracted meeting commenced over a week ago; 16 conversions and several backsliders reclaimed. Gray-headed men came forward and asked our prayers, with tears on their cheeks.

Aditional donations for relief of Union Chapel, Rev. J. M. Vance pastor: Prof. A. A. Johnson $1, Prof. J. S. Bean $3, Lamour Eternale Benevolent Society $5, Rock of Honor Benevolent Society $5, Rev. H. Green $2, Union Band Benevolent Association $2 25, Amos Lodge No. 1487 $1, Tabernacle No. 2 $1 40. Union Musical and Literary Circle $1, Beneficial Benevolent Association $2 50, Mme. Cyvick $5, St. Jacob's Family Association $1, Union Benevolent Association $2, Children of the Heavenly Kings $2, E. Taylor $1.

TEXAS.

Rev. J. Shackleford, Houston: "I have been over all my appointments and am on my second round. There have been many accessions to the church; the people prosper; the crops are flourishing. District Conference convenes at Beaumont, July 24. We hope to have fruitful season."

Rev. A. M. Gregory, Waco: "We have organized the Ladies' and Pastor's Union in our church, and there are 50 members, with regular monthly meetings on the last Tuesday night of each month. A. M. Gregory president, Fannie Moss and Caroline Daniels, vice presidents; Rosa Bridges, secretary. The scarlet fever is causing death among the children. Two of my children are in bed now."

MISSISSIPPI.

D. Moore, Brookville: "Our Sunday-School is growing. Elder McLachlin made an agreeable visit."

C. W. Ivey, Scooba: "I organized a board of leaders at Prairie Church, and the cause of the good Lord is moving on."

Rev. J. M. Shumput, Holly Springs: "A glorious day in Asbury Chapel on the first Sunday in May. There was 13 accessions, 12 children and 20 adults baptized."

Rev. B. L. Crump, Greenwood: "We have a fine Sabbath-School, numbering 65 pupils. The first Sunday in May was set apart for the recitation of verses from the Bible. A gold pen, the prize, was given to Paton Strong, for 118 verses; others were as follows: Thomas McCain 112, Albro Batchelor 26, Mouro McCain 29, Ellar McCain 26, Bell Dunn 16, Little Wesley Dunn, Jr. 9, Chalmers McCain 17, Lewis Strong 17, James Williams 9.

Bishop Ames.

It is with the deepest regret we received the SOUTHWESTERN of May 1. Its black lines announce to us that one of our noble chiefs has been called from our midst to join the heavenly Host. Our humble little church stands away in the far, far city of San Antonio. As we enter it we behold the emblem of mourning. It is draped with black and festooned so beautifully to tell us of our loss. His work is done; he has fought the good fight, he has laid up a crown of righteousness. Although we have never had the pleasure of seeing him in our humble temple, he is endeared to our hearts and memories by his noble acts of virtue in showing and pointing to us that glorious road that leads to the heavenly mansion where death and sorrow are no more. Lord help us to try and imitate his goodness, that we may be united with him where each is rewarded according to his acts.

How blest, O Lord, the tranquil slumber,
Of those who to thy rest have come;
And join to swell the happy number
Who there have found a lasting home!
On earth with toils and cares oppressed;
In heaven they are forever blest.

There, in that bright celestial dwelling,
They join the sweet angelic strain;
That song, all earthly songs excelling,
Worthy the Lamb, for he was slain!
Redeemed from earth by Him alone,
They cast their crowns before his throne.

FANNIE F. KENDRICK.

San Antonio, Texas.

An Immigration Aid Association.

SHREVEPORT, LA., May 10, 1879.

At a meeting of the committee of twenty-nine appointed by a convention of the Negro Union Co-operative Aid Association and the freedmen of north Louisiana, on the 3d of May 1879, it was resolved to form ourselves into an Executive Emigration Committee for the fourth Congressional district of Louisiana, and adopted this as our constitution:

CONSTITUTION.

Article 1. The object of this organization is to colonize the freed race of the fourth Congressional district in some Territory or State in the United States.

Art. 2. To encourage industry, economy, temperance and virtue.

Art. 3. The officers shall be a president, vice president, secretary, corresponding secretary, and a treasurer.

Art. 4. The President, by the consent of the Committee, shall appoint canvassers, whose duty shall be to travel and organize colonizing societies throughout the fourth Congressional district, and those associations shall be under the control of the Executive Emigration Committee of Shreveport for the fourth Congressional district.

Executive Committee of Emigration — Thomas John, Chairman; Joseph Cleveland, Treasurer; R. I. Cromwell, Secretary. All communications to the Committee must be addressed to

R. I. CROMWELL,
Sec. Freedmen's Emigrating Executive Committee, Shreveport, La.

Letter from Canton.

CANTON, Miss., April 30, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR: When I arrived here to enter upon the duties of my charge the condition of the church was enough to discourage any one. I went to work, hoping that Providence would enable me to improve the church and remove all obligations, some of which seriously threatened the prosperity of the work. The church was divided, but, by Divine aid, I have succeeded in uniting it. The contending elements are reconciled, and working for the good of the church. The members have worked nobly in trying to get matters straight. To sisters E. G. Felding, Rosa Long, Nancy Owens, A. V. Conway and Maria Jackson, the church and all concerned in its welfare, are thankful for their noble efforts to pay a debt of $125 against the church; also, Messrs. Benj. F. Field and O. S. Field, for a donation of $25, proceeds derived from an entertainment for its benefit. We are nearly out of debt, and the prospects are flattering. We have just closed a protracted meeting. The Lord surely blessed our efforts. Twenty-eight were added to the church, and 15 probationers. The Sunday-School is in a prospering condition and well attended. The superintendent is a young man of fine accomplishments, who has the Sunday-School work at heart, and does everything to advance and interest the school. The teachers in the school are equally interested, and are always prompt. We are doing nicely. The Lord is blessing our charge. Pray for us. Your brother in Christ,

J. W. PARKS.

Letter from Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 30, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—I entered my field of labor November 30, 1878, as presiding elder of Cleveland district, Holston Conference, and I received many hearty congratulations from all parts of the district. Notwithstanding the severe winter through which we have passed I have met all my appointments promptly, preached regularly and lectured frequently in the Sabbath schools. I find that we have many embarrassments to labor under, but the people manifest great zeal for the cause of the Lord and the interest of the M. E. Church, and I think it only a matter of time and assistance from the institutions of learning and of the benevolent institution, of the church, and we will stand upon the pinnacle of Methodism in East Tennessee. There have been revivals all over the district. The meeting just closed at Wesley Chapel, Chattanooga, resulted in 100 conversions and 97 accessions to the church. Rev. A. P. Melton, the pastor, is doing efficient work. He sees the necessity of a new church, and he expects to begin the work soon. Pray for the success in East Tennessee.

S. J. HARRIS, P. E.

The wheat crop of Kansas last year amounted to 32,315,358 bushels, valued at the farms at $18,441,067, an increase in bushels over 1877 of 17,998,653, and in value of $3,200,038 and the largest crop ever grown by any American State. The average yield per acre was 19.24 bushels, but the Kansas City Times states that Mr. J. S. Hollenger, residing near Abilene, Dickinson county, 163 miles west of Kansas City, harvested last year from his farm of 500 acres 17,000 bushels of wheat, or an average of 34 bushels to the acre.

Poindexter, of Richmond, Va., now under sentence to the penitentiary for shooting Curtis, the clerk in a shoe store, is the victim, it is asserted, of a woman's whim Curtis made an impertinent and trivial remark to a lady about the smallness of her foot. This lady was engaged to be married to Poindexter, and she insisted that he should chastise Curtis. Urged by her he did so, and the end was Curtis was shot. The fact that Poindexter was urged to commit the first assault by a woman, is now used to secure his pardon.

Sunday School.

May 25, 1879.—THE HOLY SPIRIT PROMISED.
SCRIPTURE.—Joel 2: 28-32.
GOLDEN TEXT.—"But you shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."—Acts 1: 8.
TOPIC.—The Gift of power.
(Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.)

Prefactory.—The preceding part of the Book of Joel is taken up with a prediction relative to a great judgment that was to descend upon Judah in the shape of a large army of locusts.

Besides the removal of the locust plague, the Lord speaks of a great blessing still in store for them.

Concerning the promise of the Spirit here given we note: 1. Its abundance. "I will pour out." The presence of the Spirit has been manifested in Israel from the earliest period of its history, but it had been, as it were, in drops as compared with the fulness of the blessing that in the last days was to be poured out.

We take cognizance: 2. Of the gift itself. "My Spirit." He did not promise them gifts, nor graces, nor extraordinary powers—but the Spirit.

We turn attention—3d—to the extent of the gift. "Upon all flesh." "All flesh" is an expression never used in any narrower sense than "all mankind." It, could not have been confined to the Jewish people. There was to be no limitation whatever about this outpouring of the Spirit. It was not to be restricted as to peoples, or as to age, sex, or condition. It did not mean to say that every individual in every nation should be blessed—but that every individual might be. And as was the prophecy so was the first fulfilment. On the day of Pentecost, the disciples were "filled with the Holy Ghost," without regard to the accident of their birth. And ever since that time no boundaries of race, or caste, or of prejudice have ever been able to limit the operations of the Holy Spirit. Whenever any true disciples of the Lord have been gathered together there has his presence been felt.

4. The particulars of the gift. 1. It was to fall upon sons and daughters, upon the old and the young, and upon the men and servants and the maid servants. No class was to be excepted from receiving the blessings that were thus promised. They were not to be confined as hitherto to the prophets alone.

But the assurance that God would pour out his Spirit "even upon the servants," was quite staggering to the Jews. The "servants" of those days were slaves, and that they should be included in such a prophecy as this seemed to them incredible.

2. The gift was to bring with it prophetic powers. It was not meant to be understood that only the "sons and the daughters" should prophesy, and that dreaming should be confined to old men, and the seeing of visions to the young men. It was meant to be indicated that the various gifts of the Spirit should be possessed by both sexes and by all ages.

Promising Wonders (30, 31).—1. The signs here enumerated were to appear "before the great and terrible day of the Lord come." Beyond the day of grace the prophet could see a day of judgment. The clouds of divine blessing were to be succeeded by clouds of divine wrath.

The day was to be heralded by portents in the heavens and in the earth. 1. In the heavens. "The sun shall be turned into darkness." At the death of the Saviour on the cross, there was darkness from the sixth to the ninth hour. Luke 23: 44. There were, besides, other and fearful signs. The vail of the temple was rent in twain, the earth quaked, and the dead arose from their graves and appeared in the streets. "And the moon into blood." Through the smoke of the conflagration of their city that was the way that the moon appeared to the wretched inhabitants of Jerusalem. In what manner these predictions shall be fulfilled with reference to the future can, of course, only be imagined. In Rev. 6: 12-14, the description is more vivid and powerful still: "And the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became as blood; and [illegible] of heaven fell upon the [illegible] even as a fig tree casteth her [illegible] figs, when she is [illegible] of a mighty wind, and the [illegible] departed as a scroll when [illegible] together." 2. In the [illegible] "Blood, and fire, and pillars [illegible] These, again, had their [illegible] in the destruction of [illegible] In its awful carnage [illegible] in [illegible], and a [illegible] ascended from [illegible] dwelling. Of these [illegible] of the more fearful [illegible] the Saviour said: [illegible] things begin to [illegible] look up, and lift [illegible] your redemp[illegible] sky without immediately spanning it with a bow of promise. "And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." 1. The deliverance has been provided, and in the very place promised. God has fulfilled his word—it now remains only for man to do as directed. He should call upon the name of the Lord. The strength of the church is not in the numbers, but in the principles—not in its men, but in its divine leader.

[illegible] in the [illegible]

Marriages.

At Memphis, Tenn., May 10, 1879, by Rev. H. Primm, Mr. Geo Hughes to Miss Della Gray, all of Memphis.

May 13, 1879, at the residence of the bride, Hernando, Mississippi, by Rev. M. Strong, Rev. B. L. Crump to Miss Jane R. Townsend.

Deaths.

Sister Georgianna Cook, died March 22. We believe she is near the throne of grace. J. A. HALL.
Bremond, Texas.

Bro. Lewis Lampkins died April 5, aged 70 years. He had served as a local preacher many years, and spent most of his time in preaching the Gospel.
DANIEL MOORE.
Brookville, Miss., May 3.

In Grenada, March 11, 1869, after a long illness, brother Jessie Moorhead. He was a member of the M. E. Church. His dying words were; "I am going to heaven," and thus he fell asleep in Christ May 2d, Mrs. Mary Smith departed this life after a long illness. She informed us that all was well with her. She expressed hope in Christ a few days before she died.
D. A. WILLIAMS.

At Fayette, Miss., on the evening of April 28th, 1879, Sister Amanda, wife of Rev. T. E. Bardwell, of M. E. Church of Fayette Circuit.

Sister Bardwell was called upon in the order of Providence, to undergo great suffering during the last six months of her life. She was a devoted member of the M. E. Church, but how long she had been a member and the circumstances attending her conversion are unknown to your humble correspondent. Notwithstanding her long witnessed physical suffering, we gather from those often with her that no repining or fault-finding words escaped her lips. She was willing to suffer if it was God's will, and though desiring to live to work in the Master's vineyard, she was willing to die to glorify His name. Since coming into our midst she has been a faithful worker with her devoted husband in building up the cause of Christ, and by her Godly walk and conversation improved all with her native goodness of heart and purity of purpose. Modest and unassuming in manner, she was in life the embodiment of Christian grace and humility, and in her death the synonym of Christian fortitude and heroism. Death had no terrors to her. After bidding husband and friends adieu with a parting injunction to meet her in Heaven, she quietly resigned herself to the sleep that knows no waking till Death, and the Grave are called upon to deliver their dead.

The large concourse of people attending the funeral was a fitting tribute to her worth and the estimate fixed by the community of her character. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. D. T. Bradford, having charge of the white congregations of the M. E. Church of Fayette Circuit, and most appropriate and impressive were the services.

The society (benevolent in character) of "brothers and sisters of progress" (of which Sister Bardwell was a member,) and which is presided over by our very worthy and accomplished sister, L. S. Sessions, who is also principal of the Charles Sumner free school of Fayette, paid appropriate tribute to the memory of their departed sister.

Farewell, dear sister, we have lain thee away in the silent tomb, and with tears bedewed thy grave. May the soil rest lightly on thy bosom, once so nobly consecrated to God and humanity. The pines that o'ershadow thy grave will through oncoming time sing their ever mournful requim over thee. In the ebbing and flowing of the current of time ages may hold their wild orgies of death and desolation around thy tomb; but naught can disturb thy peaceful slumber or break the seal of thy lowly charnel home—save the trumpet that will call thee to glory and God.
REV. B. L. BRADFORD.
Fayette, Miss., May 1, 1879.

New Books.

We have received the "Garner," hymn edition, from John J. Hood, publisher, Philadelphia, for use in religious and temperance gatherings.

THE GOSPELS IN POETRY.—By Elijah H. Kimball. Published by G. W. Carleton & Co., New York.

The object of this book is to render in verse a faithful translation of the Gospels, and write them in a connected and harmonious form. Rhythm and rhyme have been made subordinate to the careful rendering of the original, and as far as possible the cherished wording of the present version has been in the main, preserved.

The work is highly commended by Bible scholars and critics as being of value in assisting in the interest and study of the sacred word. It is a large, handsomely bound volume, and costs $1.50. We have received the volume through Mr. Eyrich, of this city, at whose popular book store it is for sale.

A SAINTLY AND SUCCESSFUL WORKER; or Sixty Years a Class Leader, by Daniel Wise, D. D. Published by Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati.

This is suggested by the experience and labors of William Carvasso, who for sixty years was a model and successful class leader among the poorer classes of England. He was a man of remarkable qualities, and all these were consecrated to a life of holy living and activity in the church of Christ. This book tells the story of his life in a new and fresh style, and in addition the author gives discussions of the theory and experience of perfect love, of the class and class meetings, and of the art of winning souls. Dr. Wise is one of the finest writers of the modern church, and this book is penned in his best style. This is a book for all workers in the church to read.

THOUGHT ON THE RELIGIOUS LIFE.—By Joseph Alden, D. D. L. L. D. Published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York. For sale at Eyrich's

Dr. Alden is a well-known American author, evangelical in theory and charmingly clear in diction. His Science of Government, and Studies in Bryant have had large sales.

This little book was suggested by William Cullen Bryant, who furnishes an introduction. This introduction carries with it additional interest, from the two facts that it contains an expression of Mr. Bryant's faith in Christ, and because it was one of his last productions before his death. Speaking of Christ, Mr. Bryant says: "I tremble to think what the world would be without him."

Dr. A. arranges his "Thoughts" in nineteen short chapters, beginning with "The True Idea of the Religious Life," and ending with "Preparation for Heaven?" This is an excellent book to be placed in the hands of young Christians. We recommend it unqualifiedly.

THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST.—By Bishup S. M. Merrill, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Published by Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati.

This is a timely book from a master hand. Of late the minds of many have been confused about the Second Coming of Christ. On the one hand are the extreme views of Millenarians, who teach that Christ is to come and reign as a temporal ruler on the earth. On the other hand the Universalists teach a vague and unsatisfactory coming of Christ, which only confuses thought respecting it, and furnishes nothing satisfactory to the devout soul. Bishop Merrill dissects these and kindred themes, and shows their absurdities, and then gives the plain doctrine of Christ's Second Coming as revealed in the Scriptures. His definition is this: "The Second Coming of Christ is His coming unto the sight of men on earth, so that His presence may be known and felt as sensibly as when He lived in Galilee or walked about in Judea." But this coming is not to be as at first, subject to the privations and sufferings or the joys and pleasure, that make up the sum of human experience and of earthly discipline. His second coming will be to finish the work which his first coming completely and gloriously inaugurated, and will be a revelation of His personal glory—and of his oneness with the Father, and his royal prerogatives as King of kings and Lord of lords. In his second coming He will bring with Him holy angels and saints, and be heralded by signs and wonders, so that all will know of His coming.

Bishop Merrell writes in a clear and strong style. His mastery of the subject is complete, and after reading a chapter the reader is instructed and strengthened in faith. This book will have a very large sale.

New Publications.

The Sabbath-School Teacher's Quarterly, Bible Class Teacher, and Scholar's Quarterly have been received from the publisher, David C. Cook, Chicago.

The Southern Journal of Practical Education, published by Prof. R. E. Bisbee, Atlanta, Georgia, has been received. It is a useful magazine for pupils and teachers.

Appleton's Journal for May has a Seat in the Chair of Destiny, by Treadwell Walden; The Golden Mesh, a tale; The Position and Influence of Women in Ancient Athens, by James Donaldson; A Comedy of Superstition; On the Choice of Books; The Seamy Side, a novel, by Walter Besant and James Brice; Apples, a comedy; A night with the Sardines; Editor's Table and Books of the Day. It is a cheap and handsome reprint of foreign literature, published by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

The Popular Science Monthly for May opens with an illustrated article on the Origin of Worlds, by Prof. Daniel Vaughn; The Growth of the Will, by Prof. Alexander Bain; Clews in Natural History, by Dr. Andrew Wilson; Dietetic Curiosities, by Felix L. Oswald; Bodily Conditions as Related to Mental States, by Charles Fayette Taylor; New Guinea and its Inhabitants, by Alfred Russell Wallace; Dangers of Darwinism; Disease of the Body as a Mental Stimulant; On Sensation and the Sensiforous Organs, by Prof. T. H. Huxley; Residual Pheuomena, by Prof. Pattison Muir; The Autobiography of George Combe, by Eliza A. Youmans; Sketch of Prof. W. D. Whitney, with Portrait. The contents cover a wide range, and commend this number to all lovers of scientific thought. It is sold at all news stands, and published by D. Appleton & Co., 549 and 551, Broadway, New York. We are indebted to the publishers for a copy of the April number also. It has a portrait of Sir Humphrey Davy and a sketch of John Stuart Mill, by Alexander Bain, and an inviting list of contents.

Not Deserving of Pity.

Beggared spendthrifts to whom money has no exchange value but pleasure.

Persons who will persist in dying by inches with dyspepsia and liver diseases when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unfailing remedies for these maladies.

Parents who spare the rod and ruin the child. Fast young men and women are generally spoiled children to begin with.

People who suffer from catarrh, when Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is a safe, reliable and well-tested remedy for this loathsome disease.

People who marry for money, and find too late that the golden glitter is all moonshine.

Women who suffer death every day of their lives, when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effectually remove those painful weaknesses and impart a healthful tone and strength to the whole system.

People who live beyond their means and find that style and pride like every thing else in this world, unless placed upon a secure foundation, are subject to the law of gravation.

Invalids who do more toward fostering disease, by living and sleeping in the low, unventilated rooms of the ordinary house, than the best medicines can accomplish toward recovery, when at a moderate expense they can secure all the hygienic and sanitary advantages of the Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y. Every physician knows how much recovery depends upon good nursing and the hygienic condition of the sick room. Chronic diseases are especially subject to these conditions.

Feels Young Again.

"My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady, Providence, R. I.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 19, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinery	11⅛@—
Ordinary	—@11⅝
Good Ordinary	—@12
Low Middling	—@12¼
Middling	—@12¾
Good Middling	—@13¼
SUGAR—
Common	—@ 5¼
Strictly Prime	6 @ —
Yellow Clarified	6⅞@ 7¼
White	7¼@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE— Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$10 00
New	11 25
BACON—
Shoulders	4⅜@ —
Clear Rib Sides	5⅜@ 5½
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	9 50
Choice Extra Western	12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	9 @ 9½
Choice	9½ a 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$3 75 to 4 00
Extra	4 25 to 4 50
Double Extra	4 87 to 5 12
Family	5 70 to 5 8
Choice Fancy	6 00 to 6 37
LARD—
Refined	— to 7⅛
BUTTER..
New York Creamery, fine	20 to —
New York Dairy, fine	18 to —
New York Dairy, good	15 to —
Western Creamery	21 to 23
Western Dairy	12 to 13
CHEESE..
Western Reserve	7½ to 8
Chicago	6½ to —
New York Cream	9½ to 10
POULTRY—℔ doz.
Old Chickens	4 00 to 5 00
Young do	3 50 to 4 00
Ducks	3 50 to 4 00
Geese	4 00 to 5 0
Turkeys	16 00 to 18 00
EGGS—℔ doz.
Western	10 to 11
Louisiana	11 to 12

Quarterly Conferences.

Holly Springs, (Miss.) District Conference
SECOND ROUND.

Kosciusko, June 7-8; Mt Pleasant, June 10-11; Winona, June 14-15; Grenada Circuit, June 17-18; Grenada, June 21-22; Oxford June 28-29; Holly Springs, July 5-6; Holly Springs Circuit, July 12-13; Cornersville, July 16-17; Abbeville, July 19-20; Elijah 19-20; Chulahoma, July 26-27; Byhalia, July 29-30; Lafayette Circuit, August 2-3; Attala, August 9-10; French Camp, August 16-17; New Albany, August 21-21; Ripley, August 30-31; Carthage, September 6-7, 21-22. J. G. JOHNSON P. E.

Nashville (Tenn) District. Conference.
THIRD ROUND.

Springhill, May 8' and June 1; Liffards, June 7-8; Franklin, June 14-15; Mill Creek June 21-22; Harsville, June 28-29; Mitchellsville, July 5-6; Gallatin, July 12-13; Lebanon, July 19-20; Springfield, July 26-27; Dickson, August 2-3; Dover, August 9-10; Nashville Circuit, 16-17; Clark Chapel, August 23-24. C. PICKETT P. E. 22-23

Houston (Texas) District.
THIRD QUARTER.

Houston, First Church, June 13-15; West Point, June 14-15; Galveston, East Church, June 20-22; Galveston Tabernacle, June 21-22; Chances Prairie, June 28-29; Columbia, July 4-6; Oyster Creek, July 5-6; Stafford, July 12-13; Houston, Second Church, July 18-20; Houston Circuit, July 27; Richmond, August 2-3; Harrisburg, August 9-10; Lynchburg, August 10; Spring Station, August 16-17; Hockly, August 23-24. L. P. CUSHMAN, P. E.
Houston, May 1, 1879. 20-21

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates,
Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.
Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.
The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,
TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.
For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.
—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—
NEW NECKWEAR,
Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz
EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.
☞ Country Orders will have Prompt Attention
B. T. WALSHE,
110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
20 15t

Reed & Barton,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SILVER-PLATED TABLE WARE
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

WOULD CALL SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THEIR PATENT
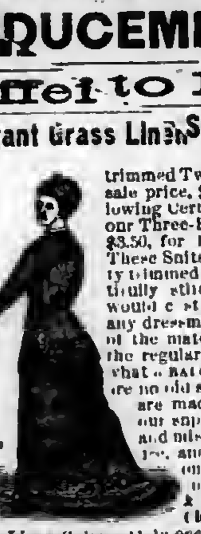
CHINA-LINED
Ice Pitchers

The lining is held in position by the thumb-screws in the cover, and can be easily removed, thus enabling every part to be cleaned, leaving no chance for the collection of rust or other foreign matter between the lining and outer wall. The lining is made of fine stone china, and has no equal for preserving ice and keeping water pure.

686 BROADWAY, N. Y.
For Sale by Dealers in Silver and Silver-Plated Ware.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.
Special Offer to Ladies
Look at our Prices on Elegant Grass Linen Suits, Ready Made.



Special Offer.
Having completed arrangements with one of the largest linen factories in the United States for an unlimited supply of elegant Grass Linen, at the extremely low prices reached during the prevailing dullness stagnation, and having largely increased our facilities for the manufacture of Ladies' and Misses' Linen Suits, we have decided to make an important departure from the course usually adopted by similar establishments, and to place ourselves directly in communication with the consumer, thus avoiding the enormous profits required by middlemen and the retail trade, and enabling us to make the following unprecedented offer: We will send to every person, FREE OF ANY EXTRA CHARGE, one of our elegantly trimmed Two-Piece Linen Suits, wholesale price, $2.50, on receipt of the following Certificate and $2.00, or one of our Three-Piece Suits, wholesale value $3.50, for the Certificate and $2.50.—These Suits are elegantly and tastefully trimmed with black or brown, beautifully stitched. The making alone would cost you from $3.50 to $5.00 at any dressmaker's. Then add the cost of the material, at 50 cents per yard, the regular retail price, and you see what a BARGAIN we offer. These Suits are no old style, shelf-worn goods, but are made to our order and under our supervision. We have ladies' and misses' sizes. Send bust measure, and we can fit you nicely. Cut out the following Certificate and send to P. W. WILLIAMS & CO., 18 & 20 Third Avenue, Chicago. It is good for half a dollar in part payment for one of our Linen Suits. Only one Certificate will be received toward each Suit. Ladies acting as Agents, and sending in Clubs of Ten, will be allowed One Suit FREE. Send money by registered letter or post-office money order; either way is safe. Remember, this price covers all packing, shipping and express charges on Suits. We will fill all orders received before the 15th of September at these prices. Give plain shipping directions—name, postoffice, county and State.

This Certificate Good for FIFTY CENTS with P. W. WILLIAMS & CO.
Cut this out and inclose with it $2.00, and we will send you one of our Two-Piece Linen Suits, elegantly trimmed. Free of extra charge.
P. W. WILLIAMS & Co., 18 & 20 Third Ave., Chicago.
By inclosing $2.50 with this Certificate you will be entitled to one of our THREE-PIECE Linen Suits, Free

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,
A Grand Opportunity
For a Liberal Education,
CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES
besides the First Steps in
Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is
BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.
The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.
Tuition Free. Incidentals, 50 cts per month. Board from $8 to $10 per month.
We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.
SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.
Our students are everywhere sought after.
For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, Holly Springs, Miss.
n6 tf

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

AGENTS WANTED For DR. MARCH'S Great Work FROM DARK TO DAWN.
A magnificent NEW BOOK just from the press. Address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.
n15 7t eow]

20 Chromo Cards, Motto flowers, etc., with name, 10cts. Nassau Card Co., Nassau, New York. 20 4t

West Texas Conference
SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—centre for the Conference and easy of access.
The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.
This School has earnest, competent Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 00
Intermediate " "	1 50
Higher " "	2 00
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.
Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, President
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.
mar63m

GUIDE to SUCCESS, WITH FORMS FOR Business AND Society

Is BY FAR the best Business and Social Guide and Hand-Book ever published. Much the latest. It tells both sexes completely HOW TO DO EVERYTHING in the best way, HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER, and contains a gold mine of varied information indispensable to all classes for constant reference. AGENTS WANTED for all or spare time. To know why this book of REAL value and attractions sells better than any other, apply for terms to H. B. SCAMMELL & CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.
n21 6m

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO., Atlanta, Ga.
n12 tf

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.
Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabrell Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Keziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.
This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.
Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.
The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Guddis Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.
Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan1779-tf.

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.
—BY—
HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.
8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.
The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.
A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term March 24.
The expenses of attending this school are small compared with those of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50

Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.
Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.
Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.
All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878-9.
First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t
Third " " March 24, " June 12th
For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS, Wiley University, Marshall, Texas.
149 tf

Shaw University!

The present collegiate year of the Shaw University will close on Wednesday, May 28th. The examination of classes will begin on Thursday 22d and continue from day to day till the 28th.
On Sabbath morning, the 25th, at 10:30 will be held the Student's Love-feast; and at 3 P. M., the Annual Sermon will be preached by Rev L. Bradford.
On Monday evening the anniversary exercises of the Literary Societies will take place in the college chapel. The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at 2 P. M., Tuesday, in room No. 3 of the college building. In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the school will give its annual exhibition. On Wednesday evening will be held the Student's Sociable.
All friends of the School are cordially invited to be present at all the exercises. All members of the Board of Trustees are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting of that body. Respectfully, W. W. HOOPER.
Holly Springs, Miss., May 5, 1879.

Indexical Silver Soap.

For Cleansing and Polishing Silver and Plated Ware, Window Glass, Mirrors, Marble, Paint, etc. This is the most convenient and effective preparation for these purposes ever offered to the public. It may be used even by inexperienced help with entire safety, as it contains nothing that can possibly injure the finest plate or jewelry. Many of our largest Manufacturers and Importers of Silver and Plated Ware have used this soap, and have given it their unqualified approval.
CAUTION.—The original and only genuine Silver Soap is known world wide as the INDEXICAL SILVER SOAP, and is the only proper thing to use for cleaning silver, Electro Plated Goods, Marble, Jewelry, Statuary, etc. Made only by ROBINSON BROS & CO., Boston, Mass.
n10 12t]

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once, A. C. MORTON & CO., Atlanta, Ga.
n12 tf

FARM GRIST MILLS AND CORN-SHELLERS. Over 25,000 Now in Use.
Every machine is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or no pay. Price of mills, $12; Shellers, $5. Every Farmer should have them. Send for Illustrated circulars and terms to agents. Address, LIVINGSTON & Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.
19 2t eow.

ARTIST'S MATERIALS, Wax, Goods, Shades, &c. A. H. ABBOTT & Co, Chicago.
n12 4t em

S. S. Requisites.

—:o:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.
☞ All Orders Payable in Advance.
YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate—Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Classmate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	30cts

The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.

The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:
When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be resent without cost to the subscribers.
If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.
Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.
No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.
Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address
Phillips & Hunt,

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - 50 cents

24 mo.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - 50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each - - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - $1 50

16 mo.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual,
Cloth, each - - - - - - - 75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.
☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.
Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Sheep, each - - - - - - - $1 50
Roan, embossed - - - - - - 2 00

12mo., with Tunes.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - $1 00
This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.
With sections 481–484 of Ritual.
Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges - - - 2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.
123 Carondelet Street,
Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.
n 20 3m

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work, and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 16mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fullness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have made this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

SEWING MACHINES
Cheap for Cash.

We have some Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf] New Orleans.

AGENTS who know enough to try to sell only WANTED thoroughly useful and first-class works, send for our liberal terms on the famous DR. W. W. HALL'S great Family Medical book
HEALTH AT HOME
by far the best out and one with which Agents succeed better and longer than any other. To get in the way of making money for all or part of your time write to STANDARD PUB. HOUSE, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Young Folks' Corner.

SHOWER AND FLOWERS.

Down the little drops patter,
Making a musical clatter,
Out of the clouds they throng:
Freshness of heaven they scatter
Little dark rootlets among.
"Coming to visit you, Posies!
Open your hearts to us Roses!"
That is the Raindrops' song.

Up the little seed rises;
Buds of all colors and sizes
Clamber up out of the ground.
Gently the blue sky supprises
The earth with that soft rushing sound
"Welcome!" the brown bees are humming.
"Come! for we wait for your coming!"
Whisper the wild flowers around.

"Shower, it is pleasant to hear you!"
"Flower, it is sweet to be near you!"
This is the song everywhere.
Listen! the music will cheer you!
Raindrop and blossom so fair
Gladly are meeting together
Out in the beautiful weather,—
Oh, the sweet song in the air!

—Lucy Larcom, in St. Nicholas.

The Boy and the Duke.

An English farmer was one day at work in the fields, when he saw a party of huntsmen riding about his farm. He had one field that he was specially anxious they should not ride over, as the crop was in a condition to be badly injured by the tramp of horses; so he despatched a boy in his employ to his field, telling him to shut the gate, and keep watch over it, and on no account to suffer it to be opened. The boy went as he was bid, but was scarcely at his post before the huntsmen came up, peremptorily ordering the gate to be opened. This the boy declined to do, stating the orders he had received, and his determination not to disobey them. Threats and bribes were offered, alike in vain. One after another came forward as spokesman, but all with the same result; the boy remained immovable in his determination not to open the gate. After a while, one of noble presence advanced, and said, in commanding tones:

"My boy, do you know me? I am the Duke of Wellington—one not accustomed to be disobeyed; and I command you to open that gate, that I and my friends may pass through."

The boy lifted his cap and stood uncovered before the man whom all England delighted to honour; then answered firmly, "I am sure the Duke of Wellington would not wish me to disobey orders. I must keep this gate shut; no one is to pass through but with my master's express permission."

Greatly pleased, the sturdy old warrior lifted his own hat, and said, "I honor the man or boy who can be neither bribed nor frightened into doing wrong. With an army of such soldiers, I could conquer not only the French, but the world." And, handing the boy a glittering sovereign, the old duke put spurs to his horse, and galloped away; while the boy ran off to his work, shouting at the top of his voice, "Hurrah! hurrah! I've done what Napoleon couldn't do—I've kept out the Duke of Wellington."

A Little Boy's Sermon.

"Eddie," said Harry, "I'll be a minister, and preach you a sermon."

"Well," said Eddie, "and I'll be the peoples."

Harry began: "My text is a short and easy one,—Be kind. There are some little texts in the Bible on purpose for little children, and this is one of them. These are the heads of my sermon:

First: Be kind to papa, and don't make a noise when he has a headache. I don't believe you know what a headache is; but I do. I had one once, and I did not want to hear any one speak a word:

Second: Be kind to mamma, and do not make her tell you to do a thing more than once. It is very tiresome to say, 'It is time for you to go to bed,' half a dozen times over.

Third: Be kind to baby"—

"You have left out, be kind to Harry," interrupted Eddie.

"Yes," said Harry, "I didn't mean to mention my own name in the sermon. I was saying, Be kind to little Minnie, and let her have your tin soldier to play with when she wants it.

Fourth: Be kind to Jane, and don't scream and kick when she washes and dresses you."

Here Eddie looked a little [illegible], and said, "But she pulled my hair with the comb."

"People mustn't talk in meeting," said Harry. "Fifth: Be kind to pussy. Do what will make her [illegible], and don't do what will make her cry."

"Isn't the sermon most done?" [illegible] Eddie: "I want to sing." And [illegible] waiting for Harry to finish [illegible] or give out a hymn, [illegible] to sing, and so Harry [illegible] stop.—Children's Record.

[illegible] was obliged to [illegible] of medicine that left an [illegible] taste in the mouth. [illegible] he liked it he [illegible], all but [illegible] Register.

[illegible] truthful, [illegible] much

The President's Second Veto.

WASHINGTON, May 12, 1879.

The following is a synopsis of the President's message vetoing the Ladd bill:

To the House of Representatives:

After careful consideration of the bill entitled "An act to prohibit military interference at elections," I return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

In the communication sent to the House of Representatives on the twenty-ninth of last month, returning to the House without my approval the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," I endeavored to show by quotations from the statutes of the United States now in force, and by a brief statement of facts in regard to recent elections in several States, that no additional legislation was necessary to prevent interference with elections by the military or naval force of the United States. I am forced to the conclusion that the bill before me is not only unnecessary to prevent such interference but is a dangerous departure from long settled and important constitutional principles. The true rule as to the employment of a military force at the elections is not doubtful. No intimidation or coercion should be allowed to control or influence citizens in the exercise of their right to vote, wether it appears in shape of combinations of evil disposed persons or armed bodies of militia of a State, or of the military force of the United States. The elections should be free from all forcible interference, and, as far as practicable, from all apprehension of such interference.

No soldiers, either of the Union or of the State, should be present at the polls to take the place or perform the duties of the ordinary civil police force. There has been and will be no violation of this rule under orders from me during this administration, but there should be no denial of the right of the national government to employ its military force on any day and at any place in case such employment is necessary to enforce the constitution and laws of the United States.

[The President then quotes acts authorizing the use of the military power by the Executive at considerable length, and further said that the whiskey rebellion in Pennsylvania and the Burr conspiracy, the nullification in South Carolina, where it was crushed by the Federal government acting on this principle, and that on the same authority President Lincoln issued his proclamation for troops to save the Union in 1861.]

Another grave objection to the bill is its discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority. The presence or employment of the army or navy of the United States is lawful under the terms of this bill at the place where an election is being held in a State, to uphold the authority of the State government then and there in need of such military intervention, but unlawful to uphold the authority of the government of the United States then and there in need of such military intervention. Under this bill the presence and employment of the army or navy of the United States would be lawful, and might be necessary to maintain the conduct of a State election against the domestic violence that would overthrow it, but would be unlawful to maintain the conduct of a national election against the same local violence that would overthrow it. This discrimination has never been attempted in any previous legislation by Congress, and is no more compatible with the sound principles of the constitution, or necessary measure and methods of our system of government on occasions of elections than at other times. In the early legislation of 1792 and of 1795, by which the militia of the States was the only military power resorted to for the execution of the constitutional power in support of State or national authority, both functions of the government were put on the same footing. By the act of 1807, the employment of the army and navy was authorized for the performance of both constitutional duties in the same terms. In all later statutes on the same subject matter some measure of authority to the government has been accorded for the performance of both these duties. No precedent has been found in any previous legislation, and no sufficient reason has been given for the discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority which this bill contains. Under the sweeping terms of the bill the national government is effectually shut out from the exercise of the right and from the discharge of the imperative duty to use its whole executive power, whenever and wherever required for the enforcement of its laws, in places and times where and when its elections are held. The employment of its organized armed force for any such purpose would be an offense against law, unless called for by, and therefore upon the permission of the authorities of the State in which the occasion arises. What is this but the substitution of the discretion of the State governments for the discretion of the government of the United States as to the performance of its own duties?

In my judgment this is the abandonment of its obligations by the national government and a subordination of national authority, and the intrusion of the State supervision over national duties, which amounts in spirit and tendency to State supremacy.

Although I believe that the existing statutes are abundantly adequate to prevent military interference with elections in the sense in which the phrase is used in the title in this bill, and as employed by the people of this country, I shall find no difficulty in concurring in any additional legislation limited to that object which does not interfere with the indispensable exercise of the power of the government and the constitution and laws.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.
Executive Mansion, May 12, 1879.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt poverty and suffering for years caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did them no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost—I know it.

"A WORKINGMAN."

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC
OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,
DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE
will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS
are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

If you want a new Sunday School Song Book select from Messrs. Bigelow & Main's list, which you will find occupying this space in the next issue of this paper. When ordering, please mention the fact that you saw this Advertisement in the Southwestern Christian Advocate.

FREE TO ALL
FLEETWOOD'S
LIFE OF CHRIST.
850 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.
Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.
178 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
n20 8t

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address
P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
a13 1y

Benson's Capcine Porus Plaster.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.
There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. 21 3t

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
Inches....	175 lbs.......	3.5 lbs.........	$40 00
Inches....	225 lbs.......	375 lbs.........	50 00
Inches....	350 lbs.......	550 lbs.........	75 00
Inches....	550 lbs.......	800 lbs.........	110 00
Inches....	750 lbs.......	1050 lbs.........	150 00
Inches....	1000 lbs.......	1350 lbs.........	200 00
Inches....	1300 lbs.......	1800 lbs.........	250 00
Inches....	2100 lbs.......	2900 lbs.........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

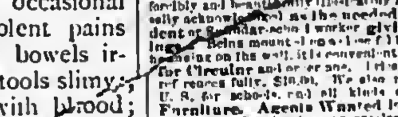
New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containing about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

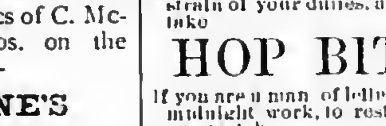
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Illustrations and references from a representation of the lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker giving new life to his reading. Being mounted on a [illegible] table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and for [illegible] giving Scripture references fully. $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Address
FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.
n17 t

GRAVES' PAT. RUBBER TARGET GUN.
An entirely new principle. Shoots Arrows or Bullets almost as straight as a RIFLE. Adapted to all ages.



$1.50, delivered, free of cost, throughout the U. S. on receipt of price, or sent by express, not prepaid, for $1 00. Clubs of six supplied with Guns at a low rate.

JOHN WILKINSON, Sole Man'f'r, 77 State St., Chicago.

Send a 3c stamp for my elegant New Catalogue of Scroll Saws, Lathes, Archery, Base Ball, &c. The best goods in market, and at manufacturers' prices. I am publisher of Hope's and Ware's Designs, and sole importer of the genuine "Wilkinson Saw Blades."

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are married or single, old or young suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness take

HOP BITTERS.

Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take

HOP BITTERS.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.

HOP BITTERS.

It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

PIANOS AND ORGANS
GRAND INTRODUCTION SALE.
One Thousand first-class instruments from best makers to be placed in Southern Homes for Introduction and Advertisement. Pianos, 7 Oct. $125; 7 1-3 Oct. $135. Organs, 9 Stops, $57; 13 Stops, $71; Mirror Top, 13 Stops, $86. Choice instruments at lowest prices ever known. Six years written guarantee. 15 days test trial. Chickering, Hallet & Davis, Mathushek and Southern Gem Pianos. Mason & Hamlin, and Peloubet & Pelton Organs included in this sale. A clean sweep; no reserve; every instrument fresh from Factory. Only sale of the kind ever carried in the U.S. Write for introduction sale circular. Address Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, Savannah, Ga., the Great Wholesale Piano and Organ Depot of the South.
n 14t

NEW RICH BLOOD!
PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.
I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
12 1y

Cancer
Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 5,000 cases within the last 30 years. Doctors, Ministers, and those cured free. Cross eyes straightened, tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address
W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding elder and preacher in charge should have one.
Price..............................$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages.
For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography.
Price..............................$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Disciplines contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it.
Price..............................10 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all.
Price..............................$1 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do It. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo.
Price..............................$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information.
Price..............................$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it. It contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price..............$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap.
Price..............................$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price..............$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price..............$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley.
Price..............................$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price..............$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo..............$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.............. 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo........... 2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against It, by Rev. W. McDonald.
Price..............................$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost..............$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of Official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book.
Price..............................$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo, with leather cover. Price, each..............25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference.
Price..............................$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good.
Price, per dozen..............$1 50.
Large size, each.............. 20.
Large and illuminated, each.............. 25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference.
Price, per hundred..............$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100..............$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100........$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100..............$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100..............$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000..............$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100..............$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100.....$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100........$1 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100.......... 75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price..............$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price..........$2 50
Vol. IV. I Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry.
Price..............................$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price........$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price........... 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price........ 1 75
Vol. IV. I Corinthians to I Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most notable. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete.
Price..............................$21 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish them.
I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by [illegible]. Price, $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

What are your Symptoms, Sufferer? Are they a furred tongue, dizziness, headache, an uneasy stomach, oppression after eating, pain between the shoulders, constipation? If so you are dyspeptic and billious, and nothing will meet your case so efficiently as,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
n1 3t

LORD & TAYLOR,
NEW YORK.
Opening Spring Display
OF
NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Giraud, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50. Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2. Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.00; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.65.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and are ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.
n11 and 12m

THE GREAT
JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with
STEEL RAILS!
Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS
180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
63 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
61 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

THE TAMPICO BUSTS
now used in
DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSET
and Skirt Supporter are the greatest improvement ever made in Corsets. They are soft, flexible, very flexible and contain no bones.

The FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) fits with perfect ease and to [illegible] over the hips.
Price, - - - $1.25.
For Sale by leading Merchants.
WARNER BRO'S,
351 Broadway, New York. n d eow

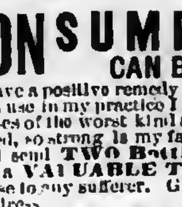
HOME ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive.
And the thousand things all "want to know."
One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp.
ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1831.



Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

CONSUMPTION!! CAN BE CURED.
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send TWO Bottles FREE together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. Address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl Street, New York.
n 20 2t

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free
Complete History of Wall Street Finance, containing valuable information for Investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York.

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold and Jet, 10c.
CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.

Wheeler & Wilson,
NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,
WITH SILENT FEED.

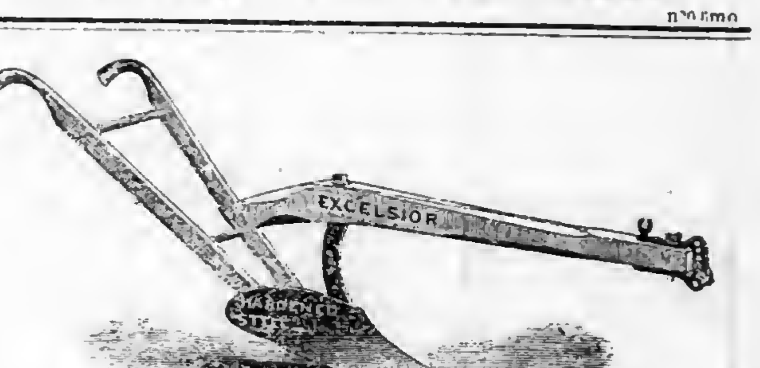
With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—
No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n20 6mo



Plantation Hardware,
Agricultural Implements
—AND—
MACHINERY,
Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,
AT LOW PRICES
Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOUTHERN AGENT FOR
Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.
B. J. WEST,
115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE
Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.
The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n9 1y

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken in accordance with directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMANN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 193 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors' 15c.
LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S
BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom safely by mail, at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture—60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address
THE DINGEE & CONARD CO.,
Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.
n7 10 eow

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

Has acquired an extended reputation, which it fully sustains, having been used for more than FIFTY years as a remedy for Scrofula, Ulcerated Throat, long-standing Rheumatic Affections, Diseases of the Skin, White Swelling, Diseases of the Bones, Hip-joint Disease, and all cases of a cancerous character. It is also particularly useful in Chronic Nervous Diseases occurring in debilitated constitutions, Inward Weakness, and all cases where the health is impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, Arsenic or Quinine. It is a most powerful Purifier of the Blood and is perfectly safe for the most ill-cared and debilitated.
Prepared only at
SWAIM'S LABORATORY,
113 S. Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

Young Folks' Corner.

SHOWER AND FLOWERS.

[illegible]

The Boy and the Duke.

An English farmer was one day at work in the fields, when he saw a party of huntsmen riding about his farm. He had one field that he was anxious they should not go into, as the crop was in a condition to be badly injured by the tramp of horses; so he despatched a boy in his employ to this field, telling him to shut the gate, and keep watch over it, and on no account to suffer it to be opened. The boy went as he was bid, but was scarcely at his post before the huntsmen came up, peremptorily ordering the gate to be opened. This the boy declined to do, stating the orders he had received, and his determination not to disobey them. Threats and bribes were offered, alike in vain. One after another came forward as spokesman, but all with the same result; the boy remained immovable in his determination not to open the gate. After a while, one of noble presence advanced, and said, in commanding tones:

"My boy, do you know me? I am the Duke of Wellington—one not accustomed to be disobeyed; and I command you to open that gate, that I and my friends may pass through."

The boy lifted his cap and stood uncovered before the man whom all England delighted to honor; then answered firmly, "I am sure the Duke of Wellington would not wish me to disobey orders. I must keep this gate shut; no one is to pass through but with my master's express permission."

Greatly pleased, the sturdy old warrior lifted his own hat, and said, "I honor the man or boy who can be neither bribed nor frightened into doing wrong. With an army of such soldiers, I could conquer not only the French, but the world." And handing the boy a glittering sovereign, the old duke put spurs to his horse and galloped away; while the boy ran off to his work, shouting at the top of his voice, "Hurrah! hurrah! I've done what Napoleon couldn't do—I've kept out the Duke of Wellington."

[illegible] Boy's Sermon.

[illegible] said Harry, "I'll be a [illegible] preach you a ser[mon]."

[illegible] Eddie, "and I'll be [illegible]

[illegible] "My text is a [illegible] kind." [illegible] texts in the [illegible] little children, [illegible] These are [illegible]

[illegible]

The President's Second Veto.

WASHINGTON, May 12, 1879.

The following is a synopsis of the President's message vetoing the Lalid bill:

To the House of Representatives:

After careful consideration of the bill entitled "An act to prohibit military interference at elections," I return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

In the communication sent to the House of Representatives on the twenty-ninth of last month, returning to the House, without my approval the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," I endeavored to show by quotations from the statutes of the United States now in force, and by a brief statement of facts in regard to recent elections in several States, that no additional legislation was necessary to prevent interference with elections by the military or naval forces of the United States. I am forced to the conclusion that the bill before me is not only unnecessary to prevent such interference but is a dangerous departure from long settled and important constitutional principles. The true rule as to the employment of a military force at the elections is not doubtful. No intimidation or coercion should be allowed to control or influence citizens in the exercise of their right to vote, wether it appears in shape of combinations of evil disposed persons or armed bodies of militia of a State, or of the military force of the United States. The elections should be free from all forcible interference, and, as far as practicable, from all apprehension of such interference.

No soldiers, either of the Union or of the State, should be present at the polls to take the place or perform the duties of the ordinary civil police force. There has been and will be no violation of this rule under orders from me during this administration, but there should be no denial of the right of the national government to employ its military force on any day and at any place in case such employment is necessary to enforce the constitution and laws of the United States.

[The President then quotes acts authorizing the use of the military power by the Executive at considerable length, and further said that the whiskey rebellion in Pennsylvania and the Burr conspiracy, the nullification in South Carolina, where it was crushed by the Federal government acting on this principle, and that on the same authority President Lincoln issued his proclamation for troops to save the Union in 1861.]

Another grave objection to the bill is its discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority. The presence or employment of the army or navy of the United States is lawful under the terms of this bill at the place where an election is being held in a State, to uphold the authority of the State government then and there in need of such military intervention, but unlawful to uphold the authority of the government of the United States then and there in need of such military intervention. Under this bill the presence and employment of the army or navy of the United States would be lawful, and might be necessary to maintain the conduct of a State election against the domestic violence that would overthrow it, but would be unlawful to maintain the conduct of a national election against the same local violence that would overthrow it. This discrimination has never been attempted in any previous legislation by Congress, and is no more compatible with the sound principles of the constitution, or necessary measure and methods of our system of government on occasions of elections than at other times. In the early legislation of 1792 and of 1795, by which the militia of the States was the only military power resorted to for the execution of the constitutional power in support of State or national authority, both functions of the government were put on the same footing. By the act of 1807, the employment of the army and navy was authorized for the performance of both constitutional duties in the same terms. In all later statutes on the same subject matter some measure of authority to the government has been accorded for the performance of both these duties. No precedent has been found in any previous legislation, and no sufficient reason has been given for the discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority which this bill contains. Under the sweeping terms of the bill the national government [illegible] shut out from the [illegible] of the right and from the [illegible] of the imperative duty to [illegible] whole executive power, [illegible] and wherever required [illegible] enforcement of its laws, in [illegible] and times where and when [illegible] are held. The employ[ment] [illegible] organized armed force [illegible] purpose would be an [illegible] law, unless called [illegible] therefore upon the per[illegible] of the authorities of the [illegible] the occasion arises. [illegible] the substitution of [illegible] of the State govern[ment] [illegible] discretion of the [illegible] the United States [illegible] performance of its own [illegible]

[illegible] this is the [illegible] obligations by [illegible] and a sub[illegible] authority, [illegible] adequate to prevent military interference with electors in the sense in which the phrase is used in the title in this bill, and as employed by the people of this county, I shall find no difficulty in concurring in any additional legislation limited to that object which does not interfere with the indispensable exercise of the power of the government and the constitution [illegible]

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

[illegible]

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did them no good. I was completely discouraged until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost—I know it.

"A WORKINGMAN."

R. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY. B. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,

NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS

WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADE CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

Upholstery Goods

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
New Orleans.

june6'78-tf.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE

will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

If you want a new Sunday School Song Book select from Messrs. Bigelow & Main's list, which you will find occupying this space in the next issue of this paper. When ordering, please mention the fact that you saw this Advertisement in the Southwestern Christian Advocate.

FREE TO ALL

[illegible]

Benson's Capcine Porus Plaster.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and [illegible]

[illegible]

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
Inches....	175 lbs......	3 5 lbs........	$40 00
Inches....	225 lbs......	375 lbs........	50 00
Inches....	350 lbs......	550 lbs........	75 00
Inches....	550 lbs......	800 lbs........	110 00
Inches....	750 lbs......	1050 lbs........	150 00
Inches....	1000 lbs......	1350 lbs........	200 00
8 Inches....	1300 lbs......	1800 lbs........	250 00
Inches....	2100 lbs......	2900 lbs........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,

New Orleans, La.

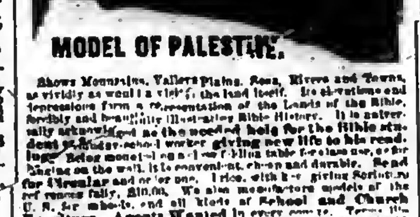
New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containing about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

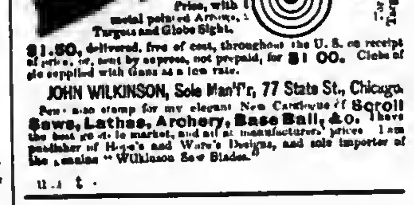


MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. [illegible] CINCINNATI, O.

n17 t

GRAVES' PAT. RUBBER TARGET GUN.



An entirely new principle. Shoots Arrows or Bullets almost as straight as a RIFLE. Adapted to all ages.

$1.50, delivered, free of cost, throughout the U. S. on receipt of price, or, sent by express, not prepaid, for $1 00. Clubs of six supplied with Guns at a less rate.

JOHN WILKINSON, Sole Man'f'r, 77 State St., Chicago.

Send also stamp for my elegant New Catalogue of Scroll Saws, Lathes, Archery, Base Ball, &c. [illegible] "Wilkinson Saw Blades."

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are married or single, old or young suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness take

HOP BITTERS.

Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take

HOP BITTERS.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.

HOP BITTERS.

It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

GRAND INTRODUCTION SALE.

One Thousand first-class instruments from best makers to be placed in Southern Homes for Introduction and Advertisement. Pianos, 7 Oct. $125; 7 1-3 Oct. $135, Organs, 4 Stops, $57; 13 Stops, $71; Mirror Top, 13 Stops, $85. Choice instruments at lowest prices ever known. Six years written guarantee. 15 days test trial. Chickering, Hallet & Davis, Mathushek and Southern Gem Pianos, Mason & Hamlin, and Peloubet & Pelton Organs included in this sale. A clean sweep; no reserve; new instruments fresh from Factory. Only sale of the kind ever carried out in the U. S. Write for introduction sale circular. Address Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, Savannah, Ga., the Great Wholesale Piano and Organ Depot of the South.

n.14t

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 ly

Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in [illegible] the Doctors, Ministers, and the [illegible] Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address

C. J. [illegible] KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of [illegible] Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. [illegible]

[illegible]

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully [illegible] book for devotional purposes. By Rev. J. H. [illegible], D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. [illegible] Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written work on an important subject. Preachers should lend it to their class leaders to read it. 12mo. Price........................$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in a charming style and is full of information. Price..........$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price..........$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price..........$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price..........$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price..........$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price..........$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price..........$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They are as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo..........$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.......... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.......... 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo.......... 2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price..........$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost..........$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of Official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price..........$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each..........25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price..........$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen..........$1 50.
Large size, each.......... 20.
Large and illuminated, each.......... 25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred..........$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100..........$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100..........$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..........$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100..........$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..........$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100..........$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100..........$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000..........$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100..........$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100..........$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100..........$1 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $1 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100.......... 75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price..........$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price..........$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price..........$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price..........$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price.......... 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price.......... 1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price..........$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

I. Lovel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by [illegible]. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

NEW ORLEANS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

[illegible]

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK

Opening Spring Display

OF

NEW DRY GOODS.

[illegible]

SILKS.

[illegible] BLACK SILKS [illegible] American Cashmere INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK [illegible] EVERY YARD WARRANTED. In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Market.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Mummie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3 50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $1 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50. Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $3; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.00; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.85.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 apl 12m

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS

180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
63 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

THE TAMPICO BUSTS

are used in

DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSET

and Skirt Supporter are the greatest improvement ever made in Corsets. They are soft, flexible, very flexible and contain no bones.

The FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) is a with perfect ease and is warranted not to break over the hips. Price, $1.25.

For Sale by leading Merchants.

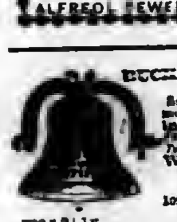
WARNER BRO'S,
351 Broadway, New York.

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts

That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp. ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

CONSUMPTION!!

CAN BE CURED.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. Address.

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl Street, New York.

n 20 2t

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York.

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold and Jet, 10c. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct.

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED.

[illegible]

They are Superior to ALL Others

[illegible]

SALESROOM

No. 183 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Plantation Hardware,

Agricultural Implements

—AND—

MACHINERY,

Latest Improved Implements, etc., etc., A Specialty,

AT LOW PRICES

Send for Special Price Lists, etc.

SOLE SOUTHERN AGENT FOR

Scutt's Patent Steel Wire Barbed Fencing.

B. J. WEST,

115 and 117 MAGAZINE STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. [illegible] BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Proprs, Buffalo, N.Y.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases. To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

[illegible]

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S

BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING

ROSES

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom, safely by mail at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture—60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address, THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.

n7 10 eow

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

[illegible]

Prepared only at SWAIM'S LABORATORY, 113 S. Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors 15c. LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct.

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 22. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 356.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,

36 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
Marriage notices	25 "
Special notices	8 cents. net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:

805 Broadway, New York,

WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

A SWEDISH POEM.

It matters little where I was born,
Or if my parents were rich or poor;
Whether they shrank at the cold world's scorn,
Or walked in the pride of wealth secure;
But whether I live an honest man,
And hold my integrity firm in my clutch,
I tell you, brother, plain as I am,
It matters much!

It matters little how long I stay
In a world of sorrow, sin and care;
Whether in youth I am called away,
Or live till my bones and pate are bare;
But whether I do the best I can
To soften the weight of adversity's touch,
On the faded cheek of my fellow-man,
It matters much!

It matters little where be my grave,
Or on the land or on the sea;
Be pelting brook or heath stormy wave,
It matters little or naught to me;
But whether the angel Death comes down
With smiles my brow with his loving touch,
Arrays that shall wear the victor's crown,
It matters much!

The Exodus.

THE LAFAYETTE SQUARE MASS MEETING.—A VINDICATION OF FOURÉE'S VIEWS AS EXPRESSED IN THE VICKSBURG CONVENTION.

The mass meeting convened under the auspices of the Migration [illegible] Committee of the late [illegible] and pastors of [illegible] of New Orleans, [illegible] Square last [illegible]. Although the [illegible] and boisterous, 1500 and 2000 [illegible]. The meeting [illegible] about 8 p. m. [illegible] Thompson, who [illegible] Pierre Landry [illegible] presidents, [illegible] and Rev. G. [illegible]. After [illegible] Newman, [illegible] reported [illegible] which [illegible] the [illegible] this [illegible] the [illegible] great on [illegible] causes [illegible] and its [illegible] plan [illegible] there [illegible] alluded [illegible] the South.

the proper means of bringing it to an end.

For one, I regret this Exodus exceedingly, though I am not very much surprised at its occurrence; and I confess that I do not so much repine over its taking place as over the unhappy causes which seem to me to have led to it.

It is very well known to a number of the most leading influential men resident here, that my recent visit to the Labor Convention in Vicksburg was undertaken by me very reluctantly. Having been requested to act as a delegate to the Convention on the part of a well-known non-partisan association of this city, though the state of my health and important business engagements would scarcely admit of my doing so, I concluded nothwithstanding to go. It was not intended by myself or my co-delegates from this city, to interfere with the proceedings of the Convention until we heard resolutions read, and saw them to be about to be put upon their passage and carried by the vote of the white delegates present alone, which seemed to us very far from setting forth the probable causes of the Exodus with sufficient fullness and precision, or suggesting any remedial appliance of a character sufficiently comprehensive and practical. We had confidently expected that a free and unrestricted interchange of views would have been permitted: that our colored fellow citizens would have been allowed to state, in their own language, the grievances of which they felt justified in complaining, and to make known the additional guarantees which they desired for the future safety and protection of the feeble and suffering class of our population which they came there to represent. We had thought that in this way some satisfactory understanding might be reached, which being unanimously approved by all present, might serve in a great degree to restore the public mind to a state of tranquility, and avert the alarming evils then plainly menaced. Finding that in these respects our hopes were about to be defeated, the resolutions of which you have heard were offered for consideration; but I regret to say only with the effect of calling forth indignant and contemptuous opposition.

It would ill become me to complain of the coarse and disrespectful language with which I was myself greeted, by a single individual, and which has really left no permanent impression upon my mind beyond a feeling of compassionate sympathy for the aggressor, whose unexpected rudeness and incivility were adequately rebuked at the moment, and to whom I cannot but feel more or less grateful now, because of his calling to my memory the words of one of the most august of the ancient philosophers, who tells us:

"When others blame, or hate, or abuse thee, go to those little minds of theirs, enter into them, and observe what sort of people they are. Then will see there is no reason to be concerned about what they think of thee."

Let me remark in the outset that if even a tithe of the acts of injustice and oppression have been committed by the white citizens of any State in the South, which are set forth in the resolutions of the Vicksburg Convention, every reasonable and fair-minded man in Christendom will not only feel inclined to justify the Exodus, but feel surprise that some such movement had not long ago occurred.

Let us look this matter in the face [illegible] endeavor to understand if [illegible], the several causes which [illegible] given rise to it in addition to those confessed in the fa[illegible] Vicksburg programme. It [illegible] be admitted that this migration of such vast numbers of the [illegible] and daughters of Africa to [illegible] is a little different in some [illegible] from any similar movement [illegible] has heretofore occurred. [illegible] inferior as that the [illegible] in the days of Julius [illegible] leaving their towns and [illegible] leaving their native [illegible] of universal waste and [illegible] for the purpose [illegible], if they could, [illegible] with a far more fertile soil [illegible] have been found. The [illegible] they [illegible] of [illegible] than they were willing longer to bear, having Divine assurance before hand of becoming the ultimate possessors of a land "flowing with milk and honey;" of being guided through the wilderness before them by a Chief of unequalled meekness and wisdom, and of obtaining, in the fullness of time, the hated "Heaven for an inheritance." A profoundly honored portion of the first white settlers of North America left behind them the graves of their ancestors and their beloved friends and relatives, and braved the inclemencies and perils of an untravelled sea, in order to escape the evil of religious persecution. But tell me if you can, why, at this moment, vast numbers of our colored countrymen of the South are leaving a region to which they have been so long accustomed, for a far distant land, of which and its attractions they can know so little? What potential causes are they which we see now so mysteriously operating, to induce an honest, hard-working, frugal race, so patient in spirit, so affectionate in temper, so remarkable for habitual moderation and cheerfulness of heart, to go forth in such vast numbers from this benignant and Heaven-blessed region—this terrestial Paradise, where bounteous Nature has put forth all her energies to supply, almost without toil, all the necessaries and comforts of life, all that can contribute to wealth, prosperity and happiness? This momentous question is indeed not very difficult to be solved, and the Vicksburg Convention itself, as I have already hinted, have in part solved it for us. This body of intelligent gentlemen, after admitting so many grievances as they have taken pains to insert in their most unremedial resolutions, might easily have gone much further in painting the hardships and cruelties imposed upon the race on whose services as workers in their cotton fields they justly place such high value, had it chanced to suit their policy, and the policy of those interests they were diplomatizing so adroitly. What these worthy citizens have omitted on this head, I will endeavor in part to supply.

In order to enable those who now honor me with their presence to understand perfectly the spirit in which I was disposed to act at the city of Vicksburg, and to appreciate my motives in endeavoring to obtain some modification of the resolutions which had been reported from a committee of the Convention and which, as I have said, I could not but think, as I certainly yet do, were clearly inadequate to attain the purpose for which they had been introduced, I will lay before this assembly the preamble and resolutions which I had the honor of presenting to the Convention for its consideration, to be used either as an amendment, a substitute, or a mere addition to those pending, as might be judged most convenient. Here they are:

WHEREAS, It has been publicly and persistently asserted in various quarters, in a manner calculated deeply to wound the sensibilities of all true patriots, that in certain States of the Federal Union represented in this body, as well as elsewhere, the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth constitutional amendments, and the legislative enactments from time to time adopted for the enforcement thereof, have been heretofore flagrantly violated, and the precious rights and immunities designed thereby to be secured as a permanent heritage to a most meritorious and long-suffering class of this people, have been deliberately disregarded and set at naught; and

WHEREAS, It has been of late made abundantly evident that, owing to causes which we have not now time minutely to explore, misunderstandings and distrusts have arisen which clearly indicate the coming upon us of evils of a far more serious and detrimental character than any heretofore experienced—evils, too, which it is not possible to avert, save by the application of remedies of a more comprehensive and effective character than any heretofore put in use; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the president of this convention and two other persons to be associated with him by the unanimous vote of those here assembled are hereby appointed a committee for the purpose of carrying into effect the wishes and objects sought by this convention to be attained; and that it shall be the duty of this committee to nominate and appoint, at as early a date as practicable, a local committee of at least five members, in each of the counties and parishes belonging to the States now represented in this convention (of known [illegible], impartiality and patriotism) [illegible] that it shall be the duty of [illegible] committees so appointed [illegible] with unceasing vigilance over the rights and interests intended by this plan of protection to be guarded and maintained; to take charge of such grievances as shall be brought to their knowledge, and provide as far as it may lay in their power for the redress of the same, and to adopt such legal and proper expedients as they may judge necessary for the future prevention of grievances of a like nature. It is expected that these local committees shall correspond freely with each other, and with the committee of three above mentioned touching all matters connected with the great moral and physical interests committed to their care, and in regard to the remedial agencies which it may be found needful from time to time to bring into existence.

That so innocent and courteous a proposition as this should have had the fortune to be treated so despitefully and resentfully, is perhaps mainly to be charged to a certain feverish and morbid state of public sentiment touching the very deplorable scenes of the past: without alluding to which though, in a manner tolerably explicit, I should have found it quite impossible to make the least progress in that mission of peace and conciliation which had drawn me so far from my own home. As to the outrages referred to by me, I had never had the least personal knowledge, and could therefore only mention them as rumors for the most part well attested. Of the real perpetrators of these outrages I have never had the least knowledge. That these miscreants were very few in number compared with the whole number of the resident citizens who had been in different parts of the Republic held responsible for them I had never doubted. In now referring to these wrongs as one of the most potential causes of the Exodus, it is my aim to speak with historic impartiality; and on this occasion it is my hope to use none but language of moderation and decorum. Should it be my fate still to be misunderstood by men of cloudy apprehension, or be willfully misrepresented by the calumnious, I shall not complain. Let me assure you though that I have not come hither to deceive or mislead any human being. It is not my habit to gloze over iniquities which I know to have been committed, or cunningly to cast the veil of concealment over acts of violence, calculated, if described truly, to despoil a whole nation of its happiness and its dignity; acts of mingled crime and folly which all truly good and wise men deplore and condemn; and which no men or set of men on earth have a right to demand that society shall be discreetly silent over, in order that they and their allies in villainy may escape infamy and punishment. The present moment is one of special auspiciousness to the modest unfoldment of the truth; and even the semi-Christian Virgil, (as Dante describes him,) has said to all the world in a Latinity whose purity has never been equalled: Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas. Excuse me from the task of particularizing minute horrors, a knowledge of which I have never desired to obtain; but concerning which the whole family of man have heard far more than it was agreeable to hear. I would not, even if I could, designate the parish, the county, the village, or the retired cottage where rumor locates crimes, from the particular mention of which humanity and decency alike recoil. It is sufficient here to say, what all the world knows to be true, that the constitutional amendments and the laws made for their enforcement, have been steadily and habitually violated and set at naught for a series of years past, in a number of the States, and that in these States they have actually become a dead letter. The precious civil rights conferred by these laws seem well nigh lost to the colored man forever, if he shall remain in the land he loves best, where he has so long toiled and suffered, where he was born and reared to maturity, where are located the graves of his ancestors, a land once so peculiarly dear to him by reason of the fact that here the chains which so long held his manly limbs in degrading servitude were taken off, as he learned by the hands of a paternal government. Under such circumstances as I have so imperfectly described, it seems to me that no reasonable man whose heart is not dead to all generous and kindly emotions would be disposed to persuade our colored friends to remain here, unless speedy and substantial redress shall be afforded them.

Mr. President and fellow citizens, I confess that I have painful forebodings as to the future of our colored brethren in the South, when I observe what the present Congress has been so ardently struggling to effect. It is a most startling and alarming fact connected with this subject, a circumstance well calculated to make the Exodus movement universal in the South, that Democratic leaders in Congress have been fiercely and perseveringly laboring for several months to obtain the passage of bills which would tear away from every colored voter in the South all hope of being permitted to vote hereafter in elections of any description; to lay open the polls in all Federal elections here to ball-dozing violence and fraud of every kind; whilst the honest and unmeddling Federal soldier would be prohibited from coming near the place of voting even to prevent the perpetration of the most diabolical frauds, and ruffianly violence of every species judged necessary by these accursed agents of iniquity to the success of what they would call the Democratic cause! The menaces openly uttered in the chambers of National legislation, that the Government would be starved into submission to a genuine Jacobinical faction; that, unless the President would succumb to their behests, renounce the use of the veto power, and aid in transforming this noble Republic into an unprincipled aristocracy, he would be denied all the supplies which by strict and undeniable law he is entitled to claim and receive, seems to me to cap the climax of abominations! Thank God! there was enough of manly firmness and devotion to sound constitutional principles in a noble Congressional minority to resist this attempted usurpation! Thank God! we have a President who knows that his duty to the Constitution and his own high character is to defeat this most dashing and dangerous attempt, and to secure to our countrymen of all parties and sections the enjoyment of our free institutions for at least two years more. Let me hope that even this night will not be allowed to pass away without our bringing into existence a system of protection and safety which may attain all the purposes, and be productive of all the benefits for which I labored so earnestly in Vicksburg two weeks ago, and that thus the dreaded Exodus will be prevented which, if consummated, must bring inevitable ruin upon all classes of our people.

After all that I have said as to the causes likely to lead to such a general and important movement as that which we have been considering; of the means of preventing its continuance; or of allowing it to go on as circumstances might seem to recommend, it is hardly necessary that I should do more than to bring together in conclusion, in a somewhat more condensed manner, the leading considerations which belong to this subject, so that all that is really of vital importance in the affair may be presented in one connected view.

1. The grievances of every kind admitted to have been imposed by the resolutions of the Convention at Vicksburg.

2. The significant avoidance on the part of that body of all consultation with persons not concerned in the getting up of the Convention.

3. The deliberate preclusion of all the colored delegates present from joining in the adoption of the resolutions.

4. The refusal even to consider the expediency of providing remedial agencies of any kind, with the evident hope that the confiding colored sons of Labor present could be gulled into relying implicitly upon swelling and magniloquent promises, made by unorganized, and therefore to a great extent irresponsible individuals, being just such as had been a thousand times made before in the same loose and unreliable form, and which had never heretofore been satisfactorilally complied with.

5. The innumerable acts of bulldozing and fraud alleged so strongly to have been heretofore perpetrated, by which all independent voting was prevented, whole communities were transformed in their political character, and the most valued civil rights rendered valueless.

6. The portentous and undeniable fact that within the last three months certain leading men of the Democratic party in Congress have declared in the most emphatic manner their determination never to rest satisfied until every act of National legislation growing out of the war should be obliterated from the Federal statute book.

7. The circumstance that other members of Congress of equal rank have pompously thundered forth, in the hearing of thousands and without rebuke or complaint from any Democratic quarter, that their allegiance was first due to the States represented by them respectively, and afterwards only to the general government; so that these gentlemen, though so newly sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, the amendments included, had, with jesuistical casuistry, reserved the right of fighting against the government of the Union whenever ordered by the local sovereignty to do so, though the Constitution of the United States, and the treaties and laws made in conformity thereto constitute the supreme law of the land, anything in the Constitution or laws of the States to the contrary notwithstanding.

8. The fact that others, with equal impudence and stupidity, have been heard unblushingly to assert that during the late civil war there were no loyal persons, save those who had struggled for the subversion of the government.

9. The alarming fact that in a convention now sitting in this city, claiming to represent the embodied sovereignty of the State of Louisiana, a majority of the members thereof, a few days ago, deliberately refused to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States.

10. The significant and deplorable fact that in this same august body resolutions are at this instant pending which assert its right, at its own pleasure, to regulate and modify the whole system of suffrage.

11. Now, blend these facts, if you please, with the particulars already mentioned connected with the fierce struggle which has been going on in the two houses of Congress for several months, looking to the taking from the President the only means he possesses of securing purity in Federal elections, the putting down of ruffianism at the polls, and the protection of the white and colored voter alike from the loss of their most valued civil rights, and then decide at your leisure whether it is better that this Exodus should or should not go on unless some such guarantees of future safety and protection as I urged at Vicksburg shall be at last supplied.

I hope to offend no candid man by saying, that whilst this is with me a grave and comprehensive question touching the present and future welfare of the two great races on the continent whose mutual interest it is to dwell in amity and brotherhood, and to the more feeble and defenceless of them a genuine question of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," it is a question also which imperiously demands the promptest decision, if worse evils than have yet been experienced, are to be wisely avoided; and, therefore, in conclusion, fellow citizens, let me say that while I am well satisfied that the present disturbed relations between the two classes of our Southern population have arisen mainly from the causes which I have specified, together with the long-continued reluctance of the whites to admit their former slaves to the full rights of citizenship, and their failure to discover in time the capacity of the colored race for intellectual and moral culture, and for ultimate self dependence and self-government, yet I am rejoiced to know that the erroneous views entertained in regard to these matters are fast passing away, and I am confident that if proper efforts are now made to remove the unhappy misunderstandings which have so long prevailed; if political agitators in Congress and elsewhere shall cease those baneful efforts which have been adverted to, and allow the Constitution and laws of the land, at last and supremely to prevail over lacious opposition and violence; if our State Legislatures in the South shall at once address themselves in earnest to the removal of the evils upon which I have so long dwelt—if our leading newspapers can be persuaded also to unite heartily in the great work of conciliation and peace, now so much needed; and if some such remedial measures as this assemblage, I am glad to learn, is disposed to recommend, shall be adopted and carried into faithful execution by good men and true of all parties and races, it is not yet too late to stop this Exodus which has given to us all so much solicitude and alarm; it is not impossible yet to persuade our colored friends and compatriots to abide permanently with us in a region which they so much love, and to which they are so happily adapted in every respect, and to aid hereafter, as they have heretofore done, in the patient, diligent and skillful cultivation of this wondrously productive and fertile region, so sure to reward abundantly the employers and the employed, the public spirited and keen-sighted capitalists and those who must necessarily depend upon them for the means and opportunities of participating in the building up of our declining industries of every description; so that by the joint energies of all, all may be enriched, made happy and secure, and Peace, Plenty, and all the virtues and graces which adorn civilized society in its most favored and advanced condition may be the permanent heritage of our children and our children's children to the end of time!

THE RESOLUTIONS.

President Landry then submitted the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, amid hearty cheering:

WHEREAS, The Convention recently assembled at Vicksburg to consider the subject of negro emigration from the States of Mississippi and Louisiana and other States, was directed by our white fellow citizens, no colored citizen having voted upon any of the propositions discussed or adopted, and

WHEREAS, The resolutions adopted by that Convention are to be regarded as the conclusions arrived at, for the adjustment of race and labor relations throughout the States represented, and therefore demand a respectful response on the part of the colored citizens of whom we in part represent; therefore

Resolved, That this meeting deems it due to candor and good understanding to say, that the causes assigned by the Vicksburg Convention for the Exodus of colored people now going on, does not include several of the chief and therefore not all the real causes; and, that the remedies proposed for the causes which were named, were inadequate to effect the desired results.

Resolved, That we hereby declare as untrue the oft repeated statements that this exodus movement has been begun or is being encouraged, by agents or influences from the North representing railroads, the government, land speculators, or any party in politics. Diligent inquiry and extended correspondence by the large number of clergymen and others, who have united in the call for this meeting, have failed to learn of one such agent or influence among our people. It is not, however, to be denied that a general popular sympathy throughout the great bulk of the people of the United States, in the States North, East and West, in our behalf, is manifested and many benevolent associations have been formed to extend to us a generous assistance, in our efforts to achieve a more perfect freedom and independence.

Resolved, That we are not unmindful of the improvidence of a large class of our people, nor of the great difficulties involved in harmonizing and adjusting the relation of the races as changed by emancipation; but, after making full allowance for these, and for the perversity of human nature among all classes, white and black, we yet declare that the proscriptions, persecutions and oppressions of our people in many portions of Lousiana and Mississippi are such, as to have become the principal cause of this Exodus movement.

These proscriptions, persecutions and oppressions we now in part specify:

1. First to be mentioned are those which have to do with our material interests. The same spirit which in 1868 made it a penitentiary offense to sell a colored man land in Mississippi, yet prevails in many parishes and counties. There are noble exceptions; but, as a rule, our people are prevented from buying land, or are cheated out of it after having made one or more payments. Our wages are fixed by county and parish conventions, in which we have no voice, and are fixed so low, that after deducting lost time, and the loss by over-charges at the inevitable "plantation store," where we are compelled to buy, leave us nothing but a hovel in which to live, and even that at the will of another. A vast majority of merchants and planters make common prey upon us, each guarding the interests of the other as against ours. Our young men and women, with few exceptions, have only menial occupations opened to them, and no efforts have as yet been made to open up in our behalf new avenues of employment, giving hope of greater independency.

2. The second class of causes have to do with our educational and moral interests. We have no harsh words for those in office, neither do we here doubt their sincerity as to pledges respecting schools for our people, but it is a deplorable fact that outside of a few large cities and towns, public schools are almost unknown among our people, and in not a few cases there yet remains some of the spirit which a few years ago burned our school houses and drove away our teachers. It has required fifteen years for the great Christian churches of Southern sentiment to resolve that our people must be educated and Christianized; and, as yet, but little or nothing has been done by them. The generous North has built colleges and schools for our people in every State, and continues to do largely for our moral elevation. We do not undervalue the good resolutions of our Southern white educational and church friends, but if it has required fifteen years to make good resolutions, we fear that our children will grow up in ignorance, before any adequate systems of education and moral training will be put in practice, and whatever demoralizations are now among them, threatening greater future depravity, will not be remedied.

3. A third class of causes is such as are grouped under the head of violence and oppression. Hundreds and thousands of our people in Louisiana and Mississippi have been driven from their homes, some whipped, some wounded with clubs, others shot and many of them hung, because in the exercise of their inalienable rights as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the land, they have sought to do their duties as citizens and freemen. In some cases the only crime has been to claim the right of an honest settlement of accounts; in others it has been an attempt to acquire a homestead, and, in others, and candor compels us to say chiefly, it has been an attempt to vote as our consciences have dictated. Although these acts of violence may not at this time be so apparent, still such has been their effect in engendering a condition of public sentiment adverse to the recognition of our rights as freemen and citizens, that our minds are oppressed with apprehension and alarm, for fear that they may be revived against us in the future.

4. The fourth and last cause we will now specify, is the deplorable fact that both the State and National authorities have practically acknowledged their inability to protect us against the enemies of our peace and prosperity; and added to this we must in candor state that although we have longed and prayed for fifteen years for a public sentiment that would enforce the laws of the State and nation in our behalf, no such public sentiment has come to the front. As slaves we were protected from the midnight assassin, but as citizens and freemen, neither the State nor the General Government protects us.

Having thus stated what we know to be the real causes of the Exodus movement, we as candidly say to our white fellow-citizens:

1. We do not want to leave the South. It is our home. We have many true and good friends among the merchants and planters and professional men and their families. Since the war, twenty thousand of our people have voluntarily made Louisiana their home. As laborers our men are acclimated and accustomed to Southern agriculture. We are willing and anxious to forget the past. Had we been vindictive there was not an hour during the war when with torch and knife we could not have annihilated the South. Had we been vindictive there are parishes in Louisiana where by our numbers we could have given desolation and ruin, as our answer to the persecution and murder of our brothers. God helping us we desire to forget the past and live in peace and contentment in the land where providence has placed us.

2. We are anxious for an honorable and effectual adjustment of all face and labor difficulties in

Continued on fourth page.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1879.

Attention, Agents!

We have two favors to ask of our agents:

First, Please send us all the money collected from subscribers, and make a strong effort to collect all there is yet due, and send that also.

Second, Begin at once the dollar canvass. We will send the SOUTHWESTERN until next January for one dollar cash.

Brethren, let us hear from you at once.

Remember "children's day," the second Sabbath in June. Dr. Haven and Bishop Simpson told how to observe it in last week's SOUTHWESTERN.

The Bible Scholar's Manual, for Bible classes and general reading, by Rev. B. K. Pierce, an excellent book, can now be supplied by Phillips & Hunt.

Wm. Loyd Garrison, one of the [illegible] pioneers in the anti-slavery [illegible], died Saturday night. [illegible] give full notice of his re[illegible] career next week.

The Temperance Advocate of this city, edited by J. Bennett Hinton, [illegible] chosen the official organ of the [illegible] Order of Good Templars of Louisiana, and proposes [illegible]. It deserves a gen[illegible]

[illegible] correspondents must remember [illegible] we go to press on Tuesday [illegible] a. m. Letters and notices [illegible] be received in Saturday's [illegible] insure insertion the following week. The paper is all in [illegible] on Tuesday evening, so [illegible] subscribers at a distance [illegible] their papers before Sab[illegible]

[illegible] John Tyler, Jr., son of Ex-[illegible] Tyler, is spending some [illegible] city, and has favored [illegible] He is a thorough[illegible] gentleman, in cul[illegible] national in his [illegible] questions of interest [illegible] South, and is [illegible] orator on the [illegible] of wide in[illegible] scientific and literary [illegible] Dr. Walker, the [illegible] congregation of [illegible] Street M. E. Church [illegible] congratulated on [illegible] appearance [illegible] church. A [illegible] in the rear [illegible] great organ [illegible] their seats in the [illegible] also. The ca[illegible] been renewed. [illegible] improvements [illegible] about $2500.

[illegible] the New Or[illegible] Society, [illegible] held in [illegible] Methodist [illegible] last Sun[illegible] pastor, Rev. [illegible] Chaplain [illegible] of his [illegible] the Bethel [illegible] annual [illegible] the editor

[illegible] Hoyt, of [illegible] has [illegible]

President Hardie, at the close [illegible] address, made a few explan[illegible] Knowing the views [illegible] by Dr. Palmer, he had [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] whether he would [illegible] address the associa[illegible] duties of the [illegible] Associa[illegible] with Dr. [illegible] it was not [illegible] association to [illegible] work in [illegible] the last [illegible]

Dr. Palmer vs. The Young Men's Christian Association.

There was a boy, who could never go by a certain little pond on his way to school, without stopping to take a look at the frogs, big and little, that were always squatting here and there on some favorite stump, or floating stick, enjoying in quiet dignity the scenery and the comfortable sunshine. It was too much comfort to last. He never failed to find a big stone handy, which soon went—splash into the pond, just for the fun of seeing 'em dive. But as soon as the great swash was over, the frogs never failed to pop up again, cautiously peering about for the enemy, and taking their perch as before. It was an uncivil thing to do, and though sport to the mischievous boy, it might have been death to the frogs. Of course, no frog moved a "vote of thanks" for the stone; if he did, he was called to order, and voted down, no doubt.

On Tuesday evening last there was a heavy splash in the still waters of the Y. M. C. A., on Camp street. Dr. Palmer came along and thrust in a boulder, which made a commotion, and there was some sudden diving and dodging; but, so far as heard from, no one was hurt. Announcements beforehand brought a large company of ladies and gentlemen, largely of the Doctor's own parish. He had been invited by the President. A labored article from the Doctor's pen, published a year ago in the organ of his church, deprecating and deploring the invasion of the church's prerogatives by the Young Men's Christian Association had signally failed to arrest these evils—therefore this added effort, which may not be so much intended for this association as a shot at long range aimed at Baltimore and the biennial meeting.

We follow the report of the learned divine, as given in the New Orleans Democrat. The doctor made a complete exposé of his attitude toward these associations, under the title of their "legitimate work:"

They had encroached upon the duties of the regularly ordained ministers of the gospel representing the church of God, and had lost sight of and neglected the true intent of the organization. He begged his listeners to bear in mind that he felt not a little embarrassed in appearing to reprove the Young Men's Christian Association—he did not mean this particular branch, but the general organization. He would, however, speak frankly, and though he did not assume the part of an accuser, he would be critical; his criticisms would be kind, such as he had been invited to do. After saying that he, like all other ministers of his denomination, had refused his active co-operation in the organization on the general ground mentioned above, Dr. Palmer reviewed the original constitution of the Y. M. C. A., whose object was to bring a moral influence to bear upon the young men in large cities like this, to throw around them the shield of Christian guidance, and Christian protection. To rebuke Sabbath-breaking, visiting beer saloons and Sunday excursions was legitimate work; so long as that was the sole, definite object not a single objection was raised. But it is singular how all things human degenerate through the intention of doing good; how the mistakes of this association grew out of its own goodness. The Young Men's Christian Association became so good and so pious that they undertook the evangelization of the world, in a measure adding a new sect to the already too numerous sects within the church of God, and naturally arousing the jealousy of the church. We cannot allow irresponsible persons to usurp the place of the church of God. He then rebuked the association for their organization of Sunday-schools, cottage meetings, and other practices which belonged strictly to the regular church; to the sending forth of lay evangelists who demanded that everything should be subordinated to them. He did not impeach the motives of these practices, but he emphatically declared that they were irregular. Three times within as many years he had been applied to by these evangelists for the use of his church (the First Presbyterian church) whose only title was a commission from some Young Men's Christian Association. Whenever you touch a work which the church does not assume you will succeed, but the moment you invade the prerogatives of the church you [illegible] false jealousies and discontent. [illegible] He would not allow the [illegible] of the church to be in[illegible] and everything that arrays [illegible] against the church must per[illegible] the slave, was required to say, "Thank you, massa."

These teachings about "the legitimate sphere" and "invading prerogatives of the ordained ministry" come always from those who have stood aloof, like the doctor and his brethren. They only "condescend to address" when they "admonish" and "rebuke." How many young men of the world will be won under such influences? Will they not rather be repelled? How like a wet blanket all this falls upon the warm hearts of young men yearning to speak a word for the Master! Take out of the churches these active, praying and working young men, and one great power of the church for good is gone. They are the vital force. But preaching is the exclusive prerogative of the ordained ministry, and young men, like Moody, Sankey and their co-evangelists, are out of their sphere! How then comes it to pass that God blesses their labors, and that multitudes are turned to Christ—by them? Is all this "irregular" work spurious? So we must believe, if we accept the learned divine as guide. The doctrine is monstrous. The hierarchy of Rome forbid the laity to read the word of God. Dr. P. only forbids them to expound or preach it. They have not spent years in qualifying for the work!

Wherever the church in this country is most alive, there men representing these associations are foremost in Christian work, and have the approval and hearty co-operation of the ministers. No "jealousies" are aroused or "discontent" exists. Why should there be? Every church has its representatives in the associations. Its work is non-sectarian. They are recruiting camps for the churches—not a "sect" to be built. Are such men as Wm. Reynold, of Peoria, the brothers Jacobs, of Chicago and Indianapolis, (foremost among Bible expounders,) the Spurgeons, and Halls, the Simpsons, the Punshons to be called enemies of the church of God? for all these approve and help forward the evangelical work of these associations. Are the noble and talented laymen now assembled in Baltimore from all parts of the world, who have consecrated life, time and fortune to this work, to be called enemies of the church?

The charitable, as well as penal institutions of New Orleans, are under Catholic control, and few protestants, young or old, have been invited, or are expected, as a rule, to hold religious services in them. After this, what member of the Y. M. C. A. will even attempt to break through the difficulties that have environed him, to carry the message of salvation to the perishing criminal or the unfortunate? The doors will be more closely shut than ever, and above them will be inscribed, "No admittance here to pray or preach, except for the regularly ordained clergy." Congregations of eager and respectful listeners might be gathered along the levees, or in public squares, who never see the inside of a church, but who will now attempt this work of love with the prospect of being ordered to show his ordination papers, or "move on?" In the cottage prayer meetings he has no longer permission to work; Dr. P's. order anticipates even the mayor's, which stops all "noisy" preaching after 10 o'clock, p. m.

Now, shall our young men cease to visit them that are in prison, to teach and instruct in the word? Shall they pass the asylums and hospitals by; organize no more meetings in the highways and hedges; drop all cottage-prayer meetings, and organize no more Sunday-schools in waste places for fear of invading the prerogatives of others? We wait to hear their response.

The International Sabbath-school lesson for the week is in the 2nd chapter of Joel, from whom Peter, on the day of pentecost, quoted the remarkable passage: "And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy," etc. "Then they which were scattered abroad (by the persecution) went everywhere, preaching the word." Their only authorization was divine. It was then and is now sufficient.

An organization has been effected in this State to encourage immigration from the north and Europe. The Picayune says:

Though owing its origin to the negro exodus, and proposing to supply the wants of planters in those sections from which there has been emigration, or where negroes may in the future become disaffected, it will be a permanent institution, and designs extending its efforts towards turning the tide of immigration from the Old World into the Southern States.

The parish of Tensas will leave a special tax of $10,000 to aid in this movement.

Exodus Mass Meeting.

The meeting held on Wednesday evening last in Lafayette square originated with the colored people, and a desire to hear a report from delegates to the Vicksburg labor convention. Because of the fact that ex-Gov. Foote, a delegate of the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce at its solicitation, had there presented the only plan to practically meet the true causes of the exodus, and give weight to the pledges of the convention, he was invited to fully present his views at this meeting. Gen. John Tyler, Jr., also a delegate and in sympathy with Gov. Foote, was called upon, for a like reason, to address it. This we remark as necessary to disabuse the minds of the public, who being deprived of a complete report, by the suppression of speeches and resolutions by the city press, have in addition been imposed upon, with the unfounded assertion that the meeting "was gotten up by politicians, who had ulterior purposes in view." So far from this being the case the managers resolutely excluded all political influences, and aimed to make the meeting, what it actually was, a clear, candid, expression of the colored people. Because it was such an expression, and of the disposition shown by daily contemporaries to keep the truth, however unwelcome it may be to some, from the minds of their readers, we give considerable space to the proceedings.

The outspoken complaints of bad treatment as the cause of the exodus cannot be ignored. The resolutions are complete, candid and strong. None but the colored people are entitled to speak authoritatively on the merits of wrongs endured, and they have spoken. Justice must reign in Louisiana, or thousands of colored laborers will leave the State. The remedy must be sought in wise statesmanlike policy to be speedily inaugurated.

The following extract from a Times editorial, is timely and deserving of attention:

It is a characteristic of our people to constantly deceive themselves. We have been doing it in this grave matter as in everything else. Our newspapers all through the lower valley; our Washington, St. Louis and Kansas correspondents, for a month past have been repeating that the exodus has ceased; that the negroes are miserable in Kansas and are coming home; that everybody now admits the movement was induced by land speculators and such twaddle and nonsense. The truth is that the threatened departure of the great body of the colored laborers from several portions of the State is still impending. The truth is that there were more who left this city last week than have returned to the entire South from Kansas. Why in the world can we not be honest and truthful to ourselves about this matter? Why not recognize the evil, acknowledge its causes, appreciate its seriousness, understand the necessity of averting and checking the movement which threatens to impoverish the fairest portions of the State?

The Truth Admitted.

The Ledger, Brookhaven, Mississippi, a thoroughly Democratic paper, edited by a prominent member of the Democratic party of that State, fully admits the truth, for the utterance of which the SOUTHWESTERN and its friends have been criticized as "slanderers" for years past. Following is its leading editorial, and the proceedings to which it refers, re-published from its issue of the 22d inst. Honest citizens can, if they will, suppress bulldozing, and thereby stop the Exodus, and we trust the example of these Mississippians may be followed in a hundred communities of the South. Then, law and order may reign.

BULLDOZING MUST STOP.

As will be seen by the proceedings published elsewhere, some of the best citizens of beat five held a mass meeting near Caseyville, on the 17th inst., and declared against bulldozing. We are informed that two hundred men were present, and the sentiment against such lawlessness as has been carried out in this county for the last two years was very bitter. Next Saturday another meeting of citizens will be held near Caseyville for the purpose of forming militia companies to put down bulldozing and every man opposed to the devilment should attend the meeting. Citizens from that section inform us they are determined, at all hazzards, to break up bulldozing, that they intend calling on the Governor for arms, but if he refuses to furnish them they will arm themselves and carry the war to the bitter end. It must be stopped.

The preambles to the resolutions recount a horrible state of affairs, and should move all good citizens to immediate action. A severe charge is made against the Court which, it is to be hoped, can clear itself of the imputation. The resolutions are straightforward and manly, and drafted and adopted by men who mean what they say. People had begun to think that there was more talk than anything else about bulldozers, but now that some of the best and most prominent men of beat five have publicly denounced them, it must be conceded that bulldozing is no longer a myth, but a sad, stern reality, that demands prompt attention.

We would advise the bulldozers to consider their ways and desist ere it be too late.

CITIZENS' MEETING IN BEAT FIVE.

At a mass meeting of the law-abiding citizens of Lincoln and adjoining counties, held near Caseyville, Lincoln county, Miss., May 17th, 1879, the object of the meeting being explained by the president, the meeting then proceeded to business.

On motion a committee of ten was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting.

The president appointed the following as a committee on resolutions, to wit:

L. Blue, John Gilchrist, Joe. C. Smylie, James Markum, P. Buie, Alex. Randall, Robert Buie, Amos Morney, S. P. McRee, Abe Green.

On motion the president was added to the committee.

The committee made the following report:

WHEREAS, That for two years or more certain citizens of this and adjoining counties have been committing act of lawlessness disgraceful to the civilization of this age, and

WHEREAS, This community, hitherto peaceful, has been thrown into the utmost consternation by so act of certain lawless characters acting in the night time, and unknown to the good citizens of this community, to wit: the burning of Mr. Thomas Erwin's gin, to his great damage; and

WHEREAS, Within a short time after the commital of said act, this community was shocked by a grosser act of violence (seeming in retaliation of said act), to wit: the whipping and otherwise ill-treating certain colored citizens—and the assassination of another at the dead hour of night—the assassin's chosen hour; and

WHEREAS, Diversburning, whipping and ordering of colored citizens in various parts of this county to leave their homes and crops have occurred to the great injury of the county at large, and

WHEREAS, It is the sense of this meeting that these lawless characters are citizens of adjoining counties who invade this county at night and commit these lawless acts, and return to their homes before daylight, leaving the stigma of their acts to rest on the good citizens of this county; and

WHEREAS, We admit those citizens (styled bulldozers) may have had some cause for acts hitherto committed, by being deprived of their homes by a system of extortion under the lien laws of this State, which are erroneous and had as class legislation, favoring one class of citizens and utterly ruining another greatly in the majority; yet this is no justification for acts of punishing and assassinating unoffending colored citizens; and

WHEREAS, We have waited patiently for the courts to bring to condign punishment those lawless characters, and having been sadly deceived by seeing them, instead of being visited with swift justice, turned loose on straw bonds or no bonds at all, at great expense to the county, already nearly bankrupt; therefore be it Resolved—1. That it is the sense of this meeting that such acts must be stopped.

2. That we look with indignation on all lawless acts by any and all citizens who have not the fear of the law before their eyes.

3. That it is the sense of this meeting that all such lawless persons be requested to desist from such lawless acts in the future.

4. That it is the sense of this meeting that we look with contempt on the party or parties who wrote the notice posted at this place, near Caseyville, warning the good citizens of this community from doing their duty.

On motion, the Brookhaven Ledger is requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting, as well as all papers in the State friendly to the cause, be requested to do.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

JOHN E. MCCALLUM, President.

L. BLUE, Secretary.

The following is the notice referred to in the above proceedings:

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To Whom it May Concern:

We, the Regulating Association of this and adjoining counties, respectfully notify the leading members of the proposed meeting to be held at or near this place on Saturday, the 17 inst., that, whereas you are now interfering with business that does not concern you, by taking steps to uphold the negroes in their rascality, and to shield them from punishment, and we, the Regulators, being well organized, determined in purpose and resolute in action, take this method of notifying you of the great responsibility you are now about to take upon yourselves, and warn you to be careful in the proceedings which you are now going to enter into, as we are going to hold each and every man to a strict accountability for all measures taken against this association.

At present you may be doing well, living peaceably and quietly, and in a prosperous condition, but we cannot warrant your future prosperity if you continue to interfere with the business of other people. Though you are determined to carry out your undertaking, all well and good; all we have to say is, you must abide by the future consequences, let them be what they may.

You have gone just as far as reason will permit, and all we have to say is, to advance one or two more steps, either by word or by act, and you will reach the dagger's point, on which hangs the reality of our doctrine.

Further comment on the above subject we think unnecessary, as a hint to the wise is certainly sufficient.

REGULATORS.

The New York Herald thus comments on the murder of Rev. W. M. Todd near Brinkley, Arkansas, after patient hearing of the facts:

Are the public authorities of the State making any efforts to arrest and punish the authors of this cowardly brutality? If so, it would be well for them to make it known at once. Is there no decent, Christian public opinion in Arkansas to demand that such brutes as those concerned in this story shall be brought to justice? When Garland was Governor of the State he knew how to maintain order and decency, because he promptly punished every piece of lawlessness. He made Arkansas for the time respectable, and a State in which all men's rights were secure. His successor does not seem to be of the same kind, or such a dastardly outrage as this could never have occurred. It is only when brutes and cowardly ruffians feel that they have the sympathy of the authorities that they venture so far. What is the matter in Arkansas? Will not some Herald reader down there tell us?

The Governor is charged with saying that ministers must be careful in their speech, as there are many bad men in Arkansas. This is the only action reported to date on his part.

Letter from Enterprise.

EDITOR ADVOCATE: Being a constant reader of your interesting columns, I always hail with joy the dawn of the day that brings them, as a sympathizing and Christian-hearted monitor to my humble dwelling; for in it I expect to find something to encourage my poor and despised people to a full development of the strong minds of which they are the fortunately natural possessors, and because in it we find that there are some who are willing to recognize the truth of these, "God our Father, Man our Brother," and are willing to treat us as a race under these convictions. Around in this community there are only two religious denominations, namely: Methodist Episcopal and Baptist; (reference exclusively to the colored race,) there has for some time existed, on the part of the Baptists, a disposition of antagonism against the Methodist, the legitimate product of gross ignorance and superstition, promulgated and fostered by persons styling themselves "called of God," to teach the scriptures, fearfully detrimental to the success of both churches here; but, notwithstanding, I find the ADVOCATE welcomed by both Baptist and Methodist alike, because of its bold stand for truth and justice, which accords to all men their inalienable rights, irrespective of color or their previous condition; and because under the column headed "The Exodus" we find something to cheer an almost despairing people; we discover, we believe, along the horizon, a streak of clear sky, the dark and foreboding clouds seem to be in motion, and in their commotion we can discern a light, a dawn that may ultimate in a clear firmament and a bright day for the liberty of Africo-America. But are these clouds to hover over us and become again settled and opaque, attended, of course, by a deeper gloom than at first? God forbid. But may this movement continue until the question be solved that is so detrimental to the upward flight of "The Eagle." So long as the "negro problem" remains unsolved, the United States cannot prosper, but every Congress will be one of contention and dissention until it be solved, at the same time threatening the peace of the nation.

Sir, the American people are now confronted with a question of grave importance—the migration of the colored people from the South, the land of Egypt; to the North and West, as an asylum. The colored people constitute the agricultural element of the South, and as the progress of the South depends upon its agricultural resources, so when it is deprived of this element, ruin must inevitably follow. To the emigrants it means some suffering and unpleasantness, perhaps, but are we to prove ourselves unworthy the names of freemen, by allowing this to stay our steps to independence? All those who are so weak as to fear results of migration, I would refer to the example of the "pilgrim fathers," whose devotion to the principle of liberty sought the unfriendly and uninviting wilds of uncivilized America; rather than bear oppression and tyranny they came to the inhospitable clime of the New World. They were not ignorant of the barbarities of the Indians, the ferocity of the wild beasts, and the severity of a New England winter. Still they came, and the result of their coming is, we are as a nation one of the most respected nations on the globe.

Considering this, should we not be encouraged rather than discouraged? Look! Where they had the barbarity of the savages, we have offered us the sympathizing hands of a christianized and civilized people; and in the place of a New England winter, we have, even in Kansas, a climate more congenial to our climate than that of Kentucky, Tennessee or Virginia. From one end of the North to the other the move is encouraged and aided. And now, black men of the South, do you love liberty? If you do, now, now is the time to grasp it and embrace it. And to the credit of the black man, he is moving; yes, he thinks, as he looks down on his sons and daughters, that their future welfare urge him to go.

It is urged by some that we are deluded, and go expecting homes from the National Government, "free grants," and all such stuff; but such as really believe these assertions are victims of the grossest absurdity; but some urge this to cover the real cause of our Exodus, from the gaze of a civilized world. In the last issue of the Enterprise Courier, the local paper printed at this place, is an editorial as follows: "The emigration fever doesn't seem to have struck the negroes of this section to any great extent. None have left, as yet, though we have heard it reported that agents of the emigration scheme have been at work among them." Yes, the agents have been at work among us, and have been ever since emancipation, and with renewed energy since the government has been usurped by the Democrats. We have waited to see their promises fulfilled, and what have we realized? Protected murders, midnight visits of the assassins—cowardly wretches—to the humble huts of our poor race, protected by representative Democrats, openly and privately. Public school system rendered so weak as to make it only a myth and a sham. Year after year encroachment after encroachment have been made on our rights, until now we stand in fear of an excision of them all, and to avoid which we flee from the land of bondage.

Mr. Editor, I have not yet attained my 21st year of life, but mine has been one of watching and experience of this fact, which the history of antiquity substantiates, that human nature will not always subject itself to oppression from other people, and that we have endured with a greater patience and forbearance than is recorded of any other people. Now we want freedom, and freedom we will have, at whatever risk.

Old men, let your counsel be to this end; give cheering words to the young men, so when you will come down to the end of this life you can look back with a consciousness of duty done, and experience of honor on your gray hairs for having encouraged us in a battle for freedom. Young men I appeal to you. Do we not see daily our dear sisters being dragged down to disgrace and infamy, by the influence of the wealth which our sorrowing mothers and fathers have piled up, through untold sufferings and woe, to be dejected, despised, and cast off, and to have this assertion thrown into our teeth, that we are a naturally vicious race. Shall we shut our eyes to the tears of our mothers and sighs of our fathers, at the experience of ruined daughters, our sisters? Can we see all this unmoved? Can we stand idly by and see this evil cast its shadow athwart the rays that falls from Calvary itself? I appeal to your tenderest feelings. Forget not that angel worshipper of yours who considers every element of nobility centered in you; think too of her being under the influence, in reach of this curse. Let this arouse you to action, her independence calls on you; will you deny her this by inaction? "Be we men and suffer such dishonor?"

Let us risk much, yes if necessary suffer for our independence, remembering it is honorable to suffer for principle. The National government has stood idly by and refused to protect us against lawlessness, and to-day the blood of 5000 innocent colored martyrs calls from the ground and arouses us to action. These are the "agents" and "free homes." Sir, we expect just what the Pilgrims came for—Freedom and independence. When we have attained these, then we can take pride in saying we are American citizens, practically as well as literally. But where now is our pride in such a weak or such an unkind government? Now is it not just that it should aid us to emigrate, or after we do emigrate, although we do not expect it? Pardon my intrusion by rashness, errors, and length, and permit this letter space in your columns, and greatly oblige. Yours Truly,

SAM'L W. WINN.

Enterprise, Miss.

Letter from Courtney.

COURTNEY, Texas, May 12, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR: Our district conference commenced at this place May 1st, and continued until the 5th. All the pastors were on hand except two, Bros. Whitaker and Coleman. Bro. Whitaker was engaged in a revival a few miles from Hearne. He wrote that he had had several conversions and the interest still increasing. We have heard nothing from Bro. Coleman. The reports of the pastors certainly demonstrate the fact that the district has been growing since conference. About two hundred have united with the church and about three hundred have been converted. Every church has been blessed with more or less revival influence, and all the pastors are looking for a glorious harvest. The people of Courtney did grandly in taking care of the conference: so far as I know no one went away dissatisfied. It was feared by many of our friends that so small a membership and small town of Courtney could not entertain so large a district conference as ours; but all were surprised and well pleased. Bro. Guess did all in his power to make his brethen happy. He satisfied all that he was the right man in the right place. I have a higher regard for our ministers and church among our colored people since this district conference than ever before. I am impressed that the pastors in the Navasota district are a body of good men doing all they can for the Master. They have not had all the advantages of their white brothers, but I have heard poorer preaching by whites than I heard at Courtney during the conference. One thing is certain, one who has been on the ground and known all the preachers and work for the last ten years, can see a wonderful change for the better.

The local preachers, exhorters and all the other members of the conference gave evidence of great improvement, both in knowledge and moral. Pray for them, that they may still grow up. We have great opposition all through this country, not so much from the whites as blacks not members of our church, but of other churches. The preachers of the A. M. E. Church spend most of their time in the pulpit in making war upon the old church and her preachers. Nothing is too bad for them to say about us. They tell the people that we are the old slave church, and that if they let us get among them we will take their children from them and enslave them. The presiding elder of this district of that church forbids his people to allow one of our preachers to stop at their house, eat at their table, sleep in their beds, and proposes to discipline them if they do. He tells them that we are among them for their money. I would not think strange of all this if they were consistent, but these same men go North, meet with our bishops and leading men and say to them, "We love the old church so much; she is our mother," as one of their men said at our last General Conference, "We are her oldest daughter." And yet they are the worst enemies we have in this land. I am sorry to say, that even their bishops are not deep in this matter. Pray for us. Your brother,

W. L. MOLLOY.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

MISSISSIPPI.

D. D. Goodwin, Vicksburg: "Superintendent Campbell is a noble Sunday-school worker. The church is doing well and getting out of debt; forty-five have joined this year. Bros. G. W. Stith, Morgan, Clark, Rickerson and Ransom are doing all they can as stewards. Bros. Campbell, Jackson and Johnson are looking after our church property."

J. B. Smith, Forest: "The children, with their parents and friends, about 200 in number, met at the M. E. Church, and after listening to the exercises prepared for them by their teachers, they marched to the woods, situated about a mile from the church, where the children and their friends enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. They all returned home in the afternoon with glad hearts."

Rev. J. W. Dunn, Meridian: "Having started on my second round, I have held my quarter at Shuqulak where D. W. Maddox was killed, and I am glad to say that everything was perfectly quiet, and no sign of disturbance of any kind. I have filled the place with C. W. Ivy, and I met a live Sabbath-school, well attended and most admirably conducted, which was adjourned in good time and order. The congregation, much to my astonishment was very large. We have had a good time and several joined the Church. I have, I think, a right to believe that the sign are good and favorable under the administration of this young preacher. Pray for us."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. P. P. Brooks, McMinnville: I have had a glorious revival at Bowlin's Green, and we had sixteen converts and twenty-eight additions to the church, and baptized eighteen last Sunday. There were about six hundred people at the baptism. I was assisted in my meeting by Bro. A. Phillips and Bro A. Martin. Sister Patsey Fonnor did a great work in our revival, also in getting sinners to come to Christ and entertaining the people during our meeting. Many souls were made happy during our meeting.

TEXAS.

Rev. C. L. Madison, Austin: "Mrs. Madison is still very low, though she is a little better than she has been. The minutes are about ready to send out."

W. H. Davis, Nockenut: "I will preach to-morrow in our new church, just finished this evening. (May 3.) We now have two good churches here."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. J. W. Hilton, Natchitoches: "We have just closed a protracted meeting, and received in full membership 21, converts 27. Our loving presiding elder was with us one week. Conference could not have given us a better elder than Davage."

Sunday School.

JUNE 1, 1879.—PROPHECY AGAINST TYRE.

SCRIPTURE.—Ezek. 26: 7-14.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away."—Matt. 24: 35.

TOPIC.—"They that hate the righteous shall be desolate."—Ps. 34: 21.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.]

Tyre's Position.—From the first that is known about it, Tyre held a place in the front rank of the great cities of the world. To the Tyrians we are indebted for the invention of letters, weights, money, arithmetic, and the art of keeping accounts. Of it God himself said: "Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty. Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God." And again: "Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day thou wast created." 28: 12, 13, 15. She was the commercial queen of the world. Her ships were found in every harbor of the Mediterranean, and penetrated to India on the east, and to Spain and Britain on the west.

Tyre's Sins. 1. Against God. Her prosperity turned her head. She was filled with unseemly pride. She had defiled her sanctuaries—or those she had called such—bringing into them the unclean worship of Baal and of Astarte. The early intercourse between Tyre and Israel was quite fraternal It will be remembered that Hiram, king of Tyre, made to David a present of the cedar with which to build him a palace. This happy relation continued until the introduction into Israel, through the instrumentality of Jezebel, of the idolatries of Phœnicia. Then began a breach which widened from year to year. The voices of the prophets were heard predicting the destruction of the city which had been the cause of so much apostasy. As Jerusalem increased in power and splendor, Tyre began to look upon her as a commercial rival. Her downfall at the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, instead of being [illegible], was actually made a matter of rejoicing. 2. The Tyrian [illegible] did not hesitate to buy [illegible] that had been taken into captivity, and sell them into [illegible] among the Greeks and [illegible]. Joel denounced them [illegible] had cast lots for his [illegible] Joel 3: 3, 6. Amos re[illegible] them, Amos 1: 9. 10. [illegible] the desolation, Is. [illegible] mentions it as [illegible] who must drink of the [illegible] wrath, Jer. 25: 17, [illegible] And Zechariah speaks [illegible] in the words of Ezekiel than [illegible] of the prophets, Zech. [illegible] unholy joy over [illegible] of Jerusalem, [illegible] the "thus saith the [illegible] the subject of our [illegible] build a mole from the mainland to the island on which Tyre stood. On its capture he gave the city to the flames, 8,000 of its inhabitants were slain, 2,000 were crucified for alleged slaying of Macedonians, and 30,000 were sold into slavery. From this heavy blow, by the coming of the fresh settlers, Tyre somewhat recovered. It passed to the Romans, under whom it enjoyed a kind of freedom. In the time of Augustus, its prosperity was quite great. Strabo, in giving an account of it at that period, speaks of the great wealth it had accumulated from the dyes of the celebrated Tyrian purple. It was an important city when it surrendered to the Crusaders in A. D. 1144. But God bides his own time. At last the day of retribution came. In A. D. 1291, there came up against it the terrible sultan of Egypt. Its inhabitants heard of his laying siege to Ptolemais, and in the night all the Frankish population sailed away. The sultan took and sacked the city, and threw its columns and statues, stones and timbers into the sea, completely filling up one of its fine harbors. He scraped the top of the rock. From that calamity it has never recovered. It is now a miserable little village of three or four thousand inhabitants, stricken with hopeless poverty. Its former magnificent trade is reduced to a small traffic in millstones and its once numerous fleets to a few crazy fishing-boats. Literally, it has become "a place to spread nets upon."

[illegible] (7-9).—In verses [illegible] of assault upon [illegible] "Thy daughters [illegible] in the suburban [illegible] belonging to [illegible] destroyed by [illegible] approach to [illegible] invested it. [illegible] (10, 11).—The [illegible]

Letter from Rodney.

ALCORN UNIVERSITY
Rodney Miss., May 21, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—It gives me pleasure to report through the columns of our esteemed ADVOCATE the progress of a great, powerful, and, everything considered, wonderful revival at Alcorn University.

Twenty-six were converted in twenty-six hours. The meetings commenced last Wednesday night, and to date we know of thirty powerful conversions.

The wildest young men in attendance here, have been converted, and like veteran soldiers of the cross, are endeavoring to weaken the kingdom of Satan by winning souls to Christ. Indeed in this respect they excel any converts I have ever seen.

The first conversion was that of one of our able and successful teachers, Mr. Clark. The whole corps of teachers here now is pious.

The good work is still going on, and I will inform you of its results.

Truly yours. H. R. REVELS.

Important Notice.

Any Sunday-school not now taking the Sunday-school Class-mate will on application by the pastor, stating the number of pupils outside of the primary class, receive a sufficient number of specimen copies for distribution that they may see what a beautiful and valuable paper it is. The same offer is made with regard to the Sunday School Advocate. Address PHILLIPS & HUNT, 805 Broadway, N. Y.

Deaths.

As we were returning from Jackson on the 17th inst., a girl of 12 or 14 years, named Celia Evans, who was passing backwards and forwards through the train, missed the step and fell between the cars, and was crushed to death.

D. D. GOODWIN.

Vicksburg, Miss.

New Publications.

St. Nicholas for June has a seasonable frontispiece entitled "Summer has Come," and opens with "A Second Trial," a story by Sarah Winter Kellogg, showing how a devoted little girl saved her big brother's fame at a College Commencement. Very small readers have a large-type story, with seven pictures, about "Two Little Mothers," and "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "The [illegible]-Box" and "The Riddle-Box" [illegible] things piquant, playful and [illegible] for readers of all tastes and all ages.

[illegible] Awake for June has a lovely frontispiece, "O Larks, Sing Out [illegible] Thrushes!" which illustrates "Little Mary's Secret," a [illegible] and simple little poem by [illegible] C. Whiton. Susan Fenimore Cooper follows with the story [illegible] Wonderful Cookie," which [illegible] quaint pictures; while [illegible] comes one of Emma [illegible] charming Boston pa[illegible] are large print sto[illegible] little folks' letters, [illegible] all for twenty cents. [illegible] Ella Farman, [illegible] Lothrop & Co., publishers, Boston.

[illegible] devoted to the [illegible] school, serves, [illegible] as well for the [illegible] entertainment [illegible] Its pages [illegible] tive speech, which treats that important question in an entirely new way; "Socialism in its Relation to the Church and the State," etc. All the departments are well provided, and recommend it to all who wish to read a German magazine.

Harper's Magazine for June begins the fifty-ninth volume and the thirtieth year of that periodical. To a new generation of readers it appears in a new dress—in larger type, and with a wider page. This is the third change which has been made in the type of the Magazine—each being an improvement. The contents of the June number are especially attractive. The article on The Honorable Hudson Bay Company describes life in the great territory under its control, and carrying the mail by dog sledges 3000 miles northward to the upper Yukon, and is by H. M. Robinson. Olive Logan, gives "Grand Days of Histrionics," which is illustrated with portraits of actors and actresses. E. P. Whipple contributes "Recollections of Agassiz." James T. Field, "A Free Lecture Experience," a humorous article. The editorial summaries satisfactorily cover their respective fields, with timely gossip, literary comment, scientific facts and lively humor.

The numbers of the Living Age for the weeks ending May 10 and 17, contain the following articles: Memories and Charters of the Lennox, Edinburgh Review; Cobbett, Cornhill; Biography, Travel and Sport, Blackwood; Residual Phenomena, Fraser; Count Leo Tolstoy's Novels, Nineteenth Century; Burma, Fortnightly; The Umbrella Bird, Hatter's Gazette; Science and Faith, Sir A. Panizzi, Henry James Jr.'s Ideal of American Character, and Earthborn Meteorites, Spectator; Uphill Work, and Historical Casuistry, Saturday Review; chapters of Jean Ingelow's "Sarah de Berenger;" Jerome Bougrand's Hersey, a Tale about Priests; and, among other poetry, Tennyson's "Defence of Lucknow" For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four pages each (more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age. Littell & Co., publishers.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for June completes the fifth volume of this deservedly popular periodical. It should be introduced to every family, for the pure and healthful literature cannot fail to exercise a highly benefical influence. The June number is remarkable for the quantity, and varied character of the contents, so that every class of readers will derive from the perusal of its pages instruction, edification and entertainment. There is such a wealth of literature that it is difficult to designate articles of especial value—nearly every page is brillantly attractive. There are articles by the editor, and others of literary eminence; delightful serial and short stories, sketches, etc.; poems of celebrated writers; a sermon and Popular Exegesis by the editor, and editorials upon various subjects of interest. Under the head of "At Home and Abroad" is a full resume of the most important items of religious intelligence from all parts of the world; and the miscellaneous department overflows with good things. Each number contains 128 quarto pages, over 100 engravings and the subscription price is only 25 cents a number, or $3 a year, post paid. A specimen number will be sent on the receipt of 25 cents.

Sunday Afternoon (Springfield Mass., $3.00 a year) for June has sensible articles; "How Civilization Benefits our Birds," which is one of the papers for which that bird lover Earnest Ingersoll is becoming so widely known; a story of the war appropriate to Decoration Day entitled "Was He a Traitor"; a poem by Thomas L. Collier entitled "Decoration Day"; and some timely verses by Sarah O. Jewett, author of "Deephaven." There is a story, "The New Minister at Brayton"; a sketch, "Letters from Cape Cod"; and a somewhat tragic installment of "Calvin the Sinner." Mrs. Helen Campbell gives another chapter from her experiences among the New York tenement houses. Of the more solid articles "Conflicts of Labor and Capital in England" traces the the history of the English Tradesunions from their beginning to the present time; and discusses various points at some length. George M. Towle has "Republic and Church in France"; there are suggestions as to how the old Catholic movement should be judged, by Rev. Dr. Wm. Chauncy Langdon, and "Four Elements of a Great Art," the art of imparting ideas as to religion, by Rev. Geo. T. Ladd. Editor's Table containing; Murder as a Means of Grace; Materialism in Reform; Is Faith Blind? and American Art.

The International Review for June will be published in a few days. It opens with an account of the present condition of Greece, by Thomas Davidson, the Greek scholar who passed the winter of 1877-78 in that country. The second article is a discussion of the Indian Question, by Hon. J. D. Cox, of Ohio. Mr. Cox's experience as Secretary of the Interior gives peculiar value to his carefully considered paper. Mr. Brooks Adams contributes an article on the Currency Question in relation to the Supreme Court. This question is attracting great attention, owing to the case about to be tried between Gen. Butler and Mr. Chittenden as to the constitutionality of re-issues. Mr. Adams traces the history of the legal tender case, and states clearly the action of Judge Hoar in obtaining the reversal of Hepburn vs. Griswold. The fourth article, [illegible] the Shakespearean revival in [illegible] a description of Mr. Irving [illegible] Terry, by Mr. Julian [illegible] of London, well known by his stories in Blackwood, and by one or two successful novels. Rev. George Washburn, President of Robert College, Constantinople, gives a careful article upon the relations of England and Turkey. Mr. Washburn writes as an eye-witness as well as a master of his subject. The last article is entitled "Some Remedies for Socialism," and is from the pen of Mr. E. L. Godkin. Mr. Godkin takes a hopeful view of the subject, though he by no means overlooks the dangers. These are two poems by Mr. F. W. Bourdillon, whose verses have attracted so much notes in the London Spectator," and whose charming lines beginning "The night has a thousand eyes," were republished and read every where. There are the usual full and careful notices of important books. Enclose fifty cents to Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co., N. Y., for this number; or, $5,00, with request to mail the International Review regularly to your address for one year. The Review is for sale by prominent newsdealers and booksellers everywhere. If not found on his counter request your dealer to get it.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be a villain." American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon intrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of intrinsic excellence. Dr. Price's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Price is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

Feels Young Again.

"My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady, Providence, R. I.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 26, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	11¼@11½
Ordinary	11½a 11¾
Good Ordinary	12¼@12½
Low Middling	12¾@12⅞
Middling	12⅞@12⅞
Good Middling	13¼@13½
SUGAR—
Common	—@ 5½
Strictly Prime	6 @ —
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7½
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$10 25
New	11 25
BACON—
Shoulders	5 @ —
Clear Rib Sides	5½@ —
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	9 50
Choice Extra Western	12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	9 @ 9½
Choice	9½ a 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$3 75 to 4 00
Extra	4 25 to 4 50
Double Extra	4 87 to 5 12
Family	5 75 to 5 85
Choice Fancy	6 00 to 6 37
LARD—
Refined	7 to 7½

Quarterly Conferences.

West Tennessee District Quarterly Conference.

THIRD ROUND.

Cristenden Circuit, May 31 and June 1; Memphis (Centenary Chapel), June 7-8; Memphis Circuit, June 14-15; Fayette Circuit, June 21-22; Mason Circuit, June 28-29; Cypress Circuit, July 5-6; Gardner Circuit, July 12-13; Mansfield Circuit, July 19-20; Henderson Circuit, July 26-27; Purdy Circuit, August 2-3; Waynesboro Circuit, August 9-10; Linden Circuit, August 16-17; Lawrenceburg Circuit; August 23-24.

The District Conference will be held on the 20th of August. W. S. BUTLER, P.E.

Bledsoe's Landing, Ark., May 17, 1879. 22-23

Holly Springs, (Miss.) District Conference

SECOND ROUND.

Kosciusko, June 7-8; Mt Pleasant, June 10-11; Winona, June 14-15; Grenada Circuit, June 17-18; Grenada, June 21-22; Oxford, June 28-29; Holly Springs, July 5-6; Holly Springs Circuit, July 12-13; Cornersville, July 16-17; Abbeville, July 19-20; Elijah, 19-20; Chulahoma, July 26-27; Byhalia, July 29-30; Lafayette Circuit, August 2-3; Attala, August 9-10; French Camp, August 16-17; New Albany, August 24-24; Ripley, August 30-31; Carthage, September 6-7. 21-22 J. G. JOHNSON P. E.

Nashville (Tenn) District. Conference.

THIRD ROUND.

Springhill, May 31 and June 1; Liffards, June 7-8; Franklin, June 14-15; Mill Creek, June 21-22; Harrsville, June 28-29; Mitchellsville, July 5-6; Gallatin, July 12-13; Lebanon, July 19-20; Springfield, July 26-27; Dickson, August 2-3; Dover, August 9-10; Nashville Circuit, 16-17; Clark Chapel, August 23-24. C. PICKETT P. E. 21-22

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates.

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 8, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n 10 ly

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST

STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.

— AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF —

NEW NECKWEAR,

Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz

EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.

☞ Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,

110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

n20 13t

Reed & Barton,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILVER-PLATED TABLE WARE

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

WOULD CALL SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THEIR

PATENT

CHINA-LINED

Ice Pitchers

The lining is held in position by the thumb-screws in the cover, and can be easily removed, thus enabling every part to be cleaned, leaving no chance for the collection of rust or other foreign matter between the lining and outer wall. The lining is made of fine stone china, and has no equal for preserving ice and keeping water pure.

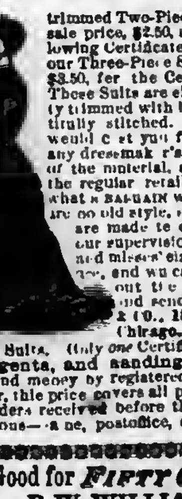
686 BROADWAY, N. Y.

For Sale by Dealers in Silver and Silver-Plated Ware.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

Special Offer to Ladies

Look at our Prices on Elegant Grass Linen Suits, Ready Made.



Special Offer. Having completed arrangements with one of the largest linen factories in the United States for an unlimited supply of elegant Grass Linen, at the extremely low prices reached during the prevailing business stagnation, and having largely increased our facilities for the manufacture of Ladies' and Misses' Linen Suits, we have decided to make an important departure from the course usually adopted by similar establishments, and to place ourselves directly in communication with the consumer, thus avoiding the enormous profits required by middlemen and the retail trade, and enabling us to make the following unprecedented offer: We will send to every person, FREE OF ANY EXTRA CHARGE, one of our elegantly trimmed Two-Piece Linen Suits, wholesale price, $2.50, on receipt of the following Certificate and $2.00; or one of our Three-Piece Suits, wholesale value $3.50, for the Certificate and $2.50.—These Suits are elegantly and tastefully trimmed with black or brown, beautifully stitched. The making alone would cost you from $3.50 to $5.00 at any dressmaker's. Then add the cost of the material, at 50 cents per yard, the regular retail price, and you see what a BARGAIN we offer. These Suits are no old style, shelf-worn goods, but are made to our order and under our supervision. We have ladies' and misses' sizes. Send bust measure, and we can fit you nicely. Cut out the following Certificate and send to P. W. WILLIAMS & CO., 18 & 20 Third Avenue, Chicago. It is good for half a dollar in part payment for one of our Linen Suits. Only one Certificate will be received toward each Suit. Ladies acting as Agents, and sending in Clubs of Ten, will be allowed One Suit FREE. Send money by registered letter, post-office money order; either way is safe. Remember, the price covers all packing, shipping and express charges on Suits. We will fill all orders received before the 15th of September at these prices. Give plain shipping directions—name, postoffice, county and State.

This Certificate Good for FIFTY CENTS with P. W. WILLIAMS & CO.

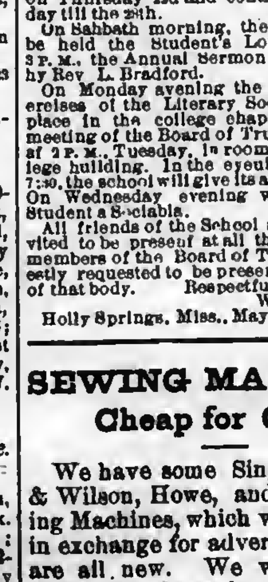
Cut this out and inclose with it $2.00, and we will send you one of our Two-Piece Linen Suits, elegantly trimmed. Free of extra charge.

P. W. WILLIAMS & Co., 18 & 20 Third Ave., Chicago.

By inclosing $2.50 with this Certificate you will be entitled to one of our THREE-PIECE Linen Suits. Free [illegible]

Beatrice De Cenci



Was the daughter of Count Niccola Cenci, a Roman noble of the sixteenth century. He was a man so utterly depraved and guilty of so many and such enormous crimes, that he feared even his own family. He caused the death of two of his sons, and subjected Beatrice to imprisonment and torture; but at length he was assassinated. It was as clear as day that the gentle and beautiful Beatrice had no knowledge of the plot, but she was accused of parricide, arrested, tried, cruelly tortured and condemned. The most illustrious families of Rome interceded in her behalf, and the life of many a gallant Roman youth was sacrificed in the endeavor to liberate her. All without avail. She was executed September 11, 1599. When the executioner bound her hands, Beatrice said, "You bind my body for destruction, but my soul for immortality." There is an indescribable sweetness and fascinating charm in the tender face of this loveliest woman of history. We have had prepared for us by the best artists a faithful portrait of this beautiful woman, in 20 oil colors, 15x21 in. in size, which is a copy of the celebrated painting by Guido, which hangs in the Barberini Palace, Rome, and has been one of the chief attractions of that Imperial City for a century. We give one copy of this picture, FREE, Postpaid, to any person who will send Thirty Cents for a 3 months' subscription to LEISURE HOURS, the [illegible] Illustrated Magazine of choice Literature published at $1.00 per year; 30 cents for three months. This Portrait is a Gift by the publishers to induce all who read this to try LEISURE HOURS three months. We guarantee all double value of money sent. Agents wanted. Stamps taken. Canada subscribers must send 5c. extra for postage. J. L. PATTEN & CO., 47 Barclay Street, N. Y.

Shaw University!

The present collegiate year of the Shaw University will close on Wednesday, May 28th. The examination of classes will begin on Thursday 22d and continue from day to day till the 28th.

On Sabbath morning, the 25th, at 10:30 will be held the Student's Love-feast; and at 3 P. M., the Annual Sermon will be preached by Rev. L. Bradford.

On Monday evening the anniversary exercises of the Literary Societies will take place in the college chapel. The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at 2 P. M., Tuesday, in room No. 3 of the college building. In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the school will give its annual exhibition. On Wednesday evening will be held the Student's Sociable.

All friends of the School are cordially invited to be present at all the exercises. All members of the Board of Trustees are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting of that body. Respectfully,

W. W. HOOPER.

Holly Springs, Miss., May 3, 1879.

SEWING MACHINES

Cheap for Cash.

We have some Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf] New Orleans.

A. H. NELSON,

COMMERCIAL

Stationer, Printer,

Blank Book Maker and Lithographer

57 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BEFORE BUYING OR RENTING A

CABINET ORGAN

Be sure to send for our LATEST CATALOGUE and CIRCULARS with NEW STYLES, REDUCED PRICES ($54, $56, $78, $84, $90, $99, $108, $114, $120, and upwards), and much information. Sent Free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., Boston, New York or Chicago n22 tf

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT.

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS

Give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Banks, Parlors, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theaters, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room, get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to Churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl street, New York. n22 17t eow

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio. n22 4t

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabriel Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Hermonie Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

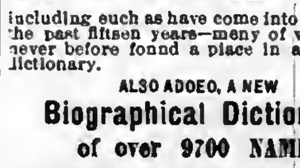
This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KEKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Oaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

NEW EDITION.



WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED.

1923 Pages. 3000 Engravings.

Four Pages Colored Plates.

Now added, a SUPPLEMENT of over 4600 NEW WORDS and Meanings, including such as have come into use during the past fifteen years—many of which have never before found a place in any English dictionary.

ALSO ADDED, A NEW

Biographical Dictionary of over 9700 NAMES of Noted Persons, ancient and modern, including many now living, giving Name, Pronunciation, Nationality, Profession and Date of each.

GET THE LATEST.

NEW EDITION contains a Supplement of over 4600 new words and meanings.
Each new word in Supplement has been selected and defined with great care.
With Biographical Dictionary, now added, of over 9700 names of Noted Persons.

GET THE BEST

Edition of the best Dictionary of the English Language ever published.
Definitions have always been conceded to be better than in any other Dictionary.
Illustrations, 3000, about three times as many as in any other Dictionary.
The Dict'y recommended by State Sup'ts of 35 States, and 50 College Presidents.
In Schools,—about 32,000 have been placed in the Public Schools in the U. S.
Only English Dictionary containing a Biographical Dictionary,—this gives the Name with Pronunciation, Nation, Profession and Date of over 9700 persons.

Published by G. & C. MERRIAM, Springfield, Ma.

ALSO

Webster's National Pictorial DICTIONARY.

1040 Pages Octavo. 600 Engravings.

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

— BY —

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,

—AND—

WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.

Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases. . . . .

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

ELEGANTLY

Furnished Rooms,

WITH or WITHOUT BOARD,

123 Carondelet Street,

Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES

besides the First Steps in

Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free, Incidentals, 50 cts per month, Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after.

For catalogues or other information, address W. W. HOOPER, n6 tf Holly Springs, Miss.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Requisites.

—:o:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals, and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

☞ All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate—Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Class-mate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	20cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for Infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	50cts
The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.
The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be re-sent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each	40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each	50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each	50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each	75 "
Morocco, gilt edges	$1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual,

Cloth, each	75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper,	$1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges	1 50

12 mo.

☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.

Contains sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Sheep, each	$1 50
Roan, embossed	2 00

12mo., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each	$1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper,	$1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges	2 50

Send orders to

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50
Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878-9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
n49 tf Marshall, Texas,

West Texas Conference SEMINARY.

This school is located at Austin—central for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to give a thorough business education, or to prepare pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, competent, Christian Teachers who have had success in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month	$1 00
Intermediate " "	1 50
Higher " "	2 00
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo.	4 00

Colored Ministers of the M. E. Church will have their tuition paid by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

Rev. O. O. RICHARDSON, President.
Rev. G. W. RICHARDSON, Ch. Tr'st
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial Agent.
mar6m

RUPTURE

DR J. A. SHERMAN is now [illegible] office, 5 South Fifth street, [illegible] where his patients and those [illegible] treatment may consult him [illegible] months of May and June. [illegible] photographs of bad cases [illegible] cure, mailed for ten cents. [illegible] pal Office, 251 Broadway, New [illegible] August.

Continued from first page.

these States. But we say frankly that simple pledges for protection and fair play are not enough. We have had fifteen years of pledges. You have the courts in your hands, you make public sentiment, you own the soil and control the capital, and no remedy for the evils of which we have spoken, can be inaugurated or made effectual unless it be planned and carried out by you. The suggestions of a plan of arbitration and conciliation made by Gov. Foote at Vicksburg, as a practical method of reaching and remedying the evils of which we complain, and which evils have ... us to resolve upon a general ... from our oppressions, we approve; but we demand that any ... plan must be so devised and ... as to afford to us in every ..., and in every instance of wrong whatsoever, whether personal or political, a full and perfect measure of justice.

3. So far as the thousands of colored people we represent, this statement of grievance and appeal to ... is a finality. The vast unoccupied fields of the West, in ... eleven States are already ... to be admitted into ... are now calling for population and are open to us. In ... the magnificent realm ... on our Southwestern border and that must become speedily incorporated into the American ..., with its boundless mineral ... and rich valleys, unsurpassed in salubrity, and capable of ... ing twenty millions of people in prosperity and comfort, while ... a semi-tropical and ... climate, precisely adapted ... race, stands ready to become ... recipient of our Exodus in the ... Nor should it be forgotten ... connections, that the rail... now in progress of com... render our migration ... a few day's journey at ... In those mighty re... their avenues of labor, ... in mining, agriculture, ... arts, we will seek ... for ourselves inde... communities, with those ... of life, liberty and the ... happiness denied to us ...

... Dale and Rev. A. ... made short and well re... indicating the ... their people to seek ... if justice contin... them in Louisi...

...'S REMARKS.

... and Fellow Citi...

... late hour de... speech. In... intention to ... after all that ... fully said, and ... the subject un... it is scarcely ... I should utter a ... one single ... While re... of a statue ... through ... for a ... upon the ... in the ... own glow... in life, ... instrumen... ... foulest ... not ex... I should ... wreath ... the ... conqueror." ... since the ... mind ..., and ... stand ... of the ... land, ... freedom ... instru... rights ... these ... peace ... god ... not ...

for them, but millions of others in the future, as in the past, will, sooner or later, enforce their recognition. They may live to see their homes and cities desolate, or perish themselves in the grave, dying and making no sign, but while they live they would not be permitted to escape, nor can they even hope to escape from the imperative demands upon their moral sense and their material welfare. God grant that my old Southern comrades and associates may speedily see this and act accordingly.

General News Items.

Heavy failures in the English iron trade are reported.

Georgia peaches have reached the New York market.

Judge Asa Packer died on the 19th at Mauch Chunk, Pa.

The Mexican gunboat Independence was quarantened at Galveston.

Bad weather is destroying silk worms in the South of France and Italy.

Only 50 communists will be excluded from amnesty by the French government.

Capital punishment may be adopted or abolished at the pleasure of the Swiss cantons.

A fire in Washington, La., on the 21st, destroyed twelve or thirteen houses. Loss, $35,000.

Von Forckenback resigned the presidency of the Reichstag because of ill health and differences with the majority.

It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 people visited the Richmond cemeteries on Confederate memorial day.

The Iowa Democratic Convention nominated H. H. Trimble for governor, and Moses Bloom for lieutenant governor.

Sherman in a letter to the chairman of the Republican central committee, declines the nomination for the governorship of Ohio.

John F. Dillon, U. S. Circuit Judge for the eighth district, has resigned, and will probably be succeeded by Hon. Geo. W. McCrary, Secretary of War.

Among the principal points of the agreement with Yakoob Khan are: British command of the passes with sufficient territory to constitute a scientific frontier. The appointment of a British resident at Cabul, and control of the foreign relations of Afghanistan.

The colored convention of Virginia met in Richmond, and appointed a committee on grievances. It reported detailing wrongs suffered by the colored people, advising organization for protection of rights, and endorsing emigration to other homes where political rights and opinions will be respected.

Wm. Nelson, a negro at Terre Haute, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year, for marrying a white woman. The prosecution originated in spite, but Nelson was convicted under the law of 1856, which Judge Long held it to be valid, through a decision of the supreme court.

Lost Friends.

DEAR EDITOR: I desire to inquire for Calvin Bush. The last time heard from he was in Little Rock, Arkansas. His father was Dick, mother Ellen, sisters Ellen and Lula, brothers Charley, Alexander and Abner Bush. All are residing in Macon, Noxubee Co., Miss. Address

JOSEPH H. MOORE.

Meridian, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: I have a lost mother in some part of the world. She was once the wife of Americus Corby, of Hartsville. She left here in 1865, leaving two little boys for their father to care for. I am one of them—the only one living. God took the other at the age of six years. JOHN ORGAN CORBY.

Hartsville, Tenn., May 5, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR: My brother left St. Charles parish in 1865 with my sister. I found her, but she died with yellow fever. She said when brother was last heard from he was in Dallas, Texas, in 1878. He is 5 feet 2 inches high, has a dark skin, and is now about 41 years old. CELESTIN WILLIS, Care Frank Nelson, Market and Annunciation streets, New Orleans.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, ... suffering for years, ... a sick family and large ..., which did them ... completely dis... one year ago, by ..., I ... commenced ... we ... of us have ... I want ...

Benson's Capcine Porus Plaster.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used. It is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. 21 5t

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,

NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,

WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

Upholstery Goods

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

97 and 99 CAMP STREET,

june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

7 SUPERIOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SINGING BOOKS.

Should you want a new Music Book, select from the following list:

PURE GOLD (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail

ROYAL DIADEM (Board Covers), $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.

BRIGHTEST and BEST (Board Cov's) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.

WELCOME TIDINGS (Board Covers) $30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.

NEW HYMNARY (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.

BOOK OF PRAISE (Board Covers), $40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.

HYMN SERVICE (Paper Covers), $10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

Any one of the above sent on receipt of the retail price, or the 7 books sent on receipt of $2.00.

Sold by all Booksellers and Music Dealers.

BIGLOW & MAIN,

73 Randolph Street, Chicago. | 76 East Ninth Street, New York.

n18 tf

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT, New Orleans.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price ....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price ....$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price ....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price $3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price $1 50

One Hundred Years o Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price $1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price ....$1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price $1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price ....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price ....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price $1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price ....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo $0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo 2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price $1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost ....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor, Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price ....$2 50.

Church Class Books. Those have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each ....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price ....$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen ....$1 50. Large size, each ....20. Large and illuminated, each ....25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred ....$1 00. Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100 ....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100 ....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100 ..$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ....$1 00. From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100 ....$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ....$1 00. Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100 ....$1 00. Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100 ....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000 ....$1 20. Exhorters License, per 100 ....$1 00. Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100 ....$1 00. Certificates of Baptism, per 100 ....$3 00. Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00. Certificates of Removal, per 100 ....75. Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price ....$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By D. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price $2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price ....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price $1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price 1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price ....$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.

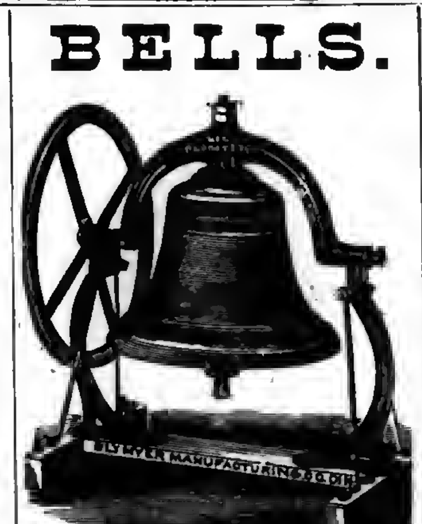
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

NEW ORLEANS.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
36 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
51 inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,

New Orleans, La.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

GRAND INTRODUCTION SALE.

One Thousand first-class Instruments from best makers to be placed in Southern Homes for Introduction and Advertisement. Pianos, 7 Oct. $125; 7 1-3 Oct. $155. Organs, 6 Stops, $57; 13 Stops, $71; Mirror Top, 13 Stops, $88. Choice instruments at lowest prices ever known. Six years written guarantee. 15 days test trial. Chickering, Hallet & Davis, Mathushek and Southern Gem Pianos, Mason & Hamlin, and Peloubet & Pelton Organs included in this sale. A clean sweep; no reserve; new instruments fresh from Factory. Only sale of the kind ever carried out in the U.S. Write for Introduction sale circular. Address Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, Savannah, Ga., the Great Wholesale Piano and Organ Depot of the South.

n214t

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once, A. C. MORTON & CO.,

n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be cased out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,

n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

READER! BEFORE BUYING A

PIANO OR ORGAN

Do not fail to send for my latest 20-page Illustrated Newspaper with much valuable information Free. New Pianos $125, 135, and upwards. New Organs $65 to $440. Be Sure to write me before buying elsewhere. Beware of imitators. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

n16 4t eow

FREE TO ALL

FLEETWOOD'S

LIFE OF CHRIST.

850 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.

Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address

UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.

178 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.

n20 8t

GRAVES' PAT. RUBBER TARGET GUN.

An entirely new principle. Shoots Arrows or Bullets almost as straight as a RIFLE. Adapted to all ages.

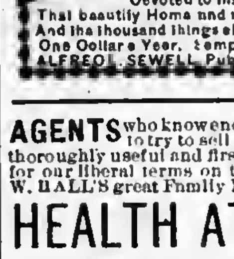
Length 39 in. Shoots 600 ft. Price, with 2 metal pointed Arrows, 2 Targets and Globe Sight.

$1.50, delivered, free of cost, throughout the U. S. on receipt of price; or, sent by express, not prepaid, for $1.00. Clubs of six supplied with Guns at a low rate.

JOHN WILKINSON, Sole Man'f'r, 77 State St., Chicago. Send also stamp for my elegant New Catalogue of Scroll Saws, Lathes, Archery, Base Ball, &c. I have the best goods in market, and am publisher of Hope's and Ware's Designs, and sole importer of the genuine "Wilkinson Saw Blades."

n21 :t

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.



Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

mar 21 t

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts

That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp. ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

AGENTS who know enough to try to sell only WANTED thoroughly useful and first-class works, send for our liberal terms on the famous DR. W. W. HALL'S great Family Medical book

HEALTH AT HOME

By far the best out, and one with which Agents succeed better and longer than any other. To get in the way of making money for all or part of your time write to STANDARD PUB. HOUSE, ST. LOUIS, MO. [n21 6m

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 1y

EAR DISEASES!

Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's Book on Deafness and Diseases of the Ear and CATARRH their proper treatment, especially Running Ear. How to get immediate relief from all annoyances of these diseases, and a sure, harmless and permanent cure. A book every family should have. Sent free to all. Address Dr. C. E. SHOEMAKER, Aural Surgeon, Reading, Pa.

no4-jan23-13t-eow.

X Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 10,000 cases within the last 25 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for Circular giving full particulars, address

W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

20 Chromo Cards, Motto flowers, etc., with name, 10cts. Nassau Card Co., Nassau, New York. 20 4t

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine. n19 1yl

60 Chromo Snowflake & Lace Cards with name, 10c. Game Authors' 15c. LYMAN & CO., Clintonville, Ct. n15 13t

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

What are your Symptoms, Sufferer? Are they a furred tongue, dizziness, headache, an uneasy stomach, oppression after eating, pain between the shoulders, constipation? If so you are dyspeptic and billious, and nothing will meet your case so efficiently as Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

n21 2t

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.

(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price $1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics, delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workmen who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,

39 Natchez Street,

New Orleans.

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK.

Opening Spring Display

OF

NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Carbonnife INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also, COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the recent gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cashmeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Mumie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits, and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain their pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.

A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3 50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $3 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50. Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; Infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.95.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,

Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.

n14 apl3 2m

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,

New Orleans.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

Has acquired an extended reputation, which its efficacy alone has sustained for more than FIFTY years as a remedy for Scrofula, Ulcerated Throats, long-standing Rheumatic Affection, Disease of the Skin, White Swelling, Diseases of the Bones, Hip-joint Disease, and all cases of a cancerous character. It is also particularly useful in Chronic Nervous Diseases occurring in debilitated constitutions, Inward Weakness, and all cases where the health is broken down by the injudicious use of Mercury, Arsenic or Quinine. It is a most useful Spring and Fall Purifier of the Blood, and is perfectly safe for the most diseased and debilitated.

Prepared only at

SWAIM'S LABORATORY,

113 S. Seventh St., below Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v18 n48 ly

60 Chromo and Perfumed Cards, no 2 alike, Name in Gold and Jet, 10c. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Ct. n15 13t

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.

In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED.

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—

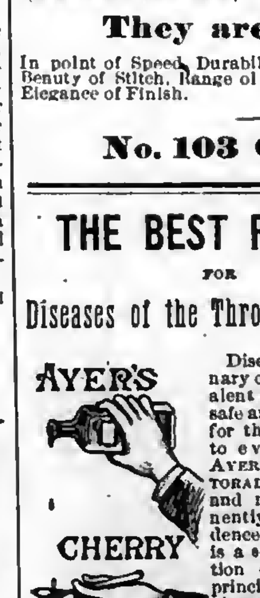
No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n20 6mo

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.



AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy, and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

Practical and Analytical Chemists,

Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment Improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

IT IS

180 Miles Shorter to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter to St. Louis.
63 Miles Shorter to Louisville.
63 Miles Shorter to Cincinnati.

THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

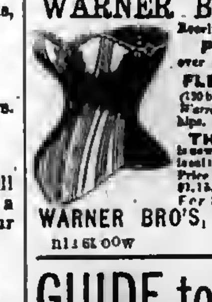
No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. Well supplied and conducted Eating Houses at convenient points.

It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 6 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Under City Hotel.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS



Received the Highest Medal at the recent PARIS EXPOSITION, over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) fits with perfect ease, and is Warranted not to break down over the hips. Price by mail, $1.25. THE HEALTH CORSET is now made with the Tampico Bust, which is soft and flexible and contains no bones. Price by mail, $1.50. Nursing Corsets, $1.75. For Sale by leading Merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.

n11 6t eow

GUIDE to SUCCESS,

WITH FORMS FOR Business AND Society

is BY FAR the best Business and Social Guide and Hand-Book ever published. Much the latest. It tells both sexes completely HOW TO DO EVERYTHING in the best way, HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER, and contains a gold mine of varied information indispensable to all classes for constant reference. AGENTS WANTED for all or spare time. To know why this book of REAL value and attractions sells better than any other, apply for terms to

H. B. SCAMMELL & CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

n21 6m

TEACHERS WANTED $80 to $100 or $200 PER MONTH during the Spring and Summer. For full particulars address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

n15 6t eow

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness take

HOP BITTERS.

Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take

HOP BITTERS.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.

HOP BITTERS.

It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14--NO. 23. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 357.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN, 39 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more ... 8 cents
One month, (4 times) ... 7 "
Three months, (13 times) ... 6 "
Six months, (26 times) ... 5 "
One year, (52 times) ... 4 "
Marriage notices ... 25
Special notices ... 8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE: 805 Broadway, New York, WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

ONLY SIXTEEN.

Only sixteen, so the papers say
[illegible] on the cold, stony ground he lay;
[illegible] and story we hear every day;
[illegible] his death in the public highway,
[illegible] him, so he
[illegible]
[illegible] angels weep over the scene?
[illegible] died a drunkard, and only sixteen:
Only sixteen.

[illegible] must die all alone,
[illegible] not even one
[illegible] his last faint moan,
[illegible] to the throne
[illegible] God's only Son
[illegible] may come."
[illegible] veil o'er the scene.

[illegible] view the work you have [illegible] and pain you have [illegible] friends; they loved him
[illegible] the vile beverage sell
[illegible] his reason de-
[illegible] alone;
[illegible] instead of another's?
[illegible] that poor boy's
[illegible]

[illegible] the petition to [illegible] think you will want
[illegible] the last great day?
[illegible] shall have passed
[illegible] with fervent
[illegible] of right som-
[illegible] his blood on your [illegible] great white throne we [illegible] sixteen.

[illegible] to stand for the [illegible] the light
[illegible] inscribed, "death
[illegible] then come
[illegible] the line?
[illegible] would do it I
[illegible] only sixteen:

[illegible] Garrison.

[illegible]

He worked as a journeyman in Boston, and then edited the National Philanthropist—the first total abstinence journal. 1838 found him in Bennington, Vt., conducting the Journal of the Times, a political and anti slavery paper. On the 4th of July he startled the Sober Citizens of Boston, by an oration of great force and power in Park Street church, denouncing slavery as a curse and national sin. Soon afterward he went with Benjamin Lundy to Baltimore to locate and publish the Genius of Universal Emancipation. Lundy was for gradual emancipation, and had some plan of colonizing the blacks in Mexico. Mr. Garrison called for immediate abolition. Francis Todd, a native of his own town, whose ship, the "Francis," had just received a cargo of slaves out of Slaughter's slave pen, to be conveyed South for sale, received from Garrison a most stinging rebuke as a recreant New Englander, engaged in legalized piracy, for which he was prosecuted, convicted and fined in civil damages for $1000. Having nothing to pay, he was consigned to prison. Here he lingered for seven weeks, until the good Arthur Tappen and Deacon Dole, of Hallowell, Me., paid the score and released him. Here the fiery heart of the young man received a new baptism. Like Bunyan, he lost no time, though under bolts and bars. After his departure from his prison cell, the following beautiful sonnet "to the mind" was found inscribed upon its walls:

High walls and huge the body may confine,
And iron grates obstruct the prisoner's gaze,
And massive bolts may baffle his design,
And vigilant keepers watch his devious ways;
Yet scorns th' immortal mind this base control,
No chains can bind it, and no cell inclose;
Swifter than light it flies from pole to pole,
And in a flash from earth to heaven goes;
Free from its exile mounts upon the gale,
And spurns unfettered all the tyrant's powers,
It visits home to hear the fire-side tale,
And in sweet converse pass the joyous hours,
'Tis up before the sun, roaming afar,
And in its watches wearies every star. *

He established in Boston the Liberator, in January, 1831. Its motto was: "I am in earnest. I will not extenuate. I will not excuse. I will not retreat a single inch—and I will be heard!"

A cut representing a slave auction, with the auctioneer holding up an infant by one arm, and hammer in the other; a crowd of slaves on one side, among horses and sheep, a company of planters on the other, and the words: "Horses, slaves and other cattle for sale," ornamented the head of the paper. The paper was small in size, and the type was set up in a garret in Mechanics Hall, Washington street. Isaac Knapp, a young man in sympathy with the movement, being his only comrade. They set their own type, and worked very hard, subsisting on the scantiest fare. Knowing ones looked with contempt upon the paper, and laughed its editor to scorn, but its demand for immediate emancipation startled the community with a strange power. Copies soon found their way into the South, and awakened consternation and alarm. Both the legislatures of Georgia and South Carolina offered—the one $1500, the other $5000, for his abduction and delivery to them for punishment. Thus Boston became the Jerusalem of the new gospel of freedom, from which soon went forth more than seventy to rouse the nation. The same year (1831) twelve of the faithful met at Lynn, Mass., and formed the New England Anti-Slavery Society, but each State in rapid succession, organized its auxiliary society. A National Convention met [illegible] Philadelphia, which put forth a [illegible] "declaration of principles," [illegible] by the pen of Garrison. In [illegible] of diction, breadth of [illegible] and resoluteness of pur[illegible] it has ever stood as the count[illegible] and complement of that [illegible] by Jefferson. Some fifty [illegible] signed to it, represent[illegible] the States. Moral and [illegible] alone were invoked [illegible] by appeals to the con[illegible] the nation through the [illegible] and the rostrum. [illegible] went to England [illegible] a welcome [illegible] already trained by [illegible] and Brough[illegible] of their own [illegible]

"try is the world, My countrymen are all mankind," proclaimed in this speech, became afterward the motto of the Liberator.

In 1835 the women of Scotland sent over George Thompson, afterward member of Parliament—a man of surpassing eloquence, to aid the cause here. His coming was denounced in the fiercest terms as foreign intermeddling in our domestic affairs; but he was hailed with the greatest cordiality and enthusiasm by the abolitionists, and a mighty impulse was being given to the movement. In his address at Providence, while replying to attacks upon his mission to this country, he said:

"America, I love thee well,
Nor love thee less when I do tell
Of crimes which in thy bosom dwell;
There is within thy gates a pest,
Gold, and a Babylonish vest,
* * * * * * * *
Repeat thee then, and quickly bring,
Forth from the camp th' accursed thing;
Consign it to remorseless fire,
Wait till the latest sparks expire,
Then strew its ashes on the wind,
Nor leave a lingering wreck behind."

BOSTON MOB.

Soon after, in the same year, a mob of "gentlemen of property and standing" broke into a meeting of the Ladies' Anti-Slavery Society at the Melodeon, to find Thompson; he, however, eluded the mob, but Garrison, making no effort to escape, was seized, a rope was thrown over his head, and in another moment he was being dragged along the street by the howling mob. A stalwart hackman, named Snow, feigning to be in sympathy with the murderous crowd, seized their victim, thrust him into a hack, and drove to Leveritt Street Jail, where the hunted citizen found safety behind prison doors. The mob, by a common impulse, then rushed toward Cornhill, the location of the Liberator office, which was sacked and destroyed. The mayor of the city ordered the detested symbol "Liberator office" thrown to the mob which broke it in pieces and stamped the residue with the hoofs thereof, carrying it away as trophies of a brave day's work in the interest of peace, law and order.

Mr. Garrison retired for a week's rest to Brooklyn, Ct., thence returning to renew his work. Thompson, we believe, reached New York, traveling in cog, where he took passage, by an assumed name, on a packet ship for England. [The night before he sailed, the great fire occurred which desolated the lower business portion of the city, destroying twenty acres of compact warehouses.]

These assaults upon the freedom of speech, instigated and paid for by those who had grown rich upon cotton and sugar, were just the things required to draw the lines between the dead and alive in Boston society. On the one side the corrupt and venal in politics, and the timid and selfish in the pulpit, struck hands with lewd fellows of the baser sort to put down Garrison and his compeers. But there had already sprung to his side the youthful and rising orator, Wendell Phillips, John G. Whittier, with his matchless and scathing poetry; Edmund Quincy, son of the foremost citizen of Boston, with Maria W. Chapman, the Southwicks and Westons—honorable women not a few, whose social influence instantly lifted the cause and its advocates out of the contempt to which its adversaries had attempted to consign them. They were Paul and Apollos joined to the Galileans. Elizur Wright became the editor of Human Rights, an organ of the National Society, whose wide-spread circulation, North and South—so far as it could find its way through the mails—attracted attention by its trenchant handling of the whole question of slavery in its industrial as well as moral bearings.

Lane Seminary, in Ohio, experienced an upheaval about this time, in consequence of efforts to stamp out the rising flame among the students, which gave to the cause several young men of great eloquence, who took the field as lecturers. Among others, Theodore D. Weld, who was the peer of Geo. Thompson as an orator. Mr. Weld compiled "American Slavery as It is—A Thousand Facts," which was scattered like leaves broadcast, and which appalled the country by its details of the horrors of "the Southern prison house."

Gerrit Smith, who had been the patron of the African colonization scheme, convinced by Garrison's expose of its real design, namely,—to rid the South of a dangerous element,—the free blacks,—renounced the society, and joined the abolitionists, with the whole weight of his personal character, wealth and eloquence. [1837.] Petitions poured into Congress from every free State, demanding the abolition of slavery and the slave trade in the District of Columbia. A rule was adopted to lay them all upon the table without reading debate or reference. Finally a petition from slaves was sent to Mr. John Q. Adams, who rose in his place and inquired "if a petition from slaves would be in order?" It was like the bursting of a bomb in the House. Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, offered a resolution of censure of the venerable ex-President for giving "color to the idea," that slaves could petition. Then followed the great historical debate upon the right of petition, championed by Mr. Adams, which lasted for several weeks. The champions of slavery learned more than they ever knew before of the history and bearings of slavery upon the country from the old man eloquent, who came off triumphant. In this debate the prophetic declaration was made by Mr. Adams, that slavery might any day be rightfully abolished by proclamation of the President, as a measure of public safety, in the presence of an invading army which could convert the slaves into an enemy of the most formidable character by the promise of freedom. The debate shook the nation. [See Washington Globe, 1837.]

James G. Birney, of S. C., emancipated his slaves, moved to Ohio, and started the Philanthropist. A mob (1838) from Kentucky destroyed the office, pitching type and press into the Ohio river. The same year, at Alton, Illinois, Elijah P. Lovejoy was mobbed and killed for defending his press, by a raid from St. Charles, Mo. The same year a pro-slavery mob broke up an anti-slavery convention in Philadelphia, and burned Penn Hall in which it had assembled.

Anti-slavery journals multiplied in every State. The Liberator made itself felt throughout this country as well as abroad. The secular, and often the religious press, teemed with abuse and misrepresentation. The first column of its first page was therefore set apart as "The refuge of Oppression," into which the most scurrilous and defamatory articles were pilloried. He could not reply to one of a hundred of these attacks—their best answer was a place in this column of infamy without reply. "Infidel" was the favorite charge hurled at Garrison, yet no writer of the age made more constant use of the scriptures. The teachings of Jesus, his rebukes of the phariseeism of his time, and the scathing denunciations by the old prophets, were never employed with greater effect and more habitually than in the Liberator.

As an example of the readiness with which he applied the language and the principles of the Bible, may be cited the following from an address to the slaves, issued in the earlier years of the anti-slavery conflict:

"If you come to us and are hungry, we will feed you; if thirsty, we will give you drink; if naked, we will clothe you; if sick, we will minister to your necessities; if in prison, we will visit you; if you need a hiding-place from the face of the pursuer we will provide one that even blood-hounds will not scent out."

Though he was severe as truth in his editorials or in his speeches, in his domestic and social life, the writer can bear testimony from a residence under the same roof, for a year and more, that he was gentle as childhood, and tender as woman. Always cheerful, often singing as he went about, we never heard him utter a harsh or petulent word. Sympathetic and openhanded, no one ever went from his door hungry or naked, though his own store was often by no means ample. In early life he was a steady attendant upon, and a great admirer of Dr. Lyman Beecher's ministry, but was not a member of any church afterward. He fraternized fully with the Progressive Friends, and with his old comrade in labors, Mr. Oliver Johnson, often attended their conventions in Pennsylvania and elsewhere.

Mr. Garrison was a te-totaler from conviction. He was earliest among advocates of the equality of woman. When visiting the world's convention in London, with Lucretia Mott and other women delegates, he refused to enter, because his lady associates were excluded. The May anniversary at New York from year to year, gave powerful impetus to the cause. Mr. Garrison generally presided, and at the opening, never omitted to notify the turbulent element which was always present in force, that their platform was a free one, there was, therefore, no occasion for violence or mobocratic demonstrations. Any one who desired to address the convention should be heard. By this means the baser crowd was kept down. But women were always placed on committees, and Mrs. Mott and other ladies often made addresses. Mr. Garrison about this time predicted that the party which adopted and defended the principle of woman suffrage, would hold the reins of power in this country.

Fugitive slaves thronged across the border, and found asylum in Canada by thousands every year. Agents of the underground railroad were active in all the States north and east of the Ohio. The courts were kept busy deciding up on the rights of claimants to their human chattles; and slave hunters converted free soil into hunting grounds for the fugitives. Pierpont, who put into the mind of the slave-holder that apostrophe to the North star, expressed the moving thought of these times:—

"Star of the North, thou art not bigger,
Than is the diamond in my ring;
Yet every black, star-gazing nigger,
Looks at thee as at some great thing;
Yes, gazes at thee, till the lazy
And thankless rascal is half crazy."

In 1852 Congress passed, and Mr. Fillmore signed the Fugitive Slave Act, which Mr. Garrison acknowledged was only the honest carrying out of the constitution—that "covenant with death and agreement with hell." Anthony Burns and other fugitives were arrested, put on trial in Boston, the United States Court House surrounded with chains, and U. S. Marines stood guard, while the freedom of the fugitive was sworn away, and they were marched between files of soldiers and put on board U. S. Revenue Cutters, to be conveyed into the bondage from which they had fled. Thus, when one source of agitation failed, Providence kindly provided another, and the cause went bravely on. The abolitionists were laboring "to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility and promote the general welfare," but there was a price upon their heads in one-half of the States of the Union.

The constitution required the North to surrender "any person owing labor or service, who had escaped from one State to another." While obeying this obligation, we were as really holding the slave in his bondage as if we owned him. The logical escape from this guilty co-partnership was therefore out of the Union, and Mr. Garrison proclaimed the duty of dissolving the Union. The success of the party of freedom, however, so changed the complexion of affairs, that another and better way was opened.

The events of this prolonged struggle resulting in the war of disunion are matters of so recent history, there is no further need to dwell upon them. We have aimed to bring out of comparative oblivion the most important episodes of the struggle passing from the grasp of the present generation.

The nation will pay all honor to the great reformer of the century; he will find a resting place with Sumner and other worthies in Mt. Auburn. Wendell Phillips will fittingly pronounce his eulogy—but in the lowly cabin of the freedmen will be found the sincerest among all that mourn his demise.

Laying the Corner Stone.

MERIDIAN, Miss., May 9, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—I write to let you know that May 8th was a day of exaltation with the citizens of Meridian and her many friends throughout the county. We had an excursion from Vicksburg of about six hundred persons. We are glad to say that the colored masonic fraternity of the State were well represented. Two or three lodges were present from Vicksburg, and others from Jackson, Canton, Meridian, Macon, Columbus, Okolona and Holly Springs. The corner stone was laid in the masonic order by Rev. Dr. Stringer, the grand master of the State of Mississippi. We placed in the stone a copy of the bible, hymn book and discipline; a copy of the last general report of the Missionary Society, a copy of the last annual report of the Church Extension Society, a copy of the Sunday-school annual report, a copy of the report of the Freedmen's Aid Society, a copy of our great central church paper, Christian Advocate, the number containing an account of the death of our beloved Bishop Ames; a copy of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, a copy of the names of the members of the M. E. Church in Meridian and several other charges in the district, a copy of the minutes of the last annual conference of Mississippi, a copy of the Nashville Christian Advocate, of the M. E. Church South; a list of the names of the several daughters of benevolence, the whole list of the benevolent laboring sons, and several other important writings. Our speakers were ex-Gov. A. K. Davis, Rev. Dr. Bardwell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this city; Rev. Mr. Maugger, pastor of the M. E. Church South, and Rev. Mr. Jones, Presiding Elder of Meridian district M. E. Church South. After the addresses a collection was taken which amounted to $50. Rev. J. W. Dunn, Presiding Elder of the M. E. Church, was made temporary treasurer. Mrs. M. V. Teever, the principal of the Meridian Academy, her assistants, Mrs. N. J. Blackmen and Mr. H. E. McElroy, teachers in the public school, and students conducted the singing for the occasion. We are determined to go on till our building is completed.

REMARKS OF EX-GOV. A. K. DAVIS.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Brothers and Friends:

Having been invited to address this large and intelligent assembly on the occasion of laying the corner stone of an edifice that is to be erected and dedicated to universal education, which we hope will rank among the brightest institutions of the State, the diffidence I feel is undiminished by the presence of so many who are better fitted to perform the duty than myself. While thus regreting that the duty imposed by the kind partiality of Bro. Adams and friends had not devolved upon one more capable of performing it in a manner at once satisfactory to himself and interesting to you, permit me, in an attempt to discharge it, to invite your serious consideration to the great importance of the instruction of our race, a subject which demands thoughtful and earnest attention. I shall not make a holiday speech, nor shall I indulge in the flowers of fancy. Nor shall I appeal to the imagination in a manner that may lead some to hope for impossibilities. The occasion is one of serious, sober importance not only to you as a race, but to you as citizens of the greatest republic on the face of the earth. It is to your future that I shall briefly address myself; and on that future depends all your prosperity, all your happiness. Upon you, and through you upon your children, depends that future: whether it is to be marred with ignorance and poverty, or to be made radiant with hope and knowledge. To aid in shaping and directing the latter we are here today to lay the foundation of a beneficent institution which belongs not only to the present, but to all coming time. For that future the education of our race is the central hope for an escape from another form of slavery almost as bad as that we have endured in the past. The benefits to be derived are worthy of our united and persistent efforts. As a people we have little of what the world calls wealth, and there is but one way to reach it and that is through the paths of knowledge. Let me impress upon you here at the outset, the force and truth of the old adage, "Knowledge is power." It is a power in the monarch and in the meanest serf whose degrading tyranny rendered life itself at the disposal of a despot. The first grand step towards the happiness, the prosperity of our people, must be made through the paths of knowledge, and should they lead you to wealth it will make that wealth a blessing instead of a curse. To-day we have assembled together to lay the foundation of a superstructure in which our children and our children's children are to work out their destiny and that of our people for good or evil. It will be your and their fault if the latter; if the former it will become a blessing for you and them forever.

With the completion of this edifice your real work will commence. Within its walls you are to mould and fit the minds of your children for the active duties of life. You are to send forth from its halls the representative men and women of our race, and you should see that the wise purposes of its founders are carried out with an unfaltering will. Here you will lay the corner stone and build up the character, step by step, of those who will hereafter prepare themselves to enter upon the arena of life and contest for the prizes on the roll of its departments. It is not an easy task. There will be no time for frittering away the moments in idle amusements. There will be no place for laggards to drop back into the dull, sluggish routes of indifference, for an education in its true sense is not achieved without active and persistent work. No, my friends, the precious ore of truth and knowledge lies not upon the surface to be gathered by the hand of sloth. It is imbedded beneath, and we must dig for it. For this object you should see that those who are selected to give it emphasis and power are fully competent, not only to discharge the duties of teaching, but their lives should be irreproachable; their interest in the work unflagging. They will need your encouragement and your assistance for this, but you must recollect it is worth all your aid to secure so priceless a boon. The education of our race is the great need of the age. It is the only thing that will place us on the plane of a higher civilization, and to this object wealth and worldly prosperity should be subordinated, for an education is the noblest heritage we can leave our children. Let them treasure up in their memories the ringing words of one of the noblest of our poets as an incentive to give full measure of duty:

"In the world's broad field of battle,
In the prime of life,
Be not like dumb cattle,
Be a hero in the strife."

Let me adjure you while you are fitting yourselves for the real struggle of life, to be true to your God, true to yourselves, and true to your country; your religion demands the one, your honor the other, and your patriotism the last. True liberty is the child of knowledge. She will pine away and die in the arms of ignorance. I need not urge upon you the importance of religion; your churches and your preachers in every Sabbath of the year will teach you this. But teach yourselves you must, in acquiring your education. School yourselves into a true manhood, by avoiding all the vices and lower instincts of humanity, and while you cultivate the higher instincts, do not forget those minor graces which like the polish on the rough diamonds adds to their beauty and to their lustre. Be true to your country—it is a work of patriotism, it is endeared to us by all its privileges; property is respected, life is sacred, liberty is secured, and by the inculcation of truth and virtue you will double your happiness, and with it render that of your country more secure. As a race we are commencing at the fountain head of the stream of progress; do not poison it there, and let its waters flow out to feed noxious weeds on the banks of the stream, or run its course through brooks which nothing can clothe in verdure. Look hopefully to the future, by improving the present, and in the years to come you can look proudly on the record of the past, and with the glorious consummation of that future, the millions will hail you as an honor and delight to the universal brotherhood of man. Education is the chief corner stone of our republic, and popular education is the only safe and stable basis of popular liberty. This principle is interwoven in a thousand forms into the very thread and texture of our political institution. "Our children should be educated for it is by them that the destinies of our race are one day to be wielded. Those destinies are even now being woven by the young men of the present generation who have had a little of the rough coat of nature taken off. It was a saying of Mahomet "That the ink of the scholar and the blood of martyr the are equal." Sons and daughters devoted to education are the only sacrifice which God has proscribed to render the progress of free government safe and certain. "Do you think," inquired a self conceited young preacher of a venerable father in the gospel, "that, God needs human learning to build up his church." "I am sure," replied the good man he does not need human ignorance." "Knowledge is power" as well in the kingdom of Christ as in the kingdom of the world. Ignorance is one of the greatest evils of the world; men are alienated from the light of God through the ignorance that is in them. It is the mother of all the superstitions which under pagan or Christian names have enslaved, corrupted, and debased mankind. It is the prolific source of the errors which have agitated, divided, enfeebled and disgraced the Christian world. It is the barrier to human salvation. "My peoples," saya Jehovah, "perish for lack of knowledge." That our race in the South to day is to a melancholy extent covered with darkness none will deny. By the ordination of heaven, "this darkness must be dispersed." If light and knowledge shall be imbibed by you it will at some other time or some other place burst forth like a new creation to confound and astonish its most implacable foes.

The isles of Greece,
Where burning Sappho loved and sung,
Where grew the arts of war and peace
Where Delos rose and Phoebus sprung,
Eternal Summer gilds them yet,
But all except their sun is set.

General News Items.

Prince Lobanoff is to become Russian ambassador in London.

Congressman Money will go to the Sandwich Islands to recuperate.

The Ameer of Afghanistan will receive a British subsidy of £60,000 annually.

Vice President Wheeler's only sister, aged 76 years, died on the twenty-eighth.

The work of preparation for the Mexican International exhibition has been stopped.

The Republican convention at Cincinnati nominated Charles Foster for Governor of Ohio.

The Moore centennary was warmly celebrated throughout Ireland and all the principal towns of England.

Congressman Hull was acquitted by the jury in the election case brought against him by the government at Jacksonville, Florida.

Conway's declared intention to proceed with chartered boats to remove negroes from the Mississippi valley creates indignation among Democratic congressmen.

Judge Baxter, U. S. circuit court, appointed a receiver for the city of Brownsville, Tennessee, whose charter was repealed by the last Legislature. Judge Baxter ruled the repealing act to be unconstitutional.

A number of wealthy men in New York have pledged $200,000 toward the endowment of a college for colored youth, the special object of which shall be to educate teachers for the colored people in the South.

The steamer Blanch Porter, bound from New Orleans to Grand Isle was wrecked on the 27th, in attempting to pass out into the Gulf. It afterward took fire, but all persons save one reached the shore safely.

The negroes of Baltimore have had a large meeting, at which the demand was made that there should be granted them the right of having colored teachers for the schools of colored children, as the white teachers now employed have little regard for their pupils, and take little interest in their work.

The colored people are holding meetings in all parts of Virginia, and taking up collections to defray the expenses of counsel to be employed to defend, before the Supreme Court of the United States, the act of Judge Alexander Rives in his efforts to compel the State Courts to allow colored men to serve as jurors.

The son of the murdered Judge Chisolm, who is now employed by the State Government of Pennsylvania, says that he has been advised by friends in Mississippi that it will not be safe for him and his mother to return for the purpose of trying to convict the assassins of his father and sisters but they have made up their minds to go and take the risk.

The funeral of William Lloyd Garrison took place at Roxbury, Mass., on the 28th. The order of exercises embraced the reading of the Scriptures by Samuel May, an address by Lucy Stone, an address by Rev. Samuel Johnson, an address by Theodore D. Wild, and an address by Wendell Phillips. The choir was composed of a colored quartette, and the musical selections were designated by Mr. Garrison before his death.

A significant incident, taken in connection with the present crisis in the affairs of the negro, occured lately in Philadelphia. It was the dedication of the first public school for colored children with colored teachers. Public schools for this class have heretofore been provided with white teachers, but it is now judged expedient in Philadelphia to leave their education to the highest limits in the care of persons of their own race.

The official report of Archbishop Purcell's assignee gives his assets and liabilities as follows: Assets, $1,181,569 28; liabilities, $3,997,651 49; deducting from the assets all doubtful and worthless notes, there remains 776,770 33, which is considered good. Excess of liabilities over assets would then be $2,920,881 16. Recent cancelations by the creditors of Cincinnati congregations of one-half their claims, reduces the liabilities to $2,490,881 16. Accepting 50 per cent. as a basis of settlement, to which the creditors are disposed to agree, the indebtedness of Archbishop Purcell will be reduced to a million and a half dollars.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1879.

Ellen Graves writes us from Waco, that she has for five years been trying to push the gospel banner on, by helping her husband on his appointments. She hopes she has the true Methodist spirit.

Rev. P. E. Carmichael, of Fayette, Texas, has successfully battled against his old time habit of using tobacco, and was incited thereto by the conference prohibition. He rejoices, and urges young men to abstain from the injurious and filthy habit.

The death of William Lloyd Garrison removes one of the great historical characters of America. He lived and labored for the abolition of slavery. The article on our first page will be read with interest. Bro. Smith, the author, was for many years an intimate personal friend of Mr. Garrison.

Rev. T. E. Madden of the Louisiana Conference has been employed as a supply in Cincinnati, Ohio, and is now stationed at St. John's Church. A note from him dated May 28, states that he and family arrived safely and are well, and that his hands are full of work. We wish him success in his new field.

A pastor writes to the Mission Rooms: "I confess a great lack of interest in these Western towns is due largely, I believe, to the neglect of the pastors in their failure to put the matter before the people in all its breadth and depth of importance. I shall do all I can in the matter, hoping, at least, for a slight advance."

Decoration day was generally observed throughout the country. At Chalmette just below the city, where 13,000 "Boys in Blue" lie buried, a large company assembled. Several companies representing the [illegible] in Gray" were present and contributed beautiful floral offerings. The address was delivered by C. S. Rice Esq.

[illegible] Democrat cries "Halt" to the [illegible] Convention in the [illegible] of repudiating the State [illegible]. The majority report now before the Convention practically re[illegible]. The minority report in [illegible] subject is a protest [illegible] the disgrace of repudiation. [illegible] hoped that good sense and [illegible] will prevail and Louisi[illegible] spared the dishonor of re[illegible] her honest debts.

In view of the absence of Rev. [illegible] F. Hurst in Europe, Rev. [illegible] P. Kidder has consented to [illegible] charge of all correspondence [illegible] to Drew Theological Semi[illegible] 1. All persons, [illegible] desiring information re[illegible] the institution, such as ap[illegible] rooms, catalogues, [illegible] the course of [illegible] to the [illegible] Professorship, [illegible] him at Madison, [illegible] convention [illegible] 27th inst, Dele[illegible] of St. John, [illegible] of adjournment [illegible] memory of Wm [illegible] it was tabled. [illegible] reconsideration on [illegible] this motion [illegible] the vote yeas [illegible] the conven[illegible] which [illegible] State Super[illegible], the [illegible] unnecessary [illegible]

[illegible] Society [illegible] its [illegible] its [illegible] double de[illegible]

[illegible]

Superintendent of Public Education.

The State Convention now in session in this city by a vote of 64 to 49 abolished the office of State Superintendent of Public Education. We are glad to see, however, that a motion to reconsider has been made, and the motion to lay that motion on the table was lost by a vote of 65 to 53. While this vote on the question of reconsideration does not determine the final disposition of the main question by the Convention, it gives us hope that the Convention will recede from its action in abolishing the office of Superintendent and re-instate it in the constitution as being, in its own sphere, quite as necessary to the government as other constitutional offices and, perhaps, more so than some of them. If there is anything settled in the almost unanimous convictions of the people of this country, it is that public education is a vital necessity of the State. Her safety depends upon it. Intelligence and virtue are the chief pillars of a body politic, and a republic, more than all the forms of government is absolutely dependent upon them not only for vigor and progress, but for existence itself. There may be honest differences of opinion as to how far public education should be given by the State to its children, whether only the elementary branches or the higher education, but it is only the smallest fraction of the community that ever questions the utility and necessity of educating the masses of our population. This granted, then. Public education to be efficient and successful must be properly organized, systematized, officered and supported. It must have an executive officer who shall survey the whole field, look to the relation of the parts to the whole and of the whole to the parts, be an organ of communication between the different local boards of education, and the representative of this great State interest abroad. In his person the system obtains unity, strength, progress and harmony. It seems almost childish to ask what any system can amount to without an effective head?

Past experience in Louisiana shows the utter folly of depending exclusively upon local boards and police juries in the country to attend to educational interests. Doubtless there are exceptions, as there ever will be, but in the main, nothing is to be expected of them. Even with a wise and energetic superintendent to supervise and direct, there are difficulties enough to contend against in the lukewarmness and even hostility of those who should be the zealous and active leaders in the great work. No surer death-blow can be dealt at public education than to take away the head which is to bind it together and give it power and progress. No doubt the enemies of public education would rejoice at such a result. But the cause may well exclaim, "save me from my friends," when they ally themselves with its enemies in a mistaken idea of reform, and strike down with one fell blow the only officer who is its representative at home and abroad.

It is peculiarly unfortunate that this course should have been taken now, for it is impossible to divest it in the minds of most persons here and elsewhere, of the appearance, at least, of depriving the colored population of that education to which as citizens they are entitled. There is nothing in the mere terms to justify this opinion, but it comes to the same thing in effect. Leave the whole matter in the hands of local boards or police juries in many of the parishes and see how soon public schools will cease to exist!

Many of the criticisms used against the State Superintendency are unjust. It is erroneously believed there has been entirely too much expense attending the mere office work and clerical duties of the superintendent, when the fact is that rigid economy is practiced, and Superintendent Lusher and assistants are often overworked. A failure to be more in the country, visiting the parishes, stirring up enthusiasm in behalf of education, personally inspecting the actual working of the system in the various localities and in other ways giving it more efficiency has created an impression that the office itself is useless. The truth is that the Legislature has for several years denied the State Superintendent of the [illegible]ry appropriation to enable [illegible] to visit and inspect the schools. [illegible] Lusher, by sacri[illegible] own salary, which is [illegible] visited a large part [illegible] year. He made [illegible] body [illegible] he has [illegible] earnestly protest against the abolition of the State Superintendency, and they are in accord with the advocates of a practical and efficient public school system. The convention should heed their counsel.

Ames Church, New Orleans.

It is with pleasure that we record the evidences of prosperity in this church. The former pastor, Dr. McCarty, was transferred to Syracuse, N. Y., a month before the last conference met, and the present pastor entered upon his work the first Sabbath in April. During the interval of three months, the presiding elder supplied the pulpit, assisted by Professors Johnson and Bean, of the New Orleans University. During this interval it was determined upon to make a united and strong effort to pay the debt. The leading ladies organized a society for prayer and work. The new pastor, Rev. George R. Bristor, A. M., came and entered heartily into the plans inaugurated, and adding new and valuable suggestions, has taken hold of the work with vigor and success. The congregations have very largely increased, especially at night. Bro. Bristor is a man of great brilliancy and power in the pulpit, and has already taken rank among the leading preachers of the city. His lectures before the New Orleans Sunday-school Association and the Temperance Alliance, delivered, one in the First Presbyterian Church, and the other in the Felicity Street Methodist Church South, were listened to by large audiences and received with much satisfaction.

A pressing demand now is the removal of the church debt, which amounts to $7000. The determination is to raise $3000 of this amount in this city. Already over $1800 have been pledged, and the ladies have raised nearly $200 cash, and have $100 more pledged.

The bishops of the church have given the following endorsement and appeal:

To the members and friends of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

Being fully acquainted with the financial condition of "Ames" Church, New Orleans, and believing it to be very important for our general work in the South that its debts be immediately provided for, the Bishops unite in commending it to your liberality.

Our brethren in that Church maintain their loyalty to our cause in the face of great difficulties, and with continued sacrifices in which they deserve your sympathy and participation. We cannot permit this struggling church to fail without greatly impairing our prestige and prospect of our usefulness in the Southwest.

We believe that the congregation is ready to do all that can properly be expected from it in this exigency, and that due aid from others whom God has blessed with means for such work, will result in securing a permanent center of influence for our church, as well as a personal memorial of the recently deceased bishop by whom it was projected, and in honor of whom it is named.

By order and in behalf of the Board of Bishops.

WM. L. HARRIS, Sec'y.

Wheeling, West Virginia, May 19, 1879.

The bishops have given special effect to their appeal by personal subscriptions. Bishop Andrews, who subscribed $50 when here at conference, doubles that amount and now subscribes $100. Bishops Scott and Haven, and we believe another, have subscribed $50 each. Other bishops will help. Dr. L. C. Matlack, well known in this city as a former worker among us, has subscribed $50.

Ames Church is a necessary factor in the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city and State. With this debt out of the way—and it is going and will be gone—and with a good congregation, such as the present pastor is now building up, this church will enter upon a future of greatly increased usefulness. God bless Ames Church—its pastor, its officers, its members and friends. And especially we pray that its friends at this time may give of their money enough to pay off its indebtedness.

New Orleans University.

This institution, under the patronage of the Freedmen's Aid Society, has just closed another year's work. The faculty the past year have been as follows: President, Rev. J. S. Bean, A. M.; Professor of theology, Rev. A. A. Johnson, A. M., and associate teachers, Mrs. A. A. Johnson, Mrs. Hathaway, (during latter part of year) and Miss Hodgskins.

The attendance upon the school has been over one hundred against between sixty and seventy last year. The whole number enrolled during the year is one hundred and seventy against one hundred and thirty last year. The examinations passed off creditably.

We will give a full account of commencement exercises next week.

The special canal congress adopted the Panama and Simon Bay [illegible]

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

MISSISSIPPI.

L. J. Terrell, Houston: "Bro. A. M. McCrady conducted services at Springs Chapel on the third Sunday. My people were aroused. I have four Sunday-schools on my circuit."

L. Boone, Meridian Circuit: "The four churches of my charge are looking up; 18 full members received, 6 on probation. A. Roberts died while on probation, believing all was well."

E. S. Scales, Greenwood: "The Sabbath-school had a good time on the first Sabbath in May. There was a contest between pupils in the recitation of verses, and $2.70 collected for a library."

J. M. Nevils, Ripley: "We promised to ask our dear editor to publish the names of those that answered the most questions in the catechism: Mattie Nevils, Violet Young and Eliza Green, each answered 532 questions, Fannie Falkner, Lee Bishop and Sirva Watts 36. Others did very well indeed."

S. Cowan, Oxford: "I thought I would inform our friends how our church is getting along, and what progress it has made in the last few months. Sabbath-school has greatly increased; we have about 135 pupils. Our protracted meeting closed a few days since with great success, Twenty-two were converted, several back-sliders reclaimed, forty-two joined on probation. The church is striving to do what it can for our yearly collection."

L. L. Shumpert, Okolona: "The work is good. Sunday-school organized into a missionary society. T. Gilmore is an efficient superintendent. Miss Fannie Roster, a graduate of the State Normal School of Holly Springs, is exerting herself trying to bring the children to Christ. Bro. Tubs, also a teacher, is doing good work. Miss Laura Crumberg, one of the pupils, recited 45 verses. The first Sunday in every month we take up our missionary collections."

Sister E. J. Spriggs, Columbus: "The Lord has blessed us this conference year. I think it was providential that Bishop Andrews sent Rev. B. F. Penny to Columbus. He was educated in Oberlin, Ohio. He took charge of the church under discouraging circumstances, but within six months this church will be one of the first in the State. Seventy-five have united with the church this year. Have baptized twenty-eight. Some improvement was made on our parsonage, and a set of chandeliers bought for the church. Our Sunday-school is improving. Last Sunday 118 were in attendance."

TEXAS.

M. Robinson, Hernando: "Our Sunday-school is prospering."

Rev. Paul Douglas, pastor of East Church, Galveston, reports a fruitful protracted meeting, and a parsonage in course of erection.

Rev. A. Campbell, Seguin: "Elder G. W. Richardson presided at our second quarterly meeting. It was a real success. The Lord was with us."

B. F. Whitaker, Spring Hill: "Elder Madison is highly esteemed by our people. We held communion with A. M. E. members. At love feast 60 joined with us."

A. R. Norris: "Elder Carper returns from his second round looking well. He reports his work as prospering, with a few exceptions and doing remarkably well at Victoria."

J. Carnee, Lockhart; "Elder Richardson held our second quarter, and performed excellent work in instructing class-leaders and stewards. These brethren acknowledge its benefit and will be systematic in their efforts hereafter."

J. Wright, Goliad: "A meeting resulted in 9 converts and 10 additions. Rev. P. Gates, of Victoria, assisted greatly. We have 07 members, an increase since I came. We have a good Sunday-school, under the care of Mr. Baptiste Lott, with 60 pupils."

Rev. P. Wilson, Marlin: "Our new church is up and covered, most of the windows are in, and doors will be hung. The building is 50 feet long and 30 feet wide. We have 49 members, many of them poor, but this does not discourage us in the least."

A. R. Norris, San Antonio: "We heard of the death of our beloved Bishop Ames, and accordingly our church was decorated in mourning. Our Sunday-school is alive, and our members seem encouraged very much. We are looking for Bro. M. Henson, our conference school agent, next Sunday. I hope we will be able to give him a good collection. Our members are struggling hard to get the church out of debt."

San Felipe, May 12: "We have organized a Sunday-school at Asbury Chapel, Rev. Louis Lane, pastor, with an attendance of 70 and 5 teachers. We are getting along very well. A good number of the scholars recite portions of Scripture from memory every Sunday morning. Henry Holloway, superintendent; Noah Williams, assistant; teachers—Wm. Webster, W. H. Jackson, Richard Bellinger, Edward Blacknell, Melinda Pew.

L. S. Deckard, Brenham: "The Sisters' Aid Society of the Mt. Zion M. E. Church expect to give suppers or some kind of entertainment continually until our new church is completed. We have given two entertainments which have brought us $55 clear of expenses. Officers—Mrs. Mary Brown, president; Mrs. B. B. Hardwell and Mrs. Emma Sharp, treasurers; Mrs. C. Harrison, secretary; Mrs. Mary Daviles, assistant secretary. We ask the prayers of all the laborers in the field of the Lord for our success."

Rev. P. Gates, Victoria: "I have succeeding during a revival in securing 51 converts, 48 united, 44 baptized. Elder Carper assisted in baptizing, and it was attended by a large concourse of blacks and whites. Sabbath-school superintendents Starnes and Johnson have organized a young people's Christian Association embracing our young members. 120 attend Sabbath school. I have also labored at Goliad with Brother Wright with handsome success. Pray that the Master may continue to bless us."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. George Lacy, Jackson: "On the 17th we had a large basket meeting at which there was about 400 people. We are starting to build a new parsonage."

A. Panalle, Thibodaux: "Rev. Davis is all the while making repairs to the church. The building looks no more as it did, I am glad to say. He will soon be through."

Rev. Charles Kershaw, Magnolia Circuit it is reported by Presiding Elder Gould to have had a successful year. He has had several converts, and the Presiding Elder received nineteen into the church and baptized thirteen children during his last visit.

Rev. A. Martin, State Line: "Our quarterly conference was held April 21 and 22. Elder J. Gould presided and preached to us on Sunday. Conversions 3, received in full membership 3, baptized 4 adults and 3 infants. The corner stone of our church will be laid on the 28th of June."

C. W. Kershaw, Jones Creek: "My protracted meeting was started about a week ago, and the Lord has blessed us with 13 converts and one reclaimed. Elder Jos. Gould was with us on his second round, preached a good sermon, baptized 13 children and administered the Lord's supper. Twenty joined the church on probation. The Sunday-school is growing larger. Pray that the spirit of the Lord will revive more of our people."

TENNESSEE.

Mr. Williams, Franklin: "My protracted meeting commenced the first of March. The elder was with us more than a week. Held quarterly meeting 8th and 9th of March. Preached with power. Meeting closed on the twentieth of April, 15 converts, 15 joined the church. The church is looking up."

J. D. Hay, Gardner: "Brethren, out of the very hardest of times I am having very good times. Gardner is gaining ground. Though she fell flat, the Lord is lifting her up again. I am carrying on a revival: have many mourners at the anxious seat. Have prospects of grand times. I will fight the devil on this line if it takes me all the conference year to conquer."

Rev. W. S. Butler: "I am closing this day my second round on the West Tennessee district. My first round I was much discouraged and thought that our labor on this field was in vain on account of so many moving to the territory, but others are coming in, and this makes the work look hopeful again. All of the work is in a good spiritual condition. Pray that the blessings of God may rest upon us this year."

Letter from Gonzales, Texas.

GONZALES, Texas, May 14, 1879.

We have had a good rain, and the prospects for crops are fair. Cotton is fine. We had a grand time on Monday night, May 5. A lady spoke in Cline hall to an audience of both races, on the negro, past, present and future. She disapproves of the emigration to Kansas, and says it will have bad results. They had better emigrate to Texas, as it has the best climate. She is a negro, born and bred in Hayti, and educated in England. Her name is Mrs. Walker.

The wife of Rev. Peter Scruggs died suddenly, leaving her husband and three children to mourn her loss. She was a faithful member of the church. L. B. MORRIS.

Sabbath Day in Holly Springs.

May 25th was a day long to be remembered by the students of Shaw University, and by the many visitors that were gathered here from various parts of the State.

In the morning at 9 o'clock we gathered in Asbury M. E. Church for Sabbath-school exercises. There were two hundred and thirty-five in attendance, and much interest was manifested by officers, teachers and pupils.

It was Commencement Sabbath of Shaw University, and the annual love feast of the students began at 11 a. m. It was an hour of great spiritual power. They spoke of their connection with the university, of the blessings, intellectual and spiritual, that had attended them while in school, many having been born into Christ's Kingdom during the past term, and of their resolutions to continue in the Master's service during life.

At 3 p. m. a large audience had gathered to listen to the annual sermon, which was delivered by Rev. L. Bradford, presiding elder of the Greenwood district. He took for his text the 10th and 11th verses of the 2d chapter of Proverbs, most forcibly illustrated the different senses in which the word wisdom is used, and emphasized the Bible doctrine that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom," impressing upon his hearers the great importance of basing every undertaking on the fear of God.

He then showed that the Lord is well pleased with those who seek wisdom with proper motives and that he will assist young men now as he did Solomon if they will but consecrate their lives to his service.

He spoke of the many discouragements that meet those who seek to complete a course of study in college, indicated the manner in which they were to be overcome, urged the great importance of holding on to the end—of finishing a full college course, and showed the many advantages possessed by those who thus discipline their minds and hearts.

We wish the thousand of young men and women within the bounds of our conference could have heard this sermon, for we are sure it would have led them at all hazards to seek and seize the first opportunity to acquire an education.

On Sabbath night the elder again occupied the pulpit and preached a most powerful sermon, stirring every heart as he vividly portrayed God's unspeakable power, wisdom and love. Although the weather was warm, and the house packed, for one hour he held the entire audience in silent attention.

Commencement Sabbath at Shaw University in 1879 will long be remembered by all who were blessed with the privilege of attending its services. REP.

Letter from Alexandria, Tenn.

DEAR EDITOR—I commenced a protracted meeting on the 20th of April in Alexandria, Tenn., this being our regular appointment. At ten o'clock we had love feast, which lasted one hour and twenty-five minutes. We had a gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit. At eleven o'clock preaching commenced, after which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to 45 persons. The meeting was continued for twelve nights. On Monday night Rev. O. Green preached an excellent sermon for us on the return of the Prodigal Son. On Wednesday night Rev. B. B. Manson, our presiding elder, preached with great acceptability on justification by faith. On Saturday I left for Cherry Valley. On Sunday the presiding elder met us and preached for us again. At the close of the sermon two were called forward and received into full membership in the church. Rev. R. Green preached for me Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. On Tuesday I returned to Alexandria, and found Bros. Donnell and Beecher leading the army on like Joshua and Caleb. Friday night we closed our meeting. Results as follows: 17 professed faith in Christ and 16 joined the church. On Saturday I left for Liberty, where I was informed that all the whisky saloons were closed. Not one drop of ardent spirits is allowed to be sold within four miles of this place as a beverage. This is an act of the late General Assembly of the State of Tennessee. On Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. I baptized two persons, then preached and administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to 20 persons. Our society on Smith Fork have no church house of their own. The white people are very kind to us. They let us have the use of their house to worship in. We are still looking for a better time on this circuit. Pray for us. E. PROVINE.

Alexandria, Tenn., May 11, 1879.

Foreign Missions.

Rev. V. C. Hart writes: "Yes, we have a Tract Society in China, and may God bless it to the salvation of souls. I am humbly at work translating a church history in my spare moments. Bro. Hykes has just returned from a long overland trip through the province in connection with John Thorne, an agent of the American Bible Society."

It not unfrequently happens that the heathen are impressed with the pure benevolent missionary work, and give remarkable evidence of it. "It is one of the most striking facts connected with mission work that I ever heard,' writes Rev. R. Clark, of the following occurrence: The town of Tank is on the extreme border of British Territory in India on the Afghan frontier. John Williams is a native doctor in the Mission hospital there. He has always had great influence with the Afghans. The Afghans (Wriziris) sacked the town of Tank the other day, but spared this hospital out of avowed affection for the native missionary doctor."

As the details of our mission work in Mexico come more fully before us, we are more than ever convinced that the means we possess are greatly disproportionate to the immense opportunities that are opening before our church. We trust God's providence will multiply the agencies now at work in this field and hasten the establishment of the kingdom of Christ in this land.

Rev. Mr. Venn, late the secretary of the Church Missionary Society, early laid the foundation of self-support in these foreign missions, and the fruit is being seen. The native Christians of the missions in Ceylon raised last year for religious purposes $6660.

OUTSIDE TESTIMONY.—It was the government of India that said: "The self-denying labors of six hundred missionaries have infused new vigor into the stereotyped life of the great population under English rule, as preparing them to be in every way better men and citizens of the great empire in which they dwell." It was Lawrence that said he believed that "the missionaries had done more than all other agencies combined to benefit India," while Sir Bartle Frere says: "I assure you that the teaching of Christianity among one hundred and sixty millions of civilized, industrious Hindoos and Mohammedans in India is effecting changes, social and political, which, for extent and rapidity of effect are far more extraordinary than anything you or your forefathers have witnessed in modern Europe." In a late tour of hundreds of miles a missionary in India says: "Scarcely a village could be found in which there was complete ignorance of Christianity. There were bibles and tracts in almost every one."

NOTES.—A case of conversion and usefulness—"I am addicted to every sin you can imagine. I am an opium-smoker, a fornicator, a gambler, a drunkard and an unfilial son; and everything that is bad. Can Jesus save me?" That was the Chinese Lim Kiu Stau. He had strolled into the Christian chapel at Hankow, where Rev. Griffith John was preaching. "Yes," said the preacher. There followed prayer and the instantaneous conversion of the Chinaman, who is now the centre of a new work in the villages west of Hien Kau. Tim is now fifty years of age, and the Christian work under him is developing in his own locality where he was widely known as a riotous libertine.

Letter from Houma, La.

DEAR EDITOR—In accordance with promise previously made, we had our basket meeting yesterday. We are happy to announce that it proved a perfect success. We were all spiritually revived, and blessed to collect $107.40, to meet our obligations and purchase a bell for our church. We were all anxiously expecting to vie with the Revs. Wm. Davis and Austin Kennedy, with their congregations, for the laurels in collecting, but they thought us unworthy, after they had promised to "come over and help us," and failed to put in an appearance. I do not know how Bro. Davis will regain the esteem of my people, but it is certain they got blue on him when they learned that he slighted them on account of the A. M. E. Church's unholy Sabbath desecrating brass band excursion. But, thanks to the Lord, he was for us and with us, and we collected over $7 more than was collected in Bro. D.'s basket meeting. Our church, with its extensive temperance work, is surely transforming the character of this community. Our zion is spreading her borders for God and Christ. Pray for us. Yours in Christ,

A. E. P. ALBERT,
Pastor in charge.

Emigration Meeting in Shreveport.

A mass meeting of freedmen was held under the auspices of the Executive Committee of Emigration at Shreveport, La., Saturday, May 17, 1879, for the purpose of indorsing the actions of the colored convention held in New Orleans. It was called to order by Thomas Johnson, chairman, who stated the object for which the meeting was called, after which the eleventh chapter of Isaiah was read; 2nd, hymn, "God moves in a mysterious way." 3rd, prayer, 4th, reading address of the convention held in New Orleans by the negro people, and other papers that were deemed necessary, by R. I. Cromwell. Speeches by Thomas Johnson, G. H. Grant, R. I. Cromwell and others from the country. Resolutions adopted:

Resolved, That this mass meeting endorse the action and resolutions passed by the convention of colored men in New Orleans. That this meeting endorse the action of the committee of 29 appointed by the Negro Union, and the freed people, at a convention held in Shreveport February 22, 1879. That this meeting approve and ratify the action of committee of 29, in forming themselves into an Executive Committee for Emigration, in and for the fourth congressional district, La., and that all other freedmen Emigrating Executive Committees in this district are without foundation or head. That we recognize the Emigration Aid Association in New Orleans as our head.

Resolved, That the Freedmen's Executive Committee for Emigration shall raise means to send agents to look for a place to colonize the freedmen, and no agent to be recognized by the friends of emigration unless they have a certificate signed by the president, executive committee, secretary and treasurer. Thomas Johnson, chairman Freedmen's Executive Committee for Emigration, R. I. Cromwell, secretary, Jos. Cleveland, treasurer. The meeting adjourned to meet on the first Saturday in June, at Cleveland schoolhouse.

Resolved, That these minutes be sent to the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and requested to be published.

Be in Time.

MR. EDITOR—Please allow me to speak to the preachers of my district through your worthy paper. Dear brethren, I find that none of you have commenced the benevolent collections for missions and other purposes. I hope you will begin at once. The year is half gone now, and if you still delay the other half will pass away, and the collections will not be taken at all. Some of the preachers hardly ever have any collection, and when they do it is so small that he is ashamed to bring it up. Don't wait until October or November before you begin. I have been a pastor, and I never failed to have my collection in time. Some of you will say that it was because I was always at a good charge, but I say not. I was at Dallas in the year 1875. At the first of the year we had four or five members. At the close of the year we had eighteen members and thirteen or fourteen dollars for conference, which was within twenty-five dollars of as much as the whole San Antonio district did with its 2294 full members, and 1001 probationers. [See minutes for 1875.] We collected nearly as much at Austin last year as the whole Dallas district. What the people want is information and encouragement. Don't think because you have built a new church and owe some on that, that you will be excused from the collection. The General Missionary Committee has sent or will send you circulars which I hope you will not throw aside unnoticed. Read up the missionary news in the SOUTHWESTERN and other papers and tell it to the people. You cannot succeed in this work if you wait until the last Sunday in the conference year, and then give a little indifferent talk on the subject. Get a good feeling among the people by telling what we are doing and can do if they will help us. Show them what the Missionary and Church Extension Societies are doing for them. You can get the money if you talk right, and in time. Let the Dallas district come to the front by the help of God. Pray for it. Yours in Christ,

C. L. MADISON.

The first number of the Baltimore Methodist is at hand, and is a neat eight page paper, well printed, and filled with good miscellaneous matter. This paper is started by authority of the Baltimore Conference. Rev. D. H. Carroll is publisher and Doctors L. F. Morgan, W. S. Edwards, J. H. Dashiell, McCauley and Revs. D. H. Carroll, J. B. Stitt and O. H. Richardson are the publishing committee.

Sunday School.

June 8, 1879.—THE VALLEY OF DRY BONES.

SCRIPTURE.—Ezek. 37: 1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"It is the Spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing; the words I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."—John 6: 63.

TOPIC.—"I am the resurrection and the life."

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.

Preliminary.—Ezekiel had lifted up his voice in lamentation over the assured passing away of some of the mightest of the neighboring nations, but for more than a whole year he had been silent concerning his own people. But in the twelfth year of captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day there came to him an escaped messenger bearing the tidings of the taking of the holy city. From that time forth his harp gave out a more and more cheering sound. The revelations of the Lord came in such a way, so subduing all the powers of his mind and body, that he knew, in the case of each vision, that the "hand of the Lord was upon him."

Under the influence of the Spirit he was, in imagination that made it seem real, carried out into a valley that was like a vast graveyard where death so suddenly had come to all that burial had been impossible. The valley thus seen was by the river Chebar, in the land where the Jews were buried in captivity. The scene that the prophet beheld was one of depressing desolation. Over it reigned the silence of death and of his completed work. "In open valley," or, rather, "on the face of the valley," on the surface of the ground, lay rank upon rank of dismembered skeletons—all that remained of a once glorious host. These bones were once the moving host of Israel—now without national life, scattered among a foreign people, and covering their valleys with numbers that were only a hint of their former strength. Ar. [illegible] these bones the Lord caused the prophet to pass in order that he might see how hopeless was their condition. They were "very dry"—just as bones exposed to the heat of that climate were sure soon to become.

The Word of God (3-6)—The question that God asks Ezekiel, "Son of man, can these bones live?" The natural answer was, No. But the prophet bears in mind the fact that the enquirer is omnipotent, and that he must have had a purpose in causing him to behold such an exhibition, and in noting with [illegible] the number and [illegible] of the bones. Very wisely, [illegible] he answers, "O Lord [illegible] knowest." It is a reply [illegible] both modesty and faith [illegible] that he believes that [illegible] work the marvelous miracle [illegible], but does not [illegible] anticipate the Lord's [illegible].

[illegible] he said unto me, Prophesy [illegible] these bones." First [illegible] "O ye dry bones [illegible] of the Lord!" [illegible] he can make [illegible] hear. It is evi[illegible] important [illegible] follow out [illegible] given him [illegible]: 1. That [illegible] power that was [illegible] host. 2. [illegible] be done by his [illegible] states the pro[illegible] 1. "I [illegible] you." He [illegible] in the [illegible]. In that [illegible] and so re[illegible]. 3. [illegible] upon you." [illegible] give them [illegible] Silent [illegible] increase [illegible] into their [illegible] they pos[illegible] But this [illegible] all cov[illegible] with [illegible] insti[illegible] these [illegible] pos[illegible] and best [illegible] ed." This was fulfilled when, under appropriate leaders, the members of the families gathered together for the purpose of return. 4 The rehabilitation of the bones. That occurred in the order predicted. 5. The revivification, "Prophesy unto the wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain that they may live." "The breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army." There still is an exceeding great army of those whom the evil one has slain who need the reviving breath of the Holy Spirit to call them back to life. "I shall put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments to do them." And from this it is plain that the prophet, again, was looking far beyond the return from captivity, and was favored with a glimpse of Pentecost.

How to Travel.

This is a subject of interest to many this season as the travel will be large to the North and Europe. In securing passage the traveler should be acquainted with the necessities requisite to give him the comforts of a safe, elegant and comfortable journey. These requisites consist in comfortable cars, polite attendants, a good smooth road of steel rail, with stone ballast to free it from dust, secure iron bridges, close connection of trains, reliable meals at neat, clean eating houses, served by polite waiters and ample time to eat them. Added to these should be fine attractive scenery, the comforts of easy riding coaches, supplied with the Miller platforms and Buffer and the Westinghouse air brake. With these provisions a traveler can pass away two or three days on a journey with a feeling of comfort and pleasure to himself. The continued improvements brought forward by enterprising railroad companies who study the interest of the traveling public by securing to their patrons the greatest speed and comfort at the least cost are justly entitled to the larget share of patronage.

Foremost among these railroad enterprises is the Great Louisville Route, the best equipped and managed road in the South, which, with its fine road bed, stone ballasted and free from dust, steel rail track, fine coaches, air breaks, etc., enables them to make the fastest time and furnishing the traveler with more comforts and fine scenery than any route East. Trains of the line make close connection at Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio, with all trains North, East and West, and the traveler is sure, by the aid of four trunk lines, to reach Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington in advance of any other route. When you secure your ticket, be sure to get via the Louisville Route, which makes only one change of cars between New Orleans and New York, and that at Columbus, Ohio, at 8:40 a. m., the second morning after leaving New Orleans. Mr. G. W. L. Cross, the Southern Passenger Agent, under the City Hotel, will take pleasure in giving all possible information and assistance in regard to routes, rates, sleeping cars, baggage, etc., the traveler desires.

A Widow's Inquiry for Her Wayward Son.

DEAR FRIENDS—A mother's love has no limit or end in life; hence after spending upward of seventeen long and anxious years without any encouragement, I am resolved to make this (and I fear my last) effort through the ministers and members of colored churches in New Orleans, La., irrespective of sect or denomination.

My son, William Robinson, born at Lodi, New Jersey, left New Jersey with the Union army in 1861, and when the army left New Orleans for home, left my son William in New Orleans; since then none of his relatives have heard of him. His father, Joseph Robinson, has since died. His older brother, Thomas, and younger, Henry, are now in Hartford. I earnestly request that all ministers [illegible] this letter once at least, and [illegible] it to some brother minister, [illegible] him in God's name to do [illegible], and should any one know [illegible] my dear boy is alive or [illegible] please inform elder Prince [illegible] Mt. Zion M. E. Church, [illegible] La., or address my [illegible] writes this, Mr. L. A. [illegible] 49 Pearl St., Hartford, [illegible] by so doing you will [illegible] favor and for which [illegible]. And may [illegible] and all who [illegible] I remain, [illegible] your [illegible]

General News Items.

Greenbackers of Iowa nominated Daniel Campbell for Governor.

The volcano Mount Ætna is in full eruption. Several villages are threatened with destruction.

President Hayes vetoed the legislative appropriation bill because of provisions inserted to restrict the use of the army in the preservation of the purity and freedom of elections.

Senator Kellogg complained by letter to Senator Saulsbury that subpœnas in blank have been sent to New Orleans, in behalf of Spofford. This deprives him of an opportunity of producing rebutting testimony against that which may be brought against him.

Letter from Holly Springs.

HOLLY SPRINGS, May 8th, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Elder Johnson held our first quarterly conference on the 3d and 4th. He found us in a good spirit. We were able to report one fine Sabbath school with about seventy regular scholars, and we had some money to buy catechisms with, and had fifty lesson leaves coming regularly. We had raised $15 to pay for the ground on which the church stands, $32 75 to complete the church with, $6 for the Elder, $1 20 for the Pastor. On Sunday the elder gave us a fine sermon which will long be remembered. He did us so much good we hope he will soon return. The following persons contributed to pay for the ground:

Pastor, $1; C. R. Reeves, $1; W. E. Parker, $1; G. Sallis and wife, $1; B. J. Finley and wife, $1; Henry Cannon, $1; Amos Pegues, $1; Peter Pegues, $1; S. R. Rogers, 50 cents; Paris Pegues, 50 cents; Pompey Reeves, 50 cents; J. W. Finley 50 cents; H. H. Pegues, 50 cents; Calvin Matthews, 50 cents; Wm. Wallace 50 cents; Wm. Salls, 50 cents; E. L. Salls, 50 cents.

So we were able to report that we had raised $48 80 this quarter, very good for the country. A goodly number of my people that take the ADVOCATE they love the paper. Pray for us.

IRA. B GRIFFIN, Pastor.

Wiley University.

Wiley University closes its nine months session June 12. Examinations June 10, 11 and 12. The year has been a prosperous one. By dint of hard and faithful work on the part of teachers and students, fair results have been achieved. Our school is coming up surely to a well earned place among our good schools in the South. Two new building have been put up during the year, but they are not completed. They will probably be completed by opening of session in September next. Friends of the school are cordially invited to attend examination and closing exercises.

W. H. DAVIS.

Marshall, Texas, May 23, 1879.

Meridian Academy.

MERIDIAN, May 24, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—The annual examinations of the Meridian Academy will take place on the 25th and 26th of June. Closing exercises on the 27th. Although the session has lasted only seven months, our school has been very prosperous. We feel that God has been very good to us, for in our marked success we witness his approval of our work. At a later day we would beg space in your columns to give a short sketch of the work at this place. Very truly yours,

M. V. KEENER, Principal.

Marriages.

At the residence of the brides parents 12 miles from Holly Springs May 29th, 1879. Mr. Geo. W. West, of Holly Springs, to Miss Mattie Divuervernt. On the evening following 30 inst., a grand reception was given them at the residence of Mr. Peter Dean, in Holly Springs, Miss., Rev. J. M. Shumpert performed the ceremony. We wish them a happy life. J. M. S.

May 30th 1879.

Deaths.

In the city of Houston, on the 22d of May, in the 24th year of his age, Albert D., second son of David and Elizabeth Osborne, of this city. Deceased was for many years a scholar at the Atlanta University, which school he left in 1875, followed by the good wishes of the principal, Dr. Ware, and many others connected with the same. Since 1876 he has held many positions of prominence and trust in this city. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Travis Street M. E. Church, which position he had filled with credit to himself and many friends since 1877. He was also principal of the First Ward public school, which position he was compelled to resign on account of illness about eighteen days previous to his death. We had known each other since early childhood. Although he did not confess religion until about a week previous to his death, he was at all times a Christian in acts if not reality.

J. S. TIBBITT.

Houston, Texas, May 27, 1879.

Allow me to announce the death of Mr. Frank Hughes, Winona, Miss. He left this place to go to Duck Hill, Miss., to a picnic on Saturday, May 24th. He promised his family to return the same night. Somehow he missed the train, and being under the influence of intoxicating liquors, he started on foot for home. He got a little way from Duck Hill and stopped and sat down on the railroad, and fell asleep. Before coming to himself the train ran over him, cut off both of his legs and cut two or three places in his face and one arm. From this he died soon. He was the husband of sister Martha Hughes and was a young man about 33 years old; was well thought of in the vincity. I attended the funeral on Sunday, May 25.

H. L. KENNEDY, Pastor.

Winona Miss., May 28th, 1879.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Sunday-school of the Travis street M. E. Church.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the all-wise Father of heaven and earth to remove from our midst the beloved secretary of our school, A. D. Osborne, whereby the school has been brought to recognize the truth of the living God: that the death of our brother has caused much sorrow among us, both teachers and friends, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members, teachers and scholars, in solemn meeting convened, do hereby express our heart-felt sorrow, and deeply regret the loss of our secretary. Be it further

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved parents of the deceased; that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the parents of the deceased and published in the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

F. WANE, Superintendent.
L. L. JAMES, Asst. Sect'y.

ELEGANT HAIR is woman's crowning beauty. When it fades she fades as well. While it is kept bright, her personal attractions are still maintained. By preserving the hair fresh and vigorous a youthful appearance is continued through many years. Those who grieve over their fading hair turning gray too early, should know that Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents it, and restores gray or faded hair to its natural color. It is a clear and healthful preparation, containing neither oil, dye, nor anything deleterious, and imparts to the scalp what is most needed—a sense of pleasant and delightful freedom from scurf and dandruff.

New Publications.

The National Repository for June is an attractive number of this popular magazine. The first article, illustrated, is on "Rio de Janeiro," by Dr. D. P. Kidder, formerly a missionary in Brazil. Then follow an interesting account of "Ostrich Farming," with seven illustrations; "Tuesday Evening Sermon," a pleasantly written story by S. J. Underwood; and a poem, "The Riddle," by Emma G. Wilbur. "Studies of the Town," by Jenny Burr, contains word-pictures and descriptions of scenes not usually thought of; and Rev. E. D. M'Creary contributes a well considered and fair estimate of Henry D. Thoreau, a "Worshiper of Nature." There is a brief notice of "Garnier-Pages," by J. H. Worman; and several well selected pieces are also included. The latter pages of the magazine are filled with Editorial Miscellany. Published monthly at three Dollars a year, post-paid. Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, Chicago, or St. Louis; Phillips & Hunt, New York.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and diseas. Blood is the source of lily, only when it is pure. It has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous diseases.

A Wise Deacon.

"Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family so well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors running to us so long."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time and kept my family well and saved large doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us all well and able to work all the time, and I will warrant it has cost you and most of the neighbors one to two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time. I guess you'll take my medicine hereafter." See other column.

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates, Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n10 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.

—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—

NEW NECKWEAR,

Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz; Cuffs $3 a doz.

EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.

Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,

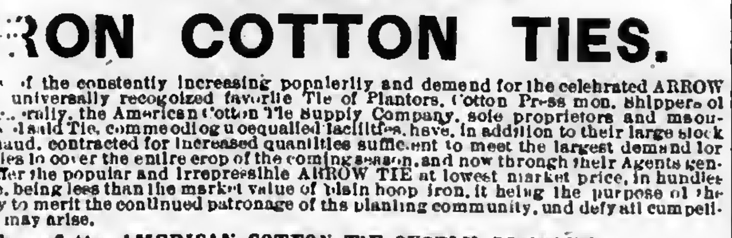
110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

n20 1st

Cotton Planters, Cotton Factors and Country Merchants

EVERYWHERE, PURCHASE THE

CELEBRATED ARROW TIE!



Important Special Notice!

IRON COTTON TIES.

In view of the constantly increasing popularity and demand for the celebrated ARROW TIE, the universally recognized favorite Tie of Planters, Cotton Press men, Shippers of Cotton generally, the American Cotton Tie Supply Company, sole proprietors and manufacturers of said Tie, commanding unequalled facilities, have, in addition to their large stock now on hand, contracted for increased quantities sufficient to meet the largest demand for Cotton Ties to cover the entire crop of the coming season, and now through their Agents generally, offer the popular and irrepressible ARROW TIE at lowest market price, in bundles complete, being less than the market value of plain hoop iron, it being the purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, and defy all competition that may arise.

Office of the AMERICAN COTTON TIE SUPPLY COMPANY,

No. 60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

R. W. RAYNE, President.

n23 1y

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, June 2, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	—@11
Ordinary	—@11⅛
Good Ordinary	—@11⅞
Low Middling	—@12⅛
Middling	—@12⅜
Good Middling	—@12⅝
SUGAR—
Common	5¼@ 5½
Strictly Prime	6¼@ —
Yellow Clarified	—@ —
White	7½@ 7¾
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15¾@16
MESS PORK—per bbl.
Old	$10 25
New	11 00
BACON—
Shoulders	5 @ —
Clear Rib Sides	5¾@ —
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—
Medium Western	9 50
Choice Extra Western	12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	9 @ 9½
Choice	9½a 10
FLOUR—
Superfine	$4 00 to 4 25
Extra	4 50 to 4 75
Double Extra	5 00 to 5 25
Family	6 00 to 6 12
Choice Fancy	6 37 to 6 50
LARD—
Refined, tierce	7 to 7½
Kegs and half berrels	7½ to 7¾
Buckets (refined)	7¾ to 8
BUTTER—
New York Creamery.choice	22 to 23
New York Dairy, fine	11 to 13
Western Creemery	18 to 20
Western Dairy	14 to —
CHEESE—
Western Factory	5 to 7½
New York Cream	10 to —
POULTRY—℔ doz.
Old Chickens	4 00 to 4 25
Young do	2 50 to 3 00
Ducks	3 00 to —
Geese	4 00 to 5 00
Turkeys	12 00 to 15 00
EGGS—℔ doz.
Western	9 to 11
Louisiana	10 to 12
CORN—℔ bu.
Mixed	— to 50
White	55 to 56
Yellow	— to 52
HAY—℔ bale
Prime	19 00 to 21 00
Choice	23 00 to 24 00
POTATOES—℔ bbl.
New Louisiana	3 25 to 3 50
Western	— to —
SWEET POTATOES—℔ bbl.	1 75 to —
CABBAGES..per crate	3 00 to 3 25
BRAN—℔ cwt	— to 80
WOOL..
Burry	— to —
Louisiana Clear	18 to 19
Lake	20 to 21
CORN MEAL—℔ bbl	2 75 to 2 80
GRITS..
Choice Western	2 85 to 2 90
RICE—℔ ℔.
Common	— to 6½
Fair	— to 7
Prime	— to 7½
Choice	— to —
COW PEAS..℔ bu
Choice Clay	1 60 to —
Mixed	— to 1 35
SALT..
Liverpool per sack	90 to 1 85
Turk's Island, per bu	27 to 40
Pockets	1½ to 7
FISH..
Mackerel, ℔ kit	55 to 1 10
Codfish ℔ quarter box	— to 1 10
Herring ℔ box	— to 25
Salmon ℔ kit	— to 2 00
HIDES—
Steer hides over 85 lbs. ℔ lb	— to 6½
Steer hides, 70 to 84 lbs, do.	6½ to 7
Steer hides under 70 lbs, do.	5 to 5½
Cow hides, as they run, do.	— to 5½
Kips, 20 to 24 lbs, ℔ lb	— to 7
Kips, 25 " 80 " " "	— to 6½
Calf skins, each	50 to 75
Country hides, flint 25 lbs	10 to 11
Country hides, damaged	half price
Beeswax, prime yellow ℔ lb	20 to 21
Ox horns, each	— to 6
Tallow, ℔ lb	— to 6

Quarterly Conferences.

West Tennessee District Quarterly Conference.

THIRD ROUND.

Cristenden Circuit, May 31 and June 1; Memphis (Centenary Chapel), June 7-8; Memphis Circuit, June 14-15; Fayette Circuit, June 21-22; Mason Circuit, June 28-29; Cypress Circuit, July 5-6; Gardner Circuit, July 12 13; Mansfield Circuit, July 19 20; Henderson Circuit, July 26-27; Pardy Circuit, August 2-3; Waynesboro Circuit, August 9-10; Linden Circuit, August 16-17; Lawrenceburg Circuit; August 23-24.

The District Conference will be held on the 20th of August. W. S. BUTLER, P.E.

Bledsoe's Landing, Ark., May 17, 1879. 22-23

"Unsurpassed as a Teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., EDITOR.

Rev. J. M. Freeman, ASSOCIATE.

Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to Phillips & Hunt, Publishers, 805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment Improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

☞ IT IS ☜

180 Miles Shorter and 10½ Hours Quicker to Chicago.

112 Miles Shorter and 6½ Hours Quicker to St. Louis

☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE. ☜

And the ONLY LINE to LOUISVILLE and CINCINNATI.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars.

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. The EATING HOUSES are entirely new, and the BEST IN THE SOUTH.

☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5:15 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Corner of Common.

F. Chandler,

General Passenger Agent.

SEWING MACHINES

Cheap for Cash.

We have some Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT. New Orleans.

AGENT WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.

RELIABLE, INTELLIGENT, BUSINESS MEN can clear $1,000 to $4000 yearly in the NEW AGENCY. Entirely new and desirable—pleasant and permanent. Can be carried on in connection with a store, shop or mill by any good agent. Suitable for every county in the United States. Address

J. B. CHAPMAN, 70 West Street, MADISON, IND.

n23 6t

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Keziah Ballad, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOEER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal: George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemel Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

NEW EDITION.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED.

1928 Pages. 3000 Engravings.

Four Pages Colored Plates.

Now added, a SUPPLEMENT of over 4600 NEW WORDS and Meanings.

Including such as have come into use during the past fifteen years—many of which have never before found a place in any English dictionary.

ALSO ADDED, A NEW Biographical Dictionary of over 9700 NAMES of Noted Persons, ancient and modern, including many now living, giving Name, Pronunciation, Nationality, Profession and Date of each.

GET THE LATEST.

NEW EDITION contains a Supplement of over 4600 new words and meanings.
Each new word in supplement has been selected and defined with great care.
With Biographical Dictionary, now added, of over 9700 names of Noted Persons.

GET THE BEST

Edition of the best Dictionary of the English Language ever published.
Definitions have always been conceded to be better than in any other Dictionary.
Illustrations, 3000, about three times as many as in any other Dictionary.
The Dict'y recommended by State Sup'ts of 35 States, and 50 College Presidents.
In Schools,—about 32,000 have been placed in the Public Schools in the U. S.
Only English Dictionary containing a Biographical Dictionary,—this gives the Name with Pronunciation, Nation, Profession and Date of over 9700 persons.

Published by G. & C. MERRIAM, Springfield, Ms.

ALSO

Webster's National Pictorial DICTIONARY.

1040 Pages Octavo. 600 Engravings.

Ecclesiastical Law —AND— Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY, —AND— WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.

Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judical investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans, La.

ELEGANTLY

Furnished Rooms,

WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.

123 Carondelet Street,

Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets.

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

Shaw University

HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.,

A Grand Opportunity

For a Liberal Education,

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND NORMAL COURSES besides the First Steps in Theology, Law and Medicine.

A high grade of scholarship is required, and the moral and religious culture of the students is regarded as of the utmost importance. Our location is

BEAUTIFUL AND HEALTHY.

The school is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and hence the expenses are small.

Tuition Free, Incidentals, 50 cts per month, Board from $8 to $10 per month.

We want One Hundred more young men and women to prepare for teaching.

SITUATIONS GUARANTEED to all who are qualified, at from $35 to $60 per month.

Our students are everywhere sought after.

For catalogues or other informati n, address W. W. HOOPER, Holly Springs, Miss.

n6 tf

SUNDAY SCHOOL Requisites.

—:o:—

We desire to call especial attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals. and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

☞ All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate — Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy ... [illegible]
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each ... [illegible]
Classmate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy ... [illegible]
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each ... [illegible]
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy ... [illegible]
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy ... [illegible]
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each ... [illegible]
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy ... [illegible]
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5¢cts; per hundred ... $[illegible]
Leaf Cluster—Aid for Infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter ... $1.[illegible]
Ditto—Per year ... $4.[illegible]
Berean Question Book ... [illegible]
Ditto—Interleaved edition ... [illegible]
The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.
The Seven Years—Per copy ... [illegible]

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be resent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December: [illegible] subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each - - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - 50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each - - - - 50 cents
Roan, embrossed, each - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - $1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual,

Cloth, each - - - - 75 cents
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.

☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.

Contains sections 481–484 of Ritual

Sheep, each - - - - $1 [illegible]
Roan, embossed - - - - 2 00

12mo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each - - - - $1 [illegible]

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481–484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 7[illegible]
French Morocco, gilt edges - - 2 50

Send orders to

Phillips & Hunt,

39 Natchez Street, New Orleans, La.

BOOKS —FOR— Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price [illegible] cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 [illegible]); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second W[illegible]; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible [illegible] Discipline continued and a written [illegible].

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wak[illegible]; Nast's Introduction to the New T[illegible] (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 [illegible]) and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, W[illegible] a written sermon and the written [illegible] laid down in the fourth year's study [illegible] discipline.

During these years it is expected [illegible] every minister will read Wesley's [illegible] (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in [illegible] above course is $14 35

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

39 Natchez Street, New Orleans.

West Texas Conference SEMINARY.

This school is located at A[illegible] for the Conference and easy of access.

The object of the School is to g[illegible] thorough business education, or to p[illegible] pupils for teaching or for the ministry.

This School has earnest, com[illegible] Christian Teachers who have had [illegible] in other schools.

TUITION.

Primary Department, per month ... [illegible]
Intermediate " " ... [illegible]
Higher " " ... [illegible]
Music Lessons on the Organ, per mo ... [illegible]

Colored Ministers of the M. E. C[illegible] will have their tuition paid by the [illegible] men's Aid Society.

Rev. G. O. RICHARDSON, [illegible]
Rev. O. W. RICHARDSON, [illegible]
Rev. M. HENSON, Financial [illegible]

Young Folks' Corner.

For the Southwestern.

SOOTHING SYRUP.

Who would not lend a sympathising sigh,
To hear yon infant's pity-moving cry?
That feeble sob, unlike the new-born note,
Which came with vigor from the opening throat,
When air and light first rushed on lungs and eyes,
And there was life and spirit in the cries;
… an abortive, faint attempt to weep
… all we hear,—specalloo is asleep:
The boy was healthy, and at first expressed
His feelings loudly when he failed to rest,
When crammed with food, and tightened every limb,
"Cry aloud?" was what pertained to him.
… the good nurse, (had she borne a brain
… sought the cause that made the babe complain)
… all her efforts, loving soul, applied
… the cry and not the cause aside,
… gave her powerful sweet without remorse,
… "sleeping cordial"—she had tried its force:
… oft, the infant, freed from pain,
… but took the dose again,
… to sleep, while she with joy ex-
… her dear charge could sweetly take its
… she spare her cordial—not a …
… but quickly he will rest without.

A True Story.

A few years ago a couple of good … living together near one of … great cities took two or three … children into their home, … time passed, other helpless, … little ones came to them, … they had thirty under their … Their own means they gave … last dollar, and for the rest … trusted God, living from week … week on the contributions of the … but making it a rule to … of nobody but Him who has … to be a father to the …

… Winter one of their friends … a short account of this … home, and happening to meet … a gentleman well known … financier all over the country, … it to him.

… home is but a mile or two … your house, Mr. C——," he …

…" said Mr. C——, carelessly, … of it. Kept up by prayer … eh?"

"A bad capital for business."

… thrust the paper in his … thought no more about … night at about eleven … sitting, toasting his … going to bed, when … at his door, and his … in with the paper … her cheeks burning

… I've been reading about … Home. We never have … for it—"

… wish to help the or- … Very well, we will … matter to-morrow."

"Father, I want …"

… one night in December; … upon the ground; … and coachman are … Nonsense, my … morning."

… tells me we ought … pleaded, with tears … Mr. C——yielded; … infection of her … she called … begged the car- … of bedding, … of provisions, … dollar bill in …

… the guardians … on that day … "We had," … nothing … breakfast." … to their … knows … their cries …

… praying, a … and … pro- … handed … her in …

Rev. John Schrader.

Rev. John Schrader died at Poseyville, Indiana, on the 15th inst., at the age of eighty-six years and six months, lacking three days. He had been preaching the Gospel seventy years, having commenced when a little past sixteen years of age. He joined the Tennessee Conference in 1813, It was while in this conference, and when preacher in charge of Blue River Circuit, that he introduced Methodism into New Albany, Ind., in January, 1817, preaching his first sermon in the dining-room of an old log tavern. He was the first to administer the sacrament of the Lord's-supper and the ordinance of baptism in that city. He built and dedicated the first church there, the latter service taking place November 20, 1817. He subsequently became a member of the Missouri Conference, and then of the Indiana Conference, which was organized in 1832. He was the oldest Methodist preacher in Indiana. He was deeply pious and faithful to the Church and every good work.

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to get some information of brother. His name is Thaddeus M. Smith. He left Galveston year before last; he went from here to Fort Worth, and thence to New Orleans. I have never heard from him since he left here. My name is Robert Smith. If any one can inform me of my brother, please write to me in care of P. Douglas, Galveston, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I want to find my father. His name is Addison Devose. He used to belong to Ned Hewitt, in Mansfield, Louisiana. My mother's name is Rachel. My name is James Hewitt. There are five brothers of us in Texas. If any one knows anything about him, please write to James Hewitt, in care of Rev. W. B. Pullam, Houston, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my wife's brother, John Young. He lives near Kansas City, Mo, or in the State of Kansas. My wife's name is Margaret Gingard. It has been seven years since she has seen him. His wife's name is Eveline Young. I wish also to inquire for Henderson Pierson, my nephew. I left him in Meridian, Miss. Also for Millie Donnold, who lived at Eggspoint, Washington Co., Miss.

S. G. GINGARD.
Navasota, Grimes Co., Texas.

DEAR EDITOR—Please allow me to inquire for my kin people. I now go by the name of Shack Partee. My mother was Hagar, father Richard. He belonged to a man named McKinsey, near Wilmington, North Carolina. The last heard from they said my brother Eli and sister Sallie were brought from North Carolina to near Columbus, Mississippi. Address

SHACK PARTEE,
Care C. L. Crump, Eureka, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—I wish to know the whereabouts of my kin people. Father's name was Prince Flemons. Brothers', Jefferson and May. My mother, Milly, is with me. We left them in Mobile at the corner of Main and Conti streets. They belonged to Dr. William Flemons. Mother was brought to Mississippi by John Foster. I have one brother with me—Prince. Any information will be thankfully received. If found address me at Enterprise, Mississippi. JULIA FLEMONS.

MR. EDITOR: I want to see if I can find my husband's sister. Her name is Bettie Epps. She was carried from Brazoria Co., Texas, to Austin, Travis Co., Texas, by a white man named Judge Robert Thomas. Her mother's name was Nancy Epps. She has two brothers, Freeland and Moses Epps. Freeland Epps is my husband. She has four sisters, Emma, Nellie, Ellen, Julia and Ann Epps. We don't remember the year she was carried to Austin, but it was during the war. I will thank all your readers to inquire for the above, and if found address me

MRS. EVILEANA EPPS,
Care Prof. W. H. Jackson, San Felipe, Texas.

Factory Facts.

Close confinement, careful attention … work, gives the … poor appetite … feelings, … and all the … in the … unless …

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. 21 5t

E. HEATH. W. P. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES,
CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES,
MIRRORS, MOULDINGS,
ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
Upholstery Goods
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC
OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,
DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE
will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS
are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.
As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.
Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.
Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.
Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

If you want a new Sunday School Song Book select from Messrs. Biglow & Main's list, which you will find occupying this space in the next issue of this paper. When ordering, please mention the fact that you saw this Advertisement in the Southwestern Christian Advocate.

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may … by a renewed Consecration of His … the fullness of Joy Referred to by … Previous to His Crucifixion, … from the lives of those who … consecration. By Thomas … 18mo., 75c.

… any of these books address … Hunt, New Orleans.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and reacher in charge should have one. Price ... $1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price ... $1 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price ... 40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price ... $3 60

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price ... $1 60

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price ... $1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price ... $1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price ... $1 76

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freemen. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price ... $2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price ... $1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price ... $1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price ... $1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo. ... $0 60
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo. ... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo. ... 1 60
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo. ... 2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it. by Rev. W. McDonald. Price ... $1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost ... $21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors, 2. Record of Classes, 3. Record of official members, 4. Alphabetical record of full members, 5. Record of probationers, 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price ... $2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each ... 25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price ... $2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good.
Price, per dozen ... $1 60.
Large size, each ... 20.
Large and illuminated, each ... 25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred ... $1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100 ... $1 60

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ... $1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100 ... $1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100 ... $1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100 ... $1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100 ... $1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000 ... $1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100 ... $1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100 ... $1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100 ... $3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 ... $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100 ... 75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price ... $1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } Vol. II. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price ... $3 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price ... $2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price ... $1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price ... 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price ... 1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

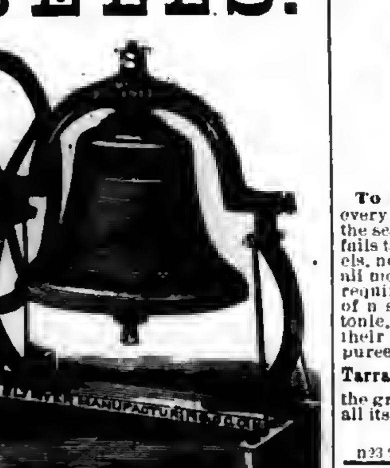
Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price ... $24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.
I. Cowel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
35 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.
The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.
On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.
Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf New Orleans.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containing about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:
Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.
We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PIANOS AND ORGANS
GRAND INTRODUCTION SALE.
One Thousand first-class instruments from best makers to be placed in Southern Homes for Introduction and Advertisement. Pianos, 7 Oct. $125; 7 1-3 Oct. $135. Organs, 8 Stops, $57; 13 Stops, $64; Mirror Top, 13 Stops, $80. Choice instruments at lowest prices ever known. Six years written guarantee. 15 days test trial. Chickering, Hallet & Davis, Mathushek and Southern Gem Pianos. Mason & Hamlin, and Peloubet & Pelton Organs included in this sale. A clean sweep; no reserve; new instruments fresh from Factory. Only sale of the kind ever carried out in the U.S. Write for introduction sale circular. Address Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, Savannah, Ga., the Great Wholesale Piano and Organ Depot of the South.
n2 4t

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY
Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,
A. C. MORTON & CO.,
u12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

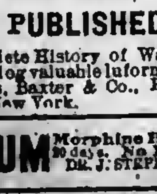
HOME + ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive.
And the thousand things all "want to know."
One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp.
ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

MUSIC BELOW COST.
Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

FREE TO ALL
FLEETWOOD'S
LIFE OF CHRIST.
850 Pages. Over 300 Illustrations.
Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.,
175 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
n20 8t

BEFORE BUYING OR RENTING A
CABINET ORGAN
Be sure to send for our LATEST CATALOGUE and CIRCULARS with NEW STYLES, REDUCED PRICES ($54, $56, $78, $84, $90, $99, $105, $108, $114, $120, and upwards), and much information. Sent Free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., Boston, New York or Chicago u22 tf

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.



Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
mar 21 1y

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free
Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v18 n48 1y

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio. u22 4t

20 Chromo Cards, Motto flowers, etc., with name, 10cts. Nassau Card Co., Nassau, New York. 30 4t

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

To Rational Invalids.—In sickness every portion of the body sympathizes with the seat of the disorder. When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the liver, bowels, nerves, muscles, veins, arteries, etc., are all more or less affected. These delinquents require a medicine combining the properties of a stomachic, an alterative, a purgative, a tonic, and a sedative to bring them back to their duty; and all these elements, in their purest and most effective forms, are united in Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient, the great Saline Remedy for Indigestion and all its concomitant consequences.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
n23 2t

Lectures on Preaching
Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.
By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)
Cloth, 12mo. Price ... $1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:
Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of the Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?
It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.
This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

LORD & TAYLOR,
NEW YORK.
Opening Spring Display
OF
NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.
Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.
Our American Cachemire INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.
In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.
Also,
COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.
In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.
Novelties in Cachemeres, Suitings, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's" Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Cotelines, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.
This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.
Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.
Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.
Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.
Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.
The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.
Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material.
A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.
All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.
Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.
For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3.50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $2 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50. Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.
Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.93.

Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.
n14 apl3 9m

Wiley University

Situated at Marshall, Texas, is supported and controlled by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church. It offers to all desiring to secure an education especial advantages.

The higher English Branches and Preparatory College Course are taught. A full College Course will be added as soon as practicable. Special attention given to the preparation of teachers.

A New Building is in process of erection and will be ready for use by opening of Winter Term, Dec. 30. Provision will be made for the rooming and boarding of young ladies in the institution. Young men's rooming department will not be ready before beginning of Spring Term, March 24.

The expenses of attending this school are small compared with others of similar character.

Tuition per Month	$1 50
Room rent	1 50
Washing, Light and Fuel	1 50

Board, including room rent and tuition per month, about $8 00.

Arrangements can be made for students to board themselves.

Those studying for the ministry have tuition and room rent free.

All dues must be paid in advance.

CALENDER 1878–9.

First term begins Sept. 23d, ends Dec. 30th.
Second " " Dec. 30th, " March 21t.
Third " " March 24, " June 12th.

For circulars or further information address, W. H. DAVIS,
Wiley University,
Marshall, Texas,
n49 tf

73,620 MORE
Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we so'd 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n91y

Wheeler & Wilson,
NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,
WITH SILENT FEED

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.
Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—
No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.
u20 6mo

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

GUIDE to SUCCESS,
WITH FORMS FOR Business AND Society

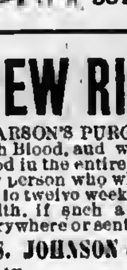
is BY FAR the best Business and Social Guide and Hand-Book ever published. Much the latest. It tells both sexes completely HOW TO DO EVERYTHING in the best way. HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER, and contains a gold mine of varied information indispensable to all classes for constant reference. AGENTS WANTED for all or spare time. To know why this book of REAL value and attractions sells better than any other, apply for terms to
H. B. SCAMMELL & CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.
n21 6m



THE TAMPICO BUSTS
now used in
DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSET
and Skirt Supporter are the greatest improvement ever made in Corsets. They are soft as velvet, very flexible and contain no bones.
The FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET, (120 bones) is with perfect ease and is Warranted not to break over the hips. Price, $1.25.
For Sale by leading Merchants.
WARNER BRO'S,
351 Broadway, New York.
u11 1t eow

NEW RICH BLOOD!
PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.
I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
12 1y

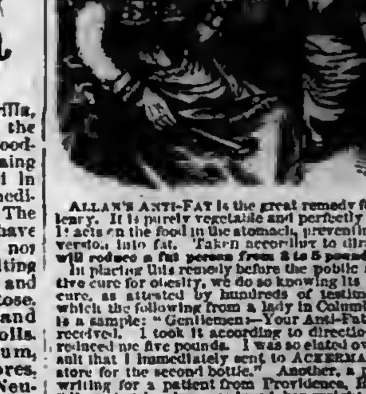
X Cancer
Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 25 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address
W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

AGENTS who know enough to try to sell only WANTED thoroughly useful and first-class works, send for our liberal terms on the famous DR. W. W. HALL'S great Family Medical book.
HEALTH AT HOME
by far the best out, and one with which Agents succeed better and longer than any other. To get in the way of making money for all or part of your time write to STANDARD PUB. HOUSE, ST. LOUIS, MO. [n21 6m

AGENTS WANTED For DR. MARCH'S Great Work
FROM DARK TO DAWN.
A magnificent NEW BOOK just from the press. Address J. C. McCURDY & CO.,
n18 71 eowl St. Louis, Mo.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
n19 1yl

ANTI-FAT



ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness take
HOP BITTERS.
Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take
HOP BITTERS.
Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.
HOP BITTERS.
It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S
BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom, safely by mail, at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture—60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address
THE DINGEE & CONARD CO.,
Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.
n7 10teow

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14--NO. 24. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 358.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
89 Natchez Street, New Orleans
PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.
J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
Marriage notices	25
Special notices	8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:
805 Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

GOD'S CARE.

BY ALICE C. JENNINGS.

Not a brooklet floweth
Onward to the sea,
Not a sunbeam gloweth
On its bosom free,
Not a seed unfoldeth
To the glorious air,
But our Father holdeth
It within His care.

Not a flower fadeth,
Not a star grows dim,
Not a cloud o'ershadeth,
But 'tis marked by Him.
Dream not that thy gladness
God doth fail to see;
Think not in thy sadness
He forgetteth thee.

Not a tie is broken,
Not a hope laid low,
Not a farewell spoken,
But our God doth know.
Every hair is numbered,
Every tear is weighed,
In the changeless balance
Where Love has made.

Power eternal resteth
In His changeless hand;
Love immortal hasteth
[illegible] at His command.
Faith [illegible] firmly trust Him
In the darkest hour,
For [illegible]
[illegible] His love and power.

—Boston Watchman.

[illegible] TO WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON.

BY [illegible], 1843.

[illegible] thou true and faithful [illegible] with soul afire, [illegible] wrong inflicted on a [illegible] sympathy [illegible] and [illegible] and all that [illegible] though now [illegible] and righteousness [illegible] and truth is [illegible] country honored be, [illegible] the scroll of fame.

[illegible] Issues.

[illegible], D. D.

[illegible]

question, that his republican antagonists brought out Secretary Chase as an opposition candidate for nomination for the Presidency; and in the autumn of 1864 an amendment was tacked on to one of the appropriation bills that repealed the appropriations for colonization, leaving me to conduct the office for a year at my own expense, for which I have never received anything.

I name this in this connection as a shield against the foolish and wicked cry of amalgamation, when as ministers we feel obliged to step in between oppression and the poor who are oppressed, and defend, as best we can, the course of the latter.

The chief aim of this letter is not to discuss colonization, emigration, or the great exodus of the man of color from the South; all that is under the guiding hand of God, and He will direct it. But the duty of this hour with me is to contribute my mite of opinion to sustain the law of God too long trampled on, and to avert from the land impending judgments, unless the crimes against the national rights of man, secured to him by the Divine law, are properly punished and those rights fully recognized and protected. Political murder must stop, indeed all murder should stop; and at some other time I will try and show that the bar is mainly responsible for this thing. But this new issue, made by the courts of Virginia and Indiana, must be met.

Marriage is an institution of Heaven, protected by the seventh commandment, but in too many States marriage has long been ignored, as an institution of Heaven, and legislated against in some States as one of the presumed necessities of the proximities of the different races. This legislation against one of God's laws is a wrong that must be righted in Utah, Indiana and the South, or our danger will be multiplied.

The issue is made up; the nation, through its Supreme Court, must now speak out and purge the wrong, or take the responsibility of making it national; and if it assumes the latter, it will have placed another Dred Scott decision on the record, to share the fate in the battle of the ages of that now impotent decree.

I am sorry to see that it is my old and much beloved friend, Judge Hughes, of Virginia, who has has rendered the decision that brings the question before the country, in the case of Edmond Kinney (colored) and Mary, his wife (white) now in the Virginia State prison for marriage, no crime.

The judge holds that each State has a sovereign control over the law of marriage, and that his court has no jurisdiction, and gives in argument and as illustration, in favor of State right on this subject, that a man may not go to Utah or the District of Columbia, as Kinney did, and marry according to the laws thereof, and then return to Virginia and impose the corrupt practice of any of the latter States on Virginia.

The judge will pardon me for expressing the conviction that he is in error, in that he does not review the whole law in such cases.

Most, if not all, and I think all, the English speaking colonies and nations of Anglo-Saxon stock, retain England's common law as the law of their land. The "old thirteen" and all their off shoots of States retain that law, with the exception that the class privileges of the three great estates of the Imperial age, being anti-republican, have been cut out. The common law, then, of the United States comprehends the moral precepts of the [illegible] Scriptures, especially the ten commandments—which Alfred the Great, in compiling the institutions of the converted Saxon kingdom was careful to place in the [illegible] of his code, opening [illegible] with the seventh [illegible] of Exodus and working as [illegible] Old and New Testament [illegible] he could make applicable [illegible] government of his people [illegible] law then is the [illegible] of this commonwealth, [illegible] holding a moral [illegible], such as matters [illegible] our Christian age [illegible] seventh command.

[illegible] to strike [illegible] between [illegible]

common law, which comprehends the ten commandments. Both States have over ridden this supreme law. No doubt the argument will be presented that States prohibit kindred from marrying according to certain degrees of consanguinity. This is true, and they wisely prohibit such marriages by statutory enactments—so does common law. You will find the table of unlawful degrees in the 18th chapter of Leviticus. But what has that to do with members of remote races? Nothing whatever; and the State that attempts to fix the degree and fraction of white blood that qualifies for marriage, traverses the ancient law of our people, and lays a criminal snare for the feet of our citizens. Again, who is to decide the amount of white blood, one half, one third, one-fourth, or one-eighth—who is to trace back the paternity in each case? He must be a skillful judge indeed, when not one in ten of the white men of the land can tell the names of their four great-grand fathers. How much more difficult to trace the ancestors of this crushed people.

It is full time that all the laws that can conflict with this supreme law that guards life and liberty and the righteous pursuit of happiness, should come to an end, for it was far from the intention of the founders of this commonwealth to legalize crime in any form, and surely to strike down the Divine institution of marriage, and thereby promote concubinage, and close the eyes on the wrong, is a crime in any State.

I trust none will charge me with being a partisan, for I am not; nor do I advocate amalgamation. All that I ask is that States will respect the Divine Law, and not trample thereon.

Atlanta, Ga., May 26, 1879.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Boston Letter.

BUSINESS,

Which has been so long depressed in the east, seems at last to be slowly and healthily reviving. The great houses begin to take courage, capital begins to venture, and the working man realizes the brightening and reviving influences of hope, no longer deferred but merging into realization. The atmosphere is more exilerating; all nature, as in the opening of spring, is instinct with new life. With this turn in the tide, we may reasonably anticipate many years of prosperity. Affairs in our are comparatively quiet. The conferences are through, and the pastors are just getting fairly at work in their new fields. The machinery runs smoothly, so that we hear no mutterings of revolution. The presiding elder question, so much agitated here a few years ago, is the only one making even a riffle on the waters. Prof. Prentice, in the last Methodist Quarterly, discharged his gun at the pamphlets of Wise and Cummings. The game was evidently hit, and there will probably be a spasmodic kick or two; but it is doubtful if the old interest in the topic can be revived by the advocates of that reform, because the movement was never a spontaneous one among our people. In an eminent sense, it was a campaign topic. There were some sore-heads who wished to pull down and some good brethren who wished to go to General Conference or to obtain peace and give their friends a chance. This was the sum of it. And such movements are not easily or often repeated.

CHURCHES

THE SUNDAY QUESTION

has been debated off and on in the preachers' meeting for several years, mostly in reference to Sunday camp meetings, which became quite common in the east after the introduction of the cottage system, which retains on the grounds for several weeks many of our families. This spring a new turn was given to the question by opening the ground of the observance. Like the Puritans, we have been accustomed to base it on the fourth commandment; but meantime some members of the meeting went back to the views of the Reformers and Primitive church, basing it on the practice of the Lord and his apostles, holding that the authority of the old law has been abrogated and is replaced by the new law of Christ. The point has been sharply contested in several essays and speeches, and is still under fire.

The meeting also had a spicy debate the other day on

THE COLORED EXODUS

[illegible] and passed a series of spicy resolutions of sympathy with the exiles, and of condemnation of the course of Southern leaders, which makes the Exodus a necessity. The diabolism of the Bourbon South begins to appear to our people. The Exodus has proved a flaming advertisement printed so large and black that no one can fail to see and understand. And what the Exodus fails to do in this way the Rebel Congress now in extra session pretty effectually compliments. The North has not looked much toward the South for several years, but this Congress, by the aid of rebel brigadiers and northern dough-heads, has succeeded in fixing their attention. We heard Southern men asking that old issues be forgotten, and that the bloody chasm be closed out of sight o' the people of the North—forgot, only to be startled in their dreams by a Southern faction who waded to Washington in blood, and who now in old plantation style flaunt defiance in the teeth of the North. You will see how far that course will pay. 1880 will open a new campaign in favor of freedom.

But to conclude, allow me to allude to a couple of our best magazines.

HARPER'S MONTHLY,

the best family magazine, opens the new volume in enlarged type and page, making the form as inviting as the matter. With something strong and valuable, each number has a suitable measure of lighter and illustrated material in fiction, history, travel and science. The June number contains an able reminiscent article on Aggasiz by Whipple, and illustrated articles on the Tyrol, Rye and sound there, Hudson's Bay Company, and a free lecture experience. The names of such writers as James T. Fields, E. P. Whipple, Olive Logan, Geo. Waring, Constance Woolson and John E. Cooke grace its pages.

THE ATLANTIC

contains strong meat served in popular form, though not often in soups. Howells, the editor, is a self-educated Ohioan, a clear thinker and an elegant writer. The best talent is found among its contributors, and it is designed to be the exponent of the best literary thought in New England. The reformatory, liberal and economical instinct of the East and North has always found expression in its pages. The June number makes a "study of a New England factory town," speculations on the Physical Future of the American People, and traces the history of art in wood engraving. Grant White relates the story of a Sunday on the Thames, Warner describes the people for whom Shakespeare wrote, and the editor romances on Buying a Horse. A package of rhymes and novel reviews with the tables fills the budget, the whole making a readable number. NAMREBS.

Emigration.

HOUSTON, Texas, May 14, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—My opinion having been asked on several occasions concerning the exodus movement of my race, I now take this mode of giving my views on the same, hoping to answer some of the questions lately put to me by my friends, many of whom are regular readers of your valuable journal.

Many reasons have been given as the cause of this Exodus. But the chief reasons are those of political and civil persecution. Almost the same reason that drove the Israelites out of Egypt. It drove the Puritans out of England; the Jesuits from France; the Irish out of Ireland, and the same thing will drive the negroes out of the South!

People who can't get along in one place can probably do so in another. White men who cannot make a living in the North or East will "go West," or South, and the same rule applies as well to the blacks as to the whites. If the South doesn't want us, perhaps the North does; if one man won't treat us right perhaps another one will, and so it goes.

But let us not be too hasty in this matter. The advice given in the address put forth by the Colored Men's Convention of Louisiana April 21 is as good as could be given. An abler address has never been written. It is equal in all respects to the declaration of independence, written, as it was, by Thos. Jefferson.

I would recommend to my friends as far as is practicable, that they read and pay particular attention to the above named address.

It would be well for those intending to emigrate to observe the the following points:

Don't be in too big a hurry, but "make haste slowly." Don't emigrate unless you have good cause for doing so. To leave home without a cause is foolish. The most essential needs are clothing and money enough to last until you procure a home, without which we will become tramps.

If you enjoy full political, civil and religious rights, are free from debt, making a living, (don't expect to get rich, that's too great a luxury) and have no incumbrances, why, in God's name, stay where you are! You cannot do better.

If, on the contrary, the freedom of speech guaranteed you by the laws and constitution of the United States is denied; if you are in debt, and have no chance of getting out; if you are denied the right of suffrage, or have no power over ballot box stuffers; if you are forced, as is often the case, to rent land at $10 an acre that is only worth $5, why then the best thing to be done is to emigrate at once. One feature of this Exodus is that all the self-styled "leaders" of the colored race are opposed to it. In their opposition lies our success.

I, for one, am heartily glad, because of this same opposition. The colored race has had ring-masters long enough — we want leaders. This people are tired of dancing to the crack of the master's whip. The Exodus will still go on, their wishes to the contrary notwithstanding.

Bye and bye perhaps the colored race will find a leader, a real Moses, who will lead them out of the land of oppression to one of universal peace.

J. S. TIBBITT.

Shaw Commencement.

GRENADA, Miss., May 29, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Permit me to report, through your valuable paper, the Commencement exercises of Shaw University. I reached the University on Friday—one day late—and left on Tuesday. I was present at all the principal examinations, covering Greek, Latin, English Grammar, United States History, Algebra, Physiology, Natural Philosophy and Theology. The examinations were, on the whole, very satisfactory to me, and reflect credit upon the able and worthy Professors, as well as the institution, and the society which founded it. President Hooper is doing a grand work. It fell to my lot, seven years ago, to spend three weeks at Shaw, hearing the classes of Dr. A. C. McDonald, he being absent. The school was then in its infancy. Its growth has been rapid, not so much in numbers, though one hundred and twenty-five have been in attendance this year, notwithstanding the epidemic there last year, as in mental development. Long may Brother Hooper remain at its head. Several things are especially needed just now for Shaw University: 1. One hundred more students. 2. Money. The new building is needed badly. The brick are on the ground, when they ought to be in the walls of the new building. 3. Very much more of the sympathy and prayers of the church. I attended the Sabbath-school on Sabbath at 9 o'clock, in Asbury Chapel, J. M. Shumpert, pastor. The school numbers 250, and is a model one. Prof. Hooper is the superintendent. At 11 o'clock the students' love-feast was held. The Master favored us with his presence. Of the services at 3 o'clock p. m. and at night I have only to say that the house, which seats 500, was well filled with an attentive and intelligent audience. On Monday night the Literary Society gave an entertainment, closing with a debate on the "Exodus of the Colored People to Kansas." It was a success. Prof. Locke is a successful teacher, but his trip to Yazoo was most too much for him. At least his health is not very good. Miss Smith, the accomplished lady teacher, goes to Michigan University, to take or finish a post-graduate course. May the smiles of Heaven be upon Shaw University! My visit to Holly was a pleasant one. Brother Hooper and wife board with sister McDonald, the wife of Dr. A. C. McDonald, and with them I stayed. Mrs. McDonald has all her children in school that are old enough to attend. In company with Bro. Shumpert I went to the grave of Dr. McDonald. Not even a marble slab marks his resting place. I plucked a twig of arbor-vitæ and some wild flowers, and placed them on his grave, in memory of one whom I loved and admired. Mrs. McDonald desires to get the $50 that was raised by his friends for the purpose of erecting a monument to his memory, and add more to it herself, and put up a plain stone at his grave. A committee was appointed by the annual conference to do this work, but have done nothing, not even made a report. I hope the parties who hold the $50 mentioned will turn it over to her immediately. Bro. McDonald reared his own monument in the Mississippi Conference and Shaw University, so that it only needs something to mark the spot where he lies. Yours truly,

L. BRADFORD.

The Holly Springs District.

JACKSON Miss., May 29th, 1879.

DEAR BROTHER—After traversing the circuits of Holly Springs district and more minutely than usual observing the work of evangelization in all its bearings, we are prepared to give to your many readers, the assurance that although the work moves slowly on, visible marks of improvement in many departments of our great and grand old church may be seen and felt by all.

We have been favored with a precious soul stirring revival throughout the entire district and not less than 220 souls have been added to the church, 112 of whom were converted. The decline in membership, expulsions, withdrawals and removals is comparatively small. As a consequence of the scarcity of money and the exodus occasioned by the emigration furor, the work of improving church property has been retarded in our section of the country, and our financial prosperity has been in like degree, circumscribed and embarassed.

The propects of a good crop, and the perceptible advance in the price of our staple product (cotton) produce cheerfulness among the people and they faithfully labor and look forward to brighter days, spiritually and temporally. It is extremely gratifying to note the rapid progress made by the pastors of this district; we can safely aver that each preacher, without exception, is earnestly striving to make himself a workman approved of God.

The financial condition of the church in the district is not, I regret to say, as favorable as at this time last year. Many of the preachers are laboring under great pecuniary disadvantages, but they are encouraged by the people who cheerfully assist them to the utmost of their ability from their scanty means. Special attention is given to the benevolent causes of the church by each preacher. The SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE doubtless has a larger circulation than ever before in this district, which is probably due to the growing intelligence of the people—the increasing desire they evince of knowledge of all that transpires in the church and in the State. Our Sabbath-school work improves encouragingly. There are 28 schools with an average attendance of 1300 pupils. The lesson leaves and other Sabbath-school literature is introduced in to the schools whenever teachers of sufficient intelligence preside. Indeed a great want is felt in this respect in the major part of this district, and this deficiency renders a well organized Sabbath-school system for the present out of the question. But thank God the Shaw University and other well regulated systems of education, whose light and power are reflected and felt throughout the State, will we trust supply this sad want in the near future.

Yours as ever
J. G. JOHNSON P. E.
Holly Springs District.

Desire to Crush Out Free Schools.

We are convinced that the veto was an unwarranted interference on the part of the executive; that there was no substantial or real cause for such interference; that it emanated, as we believe, from an innate predjudice against, and an overwhelming desire to crush out free schools; that but for the promised support of the Galveston News and the Austin Statesman—the latter an avowed enemy of free schools—he would not have withheld his signature.—Flatonia, Texas, Argus.

The Supreme Court of Dakota Territory, regarding the title to certain mining property in the Black Hills region, declares that no title to land can be acquired until the country is ceded to the government by its Indian owners.

Letter from Thibodaux.

THIBODAUX, May, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—We regret to note the early fall of the bayou which must prove a disaster to the rice crop, or at least so with those who are unable to purchase a pump and engine. The bayou within a few days has fallen at least two feet, and the only thing left for the poor rice planter to hope for is a rainy season. Up to this time, however, the weather has continued quite dry. Irish potatoes have sold very well this year.

The Odd Fellows, "Pride of Jefferson," lodge, are coming to Thibodaux on an excursion trip on Saturday, June 7, returning the next day, by way of Louisiana and Texas railroad. A grand parade with the Odd Fellows "Pride of Thibodaux" will take place on the arrival of the train. On the 8th of the same month is the day fixed for a grand basket meeting and baptism at Calvary church. Revs. M. Dale, I. R. V. Thomas, E. Williams, M. Dyer and Wm. Smith are the ministers that are coming from New Orleans. Every one that can walk or ride is coming to hear them, and if the weather is bright on that day the church will not afford room for the gathering. Preparations are therefore being made to have the services out in the churchyard.

The Sunday-school is prospering. We have 82 scholars enrolled with a good average attendance. Under the supervision of superintendent T. F. Chinn it could hardly be otherwise. A few Sundays since Rev Chinn entered his thirty-fourth year, and it was pleasing to see how all the little ones honored their teacher. Some with a bouquet and others with a cake, and soon he had more than he could well carry home at one time. On the 6th of this month an exhibition of the Sunday-school was given, which afforded much pleasure to both old and young, and now their little treasury is $18 better off, with which books are to be purchased. The Sunday-school requests you to give the following resolution publication:

Resolved, That the Sunday-school tender their sincere thanks to Rev. Chinn for his kind care over us, and for the many efforts made by him to promote the interest of the Sunday-school.

Yours, A.

The Molestation of Ministers.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and their publication in all our Church papers was requested:

Whereas, We have been credibly informed that recently, in the State of Arkansas, one of the presiding elders and one of the pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Church were arrested by civil officers without any accusation of crime having been made against them; that the former was handcuffed and searched with circumstances of especial indignity, and that the latter was so alarmed and injured as subsequently to die of wounds and exposure; and that this violence occurred to them while in the faithful and inoffensive prosecution of their ministry among the colored people, to which service they had been appointed, and, as we have reasons to believe, in order to deter them from this ministry; and whereas, in other parts of the South, our ministers have sometimes been subjected to threats and personal injuring, greatly obstructive of the work assigned to them; therefore, be it.

Resolved, 1. That the facts thus recited are regarded, we believe, by the entire Church with profound sorrow and indignation; that they are in flagrant violation of the religious liberties guaranteed to us, in common with our fellow-citizens, by the Constitution of the United States; and that we hereby solemnly claim from the proper civil authorities, in behalf of all our ministers, adequate protection against such injuries.

2. That to all our brethren who thus suffer persecution for the sake of Christ and his despised poor, we tender our heart-felt sympathy; in all their sorrow we are grieved, and we believe that, even more, the great Head of the Church sympathizes with these his suffering members.

3. That we exhort our brethren in the South to continue their ministry with all fidelity, declaring the whole counsel of God, yet avoiding all unnecessary offense, and bearing patiently all oppositions and sufferings for Christ's sake; and we invoke for them the continued sympathy and earnest prayers of the whole Church.

By order and in behalf of the Board of Bishops,

WILLIAM L. HARRIS, Sec'y.

Wheeling, W. V., May 20, 1879.

General News Items.

Ground for the Canada Pacific railway was broken at Winipeg.

The workingmen's State convention of California elected Dennis Kearny, president.

500 Caucasian mountaineers who revolted during the late war have been exiled to Perm.

The Pope declares that purely civil marriages are destitute of honest or sacred bonds.

The Greenback convention of Maine nominated Joseph H. Smith, of Oldtown, for governor.

Gen. Guseman Blanco took the oath of office as provisional president of Venezuela, May 12.

The German government will probably compel all railroads of the empire to adopt uniform rates.

Prof. James Orton Woodruff, projector of the scientific expedition, died in New York of brain disease.

The Ohio greenback convention nominated Gen. A. S. Piatt for governor; Hugo Pryor for lieutenant governor.

A British man-of-war has been sent to Mozambique to co-operate with the Portuguese for the suppression of the slave trade.

The house committee on public buildings will examine and report on a bill to establish a national hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

The river Po has made a breach in its embankment between the village of Sermide and the market town of Revere. Damage very serious.

M. De Lesseps will shortly issue a prospectus inviting subscriptions to the Panama canal project, and will go to the isthmus himself, in September. The United States delegates are disappointed at the rejection of the Nicaraguan route.

President Guiliermo submitted to Congress a proposition to establish a free trade with the United States, and admit all American produce into San Domingo duty free, provided the United States grants the same privilege to San Domingo produce. Congress was discussing the proposal, and if approved, a special envoy would be at once dispatched to Washington.

Official reports from Cashmere say it is impossible to exaggerate the distress famine is causing there. The maharajah of this province, at the urgent request of the viceroy of India, is proceeding to Serinague, the capital city of Cashmere, to superintend the organization of relief. Three thousand five hundred tons of grain are now in transit to the valley of Cashmere.

The Democrats of Ohio nominated Thomas Ewing for governor. A. V. Rice, lieutenant governor; Anthony Howells, treasurer; W. J. Gilmore, supreme judge; S. Pillars, attorney general. They assert that President Hayes, by interposing vetoes to defeat constitutional and well considered legislation has disregarded the intention of the framers of the constitution and the wishes and welfare of the people; that it is the sense of the Democracy of Ohio that not a dollar should be appropriated by Congress to pay soldiers, marshals or supervisors to interfere with elections.

How Kansas Receives the Refugees.

A Kansas correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Lawrence May 15th says:

The refugee camp at Lawrence is nearly deserted. Country homes have absorbed it, and the spot which the exiles made historic may soon be consecrated as a place of mourning sacred to the use of those prophets of the unnumbered ills that were to befall the country in consequence of the arrival of these hordes of paupers. From Topeka this morning came the intelligence that there were now on file with committee applications for 500 more refugees than could be supplied, and every mail brings letters calling for from one to twenty-five. Really, Kansas must be furnished, either from the South or some other point of the compass, with a new sensation. The Democratic Othello's occupation of painting black starvation is nearly gone, and forlorn reporters will rake in vain among the dead ashes of the extinct camp-fires for soul-harrowing items with which to distract and torment the people.

Wyandotte to-day sends word to the Relief Committee of Lawrence: "Our refugees are all supplied with homes. There is a surplus of [illegible] in our treasury; do you need the funds?"

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1879.

Rev. Christopher Hunt has united with the Presbyterian Church. He was received into the ministry of that church at the late session of the Louisiana Presbytery.

The friends of public education should know that the abolition of the office of State Superintendent of Public Education means the disintegration and deterioration of the public school system. They should firmly protest against it.

Rev. J. W. Bowen A. B., who graduated at the New Orleans University last year, and has been teaching and studying the past year in the Central Tennessee College at Nashville, is now at home in this city spending his vacation.

A new paper, the Sunday Morning Gem, made its first appearance on the 8th inst from No. 106 Camp street. It is printed on tinted paper, and is a neat specimen of typograpy. The editorials are [illegible] and lively, and the light reading matter carefully selected.

The preachers of the Louisiana Conference at their last session [illegible] all subscribed money to and in support of Revs. Scott Chinn and Robert Hodge, who are on the [illegible] list. The brethren [illegible] please send in their subscriptions in whole or in part at once to Rev. Henry Green.

Commencement Week, New Orleans University.

We noticed last week the closing exercises of this institution, and [illegible] give more extended notes.

The annual sermon, by Rev. J. [illegible], D. D., of the M. E. [illegible] South, was eloquent and [illegible]. He preached it to a [illegible] congregation in Union Chapel. [illegible] lecture before the Theological [illegible] by Rev. G. R. Bristor, A. [illegible] delivered on Wednesday [illegible] in Wesley Chapel. The lecturer discussed the object of the [illegible] ministry in an attractive [illegible] manner. He dwelt especially on the singleness of purpose [illegible] which a man called of [illegible] should enter upon [illegible]

[illegible] night Wesley Chapel [illegible] with people to hear [illegible] ex-Governor Foote, [illegible] who is now di[illegible] of the United States Mint in [illegible]. The Governor spoke on [illegible] of education, [illegible] on its ad[illegible] necessity to the [illegible] of all people, [illegible] the colored people [illegible] present situ[illegible] hopefully of [illegible]. His ad[illegible] throughout [illegible] and [illegible]. We hope the [illegible] in pamph[illegible] Governor had [illegible] Gen. John [illegible] Tyler, was [illegible] few moments, [illegible] connected with [illegible] disease. [illegible] occurred the [illegible] We give the [illegible] follows:

[illegible]

The Renaissance.

The Renaissance, which was the forerunner of the Reformation, is the name given to those two or three generations which existed before the time of Luther. The word is more extensive than this, going beyond the time of Luther. But for convenience we mark the Renaissance definitely off from the Reformation. During that time men began to think for themselves. Instead of being the mental slaves of a corrupt church, some began to use the reasoning faculty which had so long been dormant. A great revival of learning took place. The classics were studied more scientifically and more closely, the manuscripts of ancient writers were discovered and collected. The foundations of physical science were laid. Gradually a sense of popular freedom and a dim foreshadowing of the rights of man dawned upon the people.

The event which more than all others helped along the movement of knowledge and liberty was the invention of printing by Gutenberg in 1440. Though this glorious heaven-taught invention has been used for the worst of purposes, on the whole, the benefit of printing has far outweighed the evils resulting from it. The gain to the world of the printing press may be faintly estimated by the significant fact that between the years 1471 and 1478, a period of seven years, there were no less than six translations of the Bible from the Vulgate (Latin) into English. It was during the Renaissance period that America was discovered (1492,) the Cape of Good Hope rounded (1497) and the Solar System explained by Copernicus, 1507.

These facts opened men's minds exceedingly—just as travel in foreign lands expands men's sympathies, or at least diminishes their prejudices and bigotry. Men were becoming more human, and less priestly or clerical in the time of the Renaissance. That period, as Michelet says, was emphatically "the discovery of the world and of man. During the middle ages man had lived in a cowl. He had not seen the beauty of the world, or had seen it only to cross himself and turn aside to tell his beads and pray. Like St. Bernard traveling along the shores of the Lake Leman and noticing neither the azure of the waters, nor the luxuriance of the vines, nor the radiance of the mountains with their robe of sun and snow; but bending a thought-burdened forehead over the neck of his mule," so had the noblest and the best of those dark ages lived. Beauty they thought a snare, and pleasure a sin; abstinence and mortification were the rules of life. "The Renaissance shattered and destroyed these notions." It was "the liberation of humanity from a dungeon, a double discovery of the outer and the inner world."

Superstition and formalism were vanishing before the outburst of energy, learning, and thought that was breaking like a flood of light over the intellectual world. In the Middle Ages there had been no questioning of the scriptures and, therefore, no studying of them. But the Renaissance started things in a new course; so that ultimately the "believe all" of Romanism was exchanged for the "examine all" of Protestants. One of the chief scholars of those days was Erasmus. Few, if any, did so much as Erasmus to help on the study of the ancient classics, the Greek and Latin authors, and to revive learning in general. He was perhaps the greatest of the classic revivalists. It is said of him that he laid the egg of the Reformation, and Luther hatched it. He certainly did help to lay the egg of the Reformation by doing so much to extend the knowledge of the Latin, Greek and other tongues. The knowledge of the languages in which the Bible was written was a deadly blow to the power of the priest. Erasmus was too cowardly, too cringing, however, for a Reformer though he saw how much the church stood in need of Reformation and satirized the clergy severely. "Even man" said he "hath not the courage requisite to make a martyr; and I am afraid that if I were put to the [illegible] I should imitate St. Peter." [illegible] he was very influential in helping to overthrow Popery. In 1516 he published a Greek and Latin [illegible] Testament. What could be [illegible] to happen from this but [illegible] Bible would be better [illegible], and therefore priestcraft [illegible] be!

[illegible] this [illegible] of [illegible] so [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible]

Cuban Slavery---When Will It End.

"The Cortes are about taking steps to abolish slavery in Cuba"—is a cheerful item by telegraph from Spain.

These steps towards abolishing slavery in Cuba are very like the frog in the fable which was in the bottom of a forty foot well. He took steps to get out. He jumped every day three feet upward, and fell back two. It was a curious problem as to how long he would be in jumping out.

There were ten years of the bloodiest and most wasteful war of modern times in Cuba when Martinos Campos was sent out. Eighty-five thousand young men from Spain had died by the bayonet, exposure and fever, and half as many more of native Cubans and slaves, who were promised freedom if they took arms. Untold wealth had been sacrificed in the burning of valuable sugar estates with their mills and machinery, desolating the fairest portions of the island. From Santo Espiritu, to Gibara in the central department,—a hundred and fifty miles in extent, one could ride over the once most flourishing portion of the country without meeting with a plantation not burnt and destroyed.

Despairing of putting an end to the war, and exhausted in men and resources, Campos, profiting by the failures of the old programme, called a halt, offered amnesty to the leaders, and bought them off by large sums in gold, with permission to travel for their health, and return at their leisure. The promise of representation in the Cortes, and a hint at possible autonomy in the government of the island, also aided to secure a temporary peace. The slaves who had fought in the Cuban army were set free,—but the loyal negroes who remained faithful to the government and their masters, were left in bondage! It is strange that they could not understand this method of paying them for their fidelity!

Now we see a renewal of this fight, the burning and destruction of sugar estates, and the old guerrilla warfare renewed under new leaders, and a more extended destruction than ever before. It is the last effort of the betrayed and outraged slaves for freedom. They have heard the words of O'Connell calling to them out of the blood and smoke and terror of a ten years' war—in which they stood passive.

"Hereditary bondmen, know ye not who would be free themselves must strike the blow!"

We lament the fatuity of a nation which thus shuts its eyes upon history, and provokes its own doom; but in every struggle of humanity to throw off the yoke of the uppressor, we say,—God defend the right!

A Colored Man Admitted to the Bar.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 8th 1878.

DEAR EDITOR—Enclosed you will find slips clipped from the Express, describing the admission of a young man of color to the practice of law. I am satisfied that the exodus of the colored people from the South, will cause the whites to be just to induce them to stay. The young man is about 22 or 23 years of age, very dark, a good scholar, gentlemanly and polite in his bearing. He has already got a case in the District Court, over which Judge Noonan presides. Extract from the Express:

Quite an interest was taken yesterday morning in the examination of George W. Freemont, a young colored man who had made application to the court for the privilege of practicing at this bar. The test to which Freemont was put was rather severe, and the intelligent manner in which he responded to the questions put was the occasion of no little surprise. In answer to the question by Mr. Shook, one of the committee, as to how long he he had been reading law, he stated that he had been engaged doing so for about six years. He had read for three years in Wisconsin and three in Texas. After a thorough examination, the committee submitted following report;

To the Hon. George H. Noonan:

Your committee appointed to examine the applicant, G. W. Freemont, who seeks admission to the bar, respectfully report:

That we have examined the applicant in open court, and find him sufficiently learned in the law to entitle him to admission to the practice of the law, and recommend that he be admitted by your honor to the practice of the law.

N. O. GREEN,
J. R. MASON,
JNO. R. SHOOK.
Committee.

Col. Upson, our member of congress, Col. J. H. McLeary and other prominent democratic attorneys, gave him the use of their libraries, and encouraged him in many ways.

A. E. NORRIS.

Love, faith, patience—the three essentials to a happy life.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. C. L. Crump, Batesville: "I received 18 into full membership."

E. S. Scales, Greenwood: "Little Peyton Strong gained the gold pen by reciting 118 verses in Sabbath-school."

Rev. M. Brown, Garlandsville: "The churches on my work are in a prosperous condition. Bro. Jack Carter, local preacher, died recently."

B. F. Donahoe, Beauregard: "There is much talk about the exodus here. A few have gone, and others may go. May God prosper them."

Rev. N. Cannon, Moss Point: "Eleven joined the church, three conversions, eight backsliders reclaimed. The church is greatly revived."

John L. Wilson, Coldwater: "Our hearts were filled with sadness when we learned the death of Bishop Ames. We are preparing for a Sabbath-school picnic."

Rev. James Ellis, Roebuck: "At our basket meeting $54.50 was raised to pay the debt of the church. Bros. S. Campbell, S. Harris, Robert and Steward assisted me."

A. W. Wright, Union Grove circuit: "When I came to this appointment I found the Sunday-schools almost dead. After preaching and consultation with parents there are now schools all over the work, with over 200 in average attendance."

Rev. P. E. Kirkland, French Camp: "My churches are all progressing well. I have fully aroused them to the sense of their duty. I have tried to enthuse into them a feeling of condemnation, that they might repent and come to Christ. On the 25th inst. 5 children and one adult were baptized; accessions this year, 17. God bless the ADVOCATE, it is the herald of freedom."

Rev. P. Jamison, Shubuta: "On the 23d we had a Sunday school celebration. About 150 marched in procession from the church to the grounds, and received words of praise from the whites of the town. Rev. Weems, pastor of the M. E. Church South, was invited, and delivered a beautiful address. We closed the day with hearts full of glee. Superintendent Watkins is encouraged."

Rev. J. H. Parker, Pickens: "My church is in fair standing. There has been some disturbance about the exodus of the people to Kansas. We celebrated in remembrance of the birthday of our freedom, May 7th. Several white brethren of the M. E. Church South were present, and called upon to say something, and they did so. Bro. J. F. Tye, a steward of the Church South, made a splendid speech in the way of encouragement of efforts to train the young men. We had an excellent dinner for all; there were over 300 present. I organized the Sunday-school at Conparle City on my visit there with 81 pupils, and Mr. Terry, superintendent and Wm. Lewis assistant. As that kind-hearted Christian gentleman, Col. Tye, sat and spoke under our Sunday-school banner May 7th, I hope he may live many days on earth, and finally reach Heaven."

TEXAS.

W. M. McKenzie, Navasota: "I have received eight into full membership this quarter."

Rev. Abner Thomas, Bryan: "Thirty in Sabbath-school. Sister Patty Jefferson is the leading teacher."

Rev. Jeremiah Smith, Huntsville: "Accessions to the church this quarter, 4; Sunday-school increasing."

Rev. A. Williams, Kildaro: "Elder Rippeto held conference at Ferrell's chapel; 5 were added to the church. We are trying to build a new church at this place."

Henry Christmas, New Fountain: "Times have been very hard out here; but by the help of the Lord I will try and do all I can for the conference school and the benevolent collection."

C. Hart, West Point: "Our new church is completed. Elder Gates preached the dedication sermon on Sunday. At 3 p. m. sacrament was administered to 65 persons. The whole neighborhood is turned toward us. We were assisted by $100 from the Church Extension Society, and feel thankful to the church that helps her people. We have no debt. Pray for us."

Rev. Walter Ripetoe, P. E., Marshall: "I was not encouraged by my first visit over the district, but on my second round clouds seemed to have moved away. Stewards have, however, neglected to take collections in the absence of a preacher, and have not been careful in keeping records of the disposition of church moneys. I hope to remove such obstacles to the growth of confidence, by better organization and discipline."

James Henderson, Corpus Christi: "We have neither prosperity nor members in Corpus Christi, but there is a small church ten miles away in the country, with five members and a Sabbath-school of seven. There are 600 colored people in the place, but our church has never been rightly represented. All churches ought to force an educated ministry."

M. B. Powell, Nockenut: "Rev. W. H. Davis has been with us three years. His time will soon be out and he must leave us. He has done good work among us. He found an old log cabin, daubed with clay, and now there is a pine building 20 feet wide and 40 feet long, worth $1000. At Clato he found an old log cabin, with one end out; the new building is worth $500. Rev. Davis has exhorted, and places have been built up for the Lord."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. Frank Walker, Coushatta: "Have had a great revival in my church; 26 converts."

H. J. Wright, Alexandria: "Sister Lou Wallace, the beloved wife of Rev. Horace Wallace, has been confined to her sick-bed for over a week. We entertained fears of losing her last week, but she is with us yet. We thank God that she is getting better. In the church she is a worker—a good fighter for Christ Jesus."

Rev. Cortes Thompson, Baton Rouge: "We had a protracted meeting during the past two weeks, of which we are proud. It was conducted by Bro. Wm. Smith and myself. Twelve were converted and 30 joined on probation. The church is in a good financial condition; $135 were raised for repairs, and we propose to complete them within a few months."

TENNESSEE.

S. B. Danly, Capleville. "We are doing tolerably well with our school. The pastor is a faithful Sunday-school worker."

Rev. A. Phillips, McMinnville: "A protracted meeting has revived the church; 8 conversions, 14 additions. Elder Manson remained with us a week. Bros. Brooks and Martin also assisted."

ARKANSAS.

Rev. A. J. Phillips, Van Buren: "I am now in the midst of a protracted meeting. The spiritual interest of the church is being awakened. Two have been received into full connection and 13 on probation, and last night there were two conversions. The Sabbath-school is still increasing. The financial condition of the church is being revived."

Letter from Austin, Texas.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 24, 1878.

DEAR EDITOR—There was an article published in the SOUTHWESTERN. Febuary 27, stating that Rev. Mack Henson left Victoria February 1st, 1879, for Austin, and arrived on the 4th with his wife and children, and was met by a few smiling faces but a good many shy and cold ones. He stated that it appears that the establishing of a new charge here is met with determined opposition by those so styled as leaders and officials. I am sorry that he was disappointed. He came to Austin, I suppose, half frozen, and did not wait until the ice thawed from around him before he commenced writing to the SOUUHWESTERN. We, at that time, had raised and paid about $60, and up to this have paid into the treasury $135. I am prepared to say that there is no opposition to him here with our church members nor its friends. Now, Mr. Editor, with Christian love towards Rev. Mack Henson, please publish this letter. The officials of the church have felt sore ever since the publication of Rev. M. Henson's letter, and we feel that it is our duty to correct his statements. This letter is written by the request of the officials. I remain truly yours in Christ,

J. W. ALEXANDER.

The West Tennessee Preparatory School.

The West Tennessee Preparatory School closes its first session for this year on the 13th and 14th of June, 1879. The examination will commence on Friday the 13th, at 9 o'clock a. m., and the exhibition at 8:30 p. m. On Saturday a grand pic-nic will be given. Addresses will be made by Revs. H. Primm and Dr. G. W. McKinney, Dr. D. L. Key and others. This school has proved a great success this session, to the educational cause of our people, and bids fairer for the future than ever before. The attendance this session has been 43. There have been several lectures on the great cause of education by the Revs. C. W. Woods, W. S. Butler, H. Primm, Dr. G. W. McKinney and Samuel Young, of the Central Tennessee College.

JESSE P. PRICE.

Foreign Missions.

Rev. R. Stephens, late of our mission in Mexico, arrived in New York lately.

RUPERT'S LAND.—In the diocese of the Church of England in Rupert's Land, says the Bishop of that country; "There has not been a mission where a clergyman has previously worked in which the next generation has not become to a large extent Christians." He adds: "there seems no limit in Rupert's Land to the success God vouchsafes, but what we make ourselves."

LIBERIA—Our latest information is up to April 4. Bro. Kellogg says: "My general health is in excellent condition. I call myself in good health." It seems that they have a speck of trouble in their conference that is sometimes known in the home work. Bro. K. says: "Two of the brethren have not gone to their work—otherwise the work is in good condition." We were glad of an opportunity in the mission rooms to give a right hearty greeting to Rev. Mr. Day, just arrived from Muhlenburg, Liberia, for we owe to him and his wife the profoundest respect and love for their quick, persistent and tender attention to our sick missionaries.

INDIA—The letters of our missionaries show that the effects of the famine are still very burdensome upon them. Multitudes of the people being reduced to the lowest extreme, and ready to do anything for daily food." God's judgments have been and are still abroad in all the land. He only knows the end. The harvest now being reaped is above one-half a crop, for which we feel thankful. We have a great family of orphan boys—263—most of them small. They, with so much other work, are a great care, but if we can succeed in training them right, they will bless many parts of this country.

WHAT ARE WE DOING FOR CHINA? The Church of England has 23,300 clergy, and for the evangelization of China she sends one in a thousand of these, or one missionary to 15½ millions of people. The British Congregationalists number 2500 and they are represented by a little less than one for each hundred, or 23 missionaries; or one to 15½ millions. The English Presbyterians have about one missionary to 13 millions (28 missionaries). The Wesleyans, with over 1900 ministers and 1400 local preachers, have 20 missionaries in China, or one to each 18 millions. The English Baptists have about as many ministers as the Wesleyans, and as they have but two missionaries in China it makes one for about 180 millions. The Church of England gives £18,000 annually to China, but that is not over 30 shillings ($7 50) to the congregation. The London Missionary Society gives £10,529 to China, but that is less than they often expend on a single chapel in England. The Wesleyan Missionary Society give £6238, but if each Wesleyan church member put an English half penny once a month into this treasury, it would amount to more than this. The Baptists contribute £491 for China, but a ha' penny a year from each member would amount to more that that. Thus an English ministry in substance argues with British Christians, to make them, as Mr. Spurgeon has said, "hear the wail of the dying millions in China." What if each pastor were to make a similar calculation and lay it before his people? Of the whole amount contributed by each of our congregations, about one-seventeenth goes to China. If your congregation average seventeen cents per member to the Missionary Society, it is therefore giving but one cent per year per member for the evangelization of one third of the race. It is easy for each pastor to make similar calculations.

TURKEY—Rev. S. Thomoff writes from Tirnova, Bulgaria, under date of March 31, saying: "Up to last Sunday I held regularly a preaching service and advertised it among the people as much as I could. Some of the deputies attended, among whom was the vice governor of Varna. We have five regular hearers, all of which I have reason to believe are converted. In future we shall hold two preaching services every Sunday and a prayer-meeting every Wednesday evening. Last Sunday, March 30, we had an encouraging congregation of about 20 hearers, about half of whom were boys belonging to the school in Tirnova. I have striven to explain in its fullness the subject of religious liberty to some of the deputies. Most of them, I rejoice to say, are in favor of seeing Bulgaria enjoy the blessings of such liberty. All the interest now centers on the National Assembly. The selfish and unjust policy of England has not only alienated the Bulgarians from that power, but to some extent has prejudiced the minds of some against Protestantism. Judging from the preaching which they hear from Evangelical Protestants, they take it for granted that all Protestant governments ought to be guided by the pure principles of the Gospel. The Bulgarians will never forget the injustice done them by England until a complete change of policy takes place."

Letter from Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Texas, May 27, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—As it has been quite a season since you have heard from my work, I ask space in your columns to state a few facts concerning it. A little more than a year ago I was placed by the conference in charge of the Columbus circuit. When I received it there were only 120 full members; now there are 180, and 25 probationers. There was one Sunday-school; now there are five, all in a prosperous condition. This branch of the work has received special attention, and I feel that the Blessed Master is richly rewarding the servant with much success. I went to one of my points on Thursday (Alexander's Point) and the result was this: Three members from the Baptist church were received into full connection, 13 probationers, 26 children and one adult were baptized, and the organization of a good Sabbath-school, numbering fifty-six. Revs. G. W. Smith, Nathan Axel and R. H. Harbert, ministers of our church, assisted me in the work. Great good will result from this school. Books and catechisms were left to supply their wants. We need the lesson papers very much, in order that we may have a system in our school. Although this is my second year in the ministry, I feel that the Lord has greatly crowned my efforts with success, and I look trustingly in the future and pray that I may have even more success in the remainder of the year than I have had in the past; that I may live long and do great good for my blessed Savior is my earnest prayer.

Yours truly,

GRANVILLE NORMAN.

Grant and Tilden.

The New York Times of April 10th publishes thirty-two colums of reports from correspondents in every part of the United States. The prevailing sentiment among all classes of Republicans is for Gen. Grant as their Presidential candidate for 1880; and a majority of Democrats are for Mr. Tilden. The Times says:

It may be stated generally that out of 157 points from which advices have been received, Gen. Grant is the expressed choice of 130, Senator Blaine 10, and that Messrs. Washburn, Garfield, Sherman, Conkling, Edmunds, and Chandler follow in the order named. The Democrats in 98 of the 157 districts prefer Tilden, Thurman comes next with 23 districts, Bayard with 11, and Hendricks and Hancock bring up the rear. Tilden, if the Democratic Convention were held to-morrow, seems sure of the votes of not less than 21 of the 38 States.

The cry for Grant in the Republican Party does not come merely from office-holders, past, present, or prospective, though that class is substantially a unit in his favor, and though many of the most prominent supporters of President Hayes seem to be preparing for the return of Mr. Haye's predecessor. It is emphatically a popular cry—one that may grow more audible and emphatic under the prompting of political managers, but one which they have had much less than usual share in creating.

Benevolent Collections, Austin District.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 28th 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—As the corresponding secretary of the Missionary Society, Church Extension Society and Freedman's Aid Society has written to each one of the presiding elders in the West Texas conference, notifying them of the amount of money to be raised, the elders have met and apportioned for each district. Austin district must raise $231, which I have apportioned as follows:

	Miss. Society.	C. Ex. Society.	F. Aid Society.	Bishops' Fund.
Austin, Wesley Chapel	$35 00	$18 00	$3 00	$5 00
Simpson Church	3 00	2 00	1 50	5 00
Austin Circuit	3 00	2 00	1 50	5 00
Georgetown	4 00	3 00	1 50	50
Round Rock	1 00	2 00	—	25
Taylorville	3 00	2 00	50	25
Lampasas	2 00	1 00	—	—
Rockdale & Davilla	4 00	2 00	3 00	50
Davilla Mission	2 50	1 50	1 00	25
Belton	5 00	4 00	2 00	1 00
Port Sullivan	4 00	3 00	—	50
Calvert	9 00	8 00	4 00	1 50
Giddings	2 50	3 00	1 00	25
Cunningham	5 00	4 00	2 00	25
La Grange	9 00	8 00	2 00	1 00
La Grange circuit	2 70	2 00	15	50
Bastrop	1 50	1 50	25	25
Fayetteville	3 00	1 00	25	25
West Point	3 50	1 50	1 50	25

Now I hope every preacher will not fail in raising the amounts, or taking up the collection on children's day as the discipline demands.

S. GATES, P. E.

God's Hand in the Exodus.

BY W. F. MALLALIEU, D. D.

To attempt to count out the Almighty and to deny his participation in all human affairs is the vainest folly of wicked men. Personally present, interested and active, he interferes continually for the accomplishment of the magnificent plans which he has originated for the development of humanity. Ignore the fact of God's supervision and control, and history becomes a confusion of mysteries. We may not see the end from the beginning, we may not be able to measure the significance of facts transpiring about us, but none the less is it apparent that an all-wise and omnipotent Being guides the activities of men and nations.

No statesman, no philosopher can comprehend the ultimate consequences of that vast migration of the race by which, during the last sixty years, more than nine millions of people have left their homes in Europe, and have landed upon the shores of the new world. We may know something of the causes and the magnitude of this movement the most wonderful of its kind which history records, but no human thought can foretell its influence upon the future of universal humanity. Evidently God is an active factor in this vast, silent, incomprehensible tide of life that moves across ocean and continent with irresistible force; and just as manifestly God is in the present movement of the dusky millions of the South. It is the breath of the Almighty that giveth life, and a new life has been breathed into those long humiliated souls. It is the Spirit's influence that brings order out of chaos, and the confusion of the South-land at last feels the imminent presence of that power that gave life and form and beauty to an empty and ungarnished world. The very fact that the faces of millions of the oppressed are at this hour turned northward, as though God himself were calling them from thence, or as though they caught some hope-inspiring glimpse of the grey dawn of that morning for which they have been so long waiting and praying, shows that the movement is of the Almighty. It is not the result of agitation, of newspaper excitement, of cunning political log-rolling; it is an inspiration.

Years ago, the purpose of the God of heaven and earth to bring deliverance to the victims of American slavery was clearly enough manifested to all sensible people. As a nation, we have stood in his way, and ventured to oppose his plans; and it has cost us half a million lives of our best and bravest—the first-born, or the equivalent—in every family throughout the land; and still, since the day of darkness and death we have refused to fulfill our pledges, and secure simple justice to the long-suffering bondman. But God has not forgotten him, though the politicians of the land have; and the same arm of power that opened a way for his people through the depths of the Red Sea, can find a way to bring deliverance to those who now cry to him for help in their time of need.

The promises of men who have crushed these people, and who have violated their pledges a hundred times, will not hinder the outgoing of these new pilgrims, who have the exaltation of soul and the dauntless purpose all men feel who aspire for liberty. The reckless foes of God and man may attempt to block up the highways and byways of travel, and, shot-gun in hand, forbid the exit of these home-seekers who flee from proscription and tyranny worse than death; but, guided by the unerring instinct of freedom, and the overshadowing hand of God, they will find at length the land of rest and promise.

True, there may be sufferings in store for them. They may shiver with cold, and burn with fever, and starve for want of bread, and die, many of them, before they achieve that for which they long have prayed; but in this they will only pass through the experience of others who have dared to venture all for the grand boon of liberty. They stand to-day as the legitimate and not unworthy successors of the grandest and most heroic men and women who have ever lived; and the day will come, in the not distant future, when the world will point to them as the noblest illustration of long-suffering and, at length, triumphant vindicators of the inherent rights of man, all because the hand of God has pointed out the way for their willing feet.—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Factory Facts.

Close confinement, careful attention to all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out doors or use Hop Bitters, made of the purest and best of remedies, and especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. None need suffer if they will use them freely. They cost but a trifle. See another column.

Sunday School.

June 15, 1879.—THE NEED OF GOD'S SPIRIT. Scripture.—Zech. 4: 1-14.

Golden Text.—"Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts."—Zech. 4: 6.

Topic.—Prevailing through the Holy Spirit. [Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher.

Prefactory.—For twelve years the work on the temple had been abandoned on account of an injunction issued by the king. The people lost their enthusiasm of building, and lapsed into indifference. From lethargy they were aroused by the exhortations of the the prophets Haggai and Zechariah. Inspired by them, the work was resumed, and carried on to completion. In chapter i-vi. there is placed before us the series of visions that gave to Zechariah his authority. In vison i. God announces his intention to have mercy on Jerusalem, and his displeasure with the heathen nations. In vision ii. is represented the destruction of Israel's foes. In vision iii. is set forth the enlargement and security of Jerusalem, and the re-inheritance by the Lord of Judah. Vision iv. shows in dramatic symbolism that the sins which had been the cause of the troubles of the nation had been completely forgiven. Vision v., of our lesson, is a promise of such a communication of divine grace in the hearts of the people as would enable Zerubbabel to overcome every obstacle in the re-erection of the temple.

The Vision (1-3).—Throughout the whole succession of visions, one angel alone shifted the scenery of dreams, and acted as expounder of the wonderful sights that the prophet beheld. Zechariah, often having occasion to refer to him, speaks of him, as he does in the first verse of our lesson, as "the angel that talked with me."

There was the gold candlestick. It is plain enough that this was a suggestion of the golden candlestick of the taberancle, ten copies of which was placed in Solomon's temple. This, in addition, had upon its top a bowl, or reservoir [illegible] supply tubes from the reservoir to each lamp, and the olive [illegible] each side connected [illegible] of their branches with [illegible] bowl by means of two [illegible] Through these two [illegible] the olive trees kept [illegible] full of oil. The [illegible] then represented the [illegible] as in these latter [illegible] church. The [illegible] the fulness of [illegible] the forty nine [illegible] to them from the [illegible] the number and [illegible] by which divine [illegible] In the oil, of [illegible] the unction [illegible] Spirit. Matt. [illegible] 7: 26. In the [illegible] the candlestick, [illegible] of [illegible] the Lord Jesus [illegible] head of the [illegible] whose "fullness [illegible] and grace for [illegible] In the tab- [illegible] were not con- [illegible] upon the top [illegible] their sup- [illegible] of the [illegible] case they [illegible] ment [illegible] that "are [illegible] stand [illegible] earth." [illegible] not in- [illegible] church [illegible] the [illegible] for its [illegible] receive [illegible] does, [illegible] that [illegible] With [illegible]

It is not a prediction—it is a command. It should read: "Who art thou, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel became a plain!" The "mountain," of course, referred to the difficulties which were lying in the way of Zerubbabel in discouraging magnitude. These were commanded to become a plain—utterly to remove. And to show what he means by that, the angel adds: "And he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it." The event itself was to be the proof of the truth of the words which he had spoken. The endorsement of fulfilment was for a particular purpose—that Zerubbabel might know, and through him the people, that the message had come from the Lord of hosts. "For who hath despised the day of small things?" The ancient men who had seen the glories of the first temple could not be persuaded that ever there could be one like it. Instead of rejoicing, they wept when the foundation of the second temple was laid. Ez. 3: 12. In their eyes, in comparison with it the second building was "as nothing." Hag. 2:3. Haggai severely rebuked them for this depreciation of the new house of worship, and declared, "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of hosts, and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of hosts." Hag. 2: 9. It does not do to despise God's day of small things. The gospel had a very unpromising beginning. In its outward manifestations it contained no prophecy of the magnitude of its future growth. It was, indeed, like a grain of mustard seed, "which indeed is the least of all seeds, but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs." Neither the enemies of God have occasion to rejoice, nor his friends to feel despondent, over his day of small things.

Letter from Alexandria, La.

DEAR EDITOR—We have just closed our second quarterly meeting. In consequence of the sad misfortune of our presiding elder—the death of his wife—he came to us a little earlier than was expected; his object being to expedite business that he might gain time to give some needed attention to his children. Our meeting was a good one—there was great rejoicing. Since last quarter we have witnessed a gracious season of outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Through His agency more than twenty have been added to the church and ten have professed religion. Memorial service for the late Bishop Amee, whose death we, in common with all the church, sincerely lament, was held June 1st at 8 p. m. The opening hymn was the 930th of our new collection. Suitable portions of scripture were read by the pastor, prayer was offered by the elder, after which the pastor read from the SOUTHWESTERN a biographical sketch of the Bishop's life; and both elder and pastor addressed the audience. The former, having been personally acquainted with the deceased Bishop, gave some very interesting facts connected with his life. J. F. M.

Alexandria, La., June 3, 1879.

Letter from Fairfield, Texas.

FAIRFIELD, Texas, May 26, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Please say to the great body to which I belong, that I am still gaining ground in the great vineyard of the Lord. I have had several accessions to the church this year, and a number of souls inquiring the way that leads to God. I found the Cotton Gin work in somewhat low spirits, but the Lord went with me to the work, and being assisted by highly esteemed local preachers, stewards and class-leaders, I succeeded in laying the foundation for lasting good. My local preachers are doing well. Bro. Thurman is a powerful helper. Bro. Ralph Burshy is an active, energetic class-leader, and cannot be dispensed with. Bro. [illegible] is another excellent helper. [illegible] being blessed with good leaders, [illegible] expect, by the help of God to render up a good report at the Annual Conference.

P. G. BROWN.

Marriages.

At the M. E. Church, by Rev. L. [illegible]art, Joe Tournel to Miss [illegible] Litvit.

[illegible] Kosciusko, Miss., June 1, Mr. [illegible] Comfort to Miss Jane Nu[illegible] Rev. L. R. Brown.

[illegible] the residence of the bride, [illegible] Miss., May 29, by [illegible] Mr. W. H. A. [illegible] Josephine Thompson.

[illegible] the residence of the bride, [illegible] June 6, Tom Mo[illegible] [illegible] Taylor. [illegible] was [illegible] greens.

[illegible] has a [illegible]

Letter from Lovelady, Texas.

LOVELADY, Houston Co., May 23, 1878.

DEAR EDITOR—On returning from Huntsville I was attacked by three or four white men, who asked me where I was going. I told them I was on my way home. They asked what was my regular buisuess at Huntsville. I told them I had been conducting a meeting there. They asked if I was a Methodist or a Baptist. I told them I was a Methodist preacher. They said "Get down off your horse, and we will make you a Baptist." I got down off my horse and, they took me and led me down to the Trinity river. Just as they started to carry me down to the water, a large snake bit two of them, and one fainted over the water. One said "I told you to let him alone." I got up on my horse saying "God bless you gentlemen" and left them." Please say that I am filled with a missionary spirit and shall go on preaching and teaching for Methodism. L. CALLOWAY.

The Business Man's Route.

Those who have traveled North and East two and three times a year, always take the Louisville route, as it furnishes to the traveler a smooth road free from dust, finer cars, better eating stations, greater speed and comfort, lower rates and quicker time than can be secured by any other route. The wonderful Mammoth Cave is near the line of this road, of which the late Hon. Bayard Taylor minister to the court of Berlin says: "The stars were all in their places as I walked back to the Hotel. I had been twelve hours under ground, in which time I had walked about twenty-four miles. I had lost a day, a day with its joyous morning, its vivid noon, its tempest, and its angry sunset of crimson and gold, but I had gained an age in a strange and hitherto unknown world—an age of wonderful experience, and an exhaustless store of sublime and lovely memories. Before taking a final leave of the Mammoth Cave, however, let me assure those who have followed me through it that no description can do justice to its sublimity, or present a fair picture of its manifold wonders. It is the greatest natural curiosity I have ever visited, Niagara not excepted, and he whose expeditions are not satisfied by its marvelous avenues, domes, and starry grottoes, must either be a fool or a demigod."

Thousands of people go North and East in pursuit of fine scenery, and pass by this grand work of nature, which they have never seen, and which affords as much amusement and mistery as any spot on earth. Geo. L. Cross, Southern Passenger Agent, under City Hotel, will give full and reliable information of this route, either by written or personal application to him.

Important Notice.

Any Sunday-school not now taking the Sunday-school Class-mate will on application by the pastor, stating the number of pupils outside of the primary class, receive a sufficient number of specimen copies for distribution that they may see what a beautiful and valuable paper it is. The same offer is made with regard to the Sunday School Advocate. Address PHILLIPS & HUNT, 805 Broadway, N. Y.

Deaths.

Two of my members died at the same time, and both in the full triumph of faith. Sister Ann Gaitwood said, "I will soon be where Jesus is. There is not a glimmer between me and him." Sister Ann Simes called her brothers to her bedside and told them to meet her in heaven. HENRY YORK, Pastor.

Oxford, Miss.

New Books.

From Wm. A. Pond & Co., Music Publishers, New York, we have received a new Sabbath School and Praise Book, entitled "The wrath of Gems," complied by V. T. Barnwell. The Hymns and Music, both old and new, are standard favorites. There are about one hundred and fifty different selections in the book, which is published in a most attractive style, and is about 25 per cent. cheaper than any other work of its class.

New Publications.

The Church and School for June, D. Cook, publisher, Chicago, is a fair number.

The Preacher and Homiletic Monthly for June is an interesting number. Among its contents are: "Not Yet," by Chas. F. Deems, D. D., LL. D.; "Witnessing for the Truth—The Overthrow of the Papacy," Part II., by Justin D. Fulton, D. D.; "Has Christ Risen?" by Rev. Canon Liddon, D. D.; "The Impotence of Science," address by [illegible] Sunderland, D. D.; "Paul's Anthropology," by Rev. Prof. A. J. Nelson; "Sons of God," by T. L. Cuyler, D. D.; "The Ethiopian Treasurer," by Wm. M. Taylor, D. D. This monthly must prove valuable to clergymen and theological students. Price, $2.50 per year; 25 cents single copy. Religious Newspaper Agency, New York.

With the July number Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine commences the sixth semi-annual volume; and both publisher and editor seem determined to spare no effort to render it superior to any similar publication. The 128 pages sparkle with literary and artistic gems; the illustrations number nearly 100. The opening article, by A. H. Guernsey, is on "The Ten Primative Persecutions," and should be read by all. A thoughtful article, "We Seek the Truth"; an impressive one on "Idle Words"; a sprightly one, "Around Rio de Janerio," and many others, will repay the reader. The department of fiction is attractive. "David Fleming's Forgiveness" is nearly concluded, and short stories are by popular writers, and very interesting and instructive. Mrs. Preston, Paul H. Hayne and other contribute original poems. There is an excellent sermon, and the Popular Exegesis, by the editor, who also, discusses timely topics and in "At Home and Abroad" a trustworthy view is given of movements in the religious world. The miscellany is comprehensive, entertaining, replete with instruction. The price of this valuable magazine is $3 a year; six months, $1,50; four months, $1. Address, Frank Leslie, 53, 55, and 57 Park Place New York.

The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending May 24 and 31 and June 7, respectively, contain the following articles: William Cobbett, and South Africa, Edinburgh Review; The Pathans of the North-west frontier of India, Blackwood; The Expedition of Phillip II to England, Fortnightly; Mauritius, and Dr. John Aiken, Fraser; Two Impostors of the Eighteenth Century, Cornhill; Mr. Gladstone's "Probability as the Guide of Conduct;" Mr. Goschen's "Cultivation of the Imagination;" The Melancholy of the Educated English, and Republican Intolerance in France, Spectator; The Evolution of Games, and Hard Up, Saturday Review; with continuation of Jean Ingelow's "Sarah de Berenger;" a story by Thomas Hardy, and the opening chapter of a new work by the author of "Patty;" and the usual poetical selections. For fifty-two such numbers (more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or Weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., publishers, Boston.

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity as an abnormal condition, many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and any agent that reduces fat is therefore suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not a healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement in strength, spirits and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by druggists.

A Wise Deacon.

"Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family so well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors running to us so long."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time and kept my family well and saved large doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us all well and able to work all the time, and I will warrant it has cost you and most of the neighbors one to two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time. I guess you'll take my medicine hereafter." See other column.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

NEW ORLEANS, June 9, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	—@11¼
Ordinary	—@11¼
Good Ordinary	—@12
Low Middling	—@12¼
Middling	—@12½
Good Middling	—@12¾
SUGAR—
Common	5½@ 5¾
Strictly Prime	6¼@ —
Yellow Clarified	6¾@ 7½
White	7½@ 8
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 27
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11½@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
LARD—
Refined, tierce	7 to 7½
Kegs and half barrels	7½ to 7¾
Buckets (refined)	7¾ to 8
MESS PORK—per bbl	$11 50
BACON—
Shoulders	4½@ —
Clear Rib Sides	5½@ —
Clear Sides	6 @ —
BEEF—♥ bbl.
Medium Western	9 50
Choice Extra Western	12 00
HAMS—
Ordinary	9 @ 9½
Choice	10 a 10½
BUTTER—
New York Creamery, choice	— to —
New York Dairy, fine	13 to 14
Western Creamery	22 to 23
Western Dairy	14 to 15

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates.

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n 10 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST

STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.

—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—

NEW NECKWEAR,

Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz.

EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.

☞ Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,

110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

n20 15t

☞ Caution to Dealers and Consumers. ☜

The great merit and perfect safety of the

INSURANCE OIL

have made it so popular that some persons are trying to palm off inferior oils on the community, by alleging that they are as good as Insurance Oil.

Consumers and Fair Dealers, who wish to use or sell the genuine Insurance Oil, are therefore cautioned not to buy any illuminating oil purporting to be Insurance Oil, unless sold by the Insurance Oil Tank Company, their Agents, or persons duly authorized by the Company.

To protect the people against imposition, every barrel and case of pure Insurance Oil is branded:

TRADE MARK
INSURANCE OIL
PAT. JAN. 5, 1875.

This trade mark is fully protected by United States Letters Patent, dated Jan. 5, 1875, and the proprietors are determined to prosecute, to the extent of the law, any attempts to infringe upon their rights, either by using this trade mark without their consent, or by selling other oils under the name of Insurance Oil.

THE INSURANCE OIL IS THE ONLY ILLUMINATING OIL THAT HAS THE FULL ENDORSEMENT OF THE LEADING INSURANCE COMPANIES OF EUROPE AND AMERICA.

Put up in best barrels and also in New Patent Faucet Cans.

Orders should be addressed

Insurance Oil Tank Company,

95 and 97 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.,

Or, the Branch Offices of the Company in

GALVESTON, HOTSTON and AUSTIN, TEXAS.

Plan of Episcopal Visitation, 1879.

[CHRONOLOGICAL.]

Conference.	Place.	Time.		Bishop.
Germany and Switzerland	Bremen	June	26	Wiley
Montana	Butte	July	3	Merrill
Sweden	Stockholm	"	10	Wiley
Utah	Provo	"	17	Merrill
Delaware	Cambridge	"	24	Scott
Norway	Stavanger	"	24	Wiley
Colorado	Pueblo	August	7	Merrill
Columbia River	Walla Walla	"	7	Haven
Oregon	Portland	"	20	Haven
Central German	New Albany	"	27	Simpson
Des Moines	Des Moines	"	27	Harris
Cincinnati	Urbana	Sept.	3	Simpson
St. Louis German	St. Louis	"	3	Bowman
Iowa	Burlington	"	3	Harris
N. W. Indiana	South Bend	"	3	Foster
S. E. Indiana	Lawrenceburgh	"	3	Peck
N. W. Swedish	Moline	"	4	Andrews
South California	Los Angelos	"	4	Haven
Detroit	Ann Arbor	"	10	Bowman
Michigan	Ionia	"	10	Foster
Southern Illinois	Salem	"	10	Andrews
Indiana	New Albany	"	10	Peck
Western German	St. Joseph	"	11	Harris
Central Ohio	Lima	"	17	Simpson
North Ohio	Wooster	"	17	Foster
Illinois	Jacksonville	"	17	Andrews
California	San Jose	"	17	Haven
Ohio	Gallipolis	"	24	Simpson
Erie	Mercer	"	24	Bowman
Upper Iowa	Davenport	"	24	Harris
East Ohio	Akron	"	24	Foster
Chicago German	Chicago	"	24	Andrews
West Wisconsin	La Crosse	"	24	Peck
Nevada	Winnemucca	"	25	Haven
Western Virginia	Morgantown	October	1	Simpson
Central New York	Cortland	"	1	Bowman
Wisconsin	Milwaukee	"	1	Andrews
Minnesota	Winona	"	1	Peck
North-West Iowa	Sioux City	"	2	Harris
Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh	"	8	Bowman
Nebraska	Lincoln	"	8	Harris
Genesee	Buffalo	"	8	Foster
Rock River	Chicago	"	8	Andrews
Central Illinois	Monmouth	"	8	Haven
Northwest German	St. Paul	"	8	Peck
Holston	Knoxville	"	15	Wiley
Foochow	Foochow	"	15
Georgia	Atlanta	Novem.	12	Scott
Alabama	Murphree's Valley	"	20	Scott
Austin	Dennison	"	20	Merrill
Tennessee	Lebanon	"	20	Wiley
Central Alabama	Hunteville	"	27	Scott
South German	Industry	"	27	Merrill
Central Tennessee	Nashville	"	27	Wiley
West Texas	Victoria	Decem.	3	Merrill
Savannah	Rome	"	4	Scott
South India	Allahabad	"	4
Texas	Galveston	"	10	Merrill
*Denmark	Copenhagen	July	2	Wiley
*Central China	Kiukiang	August	6
*North China	Pekiug	"	6
*New Mexico	La Junta	"	16	Merrill
*Arizona
*Bulgaria
*South America

*A mission not organized into an Annual Conference, but in which an "Annual Meeting" is held, a bishop presiding if present, and in his absence, the superintendent of the mission presiding. By order of the Board of Bishops, WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 20, 1879.

BOOKS

—FOR—

Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address

Phillips & Hunt,

39 Natchez Street,

New Orleans, La.

ELEGANTLY

Furnished Rooms,

WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.

123 Carondelet Street,

Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

DREW

THEOLOGICAL

Seminary.

Five departments of instruction. Full corps of Professors, aided by non-resident Teachers and Lecturers. Special and continuous attention given to SACRED ORATORY.

TUITION, Furnished Rooms and use of Library FREE.

New term begins Thursday, September 18.

For catalogue, rooms and special information, address

Prof. D. P. Kidder,

MADISON, NEW JERSEY.

n24 jul3 4t a o w

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Biskemore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Geddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.

jan1779-tf.

NEW EDITION.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED.

1928 Pages. 3000 Engravings.

Four Pages Colored Plates.

Now added, a SUPPLEMENT of over 4600 NEW WORDS and Meanings.

Including such as have come into use during the past fifteen years—many of which have never before found a place in any English dictionary.

ALSO ADDED, A NEW Biographical Dictionary of over 9700 NAMES of Noted Persons, ancient and modern, including many now living, giving Name, Pronunciation, Nationality, Profession and Date of each.

GET THE LATEST.

NEW EDITION contains a Supplement of over 4600 new words and meanings.
Each new word in Supplement has been selected and defined with great care.
With Biographical Dictionary, now added, of over 9700 names of Noted Persons.

GET THE BEST

Edition of the best Dictionary of the English Language ever published.
Definitions have always been conceded to be better than in any other Dictionary.
Illustrations, 3000, about three times as many as in any other Dictionary.
The Dict'y recommended by State Sup'ts of 35 States, and 50 College Presidents.
In Schools,—about 32,000 have been placed in the Public Schools in the U. S.
Only English Dictionary containing a Biographical Dictionary,—this gives the Name with Pronunciation, Nation, Profession and Date of over 9700 persons.

Published by G. & C. MERRIAM, Springfield, Ma.

ALSO

Webster's National Pictorial DICTIONARY.

1040 Pages Octavo. 600 Engravings.

Alcorn University,

Near RODNEY, MISS.

Thorough instruction in ENGLISH and the CLASSICS given.

TEXT BOOKS can be purchased at the University at WHOLESALE PRICES.

BOARD

In the MESS, and WASHING, only $1.25 per week.

Or if preferred

WASHING and FIRST-CLASS BOARD $2.00 per week.

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

All students coming to this place are requested to bring at least one blanket and a pillow.

☞ The regular packets R. E. Lee and Natchez bring students from

Vicksburg to Rodney for $3.

All who intend coming by that route, will write me to that effect, so that I may forward them a certificate to present to the clerk of the boat. Address

Rev. H. R. Revels,

RODNEY, MISS.

n24 je 15 3m

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed Increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

☞ IT IS ☜

180 Miles Shorter and 10½ Hours Quicker to Chicago.

112 Miles Shorter and 6½ Hours Quicker to St. Louis

☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE. ☜

And the ONLY LINE to LOUISVILLE and CINCINNATI.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections, Strictly First-class. The EATING HOUSES are entirely new, and the BEST IN THE SOUTH.

☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5:15 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Corner of Common.

F. Chandler,

General Passenger Agent.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Requisites.

—:o:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals, and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

☞ All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate — Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Class-mate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	50cts
The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.
The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be re-sent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,

—AND—

WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.

Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judical investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,

New Orleans, La.

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work, and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.

2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.

3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.

4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.

5. All for Christ: How the Christian may Obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fullness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have make this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

SEWING MACHINES

Cheap for Cash.

We have some Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,

New Orleans.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, take

HOP BITTERS.

Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take

HOP BITTERS.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take

HOP BITTERS.

If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.

HOP BITTERS.

It may save your life. It has saved [illegible]

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS

Give the most powerful, the [illegible] and best light known for Churches, Show Windows, Banks, [illegible] Picture Galleries, Theatres, [illegible] and elegant designs. Send [illegible] circular and estimate. A liberal [illegible] Churches and the trade. I. P. [illegible] Pearl street, New York.

Young Folks' Corner.

THE MAGIC KEY.

BY MRS. R. N. TURNER.

Did you ever hear, my children dear
Of a certain wonderful key?
When I was as young as any of you
The story was told unto me.
This magical key will open the heart
In a very mysterious way,
And consists in three little well-known words
Which you all have been taught to say—
If you please!

At school, at home, at work or at play,
Wherever you happen to be,
Whatever you want you're sure to obtain
By using this magical key.
I suppose it must reach to some secret spring
So deep and so far out of sight
We should not suspect it were there—till those words
So suddenly bring it to light—
If you please!

Now this is a jewel indeed to possess.
It is made of the purest of gold.
And who would not win, who would not wear,
This treasure of value untold?
Fashioned in beauty without and within,
All fair and all charming to see,
[illegible] we all can obtain it, if we only will,
This wonderful magical key—
If you please!
—Christian Union.

A Word to the Boys.

When I was just fifteen (writes [illegible] Spurgeon), I believed in the [illegible] Jesus, and joined the Church [illegible] Christ; and nothing on earth [illegible] please me more than to hear [illegible] those I am writing to had [illegible] led to do the same. It is [illegible] five years ago now, and I [illegible] never been sorry for what I [illegible] did, no, not even once. I [illegible] had plenty of time to think it [illegible], and many temptations to try [illegible] other course; and if I had [illegible] out that I had been deceived, [illegible] a gross blunder, I would [illegible] made a change before now, [illegible] would do my best to prevent [illegible] from falling into the same [illegible]. I will tell you boys, the [illegible] gave myself to the Lord [illegible] to be his servant was the [illegible] best day of my life. Then I [illegible] to be safe and to be happy; [illegible] found out the secret of living [illegible] had a worthy object for [illegible] exertions and an unfailing [illegible] for life's troubles. Be[illegible] I would wish every boy who [illegible] these lines to have a bright [illegible] light tread, a joyful heart, [illegible] spirit, I therefore [illegible] him to consider whether [illegible] follow my example, for [illegible] experience, and know [illegible]

[illegible] on, Boys.

[illegible] your tongue when you [illegible] to swear, lie or speak [illegible]

[illegible] your head when you [illegible] to steal, snatch, or [illegible]

[illegible] your feet when you [illegible] kicking, running [illegible] or pursuing the [illegible] crime.

[illegible] temper when you [illegible] or impatient up[illegible] with you [illegible] when evil [illegible] company, and [illegible] in their mirth, [illegible]

[illegible] good name at [illegible] of more value [illegible] fashionable [illegible]

[illegible] for it will [illegible] do you good [illegible]

[illegible] is above all [illegible] times and [illegible]

[illegible] character [illegible] your best [illegible]

[illegible] Armies.

[illegible]

"Elim"—Minister's Rest.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

Exodus xv. 27.—"And they came to Elim, and they encamped there by the waters."

This interesting enterprise originated some years ago with a few ladies who desired to provide a resting place for weary ministers of the Gospel, with their families; for theological students, temperance, and all other evangelical workers. During the past three seasons nearly three hundred guests have been entertained, representing over a dozen different denominations, from States as far north as Massachusetts, and as far South as Louisiana.

Changes have been made by which the accommodations will be rendered as attractive as possible, and a number of the rooms have been supplied with spring beds, new mattresses, etc.

The terms have been fixed at the low rate of one dollar per day, or from four to six dollars per week, according to the rooms selected. Children under twelve years of age, three dollars per week. Bath-houses and boats free for use of boarders.

The house will be opened for the reception of guests on and after July 1st. Early application should be made to secure a choice of rooms. Address until July 1, Mrs. A. R. Thompson, 1013 Green street, Philadelphia. After that date, communicate with Matron of "Elim" Cottage, P.O. box 105, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information concerning my long lost mother, father and brother, Mary, Julius and Dick Taylor. The last heard from they lived with Judge Taylor, Onachita parish, Louisiana, In dividing the property I fell to Asa Wright, and was brought to Texas 48 years ago. I have not heard from them since. I hope dear friends in Alabama and Louisiana will sympathise with me in my search. Addres me as.

MAJOR JAMES WRIGHT.
Luling, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR—My wife, Sallie Corban, lived in Essex Co., Va., 27 years. I have not heard from her since May, 1871, though I have written to where I supposed her to be, frequently. Any information respecting her whereabouts will be thankfully received. I am in very good circumstances, owning eighty acres of good land, and owe no debts. If this notice comes to her and she desires to come to me, I will pay her expenses and take care of her. Address me as

SIMS BURR,
Union Church, Jefferson Co., Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to inquire about my father, brother and sister. Fathers name was George McField; brothers George M. Balaguer, sisters Margret. She married Wm. Dobby. I left father near Atlanta Ga, August, 1860, and brother about the same time near Decatur Ga. I left sister and husband in Chattanooga, Tenn, in the year 1865. I belonged to Tom Medlock, and went by the name of Jack Medlock. Any information of their whereabouts will be gladly received by.

JOHN MEDLOCK.
Care J. M. Nevils, Ripely, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I want some information about my people. Mother's name was Ann, fathers Fanshon Cox, and they belonged to Dr. Morris, Caroline Co., Virginia. My sister Caroline was one [illegible] younger than I am; another, Lucy Grimes, married a free man. I had a brother, Randall Morris; Jeff belonged to Hector Davis and came to Louisiana in [illegible]. I was sold from Louisiana to Texas, by Jimmy Suton. If this reaches any of my people they can [illegible] me. LONDON MORRIS.
Montballa, Gonzales Co, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to make [illegible] about my mother and sister [illegible] I have not seen since I [illegible] child, and would like [illegible] to be read by all pastors [illegible] church to their congrega[illegible]. I was sold away from my [illegible] when a little girl about six [illegible]. The lady's name who [illegible] Eliza Vann. She [illegible] a day's travel from [illegible] when I was taken [illegible] Vann about [illegible] mother's name [illegible] names [illegible] Louisa. [illegible]

Benson's Capcine Porus Plaster.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. 21 3t

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,

NEW STYLES CHINA MATTINGS,

WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

Upholstery Goods

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
97 and 99 CAMP STREET,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple-purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

7 SUPERIOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SINGING BOOKS.

Should you want a new Music Book, select from the following list:

PURE GOLD (Board Covers),
$30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
ROYAL DIADEM (Board Covers),
$30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
BRIGHTEST and BEST (Board Cov's)
$30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
WELCOME TIDINGS (Board Covers)
$30 per 100 copies; 35 cents by mail.
NEW HYMNARY (Board Covers),
$40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
BOOK OF PRAISE (Board Covers),
$40 per 100 copies; 50 cents by mail.
HYMN SERVICE (Paper Covers),
$10 per 100 copies; 15 cents by mail.

☞ Any one of the above sent on receipt of the retail price, or the 7 books sent on receipt of $2.00.

☞ Sold by all Booksellers and Music Dealers.

BIGLOW & MAIN,

73 Randolph Street, Chicago. | 76 East Ninth Street, New York.

n15 tf

"Unsurpassed as a teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., EDITOR.
Rev. J. M. Freeman, ASSOCIATE.

Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to Phillips & Hunt, Publishers, 805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

[illegible] WANTED $50 to $100 or [illegible] PER MONTH [illegible] & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and reacher in charge should have one. Price....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price....$1 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price....$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do It. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price....$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price....$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price....$1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price....$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price....$1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo....$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo....75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo....1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo....2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price....$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 50 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price....$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price....$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen....$1 50.
Large size, each....20.
Large and illuminated, each....25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred....$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. Now style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100....$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100....$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000....$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100....$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100....$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100....$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100....75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price....$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } Vol. II. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price....$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price....$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price....1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price....1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

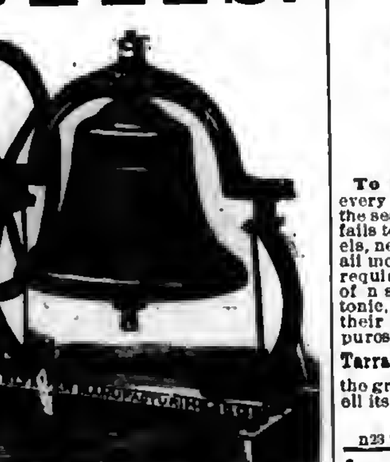
Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price....$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.
I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches....	175 lbs.......	325 lbs.......	$40 00
28 inches....	225 lbs.......	375 lbs.......	50 00
32 inches....	350 lbs.......	550 lbs.......	75 00
35 inches....	550 lbs.......	800 lbs.......	110 00
40 inches....	750 lbs.......	1050 lbs.......	150 00
44 inches....	1000 lbs.......	1350 lbs.......	200 00
48 inches....	1300 lbs.......	1800 lbs.......	250 00
54 inches....	2100 lbs.......	2900 lbs.......	400 00

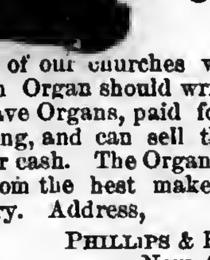
We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,



Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

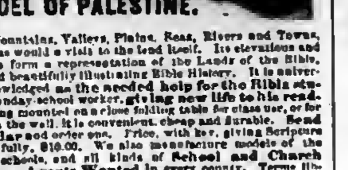
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf New Orleans.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:
Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his reading. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall. It is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.
n17 t

A. H. NELSON,

COMMERCIAL

Stationer, Printer.

Blank Book Maker and Lithographer

57 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PIANOS AND ORGANS GRAND INTRODUCTION SALE.

One Thousand first-class Instruments from best makers to be placed in Southern Homes for Introduction and Advertisement. Pianos, 4 Oct. $125; 7 1-3 Oct. $150. Organs, 8 Stops, $57; 13 Stops, $71; Mirror Top, 13 Stops, $85. Choice instruments at lowest prices ever known. Six years written guarantee. 15 days test trial. Chickering, Hallet & Davis, Mathushek and Southern Gem Pianos, Mason & Hamlin, and Peloubet & Pelton Organs included in this sale. A clean sweep; no reserve; new instruments fresh from Factory. Only sale of the kind ever carried out in the U. S. Write for introduction sale circular. Address Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, Savannah, Ga., the Great Wholesale Piano and Organ Depot of the South.
n21 4t

AGENT WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.

RELIABLE, INTELLIGENT, BUSINESS MEN can clear $1,000 to $1 000 yearly in the NEW AGENCY. Entirely new and desirable—pleasant and permanent. Can be carried on in connection with a store, shop or mill by any good agent. Suitable for every county in the United States. Address

J. B CHAPMAN,
n23 8t 70 West Street, MADISON, IND.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,

A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

FREE TO ALL FLEETWOOD'S LIFE OF CHRIST.

800 Pages. Over 300 Illustrations.

Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.
176 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
n20 8t

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. vii n48 1y

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio. n22 4t

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

To Rational Invalids.—In sickness every portion of the body sympathizes with the seat of the disorder. When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the liver, bowels, nerves muscles, veins, arteries, etc., are all more or less affected. These delinquents require a medicine combining the properties of a stomachic, an alterative, a purgative, a tonic, and a sedative to bring them back to their duty; and all these elements, in their purest and most effective forms, are united in Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient, the great Saline Remedy for Indigestion and all its concomitant consequences.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
n23 2t

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.

(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price....$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:
Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workmen who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

LORD & TAYLOR,

NEW YORK.

Opening Spring Display OF NEW DRY GOODS.

WE CAN POSITIVELY ASSERT THAT AT NO PERIOD HAVE WE DISPLAYED AN ASSORTMENT OF DRY GOODS SO ADEQUATE TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PUBLIC OR AT PRICES SO ADAPTED TO THE NECESSITIES OF ECONOMICAL SHOPPING.

SILKS.

Our BLACK SILKS contain the well-known brands of Bonnet, Ponson, Tapissier, Guinet, Girard, and other equally prominent manufacturers. The Lord & Taylor FAMILY SILK enjoys a reputation for universal excellence that is unsurpassed.

Our American Cashmere INDESTRUCTIBLE BLACK SILK justly claims earnest attention, being equal to the best of foreign manufacture at half the cost. EVERY YARD WARRANTED.

In COLORED SILKS our well-selected stock is offered at prices that cannot be undersold.

Also,

COLORED AND BLACK SILK DAMASSES, embracing the rarest gems of the European or American Markets.

In SUMMER SILKS and FOULARDS we have everything that is new and beautiful.

DRESS GOODS.

Novelties in Cashmeres, Sultanas, Debeiges, and the standard cloths, in splendid variety. Also, "Anderson's Scotch Zephyrs, printed cotton Dress Goods, Momie Cloths, Cordilles, Percales, Cheviots, &c., with every grade to be found in a first-class establishment.

Shawls, Cloaks, and Wraps.

This department maintains its supremacy, and shows the best productions from the European centres.

Our Cloaks and Sacques are cut and made by men tailors, therefore style and fit are guaranteed.

Suits and Costumes.

Our SUITS and COSTUMES fully sustain that pre-eminence so justly established, and always represent the latest styles and fashions.

Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.

Superb assortment of fine French hand-made UNDERWEAR, comprising every requisite for a lady's wardrobe. Also, children's suits for every age and size.

Our Infants' Furnishing Department is thoroughly equipped. Complete Wardrobes as low as $35; better goods in proportion. Any article in the Wardrobe at list price; really cheaper than the home-made article, and much more satisfactory.

Hosiery, Gloves, & Handkerchiefs.

The largest, rarest, and most unique French novelties in the city. Also, the medium grades of hose for ladies and children at very moderate prices.

Ladies', misses', and children's kid, cloth, and Lisle Thread Gloves of the best manufacture, in all the newest shades to match any dress material. A superior selection of plain hemmed linen, and all linen hemstitched, and scolloped Handkerchiefs. Also, embroidered Silk Handkerchiefs unsurpassed in beauty or color.

RIBBONS.

All the choice grades, containing every color and shade known. Fresh additions daily.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Every possible requisite for a gentleman's outfit. First-class and medium grades of goods at our usual reasonable prices. Quality, style, and fit the prominent features of this department.

Boots and Shoes.

For spring and summer, for Ladies, Misses, and Children. Cloth top, low button shoes, the novelty of the season, $3 50; genuine kid walking boots, $3.75. Low shoes from $3 to $5; fine quality slippers from $1.25 to $2.50. Misses' best pebble goat, worked buttonholes, $2; Children's hand made, spring heel, button boots, $1.60; infants' shoes, all colors, $1.25.

Boys' and Youths' French calf button boots, $2.75, and a good, durable laced shoe $1.95.

☞ Our goods are all first-class. We fill all orders exactly and to the interest of purchasers, guarantee all purchases to be satisfactory to buyers, and stand ready to remedy all errors. We invite orders, convinced that a first trial will insure us the regular custom hereafter. All orders for Goods to be accompanied by the money; or, where parties wish, Goods will be sent by express, C. O. D. Where the remittance is too large, we always return the difference.

Broadway and Twentieth St.,
Grand, Chrystie, and Forsyth, N. Y.
n14 npl3 2m

HOME ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive,
And the thousand things all "want to know."
One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp.
ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

RUPTURE

DR J. A. SHERMAN is now at his branch office, 5 South Fifth street, St. Louis, Mo., where his patients and those wishing his treatment may consult him during the months of May and June. His book, with photographs of bad cases before and after cure, mailed for ten cents. Will be at Principal Office, 251 Broadway, New York, July and August. n22 4t eow

X Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 25 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address

W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

EAR DISEASES! CATARRH

Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's [illegible] Diseases of the Ear and their proper treatment, especially Running Ear. How to get [illegible] from all annoyances of these diseases, and a sure, harmless and permanent cure. A book every family should have. Sent free to all. Address Dr. C. E. SHOEMAKER, Aural Surgeon, Reading, Pa.
no4-jan23-13t-eow.

Cotton Planters, Cotton Factors and Country Merchants

EVERYWHERE, PURCHASE THE

CELEBRATED ARROW TIE!

Important Special Notice!

IRON COTTON TIES.

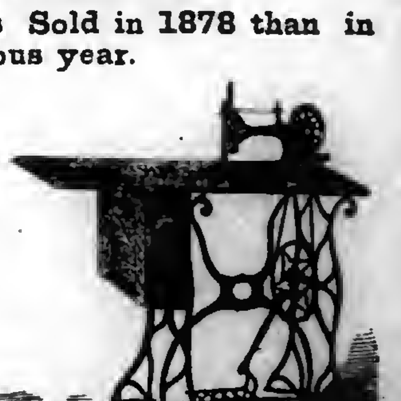
In view of the constantly increasing popularity and demand for the celebrated ARROW TIE, the universally recognized favorite Tie of Planters, Cotton Press men, Shippers of Cotton generally, the American Cotton Tie Supply Company, sole proprietors and manufacturers of said Tie, commanding unequalled facilities, have, in addition to their large stock now on hand, contracted for increased quantities sufficient to meet the largest demand for Cotton Ties to cover the entire crop of the coming season, and now through their Agents generally, offer the popular and irrepressible ARROW TIE at lowest market price, in bundles complete, being less than the market value of plain hoop iron, it being the purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, and defy all competition that may arise.

Office of the AMERICAN COTTON TIE SUPPLY COMPANY,
No. 60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.
R. W. RAYNE, President.
n29 1y

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.



We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

☞ AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS. ☜

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n91y

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—

No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n90 6mo

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

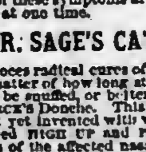
SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.



CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

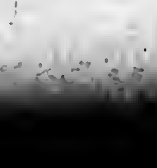
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
12 1y



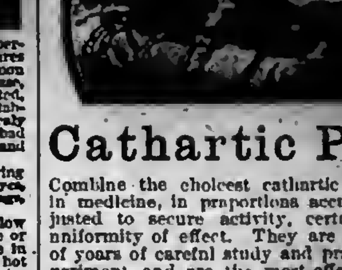
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
mar 28 1y



Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

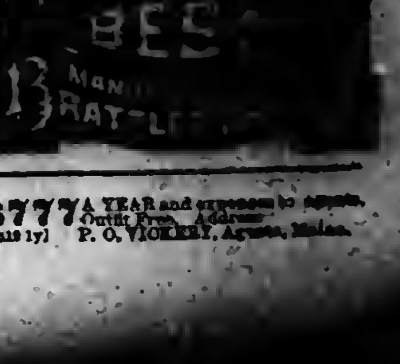
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL STYLES

Now ready, at Reduced Prices.

ONE TO TWENTY-ONE STOPS, $54, $66, $72, $84, $93, $108 to $500 and upward. Before purchasing or hiring ANY organ, send for our latest ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE, PRICE LIST, and CIRCULARS with USEFUL INFORMATION FOR PURCHASERS. Sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK or CHICAGO.



$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
n19 1y

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 25. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 359.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
30 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Traveling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
Marriage notices	25 "
Special notices	8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE;
805 Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

COURAGE.

BY CHARLES F. RICHARDSON.

We have chosen to follow the crucified Lord,
Though He lead us through dangers of fire and of sword;
We know not what perils await us before,
But the taste we have left we will enter no more.

Our hearts burn within us, for Christ is our guide;
His courage our courage, we fight by His side;
Though we faint or we fall, we go on to the end,
The strong to destroy and the right to defend.

Then battle we ever for Christ and the cross,
No step we take backward, no toil we count loss;
And heaven we struggle when darkest the day,
For the hand of our Leader still points us the way. —S. S. Times.

My Second Financial Tour.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, June 4, 1879.

My second financial tour commenced with Lockhart. Here I met Rev. G. W. Richardson looking and feeling cheerful. Our society here is very small and discouraged. Brother J. R. Carnes, [illegible] of his congregation, [illegible] that he was "sorry [illegible] or else of his people [illegible] that he did not [illegible] not come out, [illegible] notified." A class [illegible] Protestant church [illegible] that "the people [illegible]; that he was [illegible] people had been [illegible] Mr. Agent's [illegible] to hear [illegible] have carried [illegible]" Bro. K. [illegible] had dealed [illegible] gave us $3.50, [illegible] Santa card. [illegible] people in [illegible] to give, [illegible] times [illegible] calling [illegible] Rev. E. [illegible] people, [illegible]. The [illegible] They [illegible] worth of [illegible] Rev. A. [illegible] not [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] easy.

At Columbus I found my old friend G. W. Smith, standing bravely at his post doing good work, and much beloved by his people, who understood my visit [illegible] Saturday night and Sunday [illegible] had good attentive audiences. The people here are hard pressed [illegible] overshadowing debts [illegible] church property, which [illegible] doing in a brave manner [illegible] their pastor's collections [illegible]. However, they gave us [illegible] Sunday-school gave [illegible] tickets for forty cents. [illegible] is superintendent of [illegible] and is all right. [illegible] young man [illegible]. His day-school [illegible] with a grand exhibition [illegible]. Rev. O. Young is [illegible] His hospitable good lady [illegible] For [illegible] Sunday [illegible] is [illegible] Anto- [illegible] points [illegible] that [illegible] off to [illegible] and [illegible] bavo found Methodism at so low an ebb as here at Seguin. Hearing nothing from Bro. Norris, I had to retrace my steps to Luling, and thence to Oakland, in Lavaca county.

I notified Bro. Peter Johnson to meet me at Wiemar, which he did very promptly, and big fine Charley horse, to a buggy, carried me nine miles, to where we had to go. Mr. Editor, please bear with me a little while. On Thursday, the 9th, I went aboard of the eastern-bound train, which leaves Luling at 9:15 a. m. I happened to walk into a decent looking coach and seated myself. I had not been there many seconds before some one told me I "must go into the other box." "Why?" I asked. "Because the conductor says so." My reply was to let the conductor tell me so. In a very short time, the conductor, and three others with him, approached me and said, "See here, old man, I want you to go into the other box." "Why, sir?" I replied. "Because this is the ladies' coach." "Sir, I have no lady here, and have no time to go to get one, and I have paid my fare." "You cannot demand more than a first-class seat, besides it is against the rules of this road for you to ride in here." "Well, sir, if this is your rule I don't want to violate it, for one, besides my time is too precious to enter into any controversy with you or your officers." "No controversy at all, sir, it is a real ground hog." "I fear you will make a mountain out of it without beard. I am willing to abide anything that is legal." This put an end to the scene, which was becoming quite interesting. Let me remark that this objection was not made because I was not decently dressed, for, as a Christian and a Methodist minister, I make it a point in my economy to always go decent. There was a Chinaman in his shirt sleeves, and a boy twelve or thirteen years old with no coat on, and his shirt collar standing wide open. They were passed unobserved. Bro. P. Johnson's people had very short notice, but they were out in overwhelming numbers Saturday night and Sunday. They gave us $20 50, besides giving their pastor his regular monthly collection. The above amount includes $4.05 collected from the Sunday-school, and $1 from Mrs. Ann Johnson, the noble and courteous wife of Rev. P. Johnson. Bro. Wm. Isaacs is the superintendent of the Sunday-school. He is a good man of splendid qualities. In this section we find the Stevenses, Grangers and Williams, and a large number of smaller families, owning large farms that are paid for, and under a high state of cultivation. Their crops are clean and flourishing, and their houses are built in nice styles, from one and a half to two stories high, with different apartments, well furnished, looking clean and palace-like. Their kitchens and smoke-houses are not attached to their dwellings. This is a severe contrast to those living on other people's farms, in small uncomfortable huts, that serve for sick chamber, bed room, smoke house, dining room, sitting parlor, and in most instances corn cribs. Wherever this is, and bids fair to continue to be the case, I say Kansas, Kansas, and anywhere else from these degrading situations. I did not go to Hallettsville, as I had no conveyance of my own to go across the country, together with hearing nothing from the preacher, Bro. S. Morgan.

At Columbus I found my old friend G. W. Smith, standing bravely at his post doing good work, and much beloved by his people, who understood my visit Saturday night and Sunday and had good attentive audiences. The people here are hard pressed [illegible] overshadowing debts [illegible] church property, which [illegible] doing in a brave manner [illegible] their pastor's collections [illegible]. However, they gave us [illegible] Sunday-school gave [illegible] tickets for forty cents. [illegible] is superintendent of [illegible] and is all right. [illegible] young man [illegible]. His day-school [illegible] with a grand exhibition [illegible]. Rev. O. Young is [illegible] His hospitable good lady [illegible] For [illegible] Sunday [illegible] is [illegible] Anto- [illegible] points [illegible] that [illegible] off to [illegible] and [illegible]

This is a good country; colored people own farms and fine property. The colored people gave only $6 40 and the whites $9 50, which speaks well. This I got by walking around among them and explaining the case to them. After hearing my story they responded nobly, regretting that I called upon them at a time when they were least able to aid us. I believe times are about as dull as I ever saw them. I received from the Sunday-school $1.15. Bro. Schernook gave fifty cents of the said amount. Sold $1 35 worth of certificate cards. All monies received from the Sunday-school and from selling tickets go into the building fund. At the festival given at Wesley Chapel (Austin) we received $39, which is very good, all things considered. I have used all the brevity that I possibly could. Please publish to the end that all may know.

MACK R. HENSON,
Financial Agent of West Texas Conference College.

Letter from Murfreesboro, Tenn.

MURFREESBORO, TENN., June 4, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Our church is growing. On the 18th of May I baptized 20 by affusion. The colored people in this district have been professed Methodists and practical Baptists. Last Saturday and Sunday our quarterly meeting was held. The elder, Rev. B. Manson, was on time; held his conference Saturday evening and preached Sunday night to a very good congregation, and administered the sacrament to 183. The following are the names of those that paid their quarterage: Mary Turner, Henry Blackwell, Lucy Blackwell, Martha Ann Key, Maria Key, Fannie Key, Jane Howard, Prince Turner, Sancy Moody, Rose Carren, Docia Neal, Mary Mitchel, Narciese Turner, Eliza Nelson, Bell Magrigia, Henry Thompkin, Mary Gordon, Isaac Fisher, Fisher Famine, James Price, Andrew Smith, Caroline Settles, Lucinda Lawrence, Tamar Daniels, Sallie Jordan, Willie James, Katie Scruggs, Tabithie Ferguson, Martha Smith, Dr. J. P. Andrews, David Butler, Priscilla Anderson, Perry Lillard, Kittie Drewggans, James Slamper, Susan Green, Jas. Wendel, Alice James, Fannie Sharp, Thomas Williams, Frank Scruggs, David Alexander, Sarah Taylor, Silvia Sharp, Samuel Curren, Henry Jordan, Henry Sherp, Turner Cooper, Cole Brown, Rebecca McNairy, Anna Kinser, Anderson Rustte, Amonda Wendel, Margaret Maney, Pompey Mitchell, Lavinia Thompkin, John Sharp, John Martin, Abraham Seward, Lennora Harrison, Fannie Scruggs, John Ford, Mary Newman, Alice White, George Webb, A. L. Mitchell, Edmund Woods, Nathan Roeker, Ulsey Sandere, Tenule Marshall, Susan Rodgers, Rebecca Nelson, Georgia Sharp, Violet Garrett, Lizzie McClain, Sarah Simms, Dora Harrison, M. C. Alexander, Francis M. Lytle, Martha Seward, Rosetta White, Marinula Simmons. Each of the above paid twenty-five cents.

We have commenced building our new church: the corner stone will be laid July 4th. It is to be laid according to the disciplinary plan. We must build. The membership and friends have pledged themselves to do all they can to complete the building. Wages are very low here, but we must build as our present building is very dilapidated. Dear brethren and friends, I take this method of appealing to you, and ask you to aid us in this enterprise. Say that each one of the brethren and friends that see this take a share of from one to ten dollars and forward the amount to H. W. Key, Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Dear brothers and friends, please read this and act at once, for we must build, but we want to keep out of debt as much as possible. The size of our church will be 72x44x28 and will cost when completed from $4000 to $5000. Brethren and friends, please let me hear from you at once, and all of the receipts shall be acknowledged in one of the church organs.

Brother Wesley Lillard has been having a glorious revival on the Murfreesboro circuit: 30 converts and 40 additions to the church was the result. It seems that he lives in the hearts of his people. He always aims at the heart and never fails to reach it.

Our town has been agitated for the last three weeks on account of a clan of robbers and murderers. Burglary and stealing have been going on here for the last four or five months; finally it led to murder. Three weeks ago some of the party went to an old white citizen's house, Major Puses, at twelve o'clock at night, and were in the act of breaking in when he heard them and came out, only to be shot down on the spot. A dozen of the clan are in jail. Two of them have owned up to the shooting. I thought for two or three days that there would be a general mob, as there were many hot-headed fellows in favor of a mob; but the better class of citizens were in favor of letting the law have its course. The clan is made up of white and colored men. I am proud that not a member of our church has had anything to do with them in any way.

H. W. KEY.

San Antonio District.

DEAR EDITOR—I have just made a hasty trip over my entire district, making a drive with two horses and a hack of about six hundred miles in a little more than three weeks. From Goliad to Corpus Christi, a distance of eighty miles, on presiding elder of our church had ever traveled before me. Going down I traveled nearly two days through inclosed pastures, and I only went through four enclosures. One pasture, belonging to Coleman, Mather & Fulton, is supposed to contain about five hundred sections of land and one hundred thousand head of cattle and horses. Another belonging to Mr. Woods contains but little less land or stock.

Corpus Christi is a city of about three thousand inhabitants; about one third Mexicans, a little more than one-third Americans, and little less than one-third colored. The principal business is the wool trade, and also a place for shipping cattle. In Corpus Christi we had no church, no house of worship, no lot to build on. Bro. Henderson is having a discouraging time to get started, but I think he will win. I selected a lot while there that I think Bro. Henderson will secure, and with a little aid from the Church Extension Board, I think he can build and get a start there this year. On my return I visited Goliad, Victoria and Mission Valley, and also heard from Victoria circuit. I found them all aglow with revival influence. Bro. Brack, at Mission Valley, had seven conversions only a night or two before I visited him.

Bro. Gates, at Victoria, has not only done a grand work for his own people, but is very useful in helping his brethren on adjoining circuits. Bro. Moseby, of Lavernia, is a thoroughly wide awake man. He is building two churches, organizing Sunday-schools and reorganizing societies all over his circuit.

Bro. Norris, of San Antonio, is having some prosperity, but his work at present seems to be more preparatory work than revival work. He is preaching sound doctrine, and is thoroughly up to the times on all the questions of reform so much needed among the people. Our quarterly meeting at San Antonio last Saturday and Sunday was full of interest. Bro. Carper, of Columbus district, preached for me Sunday night. At the close of his sermon more than fifty persons gave him their hand to say that they would seek the Lord. The preachers and people all over my district are looking forward to the Sunday-school and Theological Institute to meet at San Antonio, August 28, with a great deal of interest.

G. W. RICHARDSON.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, June 5, 1879.

Paul used to find a great many illustrations of important truth in the popular athletic games of his day. A similar use may be made of some of the modern trials of strength and endurance. For example, it is said that in a recent Philadelphia "walking match" one of the contestants who was well ahead lost his place and dropped hopelessly behind, through stopping to handy words with some of the surrounding crowd who annoyed him. That was the most foolish thing in the world for a man to do who had a race to win. His business was walking, not talking. If anybody else had time for wrangling, he had none. His time was all needed for the work before him. So in every race of life. What if people do laugh at you, or abuse you; call your motives, or your spirit, or your orthodoxy in question? If you take time to argue with them, or give them back word for word, you might as well be counted out of the race first as last. The better way is to keep your mouth shut, and push ahead. Then "let those laugh who win."—S. S. Times.

Two Contrasts.

Every now and then there crops out from the layers of heathendom something that shows a great unwritten law of God in the form of ethical instincts. We give two contrasts which are to the shame of Christendom. "All the money contributed for the relief of the famine in China did not amount to a two-hundreth part of the revenue derived by India and Great Britain from the opium monopoly out of of China." Dr. Legge, one of the gentlemen distributing famine relief funds in North China, says: "One other matter in connection with his village relief work. I cannot but allude to it. It impressed me deeply as I pondered over it. In the second or third village I visited I asked the head man: 'Have you any opium smokers here now?' 'No,' he replied, 'they are all dead, and we have issued a notification that any person smoking, henceforth, shall be prosecuted according to law.' 'Have you any opium?' I inquired.' 'No, not a grain, and we have prohibited it being sown,' was his reply. After leaving the place I made inquiries as to the respective values of wheat and an opium crop, and found that these Chinese villagers, with starvation staring them in the face, refuse to cultivate the drug which they know is blighting their land, though it would yield them double the money value of a crop of wheat."

Another contrast is found in South African news, at hand: "The Zulu chief, during his fighting, pointed to a native black who was in charge of oxen, and said to his men: 'Don't touch him; he is only a servant and has done us no harm.'" On the other hand—"A notice signed by Lieut. A. C. Potts, 80th Regiment, and posted outside the Court-house at Pretoria during the late hostilities against Secocoeni, contained the following passages: 'Volunteers wanted for the front. Grand attack on Secocoeni's town. Foot and body. Better prospect than Blue Bank Diggings. Same rations as the General. Enrol before it is too late.' One of the terms offered to volunteers was "Half share of money realized by sale of cattle and spoil captured from the enemy." Which is the savage?

Educated Men in Congress.

The Washington correspondent of the Inter-Ocean, has carefully collected the facts relating to the education of the members of Congress. The facts are exceedingly suggestive. The correspondent concludes as follows:

It is a conspicuous fact that nearly all the influential men in the Senate have not had the benefit of a college education. Among those who note in their biographies that their learning was gained in common schools and academies are Conkling, Edmunds, Thurman, Bayard, Chandler, Ferry, Windom, Pendleton, Hamlin, and in fact all the leading Senators, except Blaine, who graduated at Washington College, Pensylvania. Jones, of Florida, who is able and accomplished, acquired his education at the carpenter's bench, and at nights after his work was over. Jones, of Nevada, only went to school when a child, but is gifted with an extraordinary amount of common sense, and can debate a financial measure with the most learned man in the Senate.

In the House we find that the five leading men on the Republican side were college bred: Garfield, Robeson, Hawley, Conger, and Frye. Cox and Ewing, on the Democratic side, both graduated from the same university. But Randall, Wood, Morrison, Blackburn, Chittenden, Kelley, and others of conspicuous ability had only academic educations.

It is important to associate with these facts the statement that in the Treasury Department, occupying positions of comparative obscurity, most of them book-keepers on small salaries, are sixty-one graduates of Yale, thirty-five graduates of Princeton, twelve graduates of Dartmouth, twelve graduates of Harvard, and equally strong delegations from the alumni of other colleges.

I do not mention these facts to prove that college educations are not essential to successful careers in life, but to call the attention of educators and the educated to them, and let them draw their own moral and make their own comments.

It is stated that at Mansfield, O., an elderly woman, a devoted Christian and regular attendant at church, who has become an invalid, has a wire strung from the church to her bedroom and fitted with the necessary appertenances of a telephone. Last Sunday morning and evening she listened to the church service, receiving every word distinctly, though on her couch half a mile from the sanctuary.

Priests or Laymen in the Schools of France?

BY PROF. WILLIAM WELLS, LL. D

This interesting question is just now causing a great deal of discussion throughout France, because of the recent action of the Minister of Public Instruction in recommending that laymen take the place of priests in the elementary schools of the nation. And we can scarcely conceive how great a revolution this will cause among the people's schools without comparing the figures given.

This measure would cut off 27 male orders, maintaining 83 establishments, with about 2,000 teachers, among which 27 of the institutions are in the hands of the Jesuites, with over 800 members of the order. And in those institutions there are 71,000 pupils, while the female orders educate no less than 200,000 of the girls of France. And the success of this army of male and female teachers in their calling can be gauged by the illiteracy and superstitious bigotry which far and wide now curse that, in this respect, unfortunate land. No wonder that the intelligent members of the French Chambers demand that this Augean filth be swept away! During the discussion there were presented to them documents taken from the walls of the school-rooms, giving "a short and easy way to relieve souls from purgatory," with a score of other idiotic and imbruting cards intended to keep the children in superstitious ignorance and degradation.

But these schools are now even more than the hot-bed of clerical bigotry. In every one of them is taught a bitter hatred of the Republic, which assuredly cannot live with such gangrene in its midst, and finds itself, therefore, in self-defense, obliged to take the children of the land out of the hands of those who make it their sole business to poison their minds in regard to all things sacred and civil. The question of the hour in France is, therefore, Clerical or secular instruction? and the monarchical journals are filled with the outcry against "godless schools" and the "atheist State."

But the brighter minds of the French nation are not to be blinded by these false cries, and everywhere they find arguments, not for "godless schools," which they do not want, but for schools in which the children can be reared as intelligent voters in free government. The secular school is but the extension of the legitimate, natural right to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, without the mandate of the priests, who now have the opportunity of forcing on the children of France the tenets of their own creed. France guarantees the liberty of faith in the support of Churches of several faiths; for Protestants and Jews receive protection and aid from the State, as do, also, the Mohammedans in Algiers. How absurd, then, as a nation, to undertake to teach any one faith exclusively in the schools.—New York Advocate.

Is the "Lost Cause" Lost?

The following no doubt expresses the heart sentiments of the ruling classes of the South respecting the "lost cause." We quote from the Atlanta Constitution, the leading paper in Georgia. That paper says editorially:

When the South bends over the graves of her dead soldiers she pays reverence to the memory of more than the men that lie buried there. She stands at the grave of the superbest civilization that this world ever saw—her heart made tenderer by the fact that she has buried it forever. Despite the sneers of the envious and the slanders of the malignant, earth never saw a more splendid social system than that over which the Southern planter presided. Never a civilization in which honor was held more dear—in which methods were more noble, or impulses more generous—in which the men were more chivalrous or the women more illustrious—in which the laborers were happier, the masses more contented or incorruptible, the gentry more hospitable. Since the patriarchal days this earth has not seen a happier picture than was furnished in the old-time Southern plantation, with its broad acres, its mansion with open doors, its devoted and careless darkies, its lavish ways and princely wealth. But these are all gone. As the palaces in Bagdad vanished when Aladdin sold his lamp to the peddler, so these fair pictures faded when Lee surrendered his sword at Appomattox. Our armies fought for a flag and a principle, and for more—for a civilization.

Plain Talk to Southern Idlers.

There are in the South thousands of poor white women, who, in justice to themselves, should accept situations as cooks, washer-women, house-servants and nurses, and thus become bread winners. There is nothing debasing in any honest vocation of labor, and it is time that false pride was rooted out of our hearts by a more just and manly conception of the dignity of labor and the infamy of voluntary idleness. There are hundreds of poor white women scattered over the South who are at once dependents and drudges as well as ignorant, who would be vastly improved and elevated were they to seek employment in respectable families as cooks, nurses, etc. The wages, ranging from $5 to $10 per month, would be a great deal more than they could make by working on the farm or playing drudge to some family that is too poor to pay wages. In traveling through the outlying districts of the South, one comes across white women who go barefooted, and were never five miles from their cabins, who, but for a feeling of false pride, might soon become independent in their circumstances as well as reach a higher plane of being. Our Southern boys must be bred to trade instead of professions, be taught to prefer the plow-handle to a hitching on the streets and cumbering themselves in front of the grog shops. Work is the only sesame to the cave where wealth is deposited. Industry and frugality is the great need of the South, but these will not be seen until false pride disappears and self-help takes its place.—Meridian (Miss.) Mercury.

Think much, and pray much, and let your words be few, and uttered with seriousness and deliberation, as in God's presence. And yet regard may be had to times and seasons. We may innocently act the child with children, which in the presence of grown persons would have the appearance of thoughtlessness and levity, and may perhaps at times express our gratitude to God, and our holy joys, with an increased degree of freedom and vivacity, especially in the company of those who bear the same image, and who know what it is to rejoice in the Holy Ghost.—President Upham.

To a delegation of Protestant ministers who recently called on him, President Grevy remarked that they had no cause to dread the intentions of the government. There could be no hostility between the government and Protestantism, for he considered the Protestant church the mother of modern democracy. If the government dreamed of infringing on the independence and dignity of any church, which it did not want to do, the Reformed church would be the last whose liberty it would seek to restrict.

Rev. Mr. A. was more prominent in his day for the brilliancy of his imagination than the force of his logic. At one time he was preaching on "The Ministry of Angels," and in the peroration he suddenly observed: "I hear a whisper!" The change of tone startled the deacon who sat below from a drowsy mood, and, springing to his feet, he spoke: "I guess it is the boys in the gallery."

"I began my advocacy of the anti-slavery cause at the North," said Wm. Lloyd, "in the midst of brickbats and rotten eggs. I ended it on the soil of Carolina, almost literally buried beneath the wreaths and flowers which were heaped upon me by her liberated bondmen."

Waiter, to a gentleman in a restaurant—"What will you have, sir?" Very pompously, "A programme." Waiter, not well up to his business, and somewhat confused—"Yes sir. Will you have it fried or boiled?" Thinking neither digestible, the gentleman declined.

As it is impossible to give space to all the Prohibition victories in Illinois and all over the West, we simply give the following summary:

Number of towns which have held elections	824
Number voting for license	179
Number voting for Prohibition	645

—National Prohibitionist.

Life is a crucible. We are thrown into it and tried. The actual weight and value of a man are expressed in the spiritual substance of the man. All else is dross.—Chapin.

General News Items.

Very serious tax riots have occurred in Sicily.

Disastrous floods have taken place in Austria.

The mortality from famine in Cashmere is frightful.

The Chicago police force have been reduced one-fourth.

The Texas legislature convened in special session on the 11th.

A bronze bust of Wm. Gilmore Sims, poet and novelist, was unveiled on the 11th.

The Prince of Orange, heir apparent to the throne of the Netherlands, died in Paris.

Confederate decoration day was observed throughout the South, with imposing ceremonies.

Sclovieff, who attempted to assassinate the Czar, was hanged on the 28th on Smolenski field.

The inhabitants of Lebanon are preparing for revolt, and demand the recall of their governor.

The Bordeaux Radicals propose to again elect M. Blanqui to the French Chamber of Deputies.

Judge Daniel Avery died at his residence, on Petite Anse Island, June 9, in his seventieth year.

Several secret gunpowder manufactories have been discovered in Siberia by agents of the Russian government.

The Alabama State Sunday-school convention, to be held at Montgomery June 19-22, is already taken well in hand by the Sunday-school men of that State.

Another dyke on the river Po, Italy, burst inundating over twelve communes. The inhabitants were surprised and are now destitute, and encamped on the dykes.

The Orange Free State assembly, contrary to the advice of the president, has adopted resolutions expressing hopes for the restoration of the independence of Transvaal.

The San Antonio Free Press urges the re-organization of the Republican party in Texas, and the calling of a State convention at an early day. The Austin Iron Age approves the suggestion.

The President approved the bill to provide for the exchange of subsidiary coin for lawful money of the United States and to make such coin a legal tender in all sums not exceeding $10.

On the night of the 8th two colored boys, aged 14 and 16 years, went to the house of Mr. Dupuy, Carancro, La., called him out and stabbed him to death, because he had slapped their mother.

The robbers who boldly seized $10,000 in bank bills from the Illinois Central railroad messenger, in Chicago, and made good their escape, were captured and a portion of the money recovered.

At the Catholic Union rooms, Boston, Bishops Spaulding and Ireland spoke before a large audience on the Catholic colonization scheme. Archbishop Williams gave his approval to the scheme. Eight thousand dollars were subscribed toward the colonization association stock.

M. Bouverie, chairman of the council of the Louisiana State bondholders, in London, England, sent a protest to the Governor of Louisiana against any attempt of the State Convention, now sitting in New Orleans, to arbitrarily reduce the State debt as arranged under the act of January, 1874.

John Brown, aged seven, and James Lahey, aged eleven, were playmates in New York. They quarreled over their play, and Lahey, the stronger of the two, kicked and beat his little friend, who died, apparently from the effects of the kicks of quick-tempered Jimmy, who is held for murder.

It is related that a young fellow in Iowa was married under some difficulties the other day. The parents of the young woman refusing to allow him to see her, he had himself arrested for breaking into a building, and then subpoaned the girl as a witness. By this means he secured access to her long enough to accomplish his object, by the friendly help of a minister.

A mass meeting was held at Cooper's Institute for the purpose of raising funds to assist the Southern emigrating negroes. Rev. Highland Garnet, Rev. Wm. Dickinson and several prominent colored citizens occupied seats on the platform. Speeches were delivered by Rev. Wm. F. Dickinson, Gen. Conway and Rev. Dr. Newman. Resolutions of sympathy with the negroes were adopted.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1879.

One Dollar!

Subscriptions will be taken for the remainder of the year 1879 for

One Dollar, Cash.

Attention, Agents.

We ask these favors of our Agents:

1. Please send us all money collected from subscribers.

2. Make a strong effort to collect past dues.

3. Push the DOLLAR canvass.

4. Let us hear from you frequently and promptly.

Rev. Geo. R. Bristor, pastor of Ames church, gave readings from the great poets and humorists, to a good house on Friday evening last. The selections gave ample scope to his versatile powers. The reading was a financial success.

Rev. David Cunningham, an aged Methodist, of Mannington, Marion Co., West Virginia, renewing his subscription, says: "A cold [illegible] and drouth has injured fruit [illegible] wheat, and rotted a great deal [illegible] planted corn in the hill. Our political outlook is not flattering."

Prof. M. Smith, who with his [illegible] went under the auspices of [illegible] Wm. Taylor to Porte Mulendo, [illegible] deceased after a sickness of [illegible] days, April 19. Mrs. [illegible] arrived in the Crescent City [illegible] Aspinwall, and proceeded [illegible] home of her childhood [illegible] Williamstown, Mass.

[illegible] Mitchell and Shepherd, [illegible] to the great Bi-ennial [illegible] Y. M. C. A., at Baltimore [illegible] a very interesting re[illegible] the business meeting of the [illegible] Association on Tuesday [illegible]. The attendance was [illegible] a rising interest in the [illegible]ptible.

[illegible] planters of Washington [illegible] Miss., met at Green[illegible] on the 28th of May, [illegible] a memorial to the [illegible] people against the alleged [illegible] carry off or encourage [illegible] of the Mississippi Val[illegible] or the northwestern [illegible] deprecate a general [illegible] fraught with ruin and [illegible] to the cotton and sugar [illegible] the country.

[illegible] O. Hayes, while upon [illegible] in the interest of [illegible] University, among [illegible] to Kingston, On[illegible] invited guest [illegible] the foundation [illegible]'s University. [illegible] Lord Lorne [illegible] Louise, his wife, [illegible] assisted in the [illegible] Hayes responded [illegible] Sister Univers[illegible]

[illegible]—the charge of [illegible] Peter, forms [illegible] article by [illegible] Dr. W. C. [illegible] York Advocate [illegible] at the re[illegible] society of [illegible] the special [illegible] con[illegible] to follow [illegible] carrying [illegible] in Testa[illegible]—for [illegible]

[illegible] writes: [illegible]

Through a Glass Darkly.

Look at that polished mirror of brass. You can see your face in it quite well, and you can also see many things so well that you recognize them at once. But all the while you are aware of dimness and shadow lying here and there in the vision. You see a world by moonlight rather than by sunlight. You see truly in the mirror, but there is a certain darkness about the vision in spite of "the bright ones that linger there like sunshine over the ground." When I look into the spiritual realm of things I feel that I am looking into a mirror and I know that mine is only a partial knowledge.

What does the Apostle mean when he says, "Now we see through a glass darkly," unless it is to awaken within us great expectations concerning the time when we shall enter into the possession of the unsearchable riches of Christ? There is yet a light to shine upon the mystery of evil that many hearts have longed to see—that well show how Omnipotent Love has allowed such power to the adversary of souls. There's a wisdom in the shaping of our lives from birth to death that we have not yet fathomed—a tenderness and care, a fatherly love, a constant providence over us and our ways, not to be seen as yet. There is a satisfying and high loveliness in the face of righteousness that we have not seen there as yet, for our vision has been vitiated by conveying wrong messages to our hearts and rendered incapable of appreciating the beauty of holiness. There's a warmth and surpassing loveliness in the grace of Christ yet to be discovered by us—sweetness and light in His love daily to be sought after, and better understood, yet not in this life to be unveiled completely.

We know that there is a power to touch our hearts to praise in the blood of Christ that we have not felt, and indeed cannot feel until we see what it has done for the myriads of the white-robed inhabitants of the Golden City. We know that there is a glory in manhood that cannot be seen till we see it shine in the face of the King Himself, and reflected in the new name of the ransomed—the family likeness of the children of God and their Elder Brother. "When I was a child I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man I put away childish things." The attainments of this life are no more than childish acquisitions when compared with that which we shall reach when we are at home. Our powers are undeveloped, immature, juvenile in this life; our spiritual insight is therefore defective, and our knowledge only preparatory or initial. "Now we see darkly." Now I know in part.

About Baptism.

MACON, Miss., June 7, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—"In reading the Bible I find a verse that reads as follows: 'He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved,' etc. Please inform me in your next paper what baptism this has reference to.

"MAMIE S."

When the Pharisees asked Jesus a certain question, he replied by asking them another. "The baptism of John—was it from Heaven or of men?" They were put into a dilemma—fully explained in the narrative, and as to the particular mode, their answer is ours,—"we cannot tell." We follow the example of our Lord, which is always safe, and answer Mamie's question by asking some others. If John was baptizing in Enon because there was "much water there," do you think he was sprinkling them? When the Jailor at Phillipi took Paul and Silas, about midnight, and washed their stripes, and was baptized, he and all his (house) "straitway," did they all travel through the darkness to some river or pool, in or near the city for that purpose ("straitway,") or do you think there was water somewhere handy in the house with which to baptize them?

When Phillip and the Eunech fell into company on the way going [illegible] to Gaza, could the two have gone down into (a bowl full of) water, both of them—and one baptized the other therein? Albeit no [illegible] pond or lake, by delligent [illegible] can be found along that [illegible] road.

Then the five thousand that were [illegible] to the disciples' company in [illegible]—by baptism. Could that [illegible] company have been possibly [illegible] one day?

[illegible] reading these [illegible] Testament history [illegible] books on [illegible] baptism [illegible] some cases [illegible]. Some[illegible] or the method of using it, Jesus would not have left us in the dark on that subject. That there is an essential baptism our church plainly teaches. For light on that subject, we cite our friend to the following Scriptures. Luke iii; 16: Acts. ii; 1-38: and xix; 1-7.

[illegible]

New Orleans University.

This enterprising adopted child of the Freedman's Aid Society has just closed its scholastic year. The commencement exercises were published in the last issue of the SOUTHWESTERN. No graduations were announced, since the full grade and curriculum of studies had not been completed by any of the students. It is stated by those who claim to speak authoritatively, that the course of this institution embraces more studies and is therefore more complete than any school for colored youths within the State of Louisiana.

The urgent want of the University at present is a new building and enlarged facilities of operation. Because of the cramping surroundings full play cannot be given the many advantages peculiarly incident to this school and its privileges. There is no more important point in all our Southern work. It is the key to our colored work, especially educational, in all the Southwest. With a large patronizing territory, and with proper management, no institution in the South has a brighter outlook for the future. If some rich man of God will come forward and give the University a $25,000 building as a monument to himself, or of some loved one, or to the sole glory of God, he will be doing a great work toward helping God's oppressed people. Who will respond?

The Board of Trustees are fully alive to the interests committed to their hands. There seems to be an enlivening among all concerned, as to making this school all that its possibilities promise. This board is a regularly incorporated body—with the fullest of powers—of the State of Louisiana. It convened on the 9th of June in the session room of the Ames M. E. church Present, ex-Mayor Heath, chairman, Gen. Cyrus Bussey, Hon. W. G. Brown, Capt. C. W. Boothby, Judge Dibble, Revs. J. C. Hartzell, Geo. R. Bristor, J. M. Vance, M. C. Cole, E. Williams, J. S. Bean and Pierre Landry.

After Gen. C. Bussey had read a telegram from Dr. Rust requesting the board to make up a faculty for the next scholastic year of the University, subject to the confirmation of the Freedmen's Aid Society, the following were elected, subject to the society's approval.

President, Rev. A. A. Johnson, A. M.

Professor of Ancient Languages and Vice President, J. W. E. Bowen, A. M.

Professor of Mathematics, Isaac A. Failor, A. M.

Associate Teachers, Mrs. A. A. Johnson, Miss M. L. Hodgskins, Miss Sarah A. Merritt.

At the same meeting the Board of Trustees unanimously conferred the degree of D. D. upon the Rev Geo. R. Bristor, A. M., pastor of Ames M. E. Church.

Public Schools.

After a hard fought battle, the office of State Superintendent of Public Schools in Louisiana has been saved. We are sorry to say, however, that the salary and other allowances for the office have been so greatly reduced as to greatly embarrass it and to weaken its efficiency. Even with this reduction, a great victory has been achieved, for which the friends of of public education in the State should be very thankful.

Not less important however has been the decision of the Convention as to sectarian schools. The majority of the Committee on Education had proposed in article 6 that "no funds raised for the support of public schools of the State shall be appropriated to or used for the support of any sectarian school." An insidious effort was made to have this article superseded by a substitute as follows: "The public school funds shall not be devoted in whole or in part to the maintenance of schools not subject to the supervision of the State, and to the laws enacted for the purposes of public education." The substitute would have opened the door for all sectarian schools, to come in with claims upon the public funds. Every one of them could easily have held themselves "subject to the supervision of the State, or to the laws enacted for the purpose of public education." Then church schools would be supported by the State. Then Romanism would have taken the lion's share of public money for its own schools. The public schools, poorly sustained at best, would have to yield up the ghost and the system be a mere name. Happily the Convention by a very large vote stamped out all [illegible] of the kind, and our public schools are saved!

The Supply of Field Labor.

The Times in an article on "Our Field Labor Supply" gives interesting facts to prove that African labor is the best adapted to our crops and climate; the present supply of field labor is insufficient to develop the agricultural capacities of the State; all attempts to import white laborers have failed, and to allow field labor to quit the State, without proper effort to retain it would, by impaired production, lead to the destruction of the present business generation of merchants and planters. These facts are amply demonstrated by reference to the past history and the present situation of Louisiana.

The exodus, therefore, appears to have led to some wholesome reflection, as to its consequences. It is a sober reality, which cannot be avoided. The colored people have determined to be free as other citizens, and enjoy their rights either in Louisiana or Kansas. The planting class, too long silent over acts of injustice and oppression, have it in their power to decide as to which of these States shall retain an abundant supply of field labor.

The Northern Christian Advocate of Syracuse, alluding to Dr. Fuller's reply to the ruffianly assault of Senator Ben Hill, takes occasion to say: "A man that stands so heroically and firmly for the right, in the face of social ostracism and persistent calumny, deserves the sympathy, prayers and generous support of the church he serves. The Methodist Advocate at Atlanta, and the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE at New Orleans, both of them bold, fearless and truthful, should be regarded as among the most efficient instrumentalities of the church, and be sustained by whatever of Northern patronage and assistance necessary to their support and success."

From the country press we learn that three meetings have been held in West Baton Rouge parish to discuss the exodus. Several families are going to Kansas from East Baton Rouge. A rumor that a boat was coming to receive emigrants caused a number of the colored people of Grant parish to go to the river banks to take passage. In St. Mary parish a strong emigration feeling has been developed. On Saturday last some seventy-five left New Orleans for Kansas, among them Rev. Paul Davis, whom we commend to our Christian brethren in Kansas, as worthy of all assistance. The exodus is not dead, but is a living movement to rebuke injustice and to portray the manhood of an oppressed race.

The July and August numbers of Scribner's Magazine will contain an unusual feature in wood engraving, being the reprint of a large number of the cuts engraved by Mr. Henry Marsh, some years ago, for Harris's "Insects Injurious to Vegetation." These celebrated engravings were made after drawings on the wood by the late Mr. Antoine Sonrel, from freshly collected specimens, and were all carefully examined, criticised and approved by the late Prof. Louis Agassiz. These engravings will be published in two papers on "Summer Entomology," by Edwin A. Samuels, author of "Ornithology and Oölogy of New England"; the first paper giving an account of tramps after moths and butterflies; the second dealing with other field and forest insects. The beauty and delicacy of the engravings, which have probably never been equaled in natural history work, and the careful and enthusiastic description of the methods of catching and preserving the insects, the ease with which the originals can be verefied, will probably incite many "summer boarders" to try their hands at the fascinating work of collecting specimens.

"Rattle-te-Bang" is the suggestive title of a Fourth-of-July poem to appear in the next number of St. Nicholas. We believe that many parents will fully appreciate this poem—if its name really means anything—before our one hundred and third national anniversary is over.

The colored teachers of Georgia have been invited to meet in convention in Atlanta on the 23d of June, for a three days' session, to consider the educational interests of the colored people of the State.

Rev. C. L. Madison has removed from Austin to Waco, Texas, and desires his correspondents to take notice.

MASON DEPOT, Tenn., June 12, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Please announce in your paper that my camp meeting on the Mason and Brownsville circuit of the Tennessee Conference, West Tennessee District, will commence on the 7th day of August 1879, at Pleasant Grove church. I am yours in Christ,

JESSE P. PRICE.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

MISSISSIPPI.

R. Hayes, Coffadeliah: "Our work is growing; 4 joined on probation; 3 children baptized; in Sunday-school 120."

Rev. James Drayton, Jackson: "Our church at Brandon is doing well. We have a fine Sunday-school there with a good worker for a superintendent."

Rev. Moses Adams, Meridian: "We are glad to say that we have succeeded in paying for our organ for the Sunday-school. Bro. H. E. McElroy, our superintendent, gave a festival on which $70 was raised."

Rev. P. Blue, Corinth: "Our three week's protracted meeting resulted in 14 conversions and 34 accessions to the church. Our Sunday-school has increased from 30 to 80. We have organized a choir."

Rev. L. J. Terrell, Houston: "I am happy to say that on the third Sunday of May we had a glorious time; 9 baptized and added to the church. These were all members of the Sunday-school except 2. Pray for our success."

Rev. A. B. Simons, Okolona: "I was at one of our churches at Miller's Point, and was surprised to see how colored people were advancing in God's word. The time is at hand that our preachers must be educated or take a back seat."

James Nevils, Ripley: "Rev. S. Cowan, of Oxford, was with us at our second conference. The late contending elements are reconciled and working for the good of the church. Members have worked nobly to get matters right. Sunday-school is well attended."

Rev. P. Harris, Crystal Springs: "We had a basket meeting for the purpose of building a parsonage. We did very well, considering the rain, dull times and summer season. A nice dinner was served. The pastors of Jackson and Brookhaven were with us. Rev. H. May's collection was $11.15, Rev. A. Davis' $19.10. A revival is going on, with 29 converts to date."

L. L. Shumpert, Okolona: "Rev. John J. Shumpert's funeral sermon was preached by Elder D. McLachlan from St. John 7: 23. The church was decorated and dressed in mourning by sisters Charity Denton and Mary Jane White. A little girl, Irene Gilmore, but six years old, brought a nice boquet which was placed on the pulpit. There were about a thousand people present."

TEXAS.

Rev. J. R. Carnes, Lockhart. "During a meeting continued two or three nights we had two conversions and many at the anxious seat."

Rev. P. Douglas, Galveston: "I closed a protracted meeting the last of April. It resulted in adding to the church 60—fifty-nine conversions. On May 4th I baptized 51. We are building a nice parsonage on the church grounds, and it will be finished by the middle of July."

Rev. Willis Medlock, Mexia: "My work is prospering on the Grosebeck circuit. I received 22 in the church, baptised 12. On opening the doors of the church they came flocking like doves to Noah's ark. The church is in a prosperous condition. Brethren, pray that it may put on the whole armor and march to the throne of grace."

LOUISIANA.

H. J. Wright: "Born—a daughter to Rev. J. F. Marshall and wife, Thursday night; weight 10 pounds nett."

C. H. Claiborne, Woodlawn: "Our Sunday-school is making rapid progress. I am assisting the superintendent."

Rev. A. Jones, Monroe: "I baptized 15 on the first Sunday of June, I have been waiting for the elder and will dedicate the new church about the 15th of June."

C. Bryan, New River: "On the 17th I was at a basket meeting conducted by Rev. Milton Morris and Rev. Andrew Green, myself treasurer and secretary. Revs. Thomas Brown and Wm. Morris were the speakers. We had a good time."

TENNESSEE.

Pastor, Nashville: "The Spruce street M. E. Church is being rapidly prepared for dedication. The second Sabbath of June the Sabbath-school gave a collection of $80 towards this object. The school is growing in numbers and influence. The scholars are uniting with the church, making good, earnest members. Our church is in a prosperous condition and has a bright future before it. Our trust is in God and from Him cometh our success."

ARKANSAS.

Rev. E. Roberts, Lonoke: "I find that your paper is very acceptable in this country, but my people are unable to pay the subscription, consequently I am taking subscriptions from some responsible parties and waiting until fall for the money. I think the paper is much needed here. I am canvassing every day for it, but the lack of money keeps many a good man from reading the paper."

La Teche District.

DEAR EDITOR—Perhaps the time has now come for me to report progress through our beloved SOUTHWESTERN. In point of territorial extent the La Teche District is rather large, embracing the parishes of St. Landry, Avoyelles, Rapides, Calcasieu, Cameron, Fayette, St. Martins, Vermilion, New Iberia and most of St. Mary's. In making the round on the district, I begin at Opelousas, which is about central on a line running northeast and southwest. Here Rev. Washington Brooks has charge, and I have employed Rev. Frederick Reves as an assistant for him on account of the enlargement of the work. Three appointments have been taken up outside of Opelousas—one 6 miles east, one some 20 miles distant on the bayou Plaqoemine Brule, and the other on the Mermentean river, over fifty miles away to the southwest of Opelousas. In each of these three points there is promise of success, while in Opelousas our Zion is gradually gaining ground in the midst and in spite of many strong opposing influences. Bros. Brooks and Reves are laboring with commendable zeal and self-sacrificing energy. My next appointment is at Washington, about six miles from Opelousas on Bayou Contrableau. Here our Creole brother, Felix Landor, is stationed, and working with all his might. He is one of those brethren who are not satisfied simply to "hold the fort," but mean to carry the war into Africa whenever and wherever they see an opportunity. He has organized a society numbering some 20 or 30 members at what is called Big Bend, in Avoyelles parish some forty miles from Washington, which is likely to become the center of a new charge. At Washington he is using the pruning knife in such manner as will be likely to give a more healthful growth to the church, which is now in as good condition as could be expected under all the circumstances. Thence I go to Holmesville, some 31 miles up Bayou Bœuf. This is a new charge erected at the last annual conference, and was previously connected with the Cheneyville circuit. Here brother H. Wallace is doing a good work. He, too, is 'lengthening the cords,' as well as 'strengthening the stakes,' of our Zion's goodly tents. In Marksville, the parish seat of Avoyelles parish, he has recently organized a church which bids fair to become permanent and prosperous. He has also reconnoitered other points where he reports the prospect good for the establishment of new churches. From Holmesville I move on 12 miles up the beautiful little Bayou Bœuf to Cheneyville. In connection with this charge we have hitherto had a misnomer, as we had no society until last year within less than six miles of the village of Cheneyville. But during last year a society was formed in the town, and a piece of property purchased there consisting of a good sized lot of land with a building on it, nearly new, which with but little expense, can be transformed into a nice place of worship large enough to accommodate the congregation for years to come. Through the efficient efforts of the pastor, Bro. A. Hilton, this property is nearly paid for, while a splendid lot of lumber, sufficient to build a large and comfortable church edifice near the site of the old one, on the Rhodes plantation, has been procured and also paid for. The brethren there expect to have it completed this summer. Next in course comes Alexandria and Pineville. In the former we have an excellent house of worship nicely finished and furnished, and a good parsonage. In the latter we have a pleasant and appreciative society, worshiping in a little chapel built on an elevation from which they can look down on their sister church on the opposite side of Red River. The place is "beautiful for situation, if not the joy of the whole earth."

In this interesting and important charge, our highly esteemed brother, J. F. Marshall, is laboring with all that earnestness and enlightened zeal which characterizes the true Christian minister; and abundant success is crowning his noble efforts May the Lord bless him and his excellent companion, who make their home such a pleasant resting place for us during our sojournings with them. From Alexandria I take the back-track to the town of St. Martinsville, on Bayou Teche, some fifty miles south-east of Opelousas. I leave out Vermillionville, as in passing through it on my way up on the first trip I made a careful examination and found nothing there of us or for us. In St. Martinsville Bro. Allen Luster is laboring faithfully and successfully. He also is giving due attention to the unoccupied regions beyond; is never deaf to the Macedonian cry, "come over and help us." I think without doubt he will add one or two more societies to St. Martinsville this conference year. My next appointment is nine miles from St. Martinsville down the Teche, at the prosperous and progressive town of New Iberia. Here we have a good society, but comparatively weak in a numerical and financial sense, presided over by Bro. Willis Carr. Here the brethren have made the too often repeated mistake of attempting to build a house for the Lord, which, in size, was out of all proportion to their financial strength; consequently it still stands in an unfinished state, with some debt hanging over it, making it a constant source of trouble to the church. But taking all things into consideration, I believe it would pay as well for the Church Extension Society to assist our struggling brethren in this place as in any other charge in the bounds of the conference. Bro. Carr is working hard, is a good young man and deserves success. Jeanerette, the next point to be visited in regular order is also situated on Bayou Teche, 10 miles below New Iberia, is a growing village giving many signes of business energy and thrift. In this place we have a small church edifice and a prosperous society. Some two miles from the village we have a church which for a long time held sway as the principal society of the circuit, but the inevitable tendency towards centralizing in town is weakening the church in the country, but strengthening the church in town. Morgan's line of Railroad has been completed to this place, giving business a new impulse, and enhancing our church by interest, which in the hands of our stirring brother Sparks, will I doubt not, by the blessing of God, increase more and more.

When I visited Cypremort which comes next on the list, I found the church in a very prosperous condition under the lead of Rev. R. L. Beal, who is a young man of education, and well qualified both by nature and grace to fill the responsible positions he occupies as teacher and pastor. La Teche stands "statu quo." It might and would have been advancing if the Seminary had been established and encouraged according to the arrangement made by the Annual Conference at its last session. Franklin is suffering in consequence of the terrible affliction which has fallen upon her beloved pastor. Our prayer is that God in infinite compassion may send deliverance soon to him with his deeply afflicted family and church. Brethern of the Conference pray for our Brother James Hayward.

Great as has been the trials through which some of us have been called to pass recently, we have reasons to rejoice in view of the general success attending the efforts of both preachers and laymen throughout this District. Many precious souls have been converted since conference, and many members of the church have been built up in the faith of the Gospel. Last but not least in the list of items I whish to notice is the SOUTHWESTERN. I believe it has received due attention from the preachers throughout the District. The people love it wherever they get acquainted with it. Brethren let us make our own ADVOCATE a greater power by increasing its circulation.

J. MATLOCK.

Letter from Denton, Texas.

DENTON, Texas, May 30, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—It has been some time since I have used my pen. I wish to inform my brethren that I am at work setting up the standard of the M. E. Church. In my last I wrote you of having three appointments, one Sunday-school. Thank the Lord we have two schools and to-morrow we will have three. Appointments are four in number: Pilot Point, Hickory in Denton county, and Whiteboro in Grayson county.

At Pilot Point our membership is 16. We have no house of worship on this work. There are many whites friends warm hearted toward the M. E. Church in Northern Texas. At Pilot Point they permit us to preach in one of their box school houses. At Whitesboro I talked with intelligent whites, who had an old seminary they were not occupying on the Sabbath. I told them I was sent by the West Texas conference of the M. E. Church to look after the welfare of our race. The trustee of the seminary, at my request, turned it over to the use of our people.

At Denton the Baptists give us a day in their house. At Hickory, six or eight miles south there is a log house about 12x14. This is a colored settlement. Fifteen or more families have bought themselves little homesteads. The prospect of the church is bright for the future. I am on my third round. We are preparing for a protracted meeting at each appointment. Particulars hereafter.

Yours truly. A. LOCKHART.

Letter from Enterprise, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—In March, 1878, I appointed three young men of my Sunday-school to frame some sort of a society for the promotion of unity and refinement. As the result we have a society styled the "Emancipation Historical Union." The intent is to secure union in matters of interest as a race, and to celebrate the 8th day of May as the anniversary of our emancipation. On the 8th of last May we had a glorious time, and on the 8th of May this year we had a still nicer time—a parade, headed by our cornet band, and banner gotten up by one of the members, S. W. Winn, who is president of the union and teacher of the first class in my Sunday-school. We resorted to a cool grove, and after amusements of various kinds by the young people, and some short speeches by some of our young men, Mr. D. Laucins, A. B. Coleman and S. W. Winn, we partook of a repast consisting of all the delicacies of the season. The day's festivities wound up with an exhibition at the M. E. church for the benefit of the Sunday-school library fund. We did not have much of a financial success, but there were several white gentlemen to see us, and they expressed themselves as well pleased, and are calling for a repetition of the programme, and say that a large number of whites, both ladies and gentlemen, desire us to give another exhibition this week if possible, which we may do.

My Sunday-school is doing very well, and all seem to be interested. We have the "Good Tidings" each Sabbath. We would like to have some one among us who would teach us music, and other refining arts, as we are too poor to send our sons and daughters to boarding schools and seminaries, and so we ask the indulgence of education in our ignorance and poverty. For we are only what we have been made, and if the exodus continues, as now, we will have a chance to prove what we can make ourselves. With wishes for success of your valuable paper, I am yours in Christ,

M. DOBY,
Supt. M. E. S. S.

Enterprise, May 13, 1879.

Letter from Washington, La.

WASHINGTON, La May 3, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—The annual May party of St Marks M. E. Church, under the auspices of Mrs. Lartigue and David J. Clark, was a complete success. Much credit is due these two teachers, whom providence has sent among us, for their able instruction of our children.

Long before the appointed time, the church was crowded to its fullest capacity. The stage was decorated beautifully with flowers and evergreens; a motto hung overhead, bearing the inscription "In God we trust." The choice anthems selected by Mrs. Lartigue, assisted by Miss Edmonia Peletin, received much applause from the audience. The children deserve praise for the manner in which they spoke. The exercises of the evening were closed with an essay on Africa, by Mrs. Nelson Lartigue. The composition and rendition of this essay was praiseworthy.

We are glad to mention that we have the largest Sunday-school in the parish. Enrolled 10 teachers, 125 pupils. We have also a school of 40 pupils at the Waxia church, a branch of St. Marks.

F. LANDOR, Pastor.

Letter from Gardner, Tenn.

DEAR EDITOR—I have just closed a protracted meeting. My people were very strictly engaged with their crops, and we could only have meetings at night. During three weeks the Lord blessed our meeting with 12 conversions. My membership grows stronger with every meeting. With God's help, Gardner is greatly reviving. My real troubles now are with the African Methodist preachers, who are trying to capture our church here. They have no house of worship, and try to make it appear that they have a right to preach in our church, open the doors to receive members, and take up collections. I have labored hard to keep them out, and believe their day is nearly spent here.

I am preparing to build another church at Martin Station, a beautiful town, and largely inhabited. The white friends of the place have given us two thousand feet of plank, and promised to aid until it is accomplished. I hope to build a nice frame house, and if the Lord will help in this heavy effort it will be accomplished by the close of this conference year.

Yours in Christ, J. D. HAY.

The Commencement Exercises of the schools and colleges connected with the Boston University took place Wednesday June 4, in Tremont Temple. The hall was completely filled.

Foreign Missions.

East and Central Africa—What changes in East and Central Africa! It was only in 1871 that Stanley found Livingstone at Ujiji; and now Ujiji is to be connected with London by telegraph. At least there is a project on foot which will probably succeed to this effect. The telegraph was carried two thousand miles across an unsafe country in Australia, so that it is thought feasible to carry a telegraphic line from end to end of the African continent. The Egyptian government is to extend its present line, which reaches already beyond Khartoum. The British colonial government is to extend its line from the Cape on to the Transvaal, and the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britian proposes to erect a line to connect these two, erecting 4000 miles of wire, through Mtesa's country and around the great Nyanza lake on to Ujiji, and down the Shire and the Zambesi. These and other great facilities for communication with and travel through Eastern and Central Africa are developing, at a time when other great changes are transpiring such as cause Sir Bartle Frere to say: "It would be difficult to find elsewhere so wide and favorable a field for missionary labor as the East China coast and islands present this moment. In no other country that I know do artificial obstacles appear so small."

The May meeting of the Board of Managers of the Missionary Society was held on the 20th, Vice President Wise in the chair. Devotional exercises by Rev. Dr. J. B. Merwin. Members present, Drs. Wise, Tuttle, Crawford, Curry, A. A. Hunt, Dunn, Merwin, McAllister, Van Horne, Newman, Brice, Buckley, Goodsell, Beach, Tiffany, Saxe, S. Hunt, Messrs. J. Falconer, Howe, Forrester, McLean, French, Hoyt, Arnsor, Stephenson, Reynolds, Barker, Phillips, Dollner, Skidmore, Cornell and Price. Secretary Dashiell reported that Rev. V. Witting, missionary in Sweden, had given notice of his withdrawal from our church. He also reported progress in securing the material for roofing a church in [illegible]. Secretary Reid reported having secured material with which to [illegible] Monrovia Seminary. The secretaries reported the [illegible] of two of V. C. [illegible] children from China, some [illegible] friend having proposed to [illegible] the charge of them during [illegible]; also the finan[illegible] attempt ever made by any Protestant press in that language. Rev. J. W. Butler, who sends the copy, says they have printed an edition of 3000. The May number of the Christian Advocate of Mexico notes the arrival of a priest—Keoelin Vaughan from England, with fifty boxes of the Papal version of the New Testament for distribution. Rev. John W. Butler had an interview with him and received a copy of the New Testament at his hands.

[illegible] following extract [illegible] letter of one of our [illegible] the Superintend[illegible] of the man [illegible] the latter was [illegible] withheld: "I [illegible] volumes to [illegible] I must con[illegible] important [illegible] who [illegible] of the [illegible] attends [illegible] A [illegible] who [illegible] a distin[illegible] (that [illegible]

Rev. Henry Jackson and family arrived from India May 21st, received an appointment to Milton, on the Hudson, in the New York Conference, and have gone to occupy it. Rev. Brothers Anderson and Johnson left the port of New York on the 24th inst.—one for Sweden and the other for Norway, and both for the improvement of their health.

Miss Mary Sharp, destined for Liberia, had arrived at Teneriffe at our last advice and was full of hope to reach her destined field, to live and labor for the benefit of the natives of Africa.

Religious Items.

Spurgeon, says the London News, has been gifted by nature with a voice distinctly audible at the edge of a crowd of ten thousand persons in the open air.

Rev. Dr. J. P. Newman has ordered one of Mr. Wythe's Models of Jerusalem as a gift to Drew Theological Seminary. This will be a valuable addition to the educational facilities of the institution.

Dickinson College, Pennsylvania, is the oldest institution of learning owned and controlled by the Methodist Episcopal Church. It was founded in 1783; therefore, she will soon celebrate her centennial year.

The American Missionary Association has decided to accept Mr. Arthington's proposition, accompanied with $15,000, to occupy a district in Central Africa, which lies south of Abyssinia and north of the Victoria Nyanza. It is accessible by the Nile, and steamers can be used on the Nile and its tributaries, so as to facilitate communication with different tribes. The Association calls for $35,000 more to start the Mission. About ten missionaries will be required.

M. Loyson, "Pere Hyacinthe," believes that marriage is the first sacrament established by God among men; and upon which the priesthood itself was founded; that any hindrance placed thereon is of Satan. This great Catholic reformer further asserts that the great majority of Catholics not only approve of a married clergy, but, as in his own case, take it as the only real guarantee of a thorough reform. That the majority of priests are with him, and think, only in private what they dare not as yet put into language.

The International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association was held at Mount Vernon Place Church. About six hundred delegates were present from the various Christian organizations and countries of the land, as well as others from foreign fields. Mr. Moody presided at the sessions, which were full of interest and power. There was plenty of good speaking, and the Convention made a good impression upon the community. As usual, delegates occupied many of the churches on the Sunday of the Convention.

After spending about seven months in constant labors in the various churches, Mr. Moody left Baltimore, and is now at his home in Northfield, Mass. He became exceedingly popular among all classes, and his departure was universally regretted. He witnessed a most wonderful work of grace, such as he thinks has not been equaled in any other place where he has labored. It is said that several hundreds of the convicts in the State Penitentiary were converted, as Mr. Moody took special interest in them, and preached to them every Sunday morning.

The route East and North is the [illegible] Louisville Route because it [illegible] advantages to the traveler [illegible] by any other, with more [illegible] of railroad and a larger capi[illegible] any other. It has always [illegible] to furnish the traveling pub[illegible] the best accommodations [illegible] of speed and comfort. [illegible] ballasted road [illegible] day and night [illegible] with all modern [illegible] they are enabled to [illegible] and closer con[illegible] solidity of its [illegible] freedom from [illegible] traveler all the [illegible] if you wish good [illegible] close and [illegible] connections, [illegible] don't fail [illegible] accept [illegible] of

Sunday School.

June 22, 1879.—CONSECRATION TO GOD.

Scripture.—Mal. 3: 8-18.

Golden Text.—"And they shall be mine saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels"—17.

Topic.—"Godliness is profitable unto all things."—1 Tim. 4: 8.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher]

The Connection.—The Book of Malachi is a vindication of the love and the righteousness of God. He shows that he has loved Israel by comparing her condition with that of Edom. He rebukes the priests for their mercenary disposition in regard to their blemished and repulsive sacrifices. Next God denounces the Jews for their unfaithfulness in the marriage relation, often divorcing Israelitish for heathen wives. In the beginning of the chapter in which our lesson occurs, the Lord announces that he will send his messenger to prepare the way for the unexpected coming of the Messiah. The day of his coming he declares will be a day of judgment.

An Impious Robbery (8, 9).—In answer to the exhortation, "Return unto me," the people are represented as saying with surprise, "Wherein shall we return?" In their own opinion they had kept God's ordinances, and walked with sufficient mournfulness before the Lord of hosts. 14. But, in response to their question, God proceeds to show them wherein they need to return. His first indictment is that they have robbed him by witholding the tithes and offerings which were his due. The tithes consisted of the the tenth part of the corn, wine, and oil, and of the firstlings of the flocks. Lev. 27: 39; Deut. 14: 22. These were for the support of the Levites; and had been withheld. They brought to him the refuse of the herd. The people made nothing by keeping back that which rightfully belonged to God. "Ye are cursed with a curse; for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation." They refused the tenth part of their products—God smote their harvest fields with barrenness.

A Large Blessing (10-12.)—On account of their parsimony the people had grown poor instead of rich. God points out to them the way back to prosperity. "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house." Their first act was to be one of justice toward God. He promised to do three things: 1 To open "the windows of heaven," and to pour out a blessing such as there should not be room enough to receive it. 2. "I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and shall not destroy the fruits of your ground." They had, then, been plagued with the locusts, or some other destructive insect. 3. "And all nations shall call you blessed; for ye shall be a delight-some land, saith the Lord of hosts."

A Wrong Estimate (13.15).—In further answer to their question, "Wherein shall we return?" the Lord points out to the people that their words had been stout against him. 1. "Ye had said, It is in vain to serve God." They averred that they had tried it, and knew. They had kept his ordinance out of a purely speculative spirit—to see how much they could make in doing it. The fact that dishonesty often goes unrebuked is a great temptation to weak principled men. The speedy conviction and punishment of criminals is a great strengthener of the moral backbone of a good many people.

A Book of Remembrance (16 18)—"Then they that feared the Lord spake often (omit often) one to another." When his acts toward his servants are impugned, then it is time for them to speak. It is time for them to testify that his ways are just, and that in their own experience they know that the Lord is good. "And the Lord hearkened, and heard it." Does he ever miss a word that his children utter? "And a book of remembrance was kept before him." The day is coming when the book shall be opened, and then any one can discern who is the better off. "For the day cometh that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts." 4: 1. The next chapter gives in full the reasons for the declaration last made in this. It contains the final words of the Old Testament, and they are unspeakably solemn. They showed that there is a book of doom as well as a book of remembrance. In which shall the names of our pupils be written?

Marriages.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Jackson, Miss., June 11, 1879, by Rev. A. Davis, Mr. Curtis Mayses to Miss Cornelia Molloy, both of Jackson.

General News Items.

The Prohibitionists of Indiana nominated a full State ticket.

Grasshoppers have destroyed crops in the interior of Columbia.

Maine Greenbackers nominated Jos. L. Smith, of Oldtown, for Governor.

Com. Foxhall A. Parker, superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, died.

The governor general of Moscow proclaimed martial law in five adjacent provinces.

The sultan will sanction reforms demanded by the people of Crete, and give that island autonomy.

The colored exodus emigration association of Chicago, gives a concert in Farewell Hall in aid of the movement.

Hon. Henry W. Blair was nominated for U. S. Senator, by New Hampshire Republicans; Henry Bingham by Democrats.

The evidence in the Kellogg Spofford contest given to date is not favorable to the claims of Mr. Spofford, and is disgraceful at the best.

A Generous Deed.

Carrollton, June 10, 1879.

Mr. Editor—I desire on behalf of Clinton Street M. E. Church to publicly thank Mrs. S. Hernsheim for a generous deed. This estimable lady was informed that a subscription was being raised to purchase a Bible for pulpit use, when she kindly offered to donate to the church a copy of the scriptures. A handsome, large volume, on which was printed in gilt letters, "Clinton Street Church, Carrollton," was presented to the church on Sunday last. The congregation adopted immediately an expression of thankful appreciation of the gift, and wish the lady God's blessing.

Yours truly, S. Duncan, Pastor.

Deaths.

Bro. Henderson Simmons, one of our faithful members died April 22, at the age of 57.

Sister Mary Wilson died May 3, aged 27, perfectly ready and full of faith. R. Hayes, Pastor.
Coffadeliah, Miss., May 30, 1879.

Miss Martha Miller departed this life May 26, 1879, aged 17 years. She had been a faithful member of the M. E. Church for four years She died in the triumph of a living faith, leaving a father, sister and grandmother to mourn their loss.
B. L. Crump.
Jones' Chapel, Greenwood Circuit, Miss.

Sister Mary James, wife of Rev. D. James, died May 7th at 8:30 a. m. She died in the full triumph of faith; aged fifty-nine years. She was a member of the church thirty-seven years. She was afflicted for fourteen years. She died at Waynesboro, where Rev. D. James was sent by the last conference. His age is seventy-five years. He has met the annual conference twelve sessions, one of them in New Orleans. P. Jamison.
Shubuta, Miss., May 25, 1879.

John L. Hickman was born Nov. 23, 1839, and died March 3, 1879, aged 39 years, 3 months and 25 days. Bro. Hickman was a faithful member of the M. E. Church for ten years and a member of the masonic order in the State of Indiana for nine years. He attended the Central Tennessee College two or three sessions under Dr. Braden. He said before he died: "I have finished my work; I have nothing to do but go and live with Jesus, my King, for all is well. Adieu to the world."
E. Provine, Pastor.
Alexandria circuit, Tennessee.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has for many years occupied an honorable place in the toilet of American women, and has also attained popularity in foreign countries. This is because it does PERFORM what it promises. Its warmest friends are those who have used it longest, and those who sound its praise the loudest are those who from actual experience and personal trial have demonstrated that by its use gray hair is restored to its natural color, and dry, harsh and wiry hair is made soft and lustrous, a thing of beauty, and a matter of joy and pride to the wearer.—Sub-Soiler and Democrat, Corinth, Miss.

Important Notice.

Any Sunday-school not now taking the Sunday-school Class-mate will on application by the pastor, stating the number of pupils outside of the primary class, receive a sufficient number of specimen copies for distribution that they may see what a beautiful and valuable paper it is. The same offer is made with regard to the Sunday School Advocate. Address Phillips & Hunt, 805 Broadway, N. Y.

New Books.

Spiritual Songs for Social Worship. Scribner & Co., New York.

In response to numerous demands for a chapel edition of the new hymn and tune book, "Spiritual Songs," by Rev. Chas. S. Robinson, D. D., the publishers have issued a carefully prepared edition, comprising the hymns and tunes of this book best adapted to social worship, with some valuable additions.

New Publications.

The Sunday-school Times and Scholars' Quarterly for the third quarter of 1879 has a map illustrating Paul's Missionary Journeys, and illustrations of ancient Corinth, Ephesus, Salonica and Phillippi. John D. Wattles, publisher, No. 610 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

Ghosts.

Not Col. Ingersoll's "aristocracy of the air," but real human ghosts. Ghosts that were once healthy men and women, but are now simply the "ghosts of what they once were." As we meet them, and inquire the cause of all this change, they repeat the old, old story, "a cold," "neglected cough," "catarrh," "overwork," or "dyspepsia," "liver complaint," and "constipation," with unsuccessful physicians and remedies. In offering his Golden Medical Discovery, and Pleasant Purgative Pellets for the cure of the above affections, Dr. Pierce does not recommend them as a "sure cure" in all stages. For if the lungs be half wasted away, or there be a cancerous complication, no physician or medicine can cure. The Discovery is, however, an unequaled pectoral and blood purifier. It speedily cures the most aggravated cough or cold, and in its early or middle stages, consumption. By correcting all irregularities of the stomach and liver, it readily cures blotches, pimples, scrofulous ulcers, "bunches," or tumors. Hundreds testify that it has restored their health, after eminent physicians had failed. For constipation, use the Pellets. As a local remedy for cattarh, use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Workingmen.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winter of relaxation, your system needs cleansing and strengthening to prevent an attack of Ague, Billious or Spring Fever, or some other Spring sickness that will unfit you for a season's work. You will save much time, much sickness and great expense if you will use one bottle of Hop Bitters in your family this month. Don't wait. See other column.

Quarterly Conferences.

Marshall (Texas) District.

THIRD ROUND.

Leon, June 21-22; Fairfield, June 28-29; Cotton Gin, July 5-6; Palestine Circuit, July 12-13; Palestine and Buffalo, July 19-20; Mineola, July 26-27; Marshall and Marshall Circuit, August 2-3; Hallville August 9-10; Tyler, August 16-17; Crockett, August 23-24; Nacogdoches, August 30-31; San Augustine, Sept. 6-7; Lower Sabine, 13-14. 25-26

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

New Orleans, June 16, 1879.

COTTON—
Low Ordinary	—@ —
Ordinary	—@11
Good Ordinary	—@11¼
Low Middling	—@11¾
Middling	—@12¼
Good Middling	—@12½
SUGAR—
Common	5¼@ 8
Strictly Prime	6½@ —
Yellow Clarified	7 @ 7¼
White	7¼@ 8¼
MOLASSES—
Choice	—@ 35
Strictly Prime	33@ —
Common	25@ 27
Centrifugal	20@ 23
COFFEE—Quotations for gold.
Ordinary	11¼@11¾
Fair	14 @14½
Good	15 @15½
Prime	15½@16
LARD—
Refined, tierce	7¼ to 7½
Kegs and half barrels	7½ to 7¾
Buckets (refined)	7½ to 8

The Three numbers of Gospel Hymns, introduced by Messrs. Moody & Sankey at Religious Meetings, are pre-eminently popular. Millions are already in use, and they can be profitably used by millions more.

GOSPEL HYMNS are issued in 3 vols., designated as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. Price for each:
Music Edition, in Boards, $30 per 100; 35 Cts. by Mail.
Words only, Paper Covers, $5 per 100; 8 Cts. by Mail.
SOLD BY BOOKSELLERS EVERYWHERE.
BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers.
76 East Ninth Street, New York. | 73 Randolph Street, Chicago.
n26 tf

REED & BARTON,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Silver-Plated
TABLE WARE
Of Every Description.
686 Broadway, New York.
25 tf

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

ARTIST'S MATERIALS, Wax, Goods, Shades, &c. A. H. Abbott & Co. Chicago.
n12 4t em

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.
n19 1yl

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC
Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates,
Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.
Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.
The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:
Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your Iron Tonic, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the Tonic. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the Tonic has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,
Troy, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. Watson, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.
For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.
n10 1y

SHIRTS.
THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.
The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.
—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—
NEW NECKWEAR,
Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz.
EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.
☞ Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.
B. T. WALSHE,
110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
n20 15t

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first Monday of every month in Wesley Chapel, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. Brower, President.
Lazarus D. Thompson, Vice-President.
Hamilton Taylor, Treasurer.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Benjamin L. Hale, Chairman Stewards.
Dr. J. H. Koker, Physician.
Rev. Scott Chinn, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes Hones, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.
Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

Alcorn University,
Near RODNEY, MISS.
Thorough instruction in ENGLISH and the CLASSICS given.
TEXT BOOKS can be purchased at the University at WHOLESALE PRICES.
BOARD
In the MESS, and WASHING, only $1.25 per week.
Or if preferred
WASHING and FIRST-CLASS BOARD $2.00 per week.
INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.
All students coming to this place are requested to bring at least one blanket and a pillow.
☞ The regular packets R. E. Lee and Natchez bring students from Vicksburg to Rodney for $3.
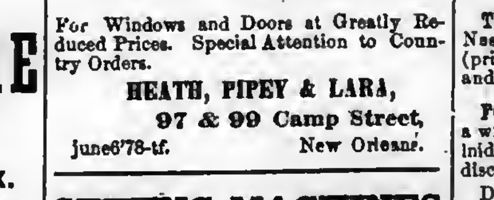
All who intend coming by that route, will write me to that effect, so that I may forward them a certificate to present to the clerk of the boat. Address
Rev. H. R. Revels,
RODNEY, MISS.
n24 je 15 3m

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.
Heath, Pippey & Lara,
Carpet Warehouse,
Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
New Styles China Mattings,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPEY & LARA,
97 & 99 Camp Street,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

SEWING MACHINES
Cheap for Cash.
We have some Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,
PHILLIPS & HUNT.
New Orleans.



Latest thing out. A pretty and durable Fan; hand it to a friend, and it instantly falls to pieces; you alone can restore it; a rich joke; causes endless fun and wonder; worth double the price as a fan alone. Sent postpaid for 25c; two for 45c; $1.40 per doz. Postage stamps taken. Address
EUREKA TRICK & NOVELTY CO.,
P. O. Box 4614. No. 39 Ann St., New York.

ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD,
123 Carondelet Street,
Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
☞ SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.
n 20 3m

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each - - - - - - - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - 50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - $1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual,
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.

☞ Suitable for Pulpit Use.
Contains sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Sheep, each - - - - - - - - $1 50
Roan, embossed - - - - - - 2 00

12m., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - $1 00
This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges - - 2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

BOOKS
—FOR—
Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wekefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY
Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,
A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Requisites.

—:o:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals, and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

☞ All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate — Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Class-mate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for Infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	50cts
The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.
The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be re-sent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

Ecclesiastical Law
—AND—
Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—
HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases. * * * * * * *

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judical investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

THE GREAT
JACKSON ROUTE
Having been rebuilt with
STEEL RAILS!
Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points
North and East.
☞ IT IS ☜
180 Miles Shorter and 10½ Hours Quicker to Chicago.
112 Miles Shorter and 6½ Hours Quicker to St. Louis
☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE. ☜
And the ONLY LINE to
LOUISVILLE and CINCINNATI.
Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars
Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.
No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. The Eating Houses are entirely new, and the best in the South.
☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.
Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5:15 p. m.
Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Corner of Common.
F. Chandler,
General Passenger Agent.

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may Obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fullness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have made this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

FREE GIFT! TO ALL who suffer with CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, SORE THROAT, BRONCHITIS, or NASAL CATARRH. I will send a copy of "MEDICAL COMMON SENSE," free of charge. It is elegantly printed and illustrated; 144 pages, 12mo., 1879. It has been the means, in the providence of God, of saving many valuable lives. The book is invaluable to persons suffering with any disease of the Nose, Throat, or Lungs. Send name, with P. O. Address and six cents to pay cost of mailing to Dr. N. B. WOLFE, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Young Folks' Corner.

THREE KITES.

Three kites went sailing into the air,
Higher, and higher, and higher;
"Mine is the best," cried Johnnie Stout,
"And mine the finest flyer."

"But mine will go," cried Neddie Day,
"Up to the great church steeple!"
"And mine," cried tiny Tim, "will rise
Beyond the eyes of the people."

Alas for boys as well as men,
Who set such kites a flying!
They lodged all three in a high-topped tree,
And the boys went home a crying.
—Louisa Anna Lenson.

The Child-Dike.

Holland is a beautiful country, full of green fields, with cattle and sheep grazing in the pastures; but there are few trees and no hills to be seen. The ground is so flat and low that two or three times the sea has rushed in over parts of it and destroyed whole towns. In one of these floods, about two hundred years ago, more than twenty thousand people were drowned. In some of the towns that were flooded not a creature of any kind was left alive.

A large part of the water that came in at the time of the flood still remains. It is known as "the ..." and in one part of it there is a little green island—a part of an old dike or dam—which is called the "kinder-dike," or child-dike," and it got its name in this way.

The waters rushed in over one of the little Friesland villages, and no one had any warning. In one of the houses there lay a child asleep in its cradle—an old fashioned one, made tight and strong of stout wood. ... the side of the cradle lay ... cat, baby's friend, probably ... away as comfortably as ... In came the waters with ... roar. The old cat, in her ... jumped into the cradle with ..., who slept through the ... as quietly as ever. The ... were drowned in their beds. ... was torn from its foundations and broke in pieces. But ... cradle floated out on the ... in that dark night, bearing its precious burden. ... morning came there was ... be seen of the villages ... meadows. All was ... of people were ... trying to save as many ...; and on this little ... that I have spoken ... think they found? ... old cradle, with the ... it, and the old ... her feet, all safe ...

... little voyagers came ... they belonged, ... But in memory ... island was called ... child-dike—and ... name to this day; ... is told to thousands ... all over Holland as ... instance of God's ...
—Nursery.

... and Heroes.

... I live! How funny!" ... "Hurrah!" about ... were they ... patches on ... dress. She ... had the boy's ... little heart! At ... down, then the ... great rush, and ...

... boys. ... to sit next to ... to come ... proud ...

... word they ... Stewart, ... and ... "Let ... continu... a little ... her ... the ...

The Tidy Housewife.

The careful tidy housewife, when ... her house its spring ... should bear in mind that ... of her house are ... than houses, and ... needs cleansing ... blood, regulating ... bowels to prevent ... arising from ... miasma, and ... there is ... is so perfectly ... Bitters, the ... medicine.

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to inquire for my son Bob. He left me in 1857 at Liberty, Texas. I am now living in Beaumont. Address
SALLFY GRIFFITH,
Care A. Logan, Beaumont, Texaas.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to inquire for Millie Nemar and Mary Braxton. I have here a boy that left New Orleans about four years ago by the name of Shadrliok Braxton, who says he has sisters by the above names and would like to get information concerning them.
M. M. MCKINNEY,
Granada, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—I desire to inquire for relatives. Mother's name was Frances, father's Isaac, brother's Jerry, sister's Julia Bows. They used to belong to Elihu Bows. I left them in Holmes Co., Mississippi. My name was Leanna. I married and now live in Galveston. Address,
MRS. LEANNA ALEXANDER,
Care Rev. V. M. Cole, Galveston, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR—I want to find my father. He left us about two years before emancipation. We once belonged to a man named Ben Ivy, near Livingston, Sumpter Co., Ala., next to John T. Smith. I know the old man is old and needs his children to work for him. The oldest was Judy, next Patrick, Ransom, Cora, Peter and Emma Ivy. We are all living in Meridian together, and able to care for our father. Mother died two years ago. Address
R. N. IVY,
Meridian, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—Please allow me space in your paper for a card of inquiry for my son. I left him in Claiborne City, Mississippi, some twenty odd years ago, belonging to the family of Mr. Elias Bridger. His mother's name is Clarissa. His is Solomon Rhodes. His father, Jack Rhodes. He had a step-father named Skinner Simkes. I don't know which name he took, or whether he knows his right name or not, as he was small. Any information would be gladly received. Address JACK RHODES, 185 Soraparu St., New Orleans.

MR. EDITOR—I am seeking the whereabouts of my mother. I left her in St. Mary parish, La., about the year 1860. Her name is Elizabeth Brooks. She had a little boy, William, about two years old when I left. We formerly belonged to Solomon Levi. I nursed awhile for Mrs. Capt. Atkinson. Her husband ran the steamboat T. D. Hines. After this Rosa Levi, daughter of Solomon Levi, married Mr. Roadwoof Bare, and brought me to Texas. My father, Henderson Brooks, came to Texas the same year I did, but I don't know where he is. My name was Martha Ann Elizabeth Brooks. Preachers and readers in St. Mary parish, I pray you, for the Lord's sake, to seek out my old mother. Address me M. A. E. TOLBERT, Care W. H. Jackson, San Felipe, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to make inquiry for my mother. She was sold in Lunenburg Co., Virginia, by Joe Hankins to Silas Woods. I was sold at the same time, but when Woods came after us Hankins bought me back from him, but let him take my mother. They sold her to some trader, and as I was only seven years old I cannot recollect much about it. Three years after I was brought to Texas. and I have not heard of mother since Woods sold her. I took my name after the man that bought my mother, and he was said to be my father. Two of mother's brothers came to Texas with me, Dick and James Hankins. Mother was Lucy Hankins. Two cousins, Betsey and Stephen, children of mother's sister Nancy who died in Virginia, came with us to Texas.
RICHARD WOODS,
Davilla, Texas.

Benson's Capcine Porus Plaster.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. 21 51

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)
Cloth, 12mo. Price..............$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC
OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,
DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE
will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:0:—

DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

"Unsurpassed as a Teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D.,
EDITOR.
Rev. J. M. Freeman,
ASSOCIATE.

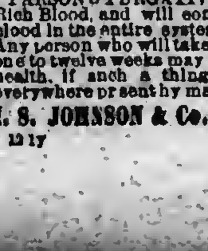
Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to
Phillips & Hunt, Publishers,
805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

HOME + ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive.
And the thousand things all "want to know."
One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.



... PUBLISHED—Sent Free
... of Wall Street Finance ... information for investors ... Co., Publishers, ... Wall ...

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every Presiding Elder and Preacher in charge should have one. Price..............$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price..............$1 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price..............40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price..............$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price..............$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price..............$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price..............$1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price..............$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price..............$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price..............$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price..............$1 00

Saints' Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price..............$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo..............$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo..............75
Roan, gilt edge, avo..............1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, avo..............2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price..............$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost..............$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price..............$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each..............25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price..............$3 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good.
Price, per dozen..............$1 50.
Large size, each..............20.
Large and illuminated, each..............25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference.
Price, per hundred..............$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100..............$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100..............$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100..............$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100..............$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100..............$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000..............$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100..............$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100..............$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100..............$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100..$3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100..............75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price..............$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price..............$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price..............$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price..............$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price..............1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price..............1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

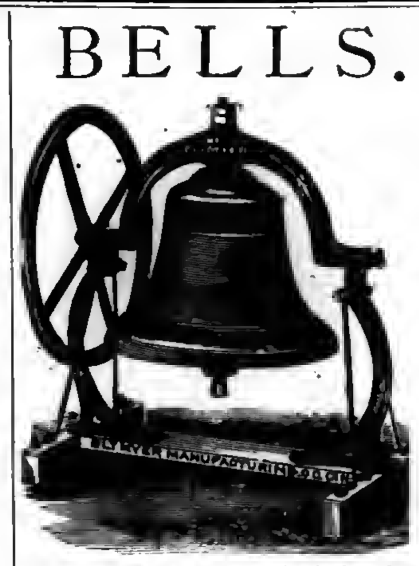
Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price..............$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following:
I. Coval's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address
Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
35 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with those bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf| New Orleans.

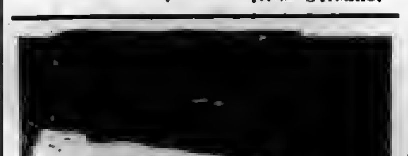
New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding case for ... hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. ... Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S
BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Our Great Specialty is growing and distributing these Beautiful Roses. We deliver Strong Pot Plants, suitable for immediate bloom, safely by mail, at all post-offices. 5 Splendid Varieties, your choice, all labeled, for $1; 12 for $2; 19 for $3; 26 for $4; 35 for $5; 75 for $10; 100 for $13. Send for our New Guide to Rose Culture—60 pages, elegantly illustrated—and choose from over Five Hundred Finest Sorts. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.
n7 10teow

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

FREE TO ALL
FLEETWOOD'S
LIFE OF CHRIST.
880 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.
Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.,
178 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.
n20 8t

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are young, and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation, take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, take
HOP BITTERS.
Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take
HOP BITTERS.
Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take
HOP BITTERS.
If you are simply ailing, are weak and low spirited, try it! Buy it. Insist upon it. Your druggist keeps it.
HOP BITTERS.
It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
12 1y

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

The Human Locomotive should be carefully engineered, otherwise it may run off the track of life at any moment. To keep its delicate internal machinery in perfect trim, or to put it in good working condition when out of order, is the peculiar province of Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.
The thoroughness with which it cleanses, without irritating the bowels; the tone and vigor which it imparts to the stomach; its appetizing effects; its cooling, refreshing operation in fever; the relief it affords in headache; its antibilious properties, and its superior merits as a general corrective, justify the assertion that it is, beyond all comparison, the most valuable family medicine of the age.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
n25 2t

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

AGENT WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.
RELIABLE, INTELLIGENT, BUSINESS MEN can clear $1,000 to $1000 yearly in the NEW AGENCY. Entirely new and desirable—pleasant and permanent. Can be carried on in connection with a store, shop or mill by any good agent.
Suitable for every county in the United States. Address
J. B. CHAPMAN.
n23 8t 70 West Street, MADISON, IND.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

X Cancer
Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 4,000 cases within the last 25 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address
W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 30 days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.
n22 4t

Plan of Episcopal Visitation, 1879.

[CHRONOLOGICAL.]

Conference.	Place.	Time.		Bishop.
Germany and Switzerland	Bremen	June	26	Wiley
Montana	Butte	July	3	Merrill
Sweden	Stockholm	"	10	Wiley
Utah	Provo	"	17	Merrill
Delaware	Cambridge	"	24	Scott
Norway	Stavanger	"	24	Wiley
Colorado	Pueblo	August	7	Merrill
Columbia River	Walla Walla	"	7	Haven
Oregon	Portland	"	20	Haven
Central German	New Albany	"	27	Simpson
Des Moines	Des Moines	"	27	Harris
Cincinnati	Urbana	Sept.	3	Simpson
St. Louis German	St. Louis	"	3	Bowman
Iowa	Burlington	"	3	Harris
N. W. Indiana	South Bend	"	3	Foster
S. E. Indiana	Lawrenceburgh	"	3	Peck
N. W. Swedish	Moline	"	4	Andrews
South California	Los Angeles	"	4	Haven
Detroit	Ann Arbor	"	10	Bowman
Michigan	Ionia	"	10	Foster
Southern Illinois	Salem	"	10	Andrews
Indiana	New Albany	"	10	Peck
Western German	St. Joseph	"	11	Harris
Central Ohio	Lima	"	17	Simpson
North Ohio	Wooster	"	17	Foster
Illinois	Jacksonville	"	17	Andrews
California	San Jose	"	17	Haven
Ohio	Gallipolis	"	24	Simpson
Erie	Mercer	"	24	Bowman
Upper Iowa	Davenport	"	24	Harris
East Ohio	Akron	"	24	Foster
Chicago German	Chicago	"	24	Andrews
West Wisconsin	La Crosse	"	24	Peck
Nevada	Winnemucca	"	25	Haven
Western Virginia	Morgantown	October	1	Simpson
Central New York	Cortland	"	1	Bowman
Wisconsin	Milwaukee	"	1	Andrews
Minnesota	Winona	"	1	Peck
North-West Iowa	Sioux City	"	2	Harris
Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh	"	8	Bowman
Nebraska	Lincoln	"	8	Harris
Genesee	Buffalo	"	8	Foster
Rock River	Chicago	"	8	Andrews
Central Illinois	Monmouth	"	8	Haven
Northwest German	St. Paul	"	8	Peck
Holston	Knoxville	"	15	Wiley
Foochow	Foochow	"	15
Georgia	Atlanta	Novem.	12	Scott
Alabama	Murphree's Valley	"	20	Scott
Austin	Denuison	"	20	Merrill
Tennessee	Lebanon	"	20	Wiley
Central Alabama	Huntsville	"	27	Scott
South German	Industry	"	27	Merrill
Central Tennessee	Nashville	"	27	Wiley
West Texas	Victoria	Decem.	8	Merrill
Savannah	Rome	"	4	Scott
South India	Allahabad	"	4
Texas	Galveston	"	10	Merrill
*Denmark	Copenhagen	July	2	Wiley
*Central China	Kiukiang	August	6
*North China	Peking	"	6
*New Mexico	La Junta	"	16	Merrill
*Arizona
*Bulgaria
*South America

*A mission not organized into an Annual Conference, but in which an "Annual Meeting" is held, a bishop presiding if present, and in his absence, the superintendent of the mission presiding. By order of the Board of Bishops,
WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.
Wheeling, W. Va., May 20, 1879.

Caution to Dealers and Consumers.

The great merit and perfect safety of the

INSURANCE OIL

have made it so popular that some persons are trying to palm off inferior oils on the community, by alleging that they are as good as Insurance Oil.

Consumers and Fair Dealers, who wish to use or sell the genuine Insurance Oil, are therefore cautioned not to buy any illuminating oil purporting to be Insurance Oil, unless sold by the Insurance Oil Tank Company, their Agents, or persons duly authorized by the Company.

To protect the people against imposition, every barrel and case of pure Insurance Oil is branded:
TRADE MARK
INSURANCE OIL
PAT. JAN. 8 1875.

This trade mark is fully protected by United States Letters Patent, dated Jan. 8, 1875, and the proprietors are determined to prosecute, to the extent of the law, any attempts to infringe upon their rights, either by using this trade mark without their consent, or by selling other oils under the name of Insurance Oil.

THE INSURANCE OIL IS THE ONLY ILLUMINATING OIL THAT HAS THE FULL ENDORSEMENT OF THE LEADING INSURANCE COMPANIES OF EUROPE AND AMERICA.

Put up in best barrels and also in New Patent Faucet Cans.
Orders should be addressed
Insurance Oil Tank Company,
95 and 97 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.,
Or, the Branch Offices of the Company in
GALVESTON, HOUSTON and AUSTIN, TEXAS.

Cotton Planters, Cotton Factors and Country Merchants
EVERYWHERE, PURCHASE THE CELEBRATED ARROW TIE!

Important Special Notice!
IRON COTTON TIES.

In view of the constantly increasing popularity and demand for the celebrated ARROW TIE, the universally recognized favorite Tie of Planters, Cotton Press men, Shippers of cotton generally, the American Cotton Tie Supply Company, sole proprietors and manufacturers of said Tie, commanding unequalled facilities, have, in addition to their large stock now on hand, contracted for increased quantities sufficient to meet the largest demand for Cotton Ties to cover the entire crop of the coming season, and now through their Agents generally, offer the popular and irrepressible ARROW TIE at lowest market price, in bundles complete, being less than the market value of plain hoop iron, it being the purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, and defy all competition that may arise.

Office of the AMERICAN COTTON TIE SUPPLY COMPANY,
No. 60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.
R. W. RAYNE, President.
n23 1y

73,620 MORE
Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.
n9 1y

Wheeler & Wilson,
NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,
WITH SILENT FEED

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—
No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Foreign Mi-

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14--NO. 26. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 360.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
89 Natchez Street, New Orleans

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance.

All Traveling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter, P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more	8 cents
One month, (4 times)	7 "
Three months, (13 times)	6 "
Six months, (26 times)	5 "
One year, (52 times)	4 "
Marriage notices	25 "
Special notices	8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:
805 Broadway, New York,
WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

DOE THE NEXTE THYNGE.

From an old English parsonage,
Down by the sea,
There came in the twilight
A message to me;
Its quaint Saxon legend,
Deeply engraven,
Hath, as it seems to me,
Teaching for heaven;
And on through the hours
The quaint words ring,
Like a low inspiration;
"Doe the nexte thynge."

Many a questioning,
Many a fear,
Many a doubt,
Hath its quieting here,
Moment by moment,
Let down from heaven,
Time, opportunity,
Guidance are given.
Fear not to-morrows,
Child of the King;
Trust them with Jesus:
"Doe the nexte thynge."

Oh! He would have thee
Daily more free;
Knowing the might
Of thy royal degree.
Ever in waiting,
Glad for His call;
Tranquil in chastening,
Trusting through all.
Comings and goings
No turmoil need bring;
His all thy future;
"Doe the nexte thynge."

Do it immediately;
Do it with prayer;
Do it reliantly,
Casting all care;
Do it with reverence,
Tracing His hand
Who hath placed it before thee
With earnest command.
Stayed on Omnipotence,
Safe 'neath His wing,
Leave all results,
"Doe the nexte thynge."

Looking to Jesus,
[illegible]
[illegible] ring,
[illegible] His presence,
[illegible]
[illegible] countenance,
[illegible]
[illegible] and Service.

[illegible] to Texas.

[illegible]

domain," and the State Constitution provides that each man not the head of a family is entitled to eighty acres of this land, and one with a family, 160. All this is as true as the sun shines; but who in the name of high Heaven wants to cast their lot on the frontier among the Indians, and where there is no water. I would just as soon be subject to the bulldozers and the shot-gun policy as to live on the frontier and be scalped on one side by Indians and negro haters, and starve to death for water on the other. The Texans have not tried the shot-gun policy on the black man yet, and thus stained their hands with negro blood. But the question is—why? Because in the first place the negro is as humble to them as a dog, or he will soon find himself wading through the cold stream of Jordan. 2d, They are in the majority. They have a sweeping majority in the House and Senate.

I will take the liberty to say that Texas is not the place for the Cushites. I am partly acquainted with a little company of colored people of Texas that left Austin in the year 1871, and cast their lot in the northwestern part of Texas on public land, where they pre-empted the land according to law, and went to work like men. No sooner had they erected their houses, made their fences, and educated themselves for a good living, than the white people commenced to stick up little hand bills here and there, and everywhere, giving them so many days to leave the community. Saying that this is a white man's country, and if you don't leave, your neck will abide the consequence. This the negro paid no attention to, but kept on improving. Now and then a house would be burned down; every day or two a cow or horse would be gone, so the poor nigger in deep despair must leave his all behind for the white man's booty. Talk about Texas! I'll never advise a colored man to come to Texas, but would be glad in my heart to see about 15,000 leave this fall, and we have a fair indication for it. The emigration spirit and exodus fever runs high in many portions of Texas, and the entire State will finally take it. Coming to Texas or to any other Southern State would do us no good politically. What the colored man wants is to gain by emigration what he has lost by the shot-gun and bulldozing policy—his seat in Congress. Just think of it! There are about five million colored people in the United States of America, and out of that vast number has only one representative of her own race, and that is Senator Bruce, of Mississippi. And with a great change after the election of 1880, there won't be a black man's voice heard in the national halls to represent this colored nation. The framers of the Declaration of Independence would never have insulted the British crown had it not been that they considered that taxation without representation was illegal. I look at the black man's case in the same light. He pays as much tax according to his possession as the white that owns the cattle on the thousand hills. Yet he is threatened to be left entirely without representation.

I think it high time that the colored man should open his eyes and begin to cry in this language: "In God's name, whither are we drifting?" I say every one turn your course in an opposite direction to Texas. I don't think that the whole tide of emigration should be to Kansas—though enough should go there to give the Republican party more representatives in that State. Take for example New Mexico. There are thousands of acres of public land in that Territory, and if enough of our sort remove to that country it will soon become a State which would give us two Senators and six Representatives. We could elect our own governor and all of our State officers and run a government of our own. This plan will be complied with, or in a [illegible] years we will find ourselves [illegible] a passage worse than [illegible]

[illegible] so was talking about [illegible] station from the [illegible] there is a [illegible]

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Letter from Bryan.

BRYAN, Texas, June 9, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Since my last letter from Courtney, I have held six quarterly conferences. I went from Courtney to Anderson and spent some five days in that work. It is a circuit with four appointments—three in the country and one in town. The Lord met with us at the first coming together and the interest never grew less unto the end. We went into the country and hunted up the lost sheep of the house of Israel, preached to them the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ which made them feel happy, and when we left they said: "Come again, you have done us good."

Went from Anderson to Red Top circuit: preached once, held quarterly conference and administered the sacrament of the Lord's supper We have a good people here and I was favorably impressed with the members of the quarterly conference. The people turned out by hundreds to hear us preach at night and the Lord came down to our midst. Where He is His people always have a good time. Bros. Bookman and Coleman are the preachers: they are good men and are doing all they can for our cause. My next meeting was at Navasota, where we spent a week preaching, holding meetings and visiting from house to house, praying with the families. The Lord was with us in mighty power, the church was greatly blessed and from the evidence sinners gave us we believe many were convicted and we pray that it may end in their salvation. Bro. McKenzie, the pastor, is a faithful man and giving himself to the work. We have a good people at Navasota, but there are some old difficulties which have been in the way of success for years. We are now working at them and by God's help we intend to get them out of the way. Then we will look for a glorious revival and not until then. God will not bless a church until it puts away filth and sin.

Millican was the next point visited by us. Here we met a cordial welcome from pastor and people: they said, "we are glad you have come," and proved it by opening their houses to us. I had so many invitations to dine and sup that I could not comply with them all. While I have been kindly cared for at all the appointments, Millican is the only place where the people have manifested a universal desire to have the presiding elder visit them and pray with their families. I was reminded of the old days of Methodism, when a preacher was required to visit and pray with families.

From Millican I went to Bryan. Bro. Brown met me at the depot, gave me a warm shake of his hand seemed glad to see me and invited me to his house for dinner. Sister Brown met me at the door, welcomed me to her house and seemed to take delight in making my visit pleasant. I want to say that she is the better of the two halves. Here I found Bro. J. B. Mayes, from the North, who is teaching school in our church. He is a man of good morals and fine sense, the people are well pleased with him, and he will be a great help to us at this point. When he learns that the people go wild, like horses, in Texas and he gets used to it, he will be better satisfied. We have had a good meeting; God came down with great power—sometimes it was almost more than we could stand. Our love feast Monday night was grand—a wave of salvation rolled over the congregation, and one not accustomed to this people would have thought they were going wild. Bro. Mayes says he has not for years seen anything like it in the North. Let me add here that I look upon Bryan as one of the best appointments in the Navasota district, and second to none in the conference. It is true some appointments in the conference have more members and more money, but none have a stronger will to do and none do more than they, in proportion to wealth and members. Bryan is one of the prettiest little cities between Houston and Dallas. It is outgrowing any place in the State. Signs of improvement are seen everywhere. It is going to be the centre and headquarters of education and intelligence in this part of Texas. The city has taken hold of the matter and promises nine months schooling for both white and black next year. The location of Bryan is beautiful. The soil is sandy—no mud; rolling country; good water, to be had anywhere within from 25 to 40 feet. If I was going to seek a home for life I know of no place in which I would sooner buy. Pray for us.

W. L. MOLLOY.

Why Bishop Ames Sat Down.

BY REV. J. C. AMBROSE.

Edward R. Ames, a late distinguished bishop of the Methodist Church, began his ministry in Illinois; and, after becoming bishop, he always seemed especially happy in holding the annual conferences in that State. More than twenty years ago he was presiding over the conference in session at St. Charles, a village forty miles west from Chicago, when there occurred an incident that beautifully illustrated his character, won for him the lasting affections of his clergy in those parts, and published an insight into his early life. The details of the story I gather from one who was present.

A motion had been under consideration for some time, and the Bishop apparently thinking that enough had been said, arose to close the debate. At the same instant an elderly preacher, not observing the movement of the Bishop, stood up to add his views; when a brother tugged at his coat and signaled that the Bishop had the floor. But that worthy saw the manœuver, recognized the man with a remark to offer, and, dropping into his chair, said:

"Speak on, my good brother. Bishop Ames always sits down when Father Sinclair has anything to say."

The large company of ministers were much amazed; first looked seriously into the faces of one another; then gradually relaxed into mutual smiles, thinking the grave official had suddenly laid aside dignity for a little pleasantry at the expense of Father Sinclair. But the Bishop was far from the joking mood. Father Sinclair, alone in all the house, understood his motive, and was so embarrassed because he did that he said but little on the question he had risen to, then sat down, flushed with confusion, while the auditors wondered what surprise the Bishop had next in store for them. All bent upon him a gaze that seemed to solicit explanation. The Bishop understood the glances, and responded. His imposing form once more had the floor. His ever kind face betrayed emotion, and the last trace of a smile faded from the faces of the people as they looked into his. He proceeded, with evident hesitation, about as follows:

"Brethren," said he, "I see that you are surprised over my remark to Father Sinclair. I think I can relate a little story that will fully satisfy you that Bishop Ames does well to always sit down when Father Sinclair has anything to say. Upwards of twenty-five years ago I knew a young man just starting out to preach. He had been converted several years before, while in college, and thought he had a clear call to the work of the ministry. He had been licensed by his quarterly conference, and had tried hard for one year to make headway in the pulpit, or rather school houses, of a frontier circuit. But he made very poor work of preaching. It was not then permissible for a Methodist minister to take into the pulpit a manuscript, or even a note, and continue to be thought orthodox. That young man would get through his opening prayer and hymns, commence his sermon, lose the thread of it before he was half through, stumble on for a little time further in a stammering, incoherent manner, and call it finished, or break down completely in tears in the deepest mortification; and that, too, with a half-dozen gray-haired pilgrims before him, who could stand up and talk by the hour. And still that young man persisted in thinking that he had a 'call to preach.'

"But at the end of his first year the almost unanimous voice of the conference was that the youth had mistaken his calling, and that it would be trifling with sacred interests to renew his license. Just before the vote was taken a friendly minister, for whom all had great respect, and who knew much of the candidate's private prayers and struggles, stood up and protested a belief in his 'call,' and urged a renewal of his license. And, against conviction, but as a mark of personal regard for the friendly minister, the young man's license to preach was renewed for another year.

"His second year in the ministry was only a slight improvement over the first. If his public work effected any good, it came of tears, not of talk. And when he again asked to have his credentials continued there was a very decided expression among the official brethren that the young man might be very pious, but it was clear that he couldn't preach. They had tried him two years. That was probation enough for any man with a clear 'call.' When again the same kindly voice of that 'friendly minister' plead with the presiding elder in private and with the public conference to try the zealous boy once more. His last chance was given; but very reluctantly, and not at all on judgment, but as a favor to his friend.

"Brethren," continued the Bishop, with choked utterance and tears coursing down his cheeks, "that 'friend' was Father John Sinclair, and that 'boy' was Edward R. Ames. Now you know why Bishop Ames always sits down when Father Sinclair has anything to say."

The Bishop sat down, while every eye in the house ran tears over a joyous face. The conference took an informal intermission, while Father Sinclair received an ovation of thanks from all for having saved the boy and made the Bishop. His perception of a young man's call to preach was never after questioned.—Independent.

How Roman Catholic Schools are Supported.

The New York Catholic Protectory, a Romish institution in this city, in its report for 1878, acknowledges the receipt of $227,673 32 from the city treasury; $8,563 41 from the Commissioners of Charities and Correction; $50,000 from the State, of which not less than $20,000 was paid by the taxpayers of this city. This one institution, therefore, had $286,256 73 of the public money, and of this $256,237 73 was taken from the tax-payers of this city. The Commissioners of Charities and Correction reported that they had under their care in 1877 ten thousand persons in various institutions in the city, and expended for their support, exclusive of salaries and repairs, $761,123 22. It is evident, therefore, that the Romish Protectory receives more than one-third of the amount expended by the Commissioners. The charter of the institution provides that the children received shall be between seven and fourteen years old. Some of the inmates have been there since 1870, '71 and '72; there are, therefore, among them persons from sixteen to twenty years of age. Besides this, three of a family have been sent to the Protectory at one time, and this repeatedly, so that virtually families are supported, as the Board of Appropriation complained a while ago. On September 30 the number of inmates was 2,114. Homes were found during the year for only eleven per cent. of the children. The Children's Aid Society found homes in the West during the year for 3,818 children, at a cost of $20,876 19, which amount includes railroad fares, clothing, food, salaries, etc., making the average cost of each child to the public $7 82. Each child in the Protectory costs the public treasury nearly $140. This institution will soon be before the Legislature again asking for an appropriation. Every intelligent person can draw his own inferences from the facts stated, which are from the official records. How long shall the money of the people be used to maintain sectarian institutions? Romanism makes paupers wherever it is, and here calls on Protestants to take care of them.—Christian Intelligencer.

Not long since a Methodist minister came here from the South to obtain means to help rebuild a church burned by Gen. Sherman. He was received with brotherly hospitality, and arrangements were made to have him present the cause before the next meeting of Methodist ministers. While conversing with a well-known Methodist, the name of Bishop Haven was incidentally mentioned, when the old rebel spirit was stirred within him, and he denounced that gentleman in strong terms. The reply was in language quite as positive in tone, and the old war of Confederate against Unionist was fought over again. The visitor did not make his appearance at the Monday morning meeting, and upon inquiry being made it was ascertained that he had taken the first train for the South.—Boston Traveler.

A Christian Nation.

The Occident insists that we are the most Christian nation on the globe, and makes the following statistical argument to prove it: According to the census reports there were in the United States, in 1870, 38,558,371 inhabitants. There were at that time 72,459 organized Christian churches with 62,082 church edifices, worth $354,483,581. In their edifices there were 21,445,062 sittings. Now how many persons can go to church at any one time? Take out from the thirty-eight and a half millions the very young, the aged, and sick, and those who have to take care of them, would there be more than enough to fill the sittings in the churches if all who can go to church should go? Hence we have this fact, that there is in this land enough Christian enterprise and liberality to provide accommodations in Christian churches for the entire population.

Again: Compare the number of teachers of Christianity with the other learned professions. There were, in 1879, 43,974 clergymen, 40,076 lawyers, 62,000 physicians and surgeons, 38,000 printers, and 183,000 school teachers: More ministers than lawyers or printers; nearly as many ministers as doctors: One minister to every nine hundred inhabitants, old and young. Now somebody must sustain these ministers. And the fact that one is sustained, on an average, by each 180 families in the land, shows that there is a widely diffused interest in the preaching of the gospel.

There are nearly four times as many school teachers as clergyman. But this is only a fair proposition for a population fully supplied with both. A Sabbath congregation ought to be at least four times as large as a school which is taught by a single teacher.

We have in the land 125,000 public schools, and we have 72,459 church organizations. We are, then, as well supplied, relatively with churches as with schools. The public schools are the boast and glory of the nation. They cost us, in 1870, $64 000 000. But did not the 72,459 churches cost at least on an average, $1,000 each? In the Presbyterian Church last year, the average cost was $1,600 to a church. It may have been less in some other churches. But it is fair to assume that the people of this land pay freely at least $73,000,000 a year to sustain its Christian Church after investing in them in building and grounds, according to the census of 1870, no less than $354,483,581.

Let us take another class of facts: In 1870 the number of newspapers of all kinds in the United States was 5,871, with a circulation of 20,842,475. Hence there were more church sittings in the land by nearly a million than there were copies of papers, magazines, etc., circulated. For their twenty odd millions of publications the people pay an average of $3 a year. This would make the investment in them about $63,000,000 while we have shown that the cost of preachers and preaching could not have been less than $73,000,000.

These figures show the interest which we take as a people in Christianity. We do more to sustain it on the voluntary principle than we do on the same principle to sustain the press, or than we we do by taxation to sustain free schools. There is nothing dearer to the great majority of our citizens than the religion of Jesus Christ. There is nothing for which they make greater sacrifices. We have other statistics which we will print next week. We do not expect to convince the blatant infidels who denounce the Church as an effete institution, a rotten relic of the past. But we want to encourage Christians by showing them that the gospel which they love, is intrenched in the heart of the nation.

As the thoughts are, so will the acts be. We can elevate the condition of labor by allying it to noble thoughts, which confer grace upon the lowest as well as the highest rank. For no matter how poor or humble a man may be, the great thinkers of this and other days may come in and sit down with him, and be his companion for the time, though his dwelling be the meanest hut.

The citizens of Merilian, Wis., after fighting a hard battle with the whisky interest, have at length succeeded in closing the last drinking saloon in the place.

Jacksonville, Florida.

Our church in Jacksonville, Fla., is prospering. Rev. Dr. Paine, the pastor, writes us that his house is full every Sabbath, and that he has received additions to his Church nearly every week since he went there last January. We have a most desirable lot, situated on the main street, and in the midst of the best hotels. It was selected by Bishop Ames, and purchased by the Church Extension Society. Jacksonville is rapidly growing. In 1866 it was said to have 1,700 inhabitants. It now has 14,000, and more to follow. Our Church is also growing. The foundation of a new church is laid. It is to cost $5,000; of this sum $2,500 is provided, the membership can raise $1,500, and $1,000 is needed.

The ladies of the Church have organized a Building Society to do this work. Among other schemes to convert the resources of Florida into a church they have struck upon this: They will send a package of Florida mosses and grasses, so convenient and pleasant in trimming our Northern homes, to any person who will send them one dollar or more. This money can be sent to Rev. S. D. Paine, 115 Ashley street, Jacksonville, Fla. We have known Bro. Paine for years, and expect him to succeed. Whoever helps him will help a good cause in the heart of the principal city of that State.—N. Y. Advocate.

Congress and the President.

While the majority at Washington, and the Democratic press generally, are censuring President Hayes for objecting to a mode of legislation, the precedent for which was furnished by Republicans, we may be pardoned for recalling a sentence or so of the history of the late Presidential campaign:

In my opinion, an amendment to the Constitution ought to be devised separating in distinct bills the appropriations for the various departments of the public service, and excluding from each bill all appropriations for other objects and all independent legislation. In that way alone can the revisory power of each of the two Houses and of the Executive be preserved and exempted from the moral duress which often compels assent to objectionable appropriations, rather than stop the wheels of Government.

Is this the voice of some keen-sighted Republican leader, who foresaw just what has occurred during the past few weeks? It sounds very like it, but we are constrained to say that the reputed author is Samuel J. Tilden, and that the extract is taken from his letter accepting the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1876.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

To look inward to examine himself is, beyond question, a Christian's duty. To neglect it wholly is to give opportunity for the unperceived growth of little faults for "the little foxes, which spoil the vines," to make hiding-places for themselves in unsuspected places about the chambers of the soul. Nevertheless, too much looking inward is not good for one's spiritual health, because it tends to discouragement, to weakness of faith, and in persons of a melancholy turn of mind, to morbid feeling. Hence, while we look inward, we should always look upward. The words of Richard Baxter are in point here. He says: "Instead of poring on your hearts to know whether they are set on heaven, lift up your thoughts to heaven and think of its glory; that will raise them thither and give you and show you that which you were searching for. . . We are such dark, confused things, that a sight of ourselves is enough to raise a loathing and horror in our minds and make them melancholy. But in God and glory there is nothing to discourage our thoughts, but all to delight them, if Satan do not misrepresent them to us."—Zion's Herald.

One of our most eloquent senators once said, that an Englishman's cottage was his castle. The winds may whistle through every crevice, and the rains penetrate through every cranny, but into that cottage the monarch of England dare not enter against the cotter's will. That is just the case between Christ and the human soul. He has such a respect for the will of that immortal tenant that He has placed within us, that He will never force an entrance. He will do everything else; He will knock at the door—

"He stands knocking at the door
Of every sinner's heart;
The worst need keep Him out no more,
Or force Him to depart."

But He will not force an entrance.—Rev. W. M. Punshon.

General News Items.

Ten Algerian chiefs have engaged in insurrection.

A severe earthquake in Sicily destroyed a number of lives.

The abdication of the Khedive of Egypt is hourly expected.

The will of the late Baron Rothschild shows an estate of £2,750,000 in England.

Henry W. Blair, Republican, was elected U. S. Senator from New Hampshire.

Prof. Johanne Karl Friedrick Rosenkranz, the eminent philosopher, is dead.

The anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill was observed in Boston on the 17th.

Great preparations are being made to celebrate the Fourth of July in St. Louis.

The great powers are not prepared to allow Bulgaria to possess the Danube flotilla.

A meeting of Irish farmers in county Galway, cheered the Zulus and the Irish Republic.

The U. S. steamer Marion has been ordered to Aspinwall to protect American interests.

Gov. Diaz Gutterres, of San Louis Potosi, and the governor of Nueva Lion, were killed by revolutionists.

Delegates from South American republics are expected in Spain to treat for a restoration of diplomatic relations.

The Chamber of Deputies excluded M. de Cassagnac from its sitting for three days for violent and abusive language.

A telegram from Rio de Janeiro states that Gen. Goby has deposed the president of Paraguay and seized upon the government.

The Hazen-Stanley court-martial directs that Col. Stanley be admonished in general orders, by the general of the army, for breach of discipline.

The Australian authorities have reserved 30,000 feet of floor space in their exhibition hall for the use of producers and merchants in the United States.

At Terrebonne Station two laborers, while working in the field, fell dead owing to the intensity of the heat. On Bayou Black a child was sun-struck and died.

A squad of several hundred convicts under Capt. Hayden commenced work on the Western Louisiana and Texas railroad on the morning of the 16th near Vermillionville.

At Shanghai, China, a volunteer rifle corps detached the horses from Gen. Grant's carriage and themselves drew it to its destination. A deputation of high Japanese officials are preparing to receive him.

Cleopatra's needle, transported to the cold and wet climate of England, already begins to show signs of an early decay. A preservation solution is being applied to its surface to protect it from the atmosphere.

Two little Pittsburg girls, playing in an unoccupied house, inadvertently locked themselves in a cupboard. After they had been imprisoned twenty-two hours, a chance visitor heard their cries. They were half dead from suffocation and exhaustion.

The Spanish government has ordered energetic measures to obtain satisfaction from San Domingo for the outrage to the Spanish flag in the arrest last winter and subsequent execution of two insurgent Dominican generals who had taken refuge on board a Spanish vessel at Puerto Plata.

Reliable telegraphic information from the city of Mexico, June 11th, says Gen. Negrete, commanding the Mexican army, has pronounced against Diaz, and has left the city with 3,000 adherents. Diaz is in pursuit. Vailante, president of the supreme court, is acting president. Congress has disbanded. Diaz has removed Gens. Trevino and Navanjo, appointing Gen. Talentino to the command of the Monterey district.

Eleven persons were drowned and a train of wagons loaded with freight destroyed at Buffalo Gap, D. T., on the 12th, by a sudden rise of Beaver Creek, caused by a water spout. Water rose so rapidly that there was no chance for escape. Six bodies have thus far been recovered. Forty thousand pounds of general merchandise was swept away and scattered along the stream for miles. Very little will be saved.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1879.

One Dollar!

Subscriptions will be taken for the remainder of the year 1879 for

One Dollar, Cash.

Read the advertisement of the Southern Standard Press Company in this paper.

We have received a copy of the minutes of the Tennessee Conference, Thirteenth Annual Session, held Nov. 21 to 24, 1878.

Rev. Joseph Campbell, presiding elder of the Mississippi Gulf district, called on us this week. He gives a fair report of his work, and appears to enjoy excellent health.

We have received the Central Tennessee College catalogue for 1878-79. This Nashville institution is doing its full share in creating an educated ministry for the freedmen of the South.

Give the tramp a job. If he is worthy, he will be glad to earn the bread he eats,—and if not worthy, Paul's logic applies to his case: "If any work not, neither should he eat."

The call issued for a memorial meeting in honor of the late Wm. Lloyd Garrison, in Central Church, corner of Liberty and Gasquet streets, was signed by Gov. [illegible], T. Morris Chester, Esq., A. B. Blunt and many other leading colored men.

Rev. S. S. Ashley, at the Garrison Memorial Services at Atlanta, said that Gov. Colquitt, who "is now gushing at Chautauqua [illegible]," refused the use of the Hall of Representatives for the meeting, and the Constitution declined to announce the meeting.

James Mitchell writes: [illegible] to correct one misprint in 'The New Issue,' published [illegible]. Read 'The compilation [illegible] laws open with the [illegible] of Exodus,' not the [illegible] your printers make it. [illegible] contains the ten [illegible]. Please correct. [illegible] not O'Connel is the [illegible] of 'Hereditary Bondmen.'"

A memorial meeting in honor of Wm. Lloyd Garrison was held [illegible] at the Lloyd Street M. E. Church, on the 8th. The President and faculty of Clarke University took a prominent part in [illegible], along with Revs. [illegible] and others. Scripture passages, such as were favorites of Mr. Garrison, were read; [illegible] a biography of deceased [illegible] of freedom and other [illegible] lasting three hours. [illegible] adopted.

[illegible] who was a Methodist [illegible] leave book with [illegible] years ago in [illegible] an interesting [illegible] growth of the country, [illegible] in the South. [illegible] In 1829 he [illegible] bank of the [illegible] village [illegible] native for [illegible] unbroken [illegible] Indians [illegible] commercial [illegible] and [illegible] river [illegible] splendid [illegible] dotted [illegible] villages.

[illegible] the West [illegible]

Face to Face.

It cannot be wondered at that this should seem "an unintelligible world," as Wordsworth called it, if we turn away our faces in whole or in part from the light of Christ. Apart from Him, the heart cannot but grow weary over the battle and burden of life. We can have no outlook into the future but a very sad one if our minds must be alienated in any way from Him who brought life and immortality to light in His Gospel. Many passages in His writings show how Paul felt the sins and sorrows of life. He heard the whole creation groaning together in pain—the cumulative agony of long centuries. But he heard at the same time from his Lord the meaning of this groaning, the signification and character of creation's pangs. They foretell the creation of a new and better world; they promise deliverance from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God. What a prospect! By virtue of birth, one may say with Schiller, "Time is my inheritance. I am the heir of all time." But the Christian may say by his supernatural birth, "Eternity is my inheritance. I am an heir to the glories of eternity." "Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him." But God hath revealed them unto us by His spirit, and they are here in the mirror of His word.

For some years we have been looking into that mirror which has too often been dimmed and clouded over by the breath of our earthly passions and prejudices. We have been looking there to see the face of the King in His beauty. And we have seen His blessed face radiant with the light of happy love as he blessed the children, healed the sick and all them that were oppressed with the devil. We have traced His footsteps from place to place, and with hearts not indifferent we have watched him scattering seeds of kindness broadcast. Most of all we have looked to Him at that supreme moment when He has lifted us up from the earth, to lift up the sin of the earth and to carry it away. Then after looking we have closed the book and knelt down to speak and to listen, and have sometimes thought that then we could see His face and hear His voice. At the very thought let our souls and all that is within us be stirred up to bless His holy name. Can we think of anything? Yes, indeed—to see him face to face and not as in a glass darkly—to see Him face to face with eyes that cannot look long enough, that cannot drink in enough, that is better. To see Him with hearts completely purified from every sin, passion or evil desire—to see Him, the first thing on that happy resurrection morning, when he shall gather His own together—that is better than to look into the best mirror with the clearest vision. It will be as if we had never known Him before, and yet it shall not need more than a moment to find out that it is the same Jesus that first took us up and carried us home on His shoulders rejoicing. One look of the Elder Brother will be enough to make us at home in the Father's house of many mansions. In the sheen and brightness of that morning and in the warmth and glow of His loving presence, all the story of grace, all the history of the human race, all the meaning of revelation and the mystery of life will be made clear and plain and full of light. How glorious it will be to have the privilege of beholding Him face to face! How ecstatic the enjoyment that shall fill the soul!

Appeal Against Migration.

The cotton planters of Washington county, Miss., held a convention at Greenville, May 28, and put forth a memorial to the Northern people, asking them in most earnest language not to encourage the migration of the laborers to the State to Kansas. They explain the basis of contracts with laborers, by leases for rent payable in cotton; by work on shares, and wages. They allege that the laborer at this season has generally obtained his year's supply, and the loss of even one crop would seriously injure, or wholly ruin the [illegible] and cotton planter, and bankrupt the country. The old story [illegible] and chromos is repeated, and they assert that the [illegible] on the Mississippi river [illegible] boat to give transportation [illegible] to the negro, would [illegible] country on both sides [illegible] flames with excitement [illegible] crops would be [illegible] leave tenantless [illegible] population would [illegible] banks to go to [illegible]. The consequent [illegible] bankruptcy [illegible] for [illegible]. They deny the alleged persecution and bulldozing of the laborers, and the denial of his political, legal and social rights, the extortion and injustice which are charged against them. They want the hands to fulfill their contracts for securing the present crops, and then they acquiesce,—if it must be so,—in the departure of the laborers to other fields chosen by them.

Apropos of this memorial, which has found a wide circulation, we may refer to the meeting at Brookhaven, Miss., three weeks ago, of cotton planters in favor of law and order, and declaring that "all bulldozing must stop;" and to the more recent military organization at the same place to put down, by force, the night-riders who had kept the colored and other people in terror until the whole community had been compelled to organize to put down the "Regulators."

In the face of these facts, so patent to all the world, we have had persistent declarations from the organ of the M. E. Church South in this city, that the exodus has been exaggerated; that it really amounted to nothing; and charging that emissaries had been secretly circulating among the negroes to create discontent, by falsely representing the happy condition of the blacks in Kansas, etc. The secular papers have treated this grave question with the attention it demands. Why should the religious journals be behind the political papers in giving correct information of the exodus? They, in effect, champion the workers of iniquity, by a failure to give the exact truth.

Not Immediate.

"In debate in the Cortes, June 18, on the speech from the throne, Premier Campos stated that the government fully intended to settle the Cuban question, and would pursue a conciliatory policy toward Cuba. He considered it impossible to abolish slavery immediately. The address was adopted with 149 yeas to 11 nays."

Campos personally proved the value of a conciliatory policy in Cuba, where he won the name of "Pacificator." But when he went back to Spain to enjoy his laurels, and take his place as prime minister, he left behind him, in Cuba, the unfailing seeds of a new upheaval. About one in twenty of the slaves had achieved their freedom by taking up arms with the revolutionists,—the rest were left in slavery. The situation is, therefore, precisely like that which existed in the British Island of Antiqua in 1834 when gradual emancipation was adopted, leaving a large part of the population in bondage side by side with the free. A few months of trial satisfied the island legislature of the folly of this programme, and on the first of August of the same year, they set the entire population free. From that hour there was peace. "If thou put away from thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger and speaking vanity; if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul, then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon-day."

Bishop Haven on Garrison.

Bishop Haven's address at the memorial services of Garrison at Atlanta is one of the completest in its recital of historical facts, of the reform, and in the analysis of the character and career of the great emancipator we have yet seen. It occupies nearly four columns of the Advocate. It does full justice, from the standpoint of the church, to the memory of the early adherents of the cause among ministers of the Presbyterian, Congregational, Methodist and other churches, while the great mass were, in Bible language adopted by Garrison, "dumb dogs that would not bark, sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber." We quote from the eloquent Bishop the following:

"Many blame Mr. Garrison for his lack of faith in the Christian Church and afterward in Christian doctrine. They would be less inclined to censure him for the former lack, were they dwellers with us where the church is to-day as much a unit against the central Christian truth of this great liberator as when he was fighting his battle, where no association, conference or pastor rejoices over the abolition of human bondage, and accepts its results in all their claims with exultation. Yet it would be wrong to judge of Christ and His Church from such defection."

The Bishop pays his compliments to Gov. Colquitt as follows:

"We are also providentially assembled in the capital of the State, which once, from its capitol, issued an offer of five thousand dollars for his head. But for the refusal of the Governor, we should have been assembled in the very capitol of the capital, and have purified that place of the painful memories of that act of the Legislature and Governor by eulogies pronounced in its hall of legislation. The refusal of the use of that hall by one who is hardly yet returned from a series of ovations granted him in Northern cities, may well cause those who gave him those hospitalities to consider their ways and be wise."

The Todd Murder.

"We do not wish to enter here into any discussion of the case as it now stands, but simply to say that the only direct and reliable testimony which has thus far been given to the public is Mr. Pollard's statement published over his own signature, first in the Central Christian Advocate, and subsequently in other church papers. We have seen nothing thus far which changes our judgment as at first made up from the facts presented—nothing to counteract the testimony of Pollard and the death bed testimony of Todd.—Northern Christian Advocate.

Neither does any other unprejudiced person ask for clearer evidence of the crime committed. Those who still doubt would not be convinced though both the murdered men rose from the dead to testify.

The New York Advocate of the 19th devotes seven of its editorial columns to a review of this murderous outrage, and to the two or three so-called coroner's inquests in the case; the testimony—and more than all to the superserviceable zeal of Gov. Miller to extenuate the guilt of the officers who killed Bro. Todd, and caused the death of his brother — the whole plainly showing "that the Governor's statements are out of harmony with the facts." Dr. Fowler concludes as follows:

"Whatever there may be left of such a witness as Gov. Miller, after he has destroyed the evidence of such men as Pollard and Decker and Todd, backed by the able and statesman-like paper prepared by Bishop Andrews, who appointed Bro. Todd to his work, and adopted by the Board of Bishops of the M. E. Church, cannot seriously harm The Christian Advocate. It is not ourselves but our exposed brethren that we seek to defend. Todd murdered in Arkansas; and April 24 following, Rev. Prince Wright, a member of the Missouri Conference of the M. E. Church, flogged almost to death, receiving over a hundred lashes, in Howard County, Mo.!! This is becoming monotonous. We hope soon to have a large fund with which to prosecute the villains who commit these crimes. These poor and helpless brethren must be defended. If the Church sending them out will not defend them, who will? We want a fund of $500,000 to back them and secure justice."

The following is from the Cincinnati Gazette of April 19: "Rev. Dr. J. C. Hartzell, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, an organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church of New Orleans, La., has been spending a few days in the city as a guest of Rev. Dr. Rust. We learn from Dr. Hartzell that the Northern Methodist Church is pushing its mission vigorously in behalf of the freedmen all over the South, and notwithstanding many discouraging circumstances attending its operations, the harvest is gladdening the hearts of the self-sacrificing heroic missionaries of his own and other churches.

He has strong hopes for the freedmen in the redemption of the South. If the church and the nation will only be true to this unfortunate and suffering people, the waste places of the South will soon bud and bloom, and the era of peace, prosperity and fraternity be ushered in, and sectional feeling, color prejudice, and caste distinctions be obliterated. The Doctor pleads for enlarged educational facilities, for black and white people alike in the South as a chief factor in the solution of the vexed problems before the nation. He believes that the planters and freedmen will ultimately adjust themselves amicably to their new relations, and labor shoulder to shoulder in the common work of perpetuating our republican institutions."

The Pittsburg Christian Advocate strenuously condemns all Sabbath-breaking camp-meetings. Now it has always been easier to point out an evil than to remedy it. Dr. Wayland once wrote an elaborate argument upon "limitations of human responsibility." It was an ingenious effort to release the nation and the church from the guilt of perpetuating slavery in this country. If bad men abused the institution, why should good slave-holders suffer the guilt or odium? If railroads and steamboats will run excursions to the camp-ground on the Sabbath, shall there be no camp-meetings holding over that day? It seems to this complexion it must come, if our good friends would not be partakers of other men's sins. But what of Ocean Grove and the Vineyard, which hold camp-meeting en permanence through the summer?

The News of Clarendon, Donley Co., Texas, has commenced its second volume. It is the representative of a colony of Christian, educated, temperance people, who have settled in the Panhandle of Texas, and which desires accession from people who have like traits. Rev. L. H. Carhart, of Sherman, is the editor, and Jas. H. Parks local editor.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

TEXAS.

Rev. Joseph Harden, Liberty: "The elder was with us; 6 joined the church to day. We have a fine Sabbath school at both churches."

James Rollings, Lovelady: "We are going to have a camp meeting at Hopewell, one and a half miles from here, on the 15th of August. Doing all we can to build up a church here."

Rev. J. E. Shackleford, Wallisville: "God is in my church and congregation, insomuch that I am having a reviving time; sinners are being converted, mourners are coming forward."

Rev. John Wright, Goliad: "During a 24 day's meeting we added 10 to the church. I was assisted by Rev. P. Gates, of Victoria. Sunday-school numbers 75, and is superintended by Baptiste Lott."

Rev. Lewis Lane, San Felipe: "Let me notify my brethren of my camp-meeting. It opens July 24, at Asbury Chapel, San Felipe, Texas. Come brethren and help me, for the work is very heavy. I have four appointments. Preparation will be made to take care of you."

Rev. Taylor Moore, Texarkana: "The M. E. Sunday-school officers for 1879 are: Robert Robinson, superintendent; Mrs. Louisa Moore, assistant superintendent; Miss Dorcas E. Nolan, librarian; Mrs. Sallie Alexander, treasurer; W. R. Jenkins, secretary; Taylor Moore, L. Moore, Victoria Banaster, W. M. Butler, teachers Sunday-school committee, R. Robinson, W. R. Jenkins, Mrs. L Moore, Mrs. Sallie Alexander and Miss Dorcas E. Nolan."

Rev. Mason Reddick, Willis: "We have had a good meeting. Fifteen backsliders returned by new penitence to their first love, and three others professed hope in Christ and were received on probation. The children interested a a large audience at our church last Friday evening, May 30. It was the promised May party of the school, and the crowning of their chosen queen Sarah Reddick. Speeches, dialogues, addresses and songs were well delivered."

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. J. Holmes, Deasonville: "Childrens day was a joyful time. About 40 pupils recited verses. Superintendent J. Allen, and teachers Green Williams and Polly Miles gave satisfaction. Collection $2 10.

Rev. H. Wyatt, Hickory: "Children's day was observed. We have adopted the $1 system for the mission. Churches are all in good condition. We have a building here 40x60 feet. Sunday-school in a growing state. One death May 29, a sister."

Rev. B. L. Nevils, Buena Vista: "We expect to try to build two churches. The people are poor, but strive hard. Three deaths among us. Bros. William Roe and William Fair, and sister Muttie Holiday. I lost my baby; it died on the 7th."

L. L. Pratt, Corinth: "June 9 was a good day with the children. A fair collection was handed to the pastor, Rev. P. Blue. We are gratified with the decision of the Bishop in sending him here. The past year a good parsonage has has been built, worth $400 and neatly fenced in. I superintend a Sunday school of 115. The choir of the church is made up from my pupils."

Rev. R. Roundtree, Union Church Circuit: "Our work at this time is in a growing condition, and the Sunday-school is advancing. I have received into full connection 15, and baptized 11 adults and 7 children. Our beloved elder has made his second round, and does business satisfactorily to all. The stewards estimate his salary at $25 and so far they have paid $12 90. Pray for us."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. Levy Johnson, Shady Grove: "I have just returned from a trip of 50 miles, which is very exhaustive to walk this warm weather. I have bargained for a horse, and hope to get him."

Rev. J. W. Hilton, Natchitoches: "We had a lively time on the first Sunday of June; 110 participated in the Lord's supper, 2 children were baptized, and 2 members taken in, which makes 57 in all, the Lord has given me this year."

Superintendent H. J. Wright has written us a full description of the observance of children's day in Alexandria and Pineville. Pastors, superintendents, assistants and children seem to have been enthusiastic, and to have spent a cheerful day of song, prayer and wise counsel. Says Bro. Wright: "Cheer up, cheer up, with your dormant Sabbath schools, and let our children show to the opposite race that we are just as perceptible of knowledge as they, and that we have a deliverance. The only thing needed is cultivation and frugality."

KENTUCKY.

Rev. Scott Ward, Shelbyville: "I have held 11 quarterly conferences and one district conference, and organized 6 circuits since the 10th of April, 1879, and organized a missionary society in almost every church. We have collected some missionary money in all the churches. I believe I will be able to collect every dollar that my district is taxed this year. Pray for us."

TENNESSEE.

Rev. T. Woods, Dover: "I am in a protracted meeting which has resulted in 10 conversions, 9 additions to the church. We are still trusting in the Lord, looking for a better time. This is the first revival of the year."

Letter from Jackson.

JACKSON, Miss., June 11, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—My church is prospering spiritually. The Lord has been with us up to this time, and has added a goodly number to the fold.

I have a fine Sabbath-school, averaging from 80 to 100 pupils, and still increasing. There are some very zealous workers who are engaged both heart and hand in building up the school. Pray for God's blessing upon these young people.

The children's day, set apart for the Sunday-school Union, was observed with success. Meeting at 9 a. m., the regular order was passed, and the following named pupils rehearsed verses from the Bible: Miss Anena Anderson 3, Jennie Henderson 5, Ida Moore 5, Eva Matthew 6, Alice Austin 7, Harriet Anderson 3, Willie Patton 20, Emma Scott 3, Garrett Austin 4, Bettie Austin 9 verses, after which I addressed the school on the work of the Union, and $10 was collected. Yours truly, A. DAVIS.

Letter from Hearne, Texas.

HEARNE, June 5, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—It seems to have fallen to my lot to build churches for the Lord on every charge I I have been since engaging in the work, save one. I generally begin from my own pocket to start the effort. At Hearne they have been trying to put up a church for four years, and have completely failed. Our people are greatly discouraged and scattered. They have lost all hopes of putting up one, and have no place of worship. They started their church up three times, and it fell down through bad management, and enemies laughed at them, telling them God was against them and they were too weak.

I told them I was their brother, sent by the bishop, and they should have a church. I opened my purse, and many warm hearted friends followed. We are going to build at Chapel Hill, and expect to start it up in three weeks.

The Lord has smiled upon this people. We have had 5 confessions and 21 baptisms, and we are going to start a camp meeting the first of August. Yours truly,

J S. WHITAKER.

At the preachers' meeting in Chicago on Monday last, Rev. McChesney, who had lately returned from California and Arizona, stated, touching facts about the Chinese population:

There had come to this country a little over 287,000 Chinamen, of whom nearly 200,000 had returned home, leaving here now—with the 2,000 American born—a Chinese population of 98,491. Of the 472 persons who were commited to the almshouses, one was a Chinaman, and most of the rest Irishmen. There were only six Chinamen out of the several hundred committed to jail in a year, and only one Chinaman out of 6,127 cases of drunkenness had been registered. Mr. McChesney, in company with his friend, visited Chinatown, and he felt constrained to own that it was not a whit worse than a large tract of the districts surrounding it, and inhabited by somebody else than Chinese.

It was voted at the same meeting not to oppose Sunday trains to the camp meetings. "In Adam's sin we all joined in."

Proceedings.

District conference convened at Meridian, Miss., May 7th, according to appointment. Presiding Elder Dunn had the former presiding elder, M. Adams, take the chair. Religious exercises were conducted by Rev. L. Boone. W. D. Sims was elected secretary of the conference: L. A. Colton and H. B. Key, assistants. Forty members were present. The regular business of the conference was conducted. A vote was taken on the discontinuance of the district conference: ayes 9, nays 23. The next district conference will be held at Enterprise, Miss.

W. D. SIMS, Secretary.

Selfishness is the meanest kind of poverty.

Letter from Thibodaux.

THIBODAUX, June 19, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—The excursion mentioned in my communication of your last issue took place on Saturday, June 7. The Pride of Thibodaux Lodge No. — made their appearance at the depot of Morgan's railroad at 12 o'clock m., where they waited the arrival of the train that came in at half-past one. The Pride of Thibodaux having received the Pride of Jefferson Lodge in the usual manner, the procession marched off amidst the strains of the Excelsior and La fourche brass bands. Marshalls D. G. M. Gaudet and Elder I. H. Harper having conducted the procession through the principal streets of the town, now proceeded to the M. E. Calvary Church, granted them by the gentlemanly pastor in charge, Rev. Wm. Davis, where the ceremonies were held. D. G. M. Dejoice, of Pride of Jefferson Lodge, appointed master of ceremonies for the day, delivered a short address, after which an ode was sung, and elder Harper having invoked the blessing of the Almighty, James D. Kennedy, P. N. F. and orator of the day, delivered the principal address on the occasion. P. G. Master Chester also delivered a discourse in a very few words, after which P. N. F. Davis pronounced the benediction.

The Excelsior and Lafourche brass bands being in attendance, each played, alternately, pieces of sacred music. The two lodges having marched up to the Pride of Thiboleaux' lodge room, were dismissed and every body allowed to promenade the streets of Thibodaux at will.

On Sunday, the next day, on the arrival of the morning train, we were greeted with the presence of Geo. C Mason, M. V. G. S of A; and M. V. P's, E. f. Holmes, I. Reiras, I. O. Brown, with P. N. F.s, Holland and Smith. At 4:30 p. m. the procession formed in front of Pride of Thibodaux Lodge room and marched to the depot. At a few minutes to six o'clock the thronged cars started off amidst the waving of many handkerchiefs and hailings of "good bye."

The baptism at Calvary Church was commenced at 9 o'clock a. m., as follows: immersed, 6; sprinkled, 1; poured, 1; infants, 2; total, 10.

The basket meeting was attended by a large number of the excursionists, and preachers from your city occupied the pulpit at the different services. The attendance at the evening service, however, was the largest. Rev. M. Dale occupied the pulpit at this service. The effective manner with which Rev. Dale delivers a sermon justly entitles him to the reputation he sustains as a pulpit orator. The amount collected on this day amounted to $53: the total amount collected during this year amounts to $313. The expenses are as follows: Church repairs, $183; incidental, $13; preacher's salary, $177; total, $313.

We notice with regret in a communication signed by our kind friend, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, in your issue of June 5th, the following words:

"I do not know how Bro. Davis will regain the esteem of my people, but it is certain they got blue on him when they learned that he slighted them on account of the A. M. E. Church's unholy Sabbath-desecrating brass band excursion."

Now, Rev. Davis did not defer his trip to Houma with a view of giving any aid to the Sunday excursion of the A. M. E. Church, as Rev. Albert would seem willing to believe. But the official board of Calvary church, seeing the impracticability of making our trip to Houma a success, instructed Rev. Davis to defer the matter to some future day, and notified Rev. Albert to that effect. Why, on this very Sunday, the day of the excursion, the theme of Bro. Davis' discourse was "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy." It was no doubt the circumstances that presented themselves upon this occasion that actuated him to deliver such a sermon. True enough, we could have gone with what few that might have been summoned, but our contributions would have been so small that Rev. Albert could have said to us, "You have come, but Absque argento omnia vana."

A few days since, a sister of Rev. Austin Kennedy's church met with a sad and unexpected death, while on her way to her husband, who was at some distance back in the woods chopping. She had to traverse a thick cane brake, and as she traveled thus, thinking probably least of her death that awaited her just a few paces ahead, she tramped upon a rattle snake, and before she could move, he had struck her the death-blow, and fastened around her so tight that it took all the courage and strength she possessed to free herself from her deadly foe. Though the poor woman had screamed since she first encountered the snake, not until she had lain prostrate a long time did any of the wood choppers hear her and come to her relief. She lived 18 hours after she was taken home. Thanks [illegible] known Him before this. Though her death was sad, she has found rest beyond this vale of tears. This is not the only sad accident that has visited us. Yesterday, about 2:30 o'clock p. m., a thunder storm together with a heavy shower of rain occurred. During the rain the Moses Baptist Church was struck by lightning, and a little boy, Alfred Pain, in the basement where the school is taught, was struck dead. While the occurrence is a sad one, we feel that we have something to thank God for, for when we consider that there must have been more than 100 scholars in this room, we must think that God is good to have taken one only. A little girl standing near this little boy had an ear ring cut from her ear without receiving any bodily hurt. Another little girl standing near this little boy, in the direction of the shock, had her shoe torn off and was slightly injured on the foot. The phenomenon in this is the teacher's, Mr. James T. Whitehurst, escape. He had left his desk, on which the little boy who was killed was reclining, to shut a door at the opposite end of the room just in time to escape death. A. P.

A Disgraceful Assault Upon Lady Teachers in Meridian.

The following letter from a lady teacher was received by us:

MERIDIAN, June 14, 1879.

DEAR BRO.—I write to inform you and the brethren of a most dastardly outrage that was perpetrated in this city on the morning of the ninth of June. On the morning named, between three and four o'clock, some unknown party or parties fired two pistol shots through the front window of the room in which Mrs. N. J. Blackman, my assistant teacher, and myself were sleeping. On the Saturday previous to the shooting I received from the post-office two bulldozing letters, couched in the most obscene and scurrilous language mortal ever read. In one, I was ordered to leave town within four days after the fifth of July, saying they would not guarantee my safety if I remained after that time! On the other was painted a coffin. No definite clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of this foul deed, though no effort is being spared to ferret them out. The cause of this dreadful outrage is the success of the school! For three months a party of colored men have met daily at a shoe-shop to abuse the principal of the school, thinking by this means to run her away. It is believed that the writers of the letters know all about the shooting, and also that the perpetrators are colored men, who want the situation for one of their friends. In justice to the whites, I will say that they are not believed to be in any way connected with the matter, are justly indignant, and desirous that the guilty parties shall be brought to justice.

We are doing a good work here, although it has been under a fire of the bitterest persecution from opposing denominations. Through all God has been with us and blessed us with marked success. We are closing with 95 students, with prospects of a larger number next year. I feel that I am working for the Master, and I shall not desert my post on account of persecution. We ask the prayers of the church. Yours in Christ,

M. V. KEEVER.

Another correspondent corroborates the firing at the teacher, and service by mail of threatening letters. He says that in a justice court on the 17th the letters were proven to have been written by a person named Robinson, and there is no doubt he did the shooting. He was put under $200 bond to appear before the Circuit Court, and now walks the streets. Our correspondent asks: "This being true, what is to become of our teachers?" One of the witnesses for the State asked the court to allow him to refresh his mind in order that he could tell a better story.

These details are highly interesting, and we can only hope that the good citizens of Meridian may assist the courts in the punishment of the guilty parties; and that our teachers will stand firm in the discharge of their duties.

Letter from Shreveport.

SHREVEPORT, La., June, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—I drop you a word to let you know that we observed children's day at St. Paul's church, and the children and the old folks spent an hour and a half quite pleasantly together. The church on the previous Saturday was decorated nicely through the kindness of Sisters N. Nelson, R. Giddings, A. Brown and A. M. Morant. These ladies transformed the interior of the building into a bower of roses, flowers, mottos, garlands, festoons, and —— well, God bless the ladies! Our collections from some cause or other was not as large as I expected. Still, the church was full of people. Eight dollars was the sum collected, which will be forwarded immediately to the secretary of the Board of Education, as directed in the ADVOCATE.

SAMUEL E. H. MORANT.

Foreign Missions.

A GENEROUS GIFT—When Dr. Dashiell was in Mexico he promised to beg two organs, one for the little church at Ormitlan, and the other for Guanajuato. Freeborn Garrettson Smith, the enterprising successor and manufacturer of the Bradbury pianos and organs, 14 East Fourth street, New York City, promptly donated one of these. On hearing that the firm from whom Dr. D. expected to receive the other organ had failed to respond, Mr. Smith at once gave the other organ also. These organs have reached Mexico. Such liberality on the part of this firm added to their well known skill and enterprise, will place him beside the foremost manufacturers of the land. Alexander & Sons generously agreed to take the instruments to Vera Cruz free of expense.

BULGARIA, April 12—Superintendent Challis sends an extract from a letter he had received from Rev. Stephen Thomoff, who is stationed at Tirnova, the present seat of government for Bulgaria: "The Assembly is proceeding rapidly with the work of adopting the Constitution. Up to date (April 7) they have voted on 72 articles. The whole number is 170. It was unanimously decided that Sophia shall be the capital, but the coronation shall take place at Tirnova—the ancient capital. The Bulgarian banner is to be tri-color—white green and red. The salary of the Prince is fixed at 600,000 francs. In the discussion of article 17—the one on religion—a proposition signed by twenty members was read, asking the insertion of the words, 'proselytism is forbidden,' but it was received with derision. One of the members, Mr. Slaveikoff, made a telling speech against it, and being put to vote, only one dared to raise his hand in its favor. The deputies are very liberal and very jealous of the advantages accorded them." I was informed today by a deputy from Sistof that full liberty of speech and of the press is accorded by a large majority of the Assembly. His only fear was that in the present undeveloped state of the Bulgarian people, liberty may be mistaken for license.

COLPORTAGE IN TURKEY.—Rev. D. C. Challis, of Bulgaria, writes April 21: "About the middle of March I sent Bro. Pettas Ivanoff to Tirnova with Bibles, books and tracts. He found the people eager to [illegible] all kinds of religious [illegible] five days he had [illegible] books and pamphlets, [illegible] Testaments. He [illegible] ordered a hundred [illegible] being a demand [illegible] classes—from [illegible] Assembly to the [illegible] He also finds the [illegible] converse on [illegible] even to buy [illegible]

[illegible] writes: "The [illegible] and even [illegible] from the [illegible] with great [illegible] They [illegible] and [illegible] Protestant [illegible]

[illegible] says: [illegible] place [illegible] there [illegible]

Sunday School.

QUARTERLY REVIEW.

Other things being properly cared for, they are apt to have the best review who seize upon the dramatic and pictorial characteristics of the lessons of the quarter. Such features in the lessons permanently photograph themselves on the memory, while the more didactic portions soon fade out. In these particulars this quarter's lessons have been peculiarly rich. The two lessons concerning Job, and the one in relation to Queen Esther, are all of such historic and dramatic interest that doubtless the teachers will find that the scholars have well retained them. If there is any lapse of recollection respecting the first one, recall the God speaking in the visions of the night, the man chastened with sickness and pain, and the reason therefor—to keep his soul from the pit. In the purely prophetical lessons, iv.-viii., we are not without pictorial suggestions. In lesson iv. there is the bruised reed and the smoking flax, and the opening of the eyes of the blind. In lesson v. is set forth the cross and all the sufferings of the Saviour upon it, and before he came to it. In lesson vi. is the fountain of living waters; the buying of wine and milk without money and without price; and the beautiful comparison of the word of God to the rain and snow coming down from heaven. In lesson vii. there is the representation of the nation coming up as a vast army to the house of the Lord—only their spears are beaten into pruning-hooks, and their swords into plowshares. In lesson viii. the giving of God's Spirit is represented as an abundant shower poured out of heaven The teachers will hardly need to suggest the pictures in the remaining lessons—the ruined city of Tyre, now a place to spread nets upon; the valley of dry bones; the golden candlestick with its two olive trees, and, finally, the book of remembrance. Make use of the pictures to recall the facts and enforce the teachings. The following scheme will help in the latter particular:

GOD'S MERCY

Shown in lesson 1 by withdrawing man from his evil purpose; chastening man for his good; keeping back his soul from the pit. Lesson 2, by the pardon of Job's three friends; the restoration of Job to prosperity. Lesson 3, the favor granted to Queen Esther; The deliverance wrought for the Jews. Lesson 4, the promise of the coming of God's "Servant;" His tenderness for the weak; His opening the eyes of the blind.

GOD'S COMPASSION

Shown in lesson 5, by bearing with man's rejection of the Savior; the Savior's suffering for unthankful men; the Savior's willingness to justify the penitent sinner. Lesson 6, the free invitation to drink of the water of life; the exhortation to seek God while he may be found; the promise to make an everlasting covenant with man. Lesson 7, by His drawing all nations to worship Him; His changing them from hate to love; His pity for his own nation Lesson 8, by the pouring of his spirit upon all flesh; the warning given of the coming of the great and terrible day of the Lord; the promise to save whosoever shall call on him.

GOD'S POWER

Shown in lesson 9, by his ability to make great kings do his will; his complete destruction of the city of Tyre. Lesson 10, by the vision shown to Ezekiel; his making the "dry bones" of Israel come to life; restoring those dead in trespasses and sins. Lesson 11, by the vision granted to Zechariah; the removal of the mountain of difficulties in the way of Zerubbabel; his beholding of all that takes place on the earth. Lesson 12, by his ability to open the windows of heaven and pour out a large blessing; his pledge to rebuke the devourer; his saving the righteous and destroying the wicked.

—National S. S. Teacher.

purpose of opening a second reading room and coffee room for seamen. We have one in successful operation in the very heart of the city, but the place is rented. The cost of the new house, with repairs, will be $1000, all of which has been collected in Calcutta. God has given us a truly wonderful work among the seamen, and the most wonderful part of it is the facility with which money has been found to carry it. Bro. Goodwin has three young men assisting him, and their work is now fully self-sustaining. We are all saddened by the news of the accidental death of our dear brother Torbet at Bombay. He was a young man of rare goodness and promise, and we could ill spare him. It is extremely difficult to get men suited to our difficult work. The work is not inviting to most young men, and not every one is qualified to do good service in it. We need more of culture and grace, and withal of the very best quality of unyielding pluck. Experience also is needed. If possible every young man should see active service at the siege of some Jericho before coming to India."

BUENOS AYRES. The latest statistics show 54 members and 107 probationers; English Sunday-school children 200, Spanish Sunday-school children 120; English congregation in the morning 250 afternoon 125; Spanish congregation 500; every Sabbath 875; population within reach—English speaking 2000 to 3000, Spanish speaking 175,000.

"The history of our church during an existence of 40 years, as an English charge, demonstrates that a steady growth is certain in the future. It is full of young people who regard it as their religious home." The Spanish work commenced by Rev. J. F. Thomson, in 1867, and experiencing a new and immense impulse since his return to the charge last year, promises unlimited growth."

Letter from Brookhaven.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., June 12, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—As I have not written to your valuable paper since conference, I write to let the brethren and public know that I have not taken the side track. I am yet holding the fort and working for Jesus. I have added 18 to the church since conference, and have three Sunday-schools in very good condition. I have made a $250 improvement on our church this year, and have paid all but $25, and will pay that the 5th Sunday in June. Our church is 30x50 feet; we have ceiled it overhead and plastered the sides, so we have now the nicest church at Brookhaven. We are few in number, only 53 members of the church, but we mean to go on. Pray for us. We all love our new presiding elder, J. Campbell. He is another Bradford, true to the Methodist trust. Yours truly, H. MAY.

A Sunday-School Celebration.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., June 19, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—There will be a Sunday-school celebration on the 11th of July next at Piney Grove Church, on the New Albany circuit. Orator of the day, Hon. Fagan Gorman, of Holly Springs. Revs. J. M. Shumpert and D. A Williams are expected to be present and deliver addresses. All friends are invited to attend.

Yours truly,
PASTOR NEW ALBANY CIRCUIT.

Death of Prince Napoleon.

LONDON, June 20, 1879.

The Times correspondent, writing from Itelezi Hill, on the second instant, says: The body of the prince imperial was discovered in a field of long grass. There were no bullet wounds upon it, but seventeen wounds made by assegai thrusts. The body was found stripped and the clothes had been taken away. The Telegraph's dispatch from Cape Town, June 3d, says, news of the death of the prince imperial cast a gloom over the city; all flags were flying at half mast. The official account of Prince Napoleon's death says: The prince with Lieutenant Cary, of the [illegible] regiment, six men and one friendly [illegible], left camp at Kelezi, [illegible] several miles, beyond [illegible] river, on the first inst., for [illegible] The party halted [illegible] when ten miles from [illegible] as the prince gave the [illegible] a volley was fired [illegible] in the long grass. [illegible] Cary and four of the [illegible] to camp and report [illegible] and two troopers [illegible] their statements [illegible] no doubt that the [illegible] A party of the [illegible] with ambulance, [illegible] to recover [illegible]

Important Notice.

Any Sunday-school not now taking the Sunday-school Class-mate will on application by the pastor, stating the number of pupils outside of the primary class, receive a sufficient number of specimen copies for distribution that they may see what a beautiful and valuable paper it is. The same offer is made with regard to the Sunday School Advocate. Address, PHILLIPS & HUNT, 805 Broadway, N. Y.

Marriages.

At Bremond, Texas, June 5, by Rev. James A. Hall, Mr. Elie Nemles to Miss Josie Richeson; on the 7th, Mr. Thomas Munson to Miss Hannah Bradley.

At Asbury Chapel, on the night of the 12th, Rev. A. M. Trotter, of the Abbeville circuit, Mississippi Conference M. E. Church, to Miss Emma P. Wilkins, of Holly Springs; Rev. J. M. Shumpert officiating. Bro. Trotter is one of our most promising young ministers. Miss Emma P. Wilkins is a student of the State Normal School. May peace and happiness attend them.

J. M. S.

In Memoriam.

MRS. EUNICE V. SOUTHWORTH.

On Tuesday, June 3d, A. D. 1879, Emmanuel church witnessed the funeral service of the late Mrs. Southworth, wife of Dr. M. A. Southworth. The early decease of this estimable lady seems to call for more than a mere passing mention, and prompts a memorial tribute from those who knew and loved her while among us.

Mrs. Southworth passed most of her life in the South, and was married only one short year ago to Dr. Southworth, in St. Matthew's Cathedral, Dallas, Texas.

Our community remembers with melancholy pleasure her visit here last summer, her winning ways and amiable manners, her sweet face and graceful presence.

And now she has gone to the "Silent Land," the Land of the Departed. There we can leave the departed wife and sister, at rest in Paradise, where the souls of the faithful sleep in the Lord Jesus.

Her mourning husband possesses the sympathy of their many friends, and the blameless example of the sainted dead, to console his stricken heart, while "God himself will wipe away all tears" from his eyes, as He has promised the true believer.

We insert an extract from a letter by the Rev. Mr. Green, Mrs. Southworth's former pastor. He writes: "She was prepared to die because she was prepared to live. * * Hers was a lovely character. Gentle, unselfish and pure, she loved God as well as man, and was conscientious in the discharge of all her duties. It is well for the world that such Christians live. Gentle, unostentatious and sincere, they are like the violets, which, though screened from the gaze, still perfume the air about them and shed their rich odors upon every passer by."

From early life she was a professing and earnest Christian, and God was very near to her, and God was very near and very loving to both her husband and herself in their married life. Her purity, and unselfishness, and charity, no words of ours can tell; she was so gentle, and yet so brave and strong,—too good for earth and so God took her home.

It seemed most fitting to repeat over her sleeping dust, amid the gentle dropping of the summer rain in the green and quiet grave-yard, the sacred words from the impressive Burial Service of the Church she loved so well while living, "I heard a voice from Heaven saying unto me, Write; from henceforth, blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; even so, saith the Spirit, for they rest from their labors."

*

—Journal and Courier, Little Falls, N.Y.

Deaths.

Two of our members died: one on the 10th and the other on the 11th of this month. Bro. Will Adams died in full triumph of faith. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss. His son, not a member of any church, died just a week before his father. Sister Harriett Brown died on the 11th.

A. M. G.

Waco, Texas.

Sister Susan Wimbs passed away in the full triumph of faith about 9 o'clock. I was with her on Saturday and she spoke freely of dying. Her last words were: "Oh! I see Jesus coming," just before the chilly grasp of death was taken. She had been a member of the M. E. Church for several years, leaves a husband and three children to mourn her loss, and was loved by all who knew her.

A. M. TROTTER,
Pastor Abbeville Circuit.

Holly Springs, Miss., June 18, 1879.

Susie Tennan, who had been confined to her bed since February last, died at her parents' home, Wednesday June 4th, between eleven and twelve M., in the saving faith of her blessed Redeemer, whom she had sought before he illness, but found him not until within a few days of her departure. She was baptized by Rev. D. Gregory, the day before she died. Her misery was great, but she bore it patiently telling her friends it was alright. Her trust was in Jesus. Her disease was consumption, which baffled the skill of the physician. At the time of her demise she was 14 years and eleven days old, dearly beloved by the family and all who knew her. She told her father and mother, "they must seek Jesus and meet her in heaven."

From adverse blasts, and lowering storms,
Her favored soul he bore;
And with you bright angelic forms,
She lives, to die no more.

Funeral services by Mack Henson.
Austin, Texas.

New Books.

WHAT IS EDUCATION? By Prof W. T. Phelps New York: Phillips & Hunt.

Chatauqua text book No 10 is a pertinent question well answered.

GREEK LITERATURE. By A. D. Vail D. D. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

This is No 6 of the Chatauqua series of text books. A brief and useful compend. Price 20 cents.

GREEK HISTORY. By J. H. Vincent D. D. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

It is Chautauqua text book No. 5, intended as a manual for those unfamiliar with Greek classics. Price 10 cents.

THE LESSON SYSTEM. The story of its Origin and Inauguration. By Simeon Gilbert. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

This outline of Christian efforts to secure uniform Sunday-school progress may be read with profit.

OLD CREOLE DAYS. By G. W. Cable. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons.

A series of sketches republished from Scribner's Magazine in which they attracted much attention. The author, a resident of New Orleans, has pictured in an original manner local traits, and these tales have given him a national reputation. All who take up the book will be likely to read it through.

THE CULTIVATION OF THE SENSES. Philadelphia: Eldredge & Brother, 17 North Seventh street.

This is a handsome, cloth bound volume, being No 1 of a series of manuals for teachers, originally published in England, but carefully revised for use in this country. They are excellent aids to those who desire to perfect themselves in the art of teaching, while the moderate price places them within the reach of all.

New Publications.

From Eyrich, bookseller, 130 Canal street, the fifth number of a serial "Words for the New Church," J. B. Lippincott & Co., has been received.

The July Wide Awake has a 16 page supplement and two patriotic stories "Bunker Hill Review" and "George Washington and the Ragamuffins;" also a humorous Fourth of July poem, "The Fire Cracker and Torpedo." There is a humorous sketch of the advance guard of summer insects. The illustrated stories and poems are delightful treats for boys and girls. Only $2.00 a year. Ella Farman, Editor. D. Lothrop & Co., Boston. Publishers.

The variety of good articles and fine illustrations contained in "Hause und Herd" is all that can be expected. Lovers of science as well as farmers or housekeepers can find therein something that will interest them. Its low price makes it possible to put it in the hands of readers in moderate circumstances. The July number has a charming and inviting rose bouquet on its cover, and brings among other very valuable essays, one from the editor, H. Liebhart, entitled "Our Future and the Last Things." He expresses his personal opinion about the Millennium in a strict Biblical way, which shows that he agrees in the main points with Bishop Merrill's opinion on this great question We mention besides "Luther's Influence upon the German Language;" "The Nihilists;" "The Bible and the Catholic Priests;" "The Modern Use of Morphium;" etc. Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, publishers.

The July Number of Harper's Magazine is a wealthy successor to the beautiful June number. The social gayeties of a fashionable seaside resort are presented in the article on Narragansett Pier, by Prof. Charles Carroll, with illustrations by Reinhart. Howard Pyle's delightful gossip concerning life on the Eastern Shore is concluded. William H. Rideing contributes a charming article on "The Land of Burns"—Ayr and its neighborhood. In remembrance of the "Glorious Fourth," a valuable narrative of "The Storming of Stony Point," July 15, 1779, is contributed by H. H. Johnston. This number contains the first of a series of papers covering the fifty years of American Art from 1828 to 1878, by S. G. W. Benjamin. James T. Field's contributes a humorous poem, "The Owl Critic." There is another illustrated poem, by S. H. M. Byers, entitled "The Mowing." The illustrated short story in this number is "A Romance of Easthampton," by A. A. Hayes, Jr. Henry James, Jr, contributes one of his short stories, "The Diary of a Man of Fifty." Edward Everett Hale is the author of another "The Happy Island"—conveying wholesome satire. Miss Mulock's love-story, "Young Mrs. Jardine," is continued. E. P. Whipple contributes a very interesting paper, "Recollections of Charles Sumner." The Editorial departments supply a rich fund of entertaining matter concerning current social and literary topics.

Sorgo and Sugar Cane Growers.

Parties wanting Cane Mills or Evaporators for working up the Early Amber Sugar Cane, Sorghum, or Ribbon Cane, will do well to write to the Blymer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O., (the makers of the celebrated Cook Evaporator and Victor Mill) for their descriptive circular and price list. The Blymer Manufacturing Co, are the oldest and most extensive manufacturers of this class of machinery in the world. Their Sorgo and Sugar Cane Machinery were awarded the Grand Medal at the Centennial Exposition.

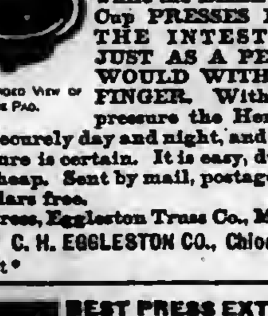
Workingmen.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winter of relaxation, your system needs cleansing and strengthening to prevent an attack of Ague, Billious or Spring Fever, or some other Spring sickness that will unfit you for a season's work. You will save much time, much sickness and great expense if you will use one bottle of Hop Bitters in your family this month. Don't wait. See other column.

How to be Beautiful.

Many hundred thousand dollars are annually expended for ladies, for "artificial" appliances to hide the shrunken and wasted form, or the sallow skin, blotches, or liver spots, which are due to female weakness, dyspepsia, torpid liver, and constipation. If a small percent. of this sum were invested in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, ladies would soon really be what they now seem to be. It readily corrects those weaknesses and diseases upon which debility and emaciation depend. It cures dyspepsia by toning up the system, and when used in connection with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, speedily overcomes all irregularities of the liver and bowels. No "bloom of youth," no "beautifier of the complexion," can impart such permanent beauty of face and form as Dr. Pierce's health-giving Favorite Prescription.

THIS NEW
ELASTIC TRUSS



An Enlarged View of the Pad.

Has a Pad differing from all others, is cup-shaped, with SELF-ADJUSTING BALL in the center, adapts itself to all positions of the body while the BALL in the Cup PRESSES BACK THE INTESTINES JUST AS A PERSON WOULD WITH THE FINGER. With light pressure the Hernia is held securely day and night, and a radical cure is certain. It is easy, durable and cheap. Sent by mail, postage paid. Circulars free.

Address, Eggleston Truss Co., Manfrs. Or C. H. EGGLESTON CO., Chicago, Ill.

n26 52t *

BEST PRESS EXTANT,
For Horse, Hand or Power. Three years in use. Universal Success. Price complete, non-Power, except wood work, only $43.00.
Southern Standard Press Co.,
Meridian, Miss.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

a19 1y

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates.

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n19 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.
—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—
NEW NECKWEAR,
Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz; Cuffs $3 a doz.
EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.
Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,
110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

n20 16t

ORANGE COUNTY
BUTTER POWDER

Makes "Gilt-edge" Butter the year round. Common-sense and the Science of Chemistry applied to Butter-making. July, August and Winter Butter made equal to the best June product. Increases product 8 per cent. Improves quality at least 20 per cent. Reduces labor of churning one-half. Prevents Butter becoming rancid. Improves market value 3 to 5 cents a pound. Guaranteed free from all injurious ingredients. Gives a nice Golden Color the year round. 25 cents' worth will produce $3.00 in increase of product and market value. Can you make a better investment? Beware of imitations. Genuine sold only in boxes with trade-mark of dairymaid churning, together with words "ORANGE COUNTY BUTTER POWDER" printed on each package. Powder sold by Grocers, Druggists, and General-store Keepers. Ask your dealer for our book "Hints to Butter-Makers," or send stamp to us for it.

Address, ALLAN MANUFACTURING CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Quarterly Conferences.

Navasota (Texas) District.

THIRD ROUND.

Plantersville, July 12-13; Brenham and Circuit, July 19-20; San Felipe, July 26-27; Hempstead, August 2-3; Hempstead Circuit, August 2-3; Courtney, August 9-10; Anderson and Red Top, August 16-17; Navasota, August 23-24; Millican, August 30-31; Bryan and Brazos, Sept. 6-7; Hearne and Brewer's hill, Sept. 13-14.

We would be pleased to help pastors in a protracted meeting at each quarterly meeting during the third round. Will be able to help from four to six days at each place. 25-7 W. L. MOLLOY, P. E.

Cleveland (Tenn.) District.

FOURTH ROUND.

Marion Circuit, July 19-20; Washington Circuit, August 2-3; Chattanooga, August 16-17; Brush Creek Circuit, August 30-31; Kingston Circuit, Sept. 13-14; Chattanooga, Oct. 4-5. 26-7 S. J. HARRIS, P. E.

The camp meeting of the Cleveland district, Holston conference, will begin Thursday, August 14, and continue one or two sabbaths. The district conference will meet August 27, at Cleveland. All the pastors of the district will please be at the camp grounds promptly. S. J. HARRIS, P. E.

26-27

Marshall (Texas) District.

THIRD ROUND.

Leon, June 21-22; Fairfield, June 28-29; Cotton Gin, July 5-6; Palestine Circuit, July 12 13; Palestine and Buffalo, July 19-20; Mineola, July 26-27; Marshall and Marshall Circuit, August 2-3; Hallville August 9 10; Tyler, August 16-17; Crockett, August 23-24; Nacogdoches, August 30 31; San Augustine, Sept. 6-7; Lower Sabine, 13-14. 25-26

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gabrell Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Keziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddle. Undertaker: Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez. Cyrus King, Elamal Moore.

jan17'79-1y.

REED & BARTON,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Silver-Plated
TABLE WARE
Of Every Description.
686 Broadway, New York.
25 tf

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

TEACHERS WANTED $50 to $100 or $200 PER MONTH during the Spring and Summer. For full particulars address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

a13 6t eowl

• ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.
123 Carondelet Street,
Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the prices named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price

Pearl, Double Column.

Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - - - 50 cents

24 mo.

Cloth, each - - - - - - - 50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each - - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - $1 50

16 mo.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual,

Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.

Suitable for Pulpit Use.

Contains sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Sheep, each - - - - - - - $1 50
Roan, embossed - - - - - - 2 00

12m., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Cloth, each - - - - - - - - $1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.

With sections 481-484 of Ritual.

Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges - - - 2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

The Three numbers of Gospel Hymns, introduced by Messrs. Moody & Sankey at Religious Meetings, are pre-eminently popular. Millions are already in use, and they can be profitably used by millions more.

GOSPEL HYMNS are issued in 3 vols., designated as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. Price for each:

Music Edition, in Boards, $30 per 100; 35 Cts. by Mail.

Words only, Paper Covers, $5 per 100; 6 Cts. by Mail.

SOLD BY BOOKSELLERS EVERYWHERE.

BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers.
76 East Ninth Street, New York. | 73 Randolph Street, Chicago.

n25 tf

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,

A. C. MORTON & CO.,
Atlanta, Ga.

n12 1f

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT
FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS

Give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Banks, Parlors, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room, get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to Churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl street, New York.

au21 1t eow

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Requisites.

—:0:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate—Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Class-mate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	35cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	50cts

The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.

The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be resent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and its conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases. * * * * *

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence, received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.

(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price $1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

BOOKS
—FOR—
Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield; a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Young Folks' Corner.

ONLY A BOY.

Only a boy, with his noise and fun,
The veriest mystery under the sun;
As brimful of mischief and wit and glee
As ever a human frame can be,
And as hard to manage as—ah! ah me!
'Tis hard to tell;
Yet we love him well.

Only a boy, with his fearful tread,
Who cannot be driven, but must be led:
Who troubles the neighbors' dogs and cats,
And tears more clothes, and spoils more hats,
Loses more tops and kites and bats
Than would stock a store
For a year or more.

Only a boy, with his wild, strange ways;
[illegible] his idle hours on busy days;
[illegible] his queer remarks and his odd replies,
[illegible] foolish and sometimes wise;
[illegible] brilliant for one of his size,
As a meteor hurled
From the pleasant world.

Only a boy, who will be a man,
[illegible] goes on with her first great plan;
[illegible] or fire, or some fatal snare,
[illegible] not to rob us of this our heir,
Our blessing, our trouble, our rest, our care;
Our torment, our joy—
"Only a boy."

Something for Plain Girls.

No woman likes to be ugly; and she who is born a beauty is fortunate indeed. But let not the [illegible] or even the ugly girl despair of acquiring a sufficient amount of [illegible] to render her attractive. [illegible] not let a foolish fear, or, worse [illegible] superstitious prejudice against [illegible] is called vanity, prevent you [illegible] trying to improve your looks, if you are not naturally a beauty, or from trying to preserve and [illegible] at the best advantage the [illegible] which you already possess. When a woman loses a desire to [illegible] she loses half her charms. [illegible] is more conductive to [illegible] than cheerfulness and good-[illegible]; and no morose or unhappy [illegible] can be good-humored and [illegible] Then there are vast [illegible] of ill-tempered women who [illegible] ill-tempered because they are [illegible] They do not know what is [illegible] matter with themselves; neither [illegible] friends know. But the [illegible] neglect and indifference [illegible] which they are treated finally [illegible] work of imbittering their [illegible] until the effect upon their character is most pernicious. [illegible] woman ought to understand [illegible] short of deformity can [illegible] a woman utterly unattract[illegible] she will study her [illegible] and points of attractiveness [illegible] has. [illegible] highly refined, graceful [illegible] be acquired by any [illegible] is a powerful charm. [illegible] grace is perfect natural[illegible] you must study your[illegible] your manners by the [illegible] art, which is but a [illegible] of the law of nature. [illegible] your nature to be for[illegible] some unpicturesque, [illegible], pray help na[illegible] little art. If you are [illegible] the smallest chair in [illegible] and be sure, if you do [illegible] to lean back in it with [illegible] folded in front of you, [illegible] line of your waist, [illegible] the present fashion [illegible] are thin, do not carry [illegible] your chin protruding [illegible] column curving [illegible] of a spoon. Do not [illegible] materials made up [illegible] or puff or flounce, [illegible] outlines of your [illegible] clearly defined by [illegible] draperies. [illegible] of dress. [illegible] a very plain [illegible] so tastefully [illegible] pleasure to [illegible] have been [illegible] sick with the [illegible] hopeless ugli[illegible] Forget [illegible] forget the [illegible] your own [illegible] that you [illegible] still friends [illegible] to be [illegible] cast off [illegible] of self, and [illegible] forbids [illegible] —Young Wo-[illegible]

[illegible] seemed to consume very slowly, yet it wore away about one hundred and fifty dollars' worth every year, till it was all gone."

"I can't understand you yet. Tell me where the fire was kindled; and all about it."

"Well, then, it was kindled in the end of a cigar. The cigar cost him, he himself told me, twelve and a half dollars per month, or one hundred and fifty dollars per year, and that in twenty-one years would amount to $3,150, besides all the interest. Now the money was worth at least ten per cent., and at that rate it would double once in about every seven years. So that the whole sum would be more than $20,000. That would buy a fine house and lot in any city. It would pay for a large farm in the country. Don't you pity the family of the man who has slowly burned up their home?"

"Whew! I guess you mean me, for I have smoked more than twenty years. But it didn't cost so much as that, and I haven't any house of my own. Have rented—thought I was too poor to buy a house. And all because I have been burning it up! What a fool I have been!"

The boys had better never set a fire which costs so much, and which though so easily put out, is yet so likely, it once kindled, to keep burning all their lives.—The Safeguard.

Not Servants.

There is a custom that ought to be entirely discarded, that is of calling women or young girls who do housework, servants. They should be called hired help, or hired girls. It is seldom that a man is called a servant, no matter what his work may be. But a girl, the moment she attempts to earn a living for herself by working at the most useful labor under the sun,—that branch of labor without which we could not live, that branch of labor that Queen Victoria did not disdain to have her daughter acquire a knowledge of,—no matter how intelligent, how well educated, how lady-like the young girl may be, she is considered no longer entitled to polite treatment by those who are ignorant of a knowledge of Christian duty, or of true politeness, and aping the southern aristocracy who called their slaves by one short first name, they being in many instances born out of wedlock and entitled to no other.

Power of Little Things.

Little words, not eloquent speeches nor sermons; little deeds, not miracles nor battles, nor one great act of mighty martyrdom, make up the Christian life. The little constant sunbeam, not the lightning; the waters of Siloam, "that go softly" on their meek mission of refreshment, not the waters of the river "great and mighty," rushing down in the torrent's noise and force, are the true symbols of a holy life. Lamps do not talk, but they do shine. A light-house sounds no drum, it beats no gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly spark is seen by the mariner. So let your actions shine out your religion.

"Take Hold and Help."

A school teacher relates the following incident, as observed from her window: "Two colored men were engaged in loading cotton bales. One of the men shirked. Although he went through all the motions, he did not help much in the work, while the other used all his strength. Finally, he turned round to his fellow-laborer, and, surveying him from head to foot, said: 'Sambo, are you a Christian?' 'Yes.' 'Then take hold and help.'"

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish information about my mother and two children. Mother's name is Beckie Wells, brother's Charley, sister's Annie. They lived near Pontotoc, Miss., and left in 1865. I have heard from them but once since. They were then in Memphis. I ask all preachers and friends to make inquiry for them, for I want to see them very much. If found address me. HENRY WELLS, care Rev. J. M. Nevils, Ripley, Miss.

The Tidy Housewife.

[illegible] tidy housewife, when [illegible] house its spring [illegible] bear in mind that [illegible] of her house are [illegible] houses, and [illegible] cleansing [illegible] regulating [illegible] to prevent [illegible] arising from [illegible] and [illegible] the

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

This article is one which really possesses extraordinary merit. By consulting reliable physicians in your own locality, you will find that the above is true. It is far superior to the ordinary porous plaster, all the so-called electrical appliances, and to all external remedies whatever. It contains entirely new elements which cause it to relieve pain at once, strengthen and cure where other plasters will not even relieve. For Lameness and Weakness of the back, deceased Kidneys, Lung and Chest difficulties, Rheumatism, Neglected Colds, Female Affections, and all local aches and pains, it is simply the best remedy ever devised. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 Cents.

Victor Cane Mill And COOK EVAPORATOR

The BEST and only standard machines. FIRST PREMIUM AT 125 STATE FAIRS. Grand Medal at Centennial Exhibition. Over 48,000 sold. Safe, Reliable, Economical.

Cane Growers can't afford to risk Crops With light, weak, unfinished mills, liable to break in the midst of the season. They can't afford to waste crops with mills that don't press out all the juice, or evaporators that make syrup and sugar unfit for market, and too little in proportion to the labor and fuel they require.

Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O. Steam Engines, Threshers, Bells. Circulars sent free. 26 t eow

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

Heath, Pippey & Lara,

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,

New Styles China Mattings.

WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS

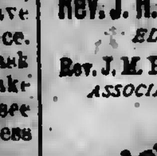
IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH, PIPEY & LARA, 97 & 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

june6'78-tf.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Established in 1837. Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

mar 26 1y

"Unsurpassed as a Teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., EDITOR.

Rev. J. M. Freeman, ASSOCIATE.

Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to Phillips & Hunt, Publishers, 805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts that beautify Home and make it attractive, and the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. 1 sample for 3 ct. stamp. [illegible] Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v13 n46 1y

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline: A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every residing Elder and reacher in charge should have one. Price.....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price.....$1 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price.....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price.....$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price.....$1 50

One Hundred Years o Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price.....$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price.....$1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price.....$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price.....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price.....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price.....$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price.....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:

Flexible cover, 12mo	$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo	75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo	1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo	2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price.....$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost.....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 50 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price.....$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each.....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price.....$3 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen.....$1 50. Large size, each.....20. Large and illuminated, each.....25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred.....$1 00. Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100.....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100.....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.....$1 00. From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100.....$1 00. From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.....$1 00. Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100.....$1 00. Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100.....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000.....$1 20. Exhorters License, per 100.....$1 00. Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100.....$1 00. Certificates of Baptism, per 100.....$3 00. Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00. Certificates of Removal, per 100.....75. Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price.....$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries, On Old Testament.

Vol. I. } The Pontateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price.....$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price.....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.

Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price	$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price	1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price	1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price	1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price.....$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.

I. Coval's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt, NEW ORLEANS.

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
34 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1360 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 inches	2100 lbs	2900 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT, New Orleans.

tf]

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

- Record of Pastors.
- Record of Classes.
- Record of Official Members.
- Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
- Record of Probationers.
- Record of Baptisms.
- Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT, New Orleans.

Alcorn University,

Near RODNEY, MISS.

Thorough instruction in ENGLISH and the CLASSICS given.

TEXT BOOKS can be purchased at the University at WHOLESALE PRICES.

BOARD

In the MESS, and WASHING, only $1.25 per week.

Or if preferred

WASHING and FIRST-CLASS BOARD $2.00 per week.

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

All students coming to this place are requested to bring at least one blanket and a pillow.

☞ The regular packets R. E. Lee and Natchez bring students from

Vicksburg to Rodney for $3.

All who intend coming by that route, will write me to that effect, so that I may forward them a certificate to present to the clerk of the boat. Address

Rev. H. R. Revels, RODNEY, MISS.

n24 je 15 3m

DREW THEOLOGICAL Seminary.

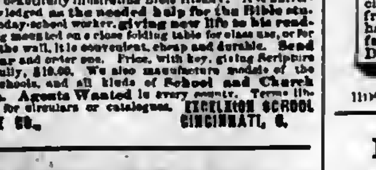
Five departments of instruction. Full corps of Professors, aided by non-resident Teachers and Lecturers. Special and continuous attention given to SACRED ORATORY. TUITION. Furnished Rooms and use of Library FREE.

New term begins Thursday, September 18.

For catalogue, rooms and special information, address

Prof. D. P. Kidder, MADISON, NEW JERSEY.

n24 jul2 4m eow



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

FREE TO ALL

FLEETWOOD'S LIFE OF CHRIST.

500 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.

Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO., 176 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.

n20 4t

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The Human Locomotive should be carefully engineered, otherwise it may run off the track of life at any moment. To keep its delicate internal machinery in perfect trim, or to put it in good working condition when out of order, is the peculiar province of Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

The thoroughness with which it cleanses, without irritating the bowels: the tone and vigor which it imparts to the stomach; its appetizing effects; its cooling, refreshing operation in fever; the relief it affords in headache; its antibilious properties, and its superior merits as a general corrective, justify the assertion that it is, beyond all comparison, the most valuable family medicine of the age.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

n26 2t

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

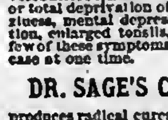
SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.



CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment improved, Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

☞ IT IS ☜

180 Miles Shorter and 10½ Hours Quicker to Chicago.

112 Miles Shorter and 6½ Hours Quicker to St. Louis

☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE. ☜

And the ONLY LINE to LOUISVILLE and CINCINNATI.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. The EATING HOUSES are entirely new, and the BEST IN THE SOUTH.

☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5:15 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Corner of Common.

F. Chandler, General Passenger Agent.

AGENT WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.

RELIABLE, INTELLIGENT, BUSINESS MEN can clear $1,000 to $1000 yearly in the NEW AGENCY. Entirely new and desirable—pleasant and permanent. Can be carried on in connection with a store, shop or mill by any good agent.

Suitable for every county in the United States. Address J. B. CHAPMAN. 70 West Street, MADISON, IND.

n23 8t

EAR DISEASES!

Dr. C. E. Shoemaker's Book on Deafness and Diseases of the Ear and CATARRH their proper treatment, especially Running Ear. How to get immediate relief from all annoyances of these diseases, and a sure, harmless and permanent cure. A book every family should have. Sent free to all. Address Dr. C. E. SHOEMAKER, Aural Surgeon, Reading, Pa.

n4-jan24-1-51-eow.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the list will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO., Atlanta, Ga.

n12 tf

☞ Caution to Dealers and Consumers. ☜

The great merit and perfect safety of the

INSURANCE OIL

have made it so popular that some persons are trying to palm off inferior oils on the community, by alleging that they are as good as Insurance Oil.

Consumers and Fair Dealers, who wish to use or sell the genuine Insurance Oil, are therefore cautioned not to buy any illuminating oil purporting to be Insurance Oil, unless sold by the Insurance Oil Tank Company, their Agents, or persons duly authorized by the Company.

To protect the people against imposition, every barrel and case of pure Insurance Oil is branded:

TRADE MARK
INSURANCE OIL
PAT. JAN. 5 1875.

This trade mark is fully protected by United States Letters Patent, dated Jan. 5, 1875, and the proprietors are determined to prosecute, to the extent of the law, any attempts to infringe upon their rights, either by using this trade mark without their consent, or by selling other oils under the name of Insurance Oil.

THE INSURANCE OIL IS THE ONLY ILLUMINATING OIL THAT HAS THE FULL ENDORSEMENT OF THE LEADING INSURANCE COMPANIES OF EUROPE AND AMERICA.

Put up in best barrels and also in New Patent Faucet Cans.

Orders should be addressed

Insurance Oil Tank Company, 95 and 97 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.,

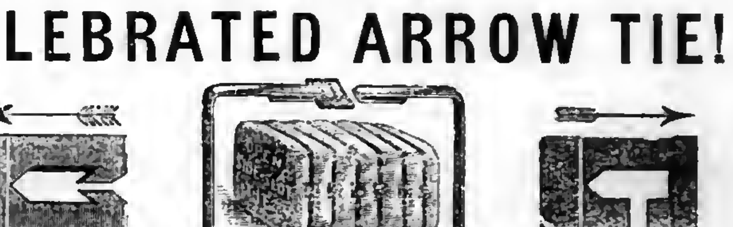
Or, the Branch Offices of the Company in GALVESTON, HOUSTON and AUSTIN, TEXAS.

21

Cotton Planters, Cotton Factors and Country Merchants

EVERYWHERE, PURCHASE THE

CELEBRATED ARROW TIE!



Important Special Notice!

IRON COTTON TIES.

In view of the constantly increasing popularity and demand for the celebrated ARROW TIE, the universally recognized favorite Tie of Planters, Cotton Press men, Shippers of cotton generally, the American Cotton Tie Supply Company, sole proprietors and manufacturers of said Tie, commanding unequalled facilities, have, in addition to their large stock now on hand, contracted for increased quantities sufficient to meet the largest demand for Cotton Ties to cover the entire crop of the coming season, and now through their Agents generally, offer the popular and irrepressible ARROW TIE at lowest market price, in bundles complete, being less than the market value of plain hoop iron, it being the purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, and defy all competition that may arise.

Office of the AMERICAN COTTON TIE SUPPLY COMPANY, No. 60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

R. W. RAYNE, President. n23 1y

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—

No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n20 6mo

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

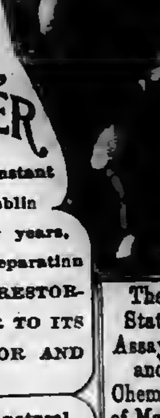
Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

☞ AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS. ☜

The Singer Manufacturing Co., 85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n9 1y

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

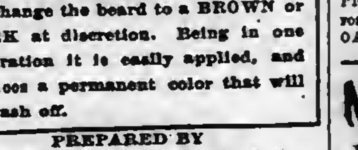


Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.



BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

PREPARED BY R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H. Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

TRUTHS.

Hop Bitters are the Purest and Best Bitters ever made.

They are compounded from Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion,—the oldest, best, and most valuable medicines in the world and contain all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, being the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth. No disease or ill health can possibly long exist where these Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm. To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, these Bitters are invaluable, being highly curative, tonic and stimulating, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save your life. Hundreds have been saved by so doing. ☞ $500 ☜ will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

Do not suffer yourself or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged, drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best medicine ever made; the "Invalid's Friend and Hope," and no person or family should be without them. Try the Bitters to-day.

Try Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

HIGHEST HONORS AT ALL WORLD'S EXHIBITIONS

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL STYLES

Now ready, at Reduced Prices.

ONE TO TWENTY-ONE STOPS, $54, $66, $72, $84, $99, $108 to $500 and upward. Before purchasing or hiring ANY organ, send for our latest ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE, PRICE LIST, and CIRCULARS with useful information FOR PURCHASERS. Sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK or CHICAGO.

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 1y

X Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 21 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio. n22 4t

RUPTURE

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN is now at his branch office, 5 South Fifth street, St. Louis, Mo., where his patients and those wishing his treatment may consult him during the months of May and June. His book, with photographs of bad cases before and after cure, mailed for ten cents. Will be at Principal Office, 251 Broadway, New York, July and August. n22 4t eow

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14—NO. 27. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 361.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN, 89 Natchez Street, New Orleans.

PHILLIPS & HUNT, Agents.

J. C. HARTZELL, D. D., Editor

Terms: $2 a Year, Cash in Advance

All Travelling Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are authorized Agents.

Subscriptions may begin at any time and the paper will be sent as long as paid for.

Remittances must be made by Registered Letter P. O. Money Order, or by Express.

Advertising Rates.

(Per Nonpareil line, each insertion.)

One time or more .... 8 cents
One month, (4 times) .... 7 "
Three months, (13 times) .... 6 "
Six months, (26 times) .... 5 "
One year, (52 times) .... 4 "
Marriage notices 25
Special notices .... 8 cents, net cash

NEW-YORK OFFICE: 805 Broadway, New York, WILLIAM BALDWIN, Special Agent.

ONLY A WORD.

BY MARY KEELY BOUTELLE.

Only a word! a little winged word
Blown through the busy town,
Lighter than thistle down,
Lighter than dust by roving bee or bird
Brushed from the blossoming lily's golden crown;
Borne idly here and there,
Oft as the summer air,
About men's doors the sunny stillness stirred.
Only a word!
But sharp, oh sharper than a two-edged sword
To pierce and sting and scar
The heart whose peace a breath of blame could mar.

Only a word, a little word that fell
Unheeded as the dew
That from the darkling blue
Of summer midnight softly steals, to tell
The tale of singing brook and star-lit dell
In [illegible] welcome street,
Where, pale with dust and heat,
The little [illegible] in workman's cell
Its drooping bell
Uplifts to greet the kiss it knows so well;
A word—a drop of dew!
But oh, its touch could life's lost hope renew.
—Sunday Afternoon.

Wiley University.

Our work in the school closed for this year last Thursday. There has been an increase in attendance over last year of over forty pupils. The school has increased in other ways than in point of numbers. [illegible] a year of toil made [illegible] by the work of [illegible] has been in progress [illegible] year, and because [illegible] accommodations [illegible]. Withal good [illegible] study has signally [illegible]. A higher grade [illegible] has been attained [illegible] that gives us [illegible] new buildings [illegible] which will [illegible] for [illegible]. Buildings are [illegible] but will [illegible] the beginning [illegible] at the [illegible] that our [illegible] time [illegible] with [illegible]

[illegible]s the severest strain on the Freedmen's Aid Society, and all persons in immediate connection with the schools to meet the demands of the work. We are not so much in fear of enemies as of friends; nor are we so liable to be disturbed in our work for a want of interest on the part of our friends in the North, for they have done well, and there seems no abatement of interest, but an increase rather, as from indifference on the part of colored people themselves. We cannot expect, however, that the colored people will understand all that is for their best interests, but we hope for great improvement in this direction. Let us have unity of purpose and actions, and great success will be realized in the rapid development of the colored people. Success worthy of the great Methodist Episcopal Church has already been achieved, but our victories are only begun. We need help and prayers and sympathies, and men to rightly do the work we have in hand. "Whatever our hands find to do, let us do it with our might." Good fruits are sure to follow earnest, faithful, Christian labor. Some may think lightly of this work of our church, but surely those that spend their time in cavil and complaint will not be winners in the race.

W. H. DAVIS.

Marshall, Texas, June 19, 1879.

An Unfraternal Record.

We lay the following cases of murder and outrage upon ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church before the public for the consideration of the thoughtful:

1. Rev. Jesse Knight, a white man and a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, was shot, in his own house, in Morgan county, Ala., in 1869. He died from his wounds, a few days afterward. He was a native of Alabama, a man of property and highly esteemed, and was killed because he had joined the so-called Northern, or Radical Church, and acted with the Republican party.

2. Rev. William Johnson (white) was shot and killed while in the pulpit preaching, in Fayetteville, Talladega county, Ala., in 1869. A person in the congregation deliberately drew a revolver and shot him during service. He was a native Southerner, living in that place, an excellent man, and was killed because of his politics and church relations.

3. Rev. America Trambles (colored) was shot and killed, his body being pierced with twelve bullets, in his own house in Chambers county, Ala., in 1870. The only charge against him was that he supported and would not discontinue a school for colored children. The school-house was burned twice, and then he was killed, in order to prevent the education of the colored people. His son was shot and dangerously wounded at the same time.

4. Rev. —— Randolph (colored) was shot and killed in October, 1868, while standing on the platform of a car on the railroad at Hodge's Station, near Abbeville, S. C. He was a young man of great promise, from the North, and at the time of his death, assistant editor of the Charleston Christian Advocate.

5. Rev. Peter Smith (colored), a local preacher of great excellence and influence among his people, was shot and killed at Grantville, Coweta county, Ga., in 1868 or 1869, while engaged in prayer, simply because of his church relations and political influence.

6. Rev. W. M. Todd (white,) was [illegible] at Brinkley, Arkansas, March [illegible] 1879, and died of his wounds [illegible] exposure a few days after[illegible]

7. [illegible] Hayden (colored,) a [illegible] of Central Tennessee College, [illegible] a good student and [illegible] Christian character, was [illegible] while teaching school in [illegible]

[illegible] six ministers and one [illegible] all killed because they [illegible] in the Methodist [illegible] and no one has [illegible] these crimes. [illegible] like dogs, [illegible] did nothing to [illegible] bring the offend[illegible]

8. [illegible] D. (white) [illegible] ever [illegible] land, [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible]teen buckshots passing over the heads of himself and family, and lodging in the wall. One man exploded a cap on a gun aimed at him from the side of the road, not exceeding five yards from him. Forty men, armed with guns and pistols, surrounded an arbor where he was holding camp-meeting one night during service, and two men searched the congregation for him with revolvers in hand. Failing in the search, they fired a volley and left the grounds, yelling like wolves. The preceding night, they searched the congregation for him with drawn daggers, swearing they "would cut his throat and cut out his heart." He was chased at another time by a large company of disguised men, from whom he escaped by going on board the steamer Ida. Not being able to reach him, they sheared his horse and left without further injury. He was threatened and driven out of Tuscaloosa by a band of disguised men; was threatened and narrowly escaped death while holding a quarterly meeting at Village Springs.

9. Rev. M. B. Sullivan (white.) was inhumanly beaten, his skull fractured, ribs broken, and otherwise injured so as to render him an invalid for life, on the night of the 10th of May, 1869, near Vienna, Madison county, Ala., because he had left the M. E. Church South, and was preaching for the Methodist Episcopal Church, "Parson Phelps," of the M. E. Church South, being present, and directing in this infernal outrage.

10. Rev. Isaac W. Dorman (white,) nephew of the late Rev. Alfred Dorman, of Georgia, was mobbed, beaten and driven from his work in Alabama, in 1869–70. He was a Union man during the war, and was chased by dogs four miles, and only made his escape by running along the channel of a creek, and thus baffling the dogs.

11. Rev. F. B. L. Hill (white,) a native of Alabama, a most estimable man and able minister, was brutally beaten and driven from his work in Eutaw, Ala., where he was teaching and preaching. He took refuge in the North, God's country, out of the reach of Ku-klux villains.

12. Rev. J. W. Tally (white,) presiding elder of the Talladega district, Alabama Conference, was intimidated by constant threats, and driven from his work.

13. Rev. J. A. M'Cutchen (white,) presiding elder of Demopolis district, Alabama Conference, was intimidated by threats and alarming appearances, and driven from his field of labor.

14. Dr. Powell (white) was driven from Lafayette, Ala., by intimidation.

15. Rev. J. L. Freeman, (white,) now a presiding elder of the Alabama Conference, was fired on by a band of disguised men while preaching, the leader of whom was accidentally shot by one of his own men, and left by them in the yard of a Union man, as they supposed, to die.

16. Rev. J. Buchanan (white,) was fired at in his house and on the highway, and driven off from Tuscaloosa circuit, Alabama.

17. Rev. Dean Reynolds (colored,) local preacher, was beaten and left for dead, with both arms broken, one in two places, in Morgan county, Ala., in 1868, and obliged to leave his circuit.

18. Rev. Geo. Taylor (colored,) a local preacher in Colbert county, January, 1869, was whipped until helpless, and his back and thighs punctured with a sharp-pointed knife, and he was warned to leave the country within three days, which he did, leaving everything he had, and losing pay for his labor.

19. Rev. J. Aaron Moore (colored,) of the Mississippi Conference, living at Meridian, was arrested with two others at the time of the Meridian riot, on the 6th of March, 1871. The others were killed, but he escaped, though his house was burned and his property destroyed, and he was hunted like a wild beast for days. His only offense was being a Republican, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a member of the Legislature of Mississippi.

20. Rev. D. McLachlan (white,) of the Mississippi Conference, was driven away from Starkville, Oktibbeha county, Miss., by a mob, April 6, 1871, where he was preaching, teaching, and also had a co-operative store for the freedmen. In addition to the crime of being a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a school-teacher, he kept a store where the colored people could trade without being cheated or compelled to pay two or three prices for their provisions.

21. Rev. Nathan Cannon (colored,) member of the Mississippi Conference, was brutally beaten and nearly killed at his home in Winston county, Mississippi, in 1870, because he was a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was teaching school, had purchased a home and was doing well, financially and otherwise, and was a Republican.

22. Rev. J. H. Caldwell, D. D., (white,) a native of the South, an estimable gentleman and able minister, who did heroic work in organizing the Methodist Episcopal Church in Georgia, and who is now a popular pastor in Wilmington, Delaware, was shot at, mobbed, ostracised, and though having many influential friends and a high position in the State, thought it better to leave the South than contend against continued opposition.

23. Rev. James Bohannan (white) a former slaveholder, but a firm friend and defender of the Union, was expelled from the Baptist church in Newman, Ga., for boarding Rev. Geo. Standing, the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church and school-teacher at that place. He became a useful minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is now living near Atlanta in reduced circumstances, having lost his property and position in society by years of oppression and social ostracism.

24. Rev. George Standing, (white) pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and teacher of the school at Newnan, now pastor of Loyd street Church, Atlanta, Ga., was shot at while in the school-room, was threatened and repeatedly molested, and when he appealed to the mayor of the city of Newnan, for protection from unlawful interruption and violence, was cursed openly and to his face by that officer.

25. Rev. Dr. Prettyman, (white) was obliged to leave Adairsville, Ga., when presiding elder in the Georgia Conference, or he would have been assaulted and probably killed by Ku-klux in disguise.

26. Rev. J. Spilman, (white) was driven from Waynesboro, Ga., by a mob, when presiding elder, and would have been shot and probably killed, but for the protection of colored men.

27. Rev. James McHenry, (colored) was broken up, robbed and driven away from his circuit in Chattooga county, Ga.

28. Rev. J. C. Johnson, (colored) was shot in his own house in Bartow county, Ga.

29. Rev. I. G. Pollard, a presiding elder in Little Rock Conference, Ark., a white man and native Southerner, was arrested and handcuffed and otherwise maltreated, under the pretence of "suspicion" for crime, at Brinkley, Ark., March 25th, 1879.

30. Rev. Thomas Phillips, (colored,) of South Carolina Conference, a man of great excellence and force of character and held in high esteem by both white and colored, was brutally whipped because he was a Republican and a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

31. Rev. E. M. Pinckney, (colored) of the South Carolina Conference, was beaten with a heavy bludgeon in Kingstree, South Carolina, November, 1878, and seriously wounded, and was arrested on false charges and thrown into prison in Charleston, Columbia and Kingstree, because he was a Republican. Armed men hunted the town for him, dug a grave and held a mock funeral.

32. Rev. Prince Wright, (colored) and his son-in-law, were brutally whipped in Howard county, Missouri, April 24th, 1879. He is a member of the Missouri Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in good standing, and his only offense seems to be the interest he had taken in the education of his race.

33. Rev. W. C. Walker (white), of the Georgia Conference, quietly cast a Republican ballot at Pine Grove, Harrison county, Ga., in 1876, and as he turned to leave the polls was set upon by roughs, knocked down and beaten, and would, probably, have been killed if he had not been rescued by friends. He is one of the best of men, and nothing was alleged against him except his Church relations and political opinions.

34. Rev. Robert Alexander was brutally whipped. Particulars not given.

Why publish these accounts of disorder in former years at this time? For many reasons.

1. Because, for the past six or eight months the country has seemed to be rapidly drifting toward the confusion, strife, and bloodshed which disgraced the South, in 1868-70. The coming campaign preceding the Presidential election of 1880, has threatened to be more exciting, bitter and bloody, and so, more injurious to the best interests of the country than any preceding. It is therefore the manifest duty of all journalists, ministers, Christians and patriots to give warning of the danger, and thus prevent, if it be possible, the repetition of those evils.

2. Because no one has been punished for these crimes, nor has there been suitable acknowledgement or confession of them, nor reformation touching these and similar outrages.

3. Because we have a right to keep these facts before the people till their enormity and evil influences are apprehended by the masses, and the rights of all, including the ministers and members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South, are fully recognized.

4. Because obligations to God and society demand no less than this on the part of every citizen, according to opportunity.

May we not ask, will the Methodist Episcopal Church in the North gaze indifferently upon these scenes, and allow them to continue? As to protection by the government, thus far that has been a delusion and mockery of the helpless. Would it be under British rule, or that of any other civilized nation?—Atlanta Advocate.

From Louisiana to Kansas.

AS TOLD BY AN EX-SOLDIER.

The following is a copy of a letter just received from one of the exodus negroes in Kansas. It speaks for itself. The writer was a sergeant in a colored regiment organized in Louisiana by General Banks in 1863.

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, June 10, 1879.

MY DEAR FRIEND—You asks me to tell you how I feel here in Kansas. Well, to be honest and true, my feeling is well nigh done for. In old days when I was young I had feeling, but I has been so brutilized and cuffed about that I sometimes thinks I have not got any power to feel. My wife had fever last night, and says she—"John, feel how hot my head is," and I put my hand on her burning head and I could not feel for the callousness which the hoe has made on my hands.

But I suppose you do not want me to speak of such a feeling, but only for how my prospecks are. Well, one thing is sure, I am better off than I was there below in Louisiana. Here I have work and gets pay every mouth in the greenback money with the government mark, and when I go out I am not shot at, and my children goes to school; they are not cuffed about worse than dogs. The white folks here seems to think and a right to his own wife and spotless children. But down in old Tensas the white people don't think no more of a colored man's rights than they do of United States rights.

A NEGRO MAN HAS A SOUL

Since the day I ran away to be free,—and I was nine days and nights in the swamps getting to Bank's army in 1863,—I have had no hardships like those I had a getting away to Kansas.

THE FIRST TROUBLE.

My first trouble was in starting. You see I was in debt, and the man I rented land from said every year I must rent again to pay the other year, and so I rents and rents, and each year I gets deeper and deeper in debt. In a fit of madness I one day said to the man I rented from: "It's no use. I works hard and raises big crops, and you sells it and keeps the money, and you brings me more and more in debt, so I will go somewhere else and try to make headway like white workingmen." He got very mad and said to me: "If you try that job, you will get your head shot away." So I told my wife, and she says: "Let us take to the woods in the night time." Well, we took the woods, my wife and four children, and we was three weeks living in the woods waiting for a boat. Then a great many more black people came and we was all together at the landing.

Boats came along, but they would not stop, but before long the Grand Tower hove up and we got on board. Says the captain, "Where's you going?" Says I, "Kansas." Says he, "You can't go on this boat." Says I, "I do; you know who I am. I am a man who was a United States soldier and I know my rights, and if I and my family gets put off, I will go in the United States Court and sue for damages." Says the captain to another boat officer, "Better take that nigger or he will make trouble." This was not the worst trouble. My wife and oldest child got off the boat to get a pair of chickens we left on the landing and the boat pulled out and would not go back. So I and three children had to be took to St. Louis and then up to Kansas.

ARRIVAL IN KANSAS.

I was like a crazy man about my wife and child left behind. Some says we don't love our families like white folks. Well, if we don't love our families I don't know who does. I was glad to go to Kansas, but not without all my family. Any way, I thought it would be good to see the country first and then go back for those left behind. When we got in sight of Kansas I thought of the land of Canaan, only I was sorry all my family were not there too. When I landed on the soil I looked on the ground and I says this is free ground. Then I looked on the heavens, and I says them is free and beautiful heavens. Then I looked within my heart, and I says to myself I wonder why I never was free before?

The white people was so kind I said, Why could not the people down South be kind like these Kansas people, and if they were we would not have to go to all this trouble to get away. One man came right to me and says, "Do you want to work on a farm?" I says, "Yes." He says, "How much a mouth?" I says, "Ten dollars for me and my keeping, five dollars for my wife and her keeping, and keeping for two of the children for what they can do, and room for us all, and four acres for garden." And he agreed, and said he pays in United States money every mouth, and no contracts and no store credits and no big interests to pay. So I says, "Now I will go and get my family;" and went back to Tensas.

STRANGE EXPERIENCES ON HIS RETURN.

I left the children in Kansas and started back for my wife and child. I was not far down the river before I heard the order was given to carry no more black people up to St. Louis. They would carry them back down but not up. So I thought when I got back they might keep me. Well, I got to Tensas and found my family. They waited five weeks, and was told by the Spirit that I would not forsake them.

We hailed all the boats for nine days but they all passed us. By and by the John A. Scudder hove to and we rushed on. The captain said he would not take us. I said I would have my rights in the law then, and then he took us. We went all right till we got to Mississippi, and there a sheriff came on and seized us all for debt to somebody in Mississippi when we never lived in Mississippi.

I told them all right, but I would go into the United States Court. So they said I was too smart a nigger, and they had better let me go. So when another boat came up from below I got on. I paid my money on the first boat, and lost it when the sheriff got us. There was no mercy or justice for us, because we was colored. White folks, if they were treated like that would make war, but we poor colored people make no war; but when the white folks make war we have to help to stop it, and then get no protection afterward. By the help of God I had saved money from the army, and had enough to pay double, or else I would be put off and my family.

HE REACHES KANSAS AGAIN.

After hardships on the boat and in St. Louis, we got here to Kansas again. When I knew I had all my family now in a free land, I said let us hold a little prayer meeting; so we held a little meeting on the river bank. It was raining but the drops fell from heaven on a free family, and the meeting was just as good as sunshine. We was thankful to God for ourselves and we prayed for those who could not come. I asked my wife did she know the ground she stands on. She said "No!" I said it is free ground; and she cried like a child for joy. We are all at work who can work. We work hard but we get plenty to eat and have good hopes for the time to come. I saw Andrew Jones, one old sergent, and he says you want ed me to write all the particulars and I have done so. It is now fifteen years since I learned to read and write a little, and I have tried to do my best with the help of my oldest daughter, to write this so you could understand it. Please excuse mistakes and I will do better next time; hoping to hear good news. Yours most respectfully

JOHN SOLOMON LEWIS.

—Boston Traveller.

The Military as a Menace to Civil Liberty.

Before the surviving vertrans of the Army of the Patomac, at Albany, N. Y. General Hawley of Connecticut made reference, amid the deafening cheers, to the recent revival of the Secession shibboleths at the capital. His theme was the defence of the army from the charge so often made of late by Democratic speakers and writers, of being a menace to the civil liberties of the people. General Hawley said:

To discourse upon the dangers to liberty of any such regular army as we have ever maintained or are likely to maintain in time of peace is an injustice to the American soldier, and a lamentable misjudgment of the American citizen. That 25.000, 50,000 or 100,000 regular troops, under the lead of an ambitious general, could overthrow the American government is not within the limits of possibility; and if we may judge of the future by the past, there is even less likelihood that any great American soldier will ever undertake it. If he shall try it, we shall send a constable after him. Beneath the millions of citizens capable of bearing arms in such an emergency, he would go down like a reed. Judged as a whole, we have had no more loyal and patriotic body of men in the country than the officers of the regular army * * * * * * No, we need fear no attack upon our liberties from the army that America will ever organize. The high aim of the soldier is subordinate to the civil authority, and if he indulges in ambition outside of his profession, it is stimulated by the example of the generous confidence and high reward given many of his predecessors. Washington Jackson, Harrison, Taylor, and Grant, of our Presidents, proved themselves in all things worthy of the highest respect of the American people, but in large degree they earned the preferment to which the triumphal voice of the people carried them by their services as soldiers; nor will any soldier of the American republic seek its high honors save by proving a noble devotion to the civil law, the Constitution, and the ancient rights and liberties of the people. I am not to-day elevating the soldier's calling above any other, but only vindicating it against certain false prejudices and trashy, but in some regard dangerous, talk that would degrade him in his own estimation, abolish the army, and nurse a bitter hatred of that element of force which all moral law teaches us must be held in reserve in any government. This is the government of the people, by the people, and for the people. But that government so made, once established, shall in no whit fail of the power and majesty accorded to any other. The Constitution, the laws, and the Union must be defended and maintained on every inch of space, in every second of time.

Addressing his comrades of the National Encampment at their imposing banquet on Tuesday evening, Attorney-General Devens, after alluding to the patriotic associations of the day, used this significant language:

There come times of reaction, but revolutions cannot go backward. I know that old and exploded ideas are raked up that they may creep and gibber again in the streets, but they cannot be galvanized into life. I know that the people of this country know what the Union is. They know what it has made; they know what it has done for them; they know that those theories that the United States are not a Union, but a league; that they exist only by leave of this State or that; the laws are only to be enforced at the pleasure of this State or that; they know those theories are, or might be termed, idle or fantastics, and, were it not, that they are wicked and dangerous. [Applause.] Whatever difficulties there may be now, whatever difficulties may seem to darken the horizon, the heart of the people is firm and true; and whatever the errors of the past, or the struggles of the past, it is true also that at the feet of the American people are the firm and great rocks of justice, liberty, equality and union, and from them they will be driven neither by wind nor wave. [Continuous applause.]

The steamship Arizona, from New York, made the passage to Queenstown in 7 days, 9 hours, 23 minutes.

General News Items.

G. Reynolds, the noted novelist, died.

Yellow fever was brought to Lisbon, Portugal, from Rio Janerio.

The colored people of Assumption parish are discussing the exodus.

Gen. Grant will not return to the United States until next September.

Rev. H. C. Riley has been confirmed as Episcopal bishop of Mexico.

The body of the French prince imperial will be brought to London late in July.

Kentucky courts decide that it is lawful to bar the jury-box against all colored men.

A colony from Lowell, Mass., is expected to settle near Manchester, Coffee county, Tennessee.

The insurrection in Algeria has ended, and 4000 insurgents are in the hands of the French.

The Louisiana Supreme Court has decided the Sunday ordinance of Baton Rouge parish constitutional.

Hon. Edward Learned has received a grant from the Mexican government to assist in building a railroad across Tehuantepec isthmus.

C. F. Ordway & Co., clothiers, Nashville, failed, with liabilities $44,900; assets $37,200. Their creditors are mostly in Eastern cities.

A religious paper called the Christian Messenger has been started in Servia, and has found rapid circulation. The Princess of Servia is among its subscribers.

The French, British and German consuls demanded the abdication of the Khedive of Egypt. The Sultan fears that if he consents he will lose control over that country.

The Kansas fever has broken out with renewed vigor in Avoyelles parish, La., and the negroes are appointing committees to go to Kansas and see how the land lays.

The overseers of Harvard University have refused to sanction the acceptance of a bequest of $10,000 for the Harvard medical school on condition that its advantages be offered to women on equal terms with men.

The President vetoed the judicial appropriation bill, because it forbid the payment of deputy marshals in the execution of existing laws, while the duty and authority to employ them would still remain.

It is reported that committees of conference have been appointed and negotiations are pending for consolidation of the Iron Mountain Railroad Company of St. Louis with the Texas Pacific Railway Company.

The dress woven from spiders' webs, which the Empress of Brazil presented to Queen Victoria is very beautiful, and exceeds in fineness any silk gown. It is estimated that 700,000 spider webs would be required for forty yards of such cloth.

A meeting was held in Tremont Temple, Boston, to express sympathy with the colored exodus from the Southern States. Speeches were made by Wendell Phillips and others, and a committee appointed to solicit funds in aid of the cause.

Gen. Garfield is authority for the statement that in the last two years there have been 2500 people arrested for violating the laws of the United States, of whom all but 140 were in the Southern States. Beneath these figures lies a significant and important fact.

M. De Lesseps now announces that he will start for Panama early in November, and that he will turn the first sod for the interoceanic canal on the first of January, 1880. He says he will employ 40,000 natives, including Chinese, and also 15,000 free negroes from Brazil.

The Russian and Servian commissioners having been unable to arrange a boundary in the neighborhood of Koula, a Prussian captain, with 300 men, drove the Servians back to the boundary existing previous to the war, threatening to shoot any one coming within a league of it.

Messrs. Scribner & Co., having, under the business management of Mr. Roswell Smith, brought the publishing of Magazines from doubtful experiment to an unparalleled success, have now entered a new field with characteristic energy in the publication of Hymn and Tune Books for churches.

Southwestern.

J. C. HARTZELL, B. D., Editor.

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1879.

One Dollar!

Subscriptions will be taken for the remainder of the year 1879 for

One Dollar, Cash.

SIX MONTHS SUBSCRIBERS.

Subscribers who began January 1 are hereby notified of the expiration of their subscriptions. This is their last number, unless we receive a notification from them to continue. Other subscriptions for six months will soon expire. Let us hear from you without delay.

Prof Johnson, of New Orleans University, is spending his summer vacation in Indiana.

John Brown, Jr., is going to [illegible] to arrange for the employment of the exodus people.

The Preachers' Meeting of Philadelphia adopted a lengthy paper [illegible] the details, and condemn[illegible] in strong language, the murder [illegible] Rev. W. M. Todd, at Brinkley, Arkansas.

Dr. Alex. Clark, Editor of the Methodist Recorder, of Pittsburg, [illegible], is at Altanta, Ga., danger[illegible] ill. Governor Colquitt is [illegible] for him at the Executive [illegible]. He has our sympathy in [illegible] affliction, and we hope he may [illegible] speedily.

[illegible] Young Men's Christian Association has been organized in [illegible]ville, La. The Chief [illegible] its officers as follows: Pierre [illegible], President; J. Wesley [illegible] Jr., Vice President; Fran[illegible] Joseph, Treasurer; Dennis [illegible] Recording Secretary; A. [illegible]gby, Corresponding Secretary.

[illegible] evening, June 16, Mrs. [illegible], Mrs. E. L. Saxon [illegible] R. T. Marrick appeared [illegible] Constitutional Convention [illegible] Louisiana, assembled in [illegible] for the purpose, to [illegible] granting of the right [illegible] to the women of the [illegible] Sandige also read a [illegible] appeal from Mrs. Sarah [illegible] authoress. The pre[illegible] is that the cause of [illegible] ably advocated. Peti[illegible] the convention, urging [illegible] part, have been un[illegible] signed. We say, speed [illegible] suffrage shall be ex[illegible] best and most vir[illegible] our citizens, who have [illegible] long deprived of its ex[illegible].

[illegible] denials, and challenge [illegible] proofs of the alleged [illegible] in Georgia and [illegible] the part of confederate [illegible] Atlanta Constitu[illegible] [illegible] out, in the Atlan[illegible] 18th fall proof of [illegible] so far as the [illegible] most credible wit[illegible]. The names [illegible] and nine persons [illegible] with county resi[illegible] from the re[illegible] that [illegible] given of the [illegible] negroes in one [illegible] led, then [illegible] thrown [illegible]. They [illegible] from the [illegible] more effect[illegible] Rev. A. S. [illegible] of Dade [illegible] Alabama [illegible] makes [illegible]

[illegible] devoted [illegible] a year [illegible]

The Kingdom of God.

The Kingdom of God was part, an inalienable part, of Hebrew thought. It had come to them from the first fathers of mankind. The use of the expression excited no surprise and started no new thought. It was fixed and fossilized, like many terms to-day. Here and there a soul caught something of its significance, and in the mind and words of Christ it heaved with the life and beamed with more than the brightness of the original conception. The world's highest thoughts, that is, the highest thoughts of the world's highest men, had and have been, about a Kingdom of God. Where the expression has not been the thought, the substance has. The prophets and teachers have been luminous or light-giving as they have risen to and realized the conception. That measures the extent and permanency of their influence. Take the great names of the world's young days, Abraham and Moses. Abraham was the "friend of God." He found God, God's love and righteousness, and truth and tenderness in the earthly order. He found the living God in the range of human sympathies and aspirations. He reached up into the Kingdom of God. He reposed himself in and built himself upon his God, and his faith was counted to him for righteousness.

Of Moses, it is said what he did and was, what he was by faith; "He endured as seeing Him who is invisible." Around him and about him his eyes were opened to discern an unseen kingdom. A kingdom that does not make its appeal to sense, but to the soul; and in that and for that he lived and suffered. Prophets and kings testify to the same truth. They tell of a righteousness that should come upon men—a love that should purify and raise them—a justice that should smite their sins and oppressors. One should come from God who would do all this, who should bring in this kingdom. "He shall judge Thy people with righteousness and Thy poor with judgment. The mountains shall bring peace to the people and the little hills by righteousness. He shall judge the poor of the people. He shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor." That is the burden of many a song and many a prophecy. To the coming of the king, the manifestation of the kingdom, the people looked.

Another fact to be observed is that the people to whom Christ spake had always thought of the coming of the kingdom as a feast or festival. It was to be a time of lightened burdens, of "liberty for the captive and the opening of the prison to them that are bound." It was to be a time of plenty, attended by a joy greater than the joy of harvest. The whole people were to be glad. It was to be a day of music and forgiving and beauty and blessing. Breaches were to be healed, wrongs redressed and the land covered with glory.

It was quite in accord with this idea that our Lord uttered the parable of the Great Supper. Christ was then at a rich and costly feast. The material of the parable, the framework was taken from it. The spiritual truth was infused into the actual, material and social surroundings in the midst of which Christ stood. The host, the guests, the outside crowd, were raised by His touch into another sphere and moved in another orbit. Each one was transferred into a figure in a great object lesson which the whole world was afterward to read, and through countless millions were to perceive and participate in the eternal life and love of God.

In all this, however, Christ was working on the old lines of thought. Christ says the feast has been prepared; is ready. The invited guests have been bidden and have refused to come. "You," he said in effect, "are those busy pre-occupied men who have refused attendance at the prepared board, and most slighting-back the invitation of Him whose kindness got it ready. The Kingdom of God has come, and you who talk of the blessedness of eating in it, decline to enter. God's Kingdom is among men. We have not to go to it—it [illegible] come to us; there is nothing to [illegible] for; all things are ready.

Rev. Robert Collyer has resigned [illegible] twenty years' pastorate of [illegible] Church, Chicago, and goes [illegible] New York. He bade his flock [illegible] in a brief and touching [illegible]. Thus everything tends to [illegible]. New York absorbs [illegible] great ministers. Mr. [illegible] with his present [illegible] September, and then [illegible] of the Messiah.

[illegible] James [illegible]

Exposition Wanted.

A correspondent in Mississippi suggests that we could serve the cause of religion by exposing the errors, in doctrine and practice, of a certain religious sect which teaches that faith is not preceeded by true repentance; that repentance is nothing more than a reformation,—reform and repentance being used as synonymous words; that baptism is regeneration; that there is no direct witness of the spirit,—and no virtue in class-meetings, or scriptural authority for praying for sinners, as is customary at our protracted meetings. Worst of all,—the baptizing is following old mother Rome.

Now, dear brother, don't run your stick into that hornet's nest. It is satan's favorite device to kill out a revival and destroy souls by setting Christians of different sects to striving about words to no profit. Paul often warns the disciples against this snare.

Our brother will notice the shape in which these challenges come. They are denials of the doctrines and practices held and taught by the Wesleys and their successors for a hundred and forty years. The skeptic who can induce you to set about the proof that the sun shines, and the earth revolves, has you always at a disadvantage. Don't do it. Referring to the points mentioned in your letter, our answer would be as follows: "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by (the preaching of) the word of God." John preached, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." They repented, and then a saving faith led them to accept baptism. Repentance going before faith, and by works (baptism, etc.,) was faith made perfect. See how faith wrought with their works. One was the cause of, and preceded the other.

Reformation is an effect of repentance, an incident of it, and not the thing itself! Repentance, according to Webster, is "The act of repentance, or the state of being penitent; sorrow for what one has done, or omitted to do,—especially contrition for sin. Godly sorrow worketh repentance unto salvation." The great lexicographer follows the Bible definition, which is the accepted meaning of the word the world over.

Baptism is not regeneration. One may be baptized every day the year round, but it would not change his moral nature or put away one sin,—though it might make him cleaner physically. Jesus did not say to Nicodemus—"Marvel not that I said unto thee ye must be baptized again,"—but ye must be born again, or re-generated. "Nor running brook, nor flood, nor sea, can wash the dismal stain away"—of moral corruption,—but the Holy Ghost can. Then following Christ in baptism the sinner is born of water and of the spirit.

No direct witness of the spirit? "Therefore, because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying Abba, Father." Again, "The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirits that we are children of God." That is enough.

As to praying for penitent sinners, we are commanded to pray, intercede and give thanks for all men. Even the sordid Simon, who tried to purchase the gift of God with money, knew the virtue of the prayers of good men, for, when Paul pointed out his sin, and exhorted him to "pray to God, if happily the thought of his heart might be forgiven him," he cried out in his terror,—"pray ye to the Lord for me, that more of these things which ye have spoken come upon me." Simon was farther advanced in theology that our modern skeptics.

Infants under the Abrahamic covenant received by command the seal of circumcision, and were heirs of the promise. How much more are children, whom Christ specially blest, heirs of the better covenant, and entitled to the benefits of Christ's redemption? Who shall forbid water that they should not be baptized, as a seal of their admission to company of the redeemed? When Paul and Silas at night baptized the Philippian jailor, he didn't stop with the believing, adult members of the family, but took in also "all his house, straitway"—children and all.

Our friends of the Christian sect—they object to being called after their learned and great founder, Mr. Campbell,—are a controversial body, and flourish by disputation. For every positive statement of doctrine and duty of their own, they find several negatives which engage their opposition among their neighbors. Our system is positive and progressive. One of Jessie Lee's itinerants in New England, of the early time, tried his power of exhortation upon an elderly lady on whom he had called, but she rejected his godly counsel indignantly. "Why, sir," she exclaimed, "we are of the standin' order." "Well, bless God," replied the preacher, "we are of the moving order!"

Mr. Conway on the Exodus.

Thos. W. Conway, in Boston, to procure mean to send steamers down the Mississippi, to transport the thousands who were refused by regular lines, was interviewed by a reporter of the Boston Traveler. He said:

As to the employment of those people when they come North, we have at present more than twenty times as many applications for them as we have emigrants to supply the demand. The railroad companies are wanting them; farmers in Indiana and Ohio and Illinois and Michigan and Wisconsin and Iowa, are wanting them; and large land owners in Arizona and New Mexico, Montana and Nebraska, and elsewhere, are offering them the greatest inducements. One railroad company has sent me information that they would employ 2500 men at once, if we had them to furnish in place of Chinese help. Gen. Fremont has stated to us that we could locate 20,000 of them in the territory of Arizona, and they would almost immediately become self-supporting.

Mr. Huntington, who is building a railroad to the Pacific, has said that he would give employment to 2500, and Jay Gould has offered transportation free for men and baggage over the routes in which he is interested, in the West, for as many colored emigrants as choose to avail themselves of his offer. We have from one State alone, from farmers, applications for 5000 farm hands. We have in four States agents going on foot through farming districts for the purpose of ascertaining from the farmers how many of these laborers they could employ, and we find a singular state of facts, There is so much mining going on in the mining districts of the Territories and States of the far West, so much more than ever before, that a great many farm hands, seeing they could get better pay from the owners of mines, have left the farmers and gone to mining, and hence the farmers are very glad to see a prospect in this exodus for supplying them with laborers. You see, therefore, that there is no immediate prospect of those colored people coming North and West, and being left upon the hands of the people to support. There is, in truth, more labor wanting for them than there is any immediate prospects of our getting men enough from the South to supply.

Letter from Couparle City.

COUPARLE CITY, Miss. June 15, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—I noticed in the last issue of the SOUTHWESTERN a statement from Rev. J. H. Parker that he organized the Sunday-school at this place on his last visit. Brother Parker is somewhat in error. We have had a Sunday-school organized here for the last three or four years. He should have said that he organized the Sunday-school into a missionary society. We have enrolled 70 odd scholars. We made our first monthly missionary collection in May, which amounted to $2 10. This place is situated in a country neighborhood, about ten miles from the railroad; notwithstanding we have had a very good day school here for the last three or four years, and our young folks seem to have an increasing love for the Sunday-school. Our people of this neighborhood are learning to appreciate the SOUTHWESTERN very highly, especially for its grand work for the moral and intellectual improvement of our oppressed race, and for its kind encouragement to them during these times of fiery trials, and none the less for the general information and wholesome instruction gained from its columns.

The exodus to Kansas has made a great impression on the minds of the people of this section. Should it revive next fall, I believe many will leave. Please allow space in your columns for this letter, and oblige. Yours truly.

M. LEVY.

Letter from Waco.

WACO, Texas, June 15, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—As it has been a long time since we have sent any thing of interest to our beloved SOUTHWESTERN, allow me space to say our second quarterly was held on the 7th and 8th, and we enjoyed a good time with Elder C. L. Madison.

Two members were buried last week by the Ladies and Pastors Union.

We are hard at work on our church. It has been ceiled, and we are about to finish it. When completed we can pay off all old debts. The greater part of these have already been disposed of, and we must meet that to the Church Extension, and get it off our hands.

When I came to Waco three years ago St. James Chapel had about 150 members. At the beginning of this conference year there were 200; at present there are 212, with the prospect of many additions during the year. Our Sunday-school is prospering. Bro. Richard Moss is doing good work.

The Ladies and Pastors Union and church members will drape the church on the first Sunday in July, mourning the loss of our beloved Bishop Ames. On that day we will read portions of scripture and his last words. A. M. GREGORY.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

MISSISSIPPI.

Rev. L. R. Brown, Koscinsko: "Elder J. G. Johnson was with us on the 7th and 8th, and pleased us all. Old brother Isaac Warren, a minister for 50 odd years, and who has seen the frosts of 84 years, is yet strong with a powerful voice, and is able to walk from four to seven miles to his appointments. The lecture of the Elder to the Sabbath-schools was one of his best efforts; the school numbers 78. The columns of the ADVOCATE bring ready relief to the enslaved minds of the colored man, with its news of the exodus and history of the old patriarchs who cried for the abolition of slavery."

W. B. Dantzler, Macon: "I wish to say through the SOUTHWESTERN that we had, on Sunday, June 8th, a union of all Sunday-schools of Exprairie circuit at St. Michael's Chapel, at 9 o'clock, with an attendance of 250 scholars, after which the pastor in charge preached to the children. Again at 3 o'clock we had service with 300 or 400 in attendance. Our school is in a prosperous condition and continues to enlarge; we have about 68 average attendants and 75 enrolled. The names of those who rehearsed and the number of verses are as follows; Nancy McLeod 17, Laura Ross 20, Virginia Ross 18, Callaway Dantzler 38, Catherine McLeod 34, Michael Dantzler, Jr., 19."

TEXAS.

Spring Hill: "We have a nice Sunday-school. Rev. J. Price, our pastor, was with us June 1. Average attendance 28."

Rev. A. Campbell, Sequin: "On the second Sabbath I preached two sermons to the children; took up $2.50; baptized 20."

Rev. A. Williams, Kildare: "When I came to Kildare I had only 18 members, now I have 30 in church and 5 probationers. Sunday-school here is the best on my work. Benj. Ferrell is superintendent."

P. M. Carmichael, Fayetteville: "My church is in a prosperous condition, I have just closed a protracted meeting at Smyrna Chapel, at which the Lord blessed me and our labors with the conversion of 24 souls and 22 accessions to the church; also there were 7 infant baptisms. In all the baptisms there was not a single immersion. I am trying to keep our people off the creeks and rivers. I tender thanks to Rev. E. E. Cooper, J. Jarmon and C. Young for their generous assistance in the meeting. My people and Sunday-school are greatly encouraged, and intend to build up this year. Already $44 have been subscribed. Pray for us."

LOUISIANA.

Rev. A. Spears, Bastrop: "Since I have been in Bastrop I have raised up a church which was nearly dead, in fact down to 5 members. After 4 months hard work I have now 66 members. On Sunday last I had a basket-meeting with about 500 in attendance. The Rev. John Wesley came to help me and we took a collection for him amounting to $12 55. My own was $22 50. Bro. Elam's was $8.60. Our people are poor but willing."

Letter from Houston.

MR. EDITOR—I see in the minutes of the Texas Annual Conference what purports to be the report of the committee on temperance. I am anxious to know by what authority said report is published in the minutes. I cannot make myself believe that the Texas Annual Conference ever adopted such a report. True, personally I find no fault with it. It is just such a report as any clean conference of Methodist preachers might be expected to adopt, but it cannot be that the members of the Texas Annual Conference so far forgot themselves as to pass that report. I look at these men as consistent, but this report places them among the most inconsistent. In the report they "pledge" themselves "against the use of tobacco," and surely this is right. It is just what every Methodist preacher should say. But what are the facts in the case? It is a fact that most of these preachers use tobacco, and whatever else they did it cannot be that they pledged themselves against the use of it. They are not the men that say one thing and do another. No, Mr. Editor, that report was never adopted by the Texas Annual Conference, and consequently has no right to be placed in the minutes.

I have made my second round on the district, holding at each appointment a Quarterly Conference and administering the Lord's Supper, and thus far have attended to the duties of the presiding elder. But the M. E. Church is not in Texas merely to "hold the fort," but as an aggressive power. It is her mission to conquer and bring all the hostile forces of this world into harmony with the Lord Jesus Christ. And the presiding elder that merely rules over his districts, holding Quarterly Conferences and administering the Lord's Supper, is but a soldier on dress parade. "All the world" is in the apostolic commissions, to all the world Christ directed his gospel to be carried. Accordingly, the true presiding elder is ever reaching out. It is his to pass out into the highways and hedges. He must go into the waste places; he must be a wise master builder, laying the foundations for uprising churches. He will struggle to enlist the pastors and churches in his district into the same spirit of aggressive and holy enterprise. It is not enough for him to say "go." His voice must be heard all along the line, saying, "come on." He is a watchman that will not keep silent, and that will not give the Lord nor the churches of his district rest until Jerusalem is made a praise in all the earth, and while the world is his parish his district must be all the world to him. The preachers and congregations of his district not only pass in review in his meditations, but they live in his prayers. He regards this as the seed-time, and it is very short; the harvest following is the harvest of eternity, and he has no time to squander, for he reads: "He that soweth sparingly shall reap sparingly, and he that soweth bountifully shall also reap bountifully."

At Richmond, under the care of Bro. Noble, our work is enlarging and the indications are that First Chapel and Pittsville will have, by next Conference, sufficient strength to support a preacher. Lynchburg keeps pressing on. There we have a small church, but the members are true. They hold up the cross amidst the most trying circumstances. Harrisburg is having a season of great prosperity; ever since conference the tide has been coming in. Hockley is having a year of prosperity. The quarterly meeting at West Chapel was made memorable because of the displays of God's saving power. Sabbath evening at the close of the love feast, 35 came forward as seekers of Him who came into this world to seek and save the lost. At Piney Grove a new chapel has been erected and paid for, and on July 2d it will be dedicated to the service and worship of God. At Spring the brethren are alive and working for the enlargement of our Zion.

L. P. CUSHMAN.

Houston, Texas.

More—Is It Chivalry?

MR. EDITOR—On Monday, June 9th, about eleven o'clock a. m., as Miss Florence Hayes, formerly a student in the Central Tennessee College, and a school teacher in Huntingden, Tenn., was arranging her room, a white man named Warren entered and asked if her name was Hayes. He was answered in the affirmative. He said: "You are the nigger that pushed my wife off the walk." Miss Hayes answered that she would explain how it was. He told her with an oath that she should not have time to explain, struck her on the side of the head with his fist and continued striking, knocking her to the floor. He then carried and dragged her out doors, beating her with his fist, and when he had dragged her off the porch to the ground, kicked her severely. The reason of this outrage is the charge that Miss Hayes pushed Mrs. Warren off the plank walk. The ladies met with others in company on the side-walk, which is made of two broad planks lying side by side. Miss Hayes and her companions stepped to the outside plank to let the white ladies pass, but Mrs. Warren pushed against Miss Hayes, and tried to push her off. Not succeeding in this, she stepped to one side and passed by. No word was spoken by any of the parties, and Miss Hayes heard nothing of the matter, only that Mrs. Warren had said she would make her husband, who is connected with the house of Moore, Fite & Co., of this city, whip that nigger when he came home. Miss Hayes had taught in Huntingdon for a year, and was highly respected by all who knew her, both white and colored. She is a very lady-like person, light complexioned, rather lightly built, and a member of the Baptist church. She is now at home, in this city, where she is recovering slowly from the effects of her late beating, for which she will suffer for some time to come. She left Huntingdon as soon as she could after the outrage, as her friends thought it unsafe for her to remain, after she had Mr. Warren arrested and fined thirty dollars. Such things as this will increase the Kansas fever, which is taking off a great many of the colored people from Tennessee. I. C.

Nashville, Tenn., June 23, 1879.

Rev. J. C. Hartzell is in the city and will remain but a few days. He took honorable part in the exercises at Illinois Wesleyan university. The university has given him the degree of D.D.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Notes from Nashville.

The school year of the Central Tennessee College has closed. A teachers' Institute, of four weeks, was held at the close of the regular session, May 16, which also closed on the 13th inst. The Institute was an experiment, designed to reach certain classes of teachers and students, and to learn how much need is felt for extra help in preparing to become thoroughly fitted to teach. The experiment, though not successful as to numbers, will prove the precursor of others, and thus may be considered as a grand success. Those who attended were highly gratified at the results attained. The college has been prosperous. Two hundred and eighty-five have been enrolled in all departments; ten in the college classes, eleven in the preparatory, six in the Academic, 114 in the Normal, 112 in the common English, 45 in the Theological and 22 in the Medical. The examinations are spoken of by the visitors and examiners appointed by the conferences, in high terms of commendation. The addresses delivered during commencement week had more than usual interest. Rev. Dr. Fitzgerald, editor of the Christian Advocate in this city, and formerly State Superintendent of Public Instruction of California, gave us a most excellent address on general education, which roused feeling thought, and greatly delighted the audience. He did not make any effort to be at home, or to make his audience feel at home, but both seemed at ease from the start. We sometimes have a good Southerner to speak for us, who takes special pains to let the students know that they or their fathers were slaves, and that they were greatly beloved by their old masters, and refer to the endearment of the anti-bellum times. Dr. Fitzgerald did not do this only incidentally. His address and himself will be pleasantly remembered. Rev. Dr. J. M. Freeman, Assistant Corresponding Secretary, was with us two days, giving us two of his live Sunday-school talks during the day, and an address on "What Make a Man," at night. The next day he made a telling speech and laid the corner-stone of the new building for the Meharry Medical Department of the college. He will be remembered pleasantly, and should he have many returns, will be warmly welcomed. The exercises of the Normal class, the Theological students and the Literary Society are spoken of very favorably. The prospects for the next year are encouraging. The students last year included representatives from thirteen States. The health has been good during the year, and there was not a case of malarial fever in that time, although there were a number of cases of yellow fever in the city after the school opened in September. The next term will open Monday, September 1.

The special work of revival is suspended just now in our city churches, and the annual affliction of picnics, excursions and church festivals has full sway. It will be a happy time when common sense will govern in our church and Sunday-school methods of enjoyment. The expense of a railroad ride with hundreds of little ones constantly exposed to danger, dust, smoke, packed cars, rough men and women who have no interest in the school, and other annoyances, should be sufficient reason for setting railroad picnics for Sunday-schools forever aside. But it is fashionable, and we will follow it even if it does make us wretched. We have an era of church-building and repairing. Murfreesboro, Lebanon, Brentwood and a number of other places in the conference are at the good work. J. BRADEN.

Nashville, June 20, 1879.

Letter from Brenham.

BRENHAM, Texas, June 10, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Children's Day was observed on Brenham circuit, by uniting the Sunday-school and the children taking part in the exercises; fifty-six children and nine teachers were present. One hundred and ninety verses were recited. One little girl of 13 years recited, almost perfectly, forty-two verses; she spends more time in improving her mind then adoring her body; she is a member of the church and we trust will be fitted for usefulness in the same. We are very poor but have sent the Bishop two dollars and twenty-five cents. May the Lord speed the educational work, for Christ's sake.

Mrs. T. HOWELLS, Sec. S.S. Board.

Rev. J. C. Hartzell, of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, of New Orleans, delivered the annual sermon at the Commencement of the Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington. On his way back to New Orleans he paid Cincinnati a pleasant visit. Here he is always warmly welcomed by his many friends.—Western Ch. Advocate.

Letter from Austin.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 17, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—I see the letter of J. W. Alexander in the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE, which calls out further explanation as regards the new charge. His letter I style a high-toned one, but pregnate with infamous misrepresentation. I re-assert that the establishment of the new charge meets with the most eloquent opposition. 1st, from the pastor, and second from the so-styled "leaders" with a noble exception. Even these facts provoke Bro. Alexander's sorrow. He says "I am sorry that he (meaning me) was disappointed. He, (M. Henson,) came to Austin half frozen, and did not wait until the ice thawed from around him before he commenced writing to the SOUTHWESTERN." I am quite sure the ice has thawed, and the liquid stream commingles with the big waves of the ocean. But the opposition to this new charge is all the same. He says, "We at that time had raised and paid about $60, and up to this have paid into the treasury $135." Now, Mr. Editor, I would, in all candor, ask Bro. Alexander for whom they raised the $60? and into what treasury did he, or they for whom he speaks, pay the $135? Now, Mr. Editor, these money figures are simply given to tone up Bro. Alexander's letter, to give color to his misrepresentation. When the intelligent read his letter they are made to believe that all of this money did come to the new charge. But, dear sir, allow me to say that we have not received one cent of it, neither have we any treasury which he claims to have paid this money into. Why, through the red-hot opposition I have not received up to date as much as $8 for support. He says, "I am prepared to say that there is no opposition to him with our church members or its friends." I would only be too proud to acknowledge this statement if it had only the scent of truth as a basis. Now, it is simply justice for me to state that there is a noble congregation here of our people, and many of them have expressed their profound regret at the action of some of those so styled "leaders." If the pastor and those who sustain him, though against their better judgment, had continued to attend to the discharge of their own lawful business, Bro. A. would not have had the trouble to write his infamous high-toned letter against the truth. He says "There is no opposition to him," (meaning me,) which I am happy to state as a truth unwittingly uttered, for the opposition cannot be against me. However, I am sorry to say, it certainly is vehemently pushed against the will of the West Texas Conference, and the wisdom of the Methodist Episcopal Church with one of its bishops presiding. "With Christian love to Rev. M. Henson." He asked the publication of his letter for no other reason than that the "officials of the church had felt sore ever since," etc. "This letter is written by the request of the officials," etc. Bro. Hartzell, please do not become impatient with this note in its brief reply, in the defense of truth and equity. Let me conclude by saying to Bro. Alexander and to those whom he so ably represents, that they will perhaps in the near future feel more chafed by seeing other denominations do what they stoutly refused to do. It is within the province of the old charge to either prevent or make this new charge a success. And those who thirst for independence are supposed to drink of appointment, at the discretion of a brother.

Therefore, beware of seeming truths, which grow on the roots of error; for comely are the apples that spring from the dead sea's cursed shore; but within are dust and ashes, and the hand that plucks them shall rue it.

Seek not further, O men, to solve the dark riddle of sin, suffice it, truth, though oft crushed and smothered, will rise and shine, peircing through Lucifer's arid shades. MACK HENSON.

Why We Seek Kansas.

DEAR EDITOR—We would like to say a word about our pic-nic on the 9th. The Sabbath-schools joined together to take a little fresh air at the Orleans Park, fronting on the river. Wesley Chapel, St. James and Pleasant Plains Sabbath-schools chartered cars for the purpose, and left Canal street in the morning and had a pleasant ride up, and enjoyed themselves on the ground nicely. On returning home in the evening, crowds of white boys waited on the streets and as we passed shouted, "niggers! niggers! niggers!" and threw soft mud in the cars at us, nearly putting out the eye of a lady and muddying the children's dresses.

STEPHEN PRIESTLEY.

New Orleans, La.

Foreign Missions.

JAPAN.—Dr. Maclay advised us in a late communication that we should hear from Rev. J. C. Davison in relation to their late visit in company: "I send by this mail, April 25, a full account of our visit to Satsuma and return overland, which may be briefly summed up as follows: Absent from home twenty-three days; spent seven days in Kagoshima, where I baptized forty-four adults, fifteen children, and left about as many more probationers for my next visit in the early part of June; occupied ten days in the overland trip to Shimonoseki, visiting by the way all the important towns on the route which lay through the most populous part of the country. We both enjoyed perfect health while gone, and when I parted company with Dr. Maclay he seemed none the worse for his trip of almost 2000 miles including his return to Yokohama. May he live long to give us his counsel and direct the work now under his care. We are looking anxiously every mail for some notice of the appointment of men to reinforce us this year."

May 7, Bro. Maclay writes: "We are all well, I am thankful to say, and the work of our mission goes forward encouragingly. We are expecting four men this year, and have their places waiting for them. We are especially solicitous to have a good suitable man to take charge of our Training School, or Mission Academy. Much will depend on the man who has charge of the school. You will rejoice with us on account of Bro. Davison's success in Southern Japan. The work still goes on, and other portions of our field are also receiving gracious visitations."

SWEDEN.—Presiding Elder Larsson writes us from Stockholm May 8: "For this quarter too God has been with us, working by His Spirit and Word, and blessing His work, so that we have had to be glad at success in most places of [illegible]. Peace and union prevail [illegible] as far as I know. [illegible] after the word of the [illegible] is found. The meetings are [illegible] in most places— [illegible] that the chapels [illegible] hold all the [illegible]. Many have been [illegible] and brought to the Lord [illegible] have joined the church [illegible] schools are progressing [illegible] and flourishing, [illegible] winter many children [illegible] converted to God [illegible] as well as they can [illegible] children to the [illegible] societies are [illegible] economics. The [illegible] in this country [illegible] are [illegible] has helped us [illegible] able to pay [illegible] other necessary [illegible] within the [illegible] feel very [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Sunday School.

July 6, 1879.—PEACE WITH GOD.
SCRIPTURE.—Rom. 5: 1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."—1.

TOPIC.—Justification by Faith.

(Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher)

Introductory.—All of the preceding chapters tell of the war between God and man—this of the peace that has come about through justification by faith. In our lesson are shown the blessed results of justification by faith. They are: 1. Peace with God. 2. Access by faith into his favor. 3. Rejoicing in hope. 4. Joy even in tribulation. 5. Salvation from wrath. Certainly there are of a kind that every one ought to covet.

1. Peace with God. To be justified means more than to be pardoned. It is to be treated as though one had never done any wrong. It is faith in the atoning sacrifice of Christ that is necessary for justification. Christ shed his blood freely for all—faith applies the blood, and washes away every crimson stain. The sinner's attitude toward God is that of hostility—that of God toward him is that of a father who would be reconciled to his rebellious son, but who of necessity is made to wield the weapons of wrath. "Peace with God," then, means a cessation of such inimical relations. The soul lays down his arms of rebellion. God is reconciled to the sinner, and the sinner reconciled to God.

2. Access by faith into God's favor. No matter how wide open the door may stand, only faith will enter it. 3. "Rejoicing in hope of the glory of God." The glory here that he will confer hereafter—a glory to be revealed in us as well as bestowed upon us. 8: 18. It is that upon which the eye of the Christian is steadfastly fixed. It is the hope of that which makes him rejoice. The apostle assumes as a fact that the life of a disciple of Christ is a happy one.

Glorying in Tribulation (3-5)—4. "And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also." The apostle desired all men to know, not only that the Christian possessed a joy on account of the hope of the glory to come, but also that he could glory even in tribulations. There is no serenity so pure and so deep as that shown on the countenance of those whom the Lord has severely tried. In addition to the reasons given why the followers of Christ glory in tribulation, another is that they see that all chastening is a proof of the love of God, and is not an evidence of his displeasure. In the spiritual world, as in the physical, clouds and rain are as necessary as sunshine. Patience is a wise virtue. It is wise with reference to God's dealings with ourselves. His work of discipline is soonest over with an unrefractory servant. It is wise with regard to his dealings generally. He has his own good times for bringing his will to pass. They may not always coincide with our desires, but they are better than we could arrange.

Saved from Wrath (6-10)—If in the day of wrath the believer in Christ were to suffer, then his hope would shame him. The apostle, therefore, proceeds to show how impossible it is that he should be in any danger from the judgment of a broken law. He has held up the fact that there is a present peace with God—now he displays the complemental truth that for those with whom God has made peace there are no penalties to be feared. In spite of all our ill deserts, God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life. Well may John exclaim: "Herein is love, not that we love God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins." Salvation from wrath is the completion of the work of justification. "For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life." In [illegible] verses, those who are unreconciled to God have been spoken of as "the ungodly," then as "sinners," and here as —"enemies." [illegible] other verses we have the [illegible] of Christ mentioned, [illegible] been spoken of in the [illegible]—"the death of his [illegible] strongest kind of [illegible] used in order that [illegible] of Christians there may [illegible] judgment day [illegible] in him will be [illegible] his life." Because he [illegible] live also. John

[illegible]

Marriages.

On the 15th of June, Mr. Lewis Watson was married to Miss Jane Ross, by Rev. L. R. Brown, all of Kosciusko, Miss.

At the residence of the bride, by Rev. L. L. Shumpert, June 10, 1879, Mr. B. Brown to Miss Dolly Berry, both of Okolona, Miss.

Mr. Samuel Grant to Miss Agia Jones; Washington Lovett to Harriet Carmichael; J. D. Levins to S. F. Sims; John Clayton to Clasia Vaughn. LEVI CLAYTON, Pastor.
Paulding, Miss., June 13, 1879.

Deaths.

Brother Alex. Brown, a member of the church for 12 years, and a good Christian, died on the 11th.
L. R. BROWN, Pastor.
Kosciusko, Miss.

Sister Amanda Woodland, died April 30, 1879. Sister Charlotte McDonald died May 14. Sister Woodland leaves a husband and two children to mourn her loss. Sister McDonald died at the age of 19 years. Both were faithful members of the church for about six years, and died in the triumph of faith. PASTOR.
Lake Providence, La.

An oriental traveller describes this busy scene, witnessed on historic shores: "Our steamer landed on a beach which was the port of Antioch, where the disciples were first called Christians. There was no town at the water's edge, no people, no wharf. The passengers and the merchandise were put ashore in lighters, which ran up into the sand. A troop of camels, with their drivers, lay on the beach, ready to transfer the goods into the interior. Among the articles landed were boxes marked, 'DR. J. C. AYER & CO., LOWELL, MASS., U. S. A.,' showing that they contained medicines and whence they came. These with other goods were hoisted on the backs of camels, for transportation to Antioch. Thus the skill of the West sends back its remedies to heal the maladies of populations that inhabit those Eastern shores, whence our spiritual manna came."—Windsor (Vt.,) Chronicle.

New Books.

DANIEL QUORM AND HIS RELIGIOUS NOTIONS. Second series. By Rev. Mark Guy Pearse. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

A 42mo 225 pages. Price $1.00. A pleasing narrative of a fictitious character, from whom much instruction is derived.

STUDIES IN THEISM. By Borden P. Bowne. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

A 12mo. Price $1.75. A defense of Theism. A valuable addition to theological literature, giving especial attention to the philosophical aspects of the question.

THE LIFE OF REV. THOMAS M. EDDY, D.D. By Charles N. Sims, D.D. New York: Phillips & Hunt.

A 12mo volume of 392 pages, with an introduction by Bishop Simpson. Price $1.75. This life of the eminent minister and lamented Missionary Secretary, is written by his early friend Dr. Sims, of Brooklyn. A typical Methodist, for twelve years editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, a growing man, he died in his prime. His likeness appears in the frontispiece.

New Publications.

The National Sunday-school Teacher, for July is at hand, accompanied by The National Quarterly and The Little Folks, both quite perfect in their ways. Chicago: Adams, Blackmer, & Lyon Publishing Co.

The International Review for July contains the following commending array of articles: "Russian Universities," by C. K. Adams; "George Eliot," by Francis Maguire, Jr.; "The Man on Horseback in the United States," "Geo. Sand: Her Life and Writings. I.," by Leopold Katscher. "The Khedive's Coup d'etat," by Edward de Leon; "Channing as a Philosopher and Theologian," by Prof. Geo. P. Fisher. It is an intellectual feast.

Appleton's Journal for July, 1879, published by D. Appleton & Co., 549 and 551 Broadway, N. Y., $3 per annum. Contents, Ricarda; Reforms in Asiatic Turkey; Italian Sketches; The Seamy Side; The midway Inn; Conspiracies in Russia; moralists on Blue China; Mr. Browning's Dramatic Idyls; The Queen's Private Apartments at Windsor; The Rose of Love; Editor's Table; Books of the Day. This is just such a number as in these hot summer days one would delight to while away the idle hours in reading either at home or at some summer watering place. Supply yourself with Appleton's Journal and you will have much more than a year's subscription's worth in pleasure and instruction.

The numbers of the Living Age for the weeks ending June 14 and 21 contain the following articles: Origen and the Beginnings of Christian Philosophy, and the Contemporary Life and Thought in France, Contemporary; The Secret Correspondence of Louis XV, Quarterly; William Kingdon Clifford, Fortnightly; Mrs. Craven and her work, Nineteenth Century; On Chinese Fans, Fraser; Jannina—Greek or Turkish? Macmillan; Truth of Intercourse, Cornhill; Necessity of a Financial Viceroy for India, Economist; with instalments of "Sarah de Beranger," by Jean [illegible], and "Doubting Heart" by [illegible], and the conclusion of "The Romance of Mrs. Frances Kemble"; and the usual poetical selections. For fifty-two such numbers of 64 large pages each (or more than 3000 pages a year,) the subscription price, $8, is low. Littell & Co., publishers.

Sunday Afternoon ($3 a year, Springfield, Mass) for July has in the way of fiction "A Sorrowful Guest" by the author of Deephaven, Miss S. O. Jewett; "The Monkey's Story" by Mrs. L. W. Champney, and two chapters of "Calvin the Sinner." In "One Sunday Morning" Mr. E. C. Gardner, the architect, gives expression to some ideas as to the modern Sunday school and Church, in the form of a sketch. "Sunday-school Songs" is another article in a similar vein. There are also the following: "Max," the sketch of a real life. Another of the Miss Help articles, entitled "Some of Miss Help's Protégés;" "Oriental Laws and Courts of Justice," in which are several illustrative sketches. "Standbys," "Hebrew Women," and contributions from Prof. B. P. Bowne and Arthur Gilman. There are a couple of poems, and the editor talks about "The Problem of Revision," "Dickinson's English," "The Good Old Times," "Lessons from the Life of Garrison."

The first article in the National Repository for July is an illustrated account of a "Summering among the Thousand Islands" of the St. Lawrence River, by Dr. George Lansing Taylor; followed by the first installment of a touching and tender story, from All the Year Round entitled, "My Land of Beulah." Next a sketch of "George Psalmanazar, Impostor and Saint," by B. F. DeCosta; a description of "Bayeux and its Marvels," Prof. Fred. M. Colby; and a critique of the "Life of an Actress," Charlotte Cushman, by Daniel Wise, D. D. There is a well writen essay on the "Woman of the Bible;" and two or three selected articles. The "Editor's Miscellany" furnishes the reader with a large amount of varied and interesting notes—usually the most readable portion of the magazine. The National Repository is published monthly at Three Dollars a year, post-paid. Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, Chicago, or St. Louis. Phillips & Hunt, New York.

The Popular Science Monthly for July, D. Appleton & Co., New York, ($5 per year) is received. "Wasted Forces" treats particularly of the coal question and what is to take its place when exhausted. Nature however has boundless resources to be drawn upon. Professor Marcy's article on Locomotion is full of interesting information regarding the movements of the horse, traction of vehicles, carriage mechanism and road construction. "A Question in Mastication" discusses mastication in relation to digestion. The most curious and interesting paper of the monthly is on "The Condition of Women from a Zoological Point of View," in which he shows conclusively that the profound differences of mental character in the two sexes necessitate corresponding differences in their education. These and other papers on "A Visit to New Zealand Geysers," "Pleased with a Feather," "Food and Feeling," "John Stuart Mill" and "Dr. Julius Mayer," besides the Editor's Table, Literary Notes and Popular Miscellaney, make this a particularly practical number of the journal.

St. Nicholas for July, has eight extra pages and more than eighty illustrations. It opens with a country story, "Dru's Red Sea," with a picture which shows the young heroine on the road-side startled by an "old traveler." Next comes "Nid-Nodding," a summer poem by Lucy Larcom, followed by an illustrated account of cod fishing from a small row-boat on the banks of Newfoundland. "Blown Away," is a thrilling story, with a spirited picture of a railroad incident. Mr. Moncure D. Conway contributes a story—"The Child and the Image"—suggested by an actual occurence and illustrated with two pictures. The Fourth of July element finds expression in a stirring "Patriotic March," a piano piece for four little hands, composed by William K. Bassford: "Rattle te-Bang," verses with the huzzas and drum-beats in every line; and in "Hay-foot! Straw-foot!" an amusing picture of the drilling of an awkward squad of recruits. Funny verses, comical pictures, gay jingles, a page of bright contributions from young folks help to complete a number suited to summer-holiday reading.

Probably the most important feature of the July Scribner to be continued in the Midsummer Holiday number is the reprint of the celebrated engravings, made several years ago by Mr. Henry Marsh, for Harris's "Insects Injurious to Vegetation,"—a volume issued by the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, and necessarily at such expense as to put it beyond the reach of the general public. The papers in Scribner are entitled "Summer Entomology," the first dealings with moths and butterflies, with most beautiful and accurate illustrations, drawings having been approved by the late Professor Agassiz. These cuts will be printed on extra-calendered paper. Another illustrated paper is, "The American on the Stage." The ranks of the writers of good short stories receive a new accession in Mrs. Hallock Foote, the artist, whose first printed effort in this line appears in this number. "Madame Bonaparte's Letters from Europe," are incisive in language. The third paper of the Brazil series is devoted to "An Indian Village on the Amazon." Another fully illustrated paper is Mr. W. H. Rideing's "Trinity Parish" (New York), with accounts of the unique charities of this celebrated coporation. The unillustrated papers show a wide range, and in most instances a seasonable interest. The poetry is contributed by Austin Dobson, R. H. Stoddard, T. W. Parsons, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Henry S. Cornwell, and Joel Benton.

Important Notice.

Any Sunday-school not now taking the Sunday-school Class-mate will on application by the pastor, stating the number of pupils outside of the primary class, receive a sufficient number of specimen copies for distribution that they may see what a beautiful and valuable paper it is. The same offer is made with regard to the Sunday School Advocate. Address PHILLIPS & HUNT, 805 Broadway, N. Y.

The Cultivation of Roses.

"Roses are her cheeks,
And a rose her lips."

The best way for ladies to cultivate this rare species of roses is by studying and practicing the rules of hygiene, as taught in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, only $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Grand Invalid's Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If suffering from those painful weaknesses incident to the female organism, use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a never-failing remedy for these complaints.

We ask particular attention to the business card of J. P. Frink, in the current number of our paper. Mr. Frink is the originator and patentee of a number of very valuable designs in Gas and Daylight Reflectors, and has the reputation of manufacturing the best goods in his line to be had anywhere. There is no method of lighting up a church or lecture-room, or large hall, that can surpass one of Frank's Patent Reflectors. Every church should have one. Those Reflectors are found to be, while great increasers of light, also great economizers of gas or oil, and soon, where much used, pay their cost by their economy. The manufacturer's address is 551 Pearl street, New York city.

Malarial Fever.

Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and neuralgic ailments yield readily to this great disease conqueror, Hop Bitters. It repairs the ravages of disease by converting the food into rich blood, and it gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm always. See "Proverbs" in other column.

Quarterly Conferences.

Austin (Texas) District Conference.

PROGRAMME.

The Conference will meet at LaGrange, Texas July 24-27. All traveling local preachers, exhorters, stewards and class leaders are requested to attend.

The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. O. Sawyers; E. Coggswell, alternate.
Rev. M. Henson on Justification.
Rev. D. Gregory the Missionary Sermon.
Rev. J. W. Robinson on Baptism.
E. E. Cooper on Faith.
D. Mucker and I. Smith on Holiness.

Preachers of the district not mentioned may prepare an essay. On Saturday a special meeting will be held in the Sunday-school. The superintendents of the Sabbath-school will please be at their post without fail.
S. OATES, P. E.

Navasota (Texas) District.

THIRD ROUND.

Plantersville, July 12-13; Brenham and Circuit, July 19-20; San Felipe, July 26-27; Hempstead, August 2-3; Hempstead Circuit, August 2-3; Courtney, August 9-10; Anderson and Red Top, August 16-17; Navasota, August 23-24; Millican, August 30-31; Bryan and Braz s, Sept. 6-7; Hearne and Brewershill, Sept. 13-14.

We would be pleased to help pastors in a protracted meeting at each quarterly meeting during the third round. Will be able to help from four to six days at each place. 26-7 W. L. MOLLOY, P. E.

Cleveland (Tenn.) District.

FOURTH ROUND.

Merion Circuit, July 19-20; Washington Circuit, August 2-3; Chattanooga, August 16-17; Brush Creek Circuit, August 30-31; Kingston Circuit, Sept. 13-14; Chattanooga, Oct. 4-5. 26-7 S. J. HARRIS, P. E.

The camp meeting of the Cleveland district, Holston conference, will begin Thursday, August 14, and continue one or two Sabbaths. The district conference will meet August 27, at Cleveland. All the pastors of the district will please be at the camp grounds promptly. S. J. HARRIS, P. E.
26-27

MAKE HENS LAY.

An English Veterinary Surgeon and Chemist, now travelling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose one teaspoonful to one pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for eight letter stamps.
n27 5m I. S. JOHNSON, Bangor, Maine

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,
A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containing about 160 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:
Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates,

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit.
Most gratefully yours,
TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.
n 10 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.
—AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF—
NEW NECKWEAR,
Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz.
EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.
Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.
B. T. WALSHE,
n20 15t 110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.
Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goins, Secretary.
Lee Blakemore, Treasury.
Gehrell Cleyton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.
Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddie, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Chairman Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes Hones, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, Chairman Committee on Sick.
Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

Heath, Pippey & Lara, Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of
Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,
New Styles China Mattings,
WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS
IN GREAT VARIETY.
WIRE SCREENS
For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.
HEATH, PIPEY & LARA,
97 & 99 Camp Street,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

Gospel Hymns.

The Three numbers of Gospel Hymns, introduced by Messrs. Moody & Sankey at Religious Meetings, are pre-eminently popular. Millions are already in use, and they can be profitably used by millions more.

GOSPEL HYMNS are issued in 3 vols., designated as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. Prices for each:
Music Edition, in Boards, $30 per 100; 35 Cts. by Mail.
Words only, Paper Covers, $5 per 100; 6 Cts. by Mail.
SOLD BY BOOKSELLERS EVERYWHERE.
BIGLOW & MAIN,
PUBLISHERS.
76 East Ninth Street, New York. | 73 Randolph Street, Chicago.
n27 tf

REED & BARTON,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Silver-Plated
TABLE WARE
Of Every Description.
686 Broadway, New York.
26 tf

BEST PRESS EXTANT,
For Hand, Hand or Power. Three years in use. Universal Success. Price complete, for Power, except wood work, only $43.00.
Southern Standard Press Co., Meridian, Miss.
[illegible]

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work, and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may Obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fulness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have made this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

ELEGANTLY
Furnished Rooms,
WITH or WITHOUT BOARD.
123 Carondelet Street.
Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.
SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.
n 20 3m

The New Hymnal.

The Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences at their late sessions, made it the duty of every preacher having charge of a station or circuit to see that their pulpits were supplied with a New Hymnal, and all were to use their influence in having the people supply themselves with Hymnals and to use them in the public congregation and in social meetings.

We are now prepared to supply the following styles of the Hymnal at the price named. Our terms are cash before sending, or we will send by express C. O. D. Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of price.

Pearl, Double Column.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - - 40 cents
Cloth, red edges, each - - - - - 50 cents

24 mo.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 50 cents.
Roan, embossed, each - - - - 75 "
Morocco, gilt edges - - - - $1 50

16 mo.
With sections 481-484 of Ritual,
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - 75 cents.
Cloth, red edges, superfine paper, $1 00
Roan, embossed, gilt edges - - 1 50

12 mo.
Suitable for Pulpit Use.
Contains sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Sheep, each - - - - - - - - - $1 50
Roan, embossed - - - - - - - - 2 00

12mo., with Tunes.
With sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Cloth, each - - - - - - - - - $1 00

This book is well adapted to the use of choirs, has all the hymns with the same numbers as the pulpit hymnal and all the tunes.

8 vo., with Tunes.
With sections 481-484 of Ritual.
Cloth, leather back, superfine paper, $1 75
French Morocco, gilt edges - - - 2 50

Send orders to
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Alcorn University,
—NEAR—
Rodney, Mississippi.
—:o:—

At Alcorn University thorough instruction in the CLASSICS AND ENGLISH BRANCHES
is given.
A NORMAL OR TEACHERS' CLASS
will be formed to give instruction in the best methods of teaching different subjects.
Special attention is given to the preparation for county examinations.
—:o:—
Board & Washing
—ONLY—
$1.25 PER WEEK.
Or, if preferred,
Washing & First-Class Board,
$2.00 PER WEEK.
—:o:—

Students coming to this place are requested to bring a blanket, sheet and pillow.

Should those, who intend coming through Vicksburg, write me in time to that effect, I will send them a certificate in order that they may obtain passage on the packets at reduced rates.

For further particulars address
Rev. H. R. Revels, D.D.
RODNEY, MISS.
n24 je15 3m

A. H. NELSON,
COMMERCIAL
Stationer, Printer,
Blank Book Maker and Lithographer
57 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Requisites.
—:o:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

All Orders Payable in Advance.
YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate—Semi-monthly (for second and fourth sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Class-mate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy	35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy	25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy	65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each	55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy	25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred	$5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter	$1.00
Ditto—Per year	$4.00
Berean Question Book	20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition	50cts

The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.

The Seven Years—Per copy	5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be resent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address
Phillips & Hunt,

Ecclesiastical Law
—AND—
Rules of Evidence:
With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.
—BY—
HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,
—AND—
WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.
8 vo., 511 Pages.
Cloth, $3; Law sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

* * * * * * *

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

Lectures on Preaching
Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.
By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D. LL.D.
(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)
Cloth, 12mo. Price..............$1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics delivered in the order here stated:
Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workmen who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

BOOKS
—FOR—
Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield; a written sermon and the written [illegible] laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35.
Address
Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Young Folks' Corner.

A WONDERFUL CHILD.

I've read somewhere about a girl
Whose cheeks are rosy red,
With golden tresses, curl on curl,
Bedecked her pretty head.
Her eyes, I'm told, are bright and blue,
Her smile is kind and sweet;
The errands she is asked to do
Are done with willing feet.

'Tis said that when she goes to school
She's just the sweetest lass!
So quick to mind the slightest rule,
And prompt in every class.
To girls and boys she's never rude
When all are at their play;
Her "conduct"—be it understood—
Is "perfect" every day.

Where lives this child, I cannot say,
Nor who her parents are,
Although for many a weary day
I've sought her near and far.
If you should ever see her smile,
As o'er the world you rove,
Just hold her little hand a while,
And give her my best love.
—Hattie S. Russell, in St. Nicholas for July.

The Hero.

"Oh, dear!" said Willie Grey, as he sat down on the saw-horse and looked at the kindling wood which he ought to have been splitting for his mother; "I do wish I could do something for the world — some great action that every one could admire, and that would make the country and the world better and happier. I wish I could be a hero like Washington, or a famous missionary like Judson, but I can't do anything or be anything."

"Why do you want to be a hero?" asked his cousin, John Maynard, who, coming up just then, happened to hear the soliloquy.

"Oh," said Willie, coloring, "every one admires a hero, and talks about him and praises him after he is dead."

"That's the idea, is it?" said John. "You want to be a hero for the sake of being talked about?"

Willie did not exactly like this way of putting it.

"Not only that, but I want to do good to people—convert the heathen—or save a sinking ship, or save the country, or something like that."

"That sounds better, but believe [illegible] the greatest heroes have [illegible] men who have thought least [illegible] themselves and most about [illegible] work; and as far as I can [illegible] now, the greatest—I mean [illegible] to the Christian stand-[illegible] always begun by doing [illegible] duty, however small;" [illegible] took up the ax and [illegible] the kindling wood.

[illegible] jumped off the saw-horse [illegible] up the sticks, [illegible] word; but though he [illegible] he thought the more. [illegible] lots of time in think-[illegible] great things I might do, [illegible] had the chance," he [illegible] "and I've neglected the [illegible] and ought to do, and [illegible] of trouble for mother. [illegible] better begin my heroism [illegible] my own laziness."

[illegible] boy adopt Willie's reso-[illegible] carry it out in his daily [illegible]

—S. S. Visitor.

The Horse's Name.

[illegible] day my brother was out [illegible] the country, when a [illegible] stopped him by exclaim-[illegible] that used to be my [illegible] not," replied my [illegible] bought her at a livery [illegible] told me she came [illegible]

[illegible] the man; "what do [illegible] my brother answered [illegible] said to him un-[illegible]

[illegible] "that isn't [illegible] out sharply [illegible] horse prick-[illegible] around, [illegible] stepping [illegible] right hoof [illegible] head, [illegible] her left [illegible] man; [illegible] my [illegible] think?—

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information of my sister. Her name is Florence Henry. Her mother's name is Kell Carter. Last heard from she was in Bryan. Any information concerning her whereabouts will be thankfully received. Address me in care of Rev. A. M. Gregory, Waco, Texas.

B. J. HENRY.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish to make some inquiry about my brother. He left us in May, 1875 with a regiment of Yankee soldiers. He then went by the name of Calvin Alston. I heard of him about two years ago, at which time he was at Shreveport, Louisiana. Any information will be thankfully received. Address

D. D. ALSTON,
Kosciusko, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I wish information about my mother and two children. Mother's name is Beckie Wells, brother's Charley, sister's Annie. They lived near Pontotoc, Miss., and left in 1865. I have heard from them but once since. They were then in Memphis. I ask all preachers and friends to make inquiries for them, for I want to see them very much. If found address me. HENRY WELLS, care Rev. J. M. Nevils, Ripley, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I would like to find one George Young was was taken from his mother immediately after the war, at the Ferguson place, near Cheneyville, Bayou Bœuf, while she was on her way to Alexandria. His mother's name is Ann. He was only 4 or 5 years old when taken. They used to belong to Lasteel Young. His mother would be more than happy if she could hear from her son. When heard from he was taken to Calcasieu. Address H. J. WRIGHT, Pineville, La.

DEAR EDITOR—I have been away from my relatives a long time and have not heard from them in a good many years. If any one knows Ambrose Poter or Harriet Poter, his wife, father and mother of Martha, William, James, Thornton, Sallie, and Maria Bradford, please notify them that I live in Starkville, Miss., and am very anxious to hear from them. Please request all the preachers who take your paper to inquire for the above persons and if found please tell them to write.

MARTHA BARDWELL,
Starkville, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information of my long lost relatives, sisters and brother. My sisters' names were Ann and Caroline Werren, and my brother's Ben Warren. Our mother's name was Nancy and father's Ben Warren. Our sister Ann was sold to a man on Red River by the name of Arthur. Sister Caroline was carried to North Carolina by a Methodist preacher named John Pertora, brother-in-law of John Werren. Any information of the above will be thankfully received.

MRS. BETTIE HOWELL,
St. Peter Church, Donaldsonville, La.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information of my father, seven uncles and one aunt named Winnie. My father's name was James McMichael. My uncles' names: Henry, Charles, Joshua, Frank, Bob, and Caleb. They all belonged to young George McMichael, in St. Helena parish, La. My mother, Bettie Hughes, belonged to Charles Hughes. They were taken away from St. Helena parish shortly after they were married and brought to Vernon parish, La., about 1856. I received one letter from my father about two years after the surrender in 1867. If found or any information received please address me at Burkeville, Newton Co., Texas.

J. McMICHAEL.

DEAR EDITOR—I have a lost daughter named Edna Jerrett. She went away with Dr. J. Robinson the last year of the war. When last heard from she was in Brownsville, Jackson county, Ala. Her father's name is Jerry Chalmers. When she went off I belonged to the same family of Jerretts. I went off with Dr. Jerome Summerfield Jerrett. He married one Miss [illegible] Casing. I then lived seven [illegible] from Holly Springs, Marshall [illegible], Miss. My daughter had [illegible], Allie and Henrietta. All [illegible] with the same family. Their [illegible] name was Nelly Jer-[illegible] of those Jerretts [illegible] preacher. I came [illegible] the close of the [illegible] MINOR, [illegible] Co., Texas.

[illegible] to inquire [illegible]

the two boys were Edward and Oscar. Her husband went by the name of Oscar Coopwood, and was carried off from here three years before the surrender to Texas, by his young master, Benton Coopwood. In 1865 she and her two children lived in a little town called Palatto, Chickasaw county, and went from there in the fall of the same year to Tuscaloosa, Ala., to live with her mother, and I have neither seen nor heard of them since. I hope, dear friends in Tuscaloosa, that you will sympathize with me in my search. Address me at Okulona, Miss.

JOHN MAYO.

Indigestion.

The main cause of nervousness is indigestion, and that is caused by weakness of the stomach. No one can have sound nerves and good health without using Hop Bitters to strengthen the stomach, purify the blood, and to keep the liver and kidneys active, to carry off all the poisonous and waste matter of the system. See other column.

THIS NEW

ELASTIC TRUSS

Has a Pad differing from all others, is cup-shaped with SELF-ADJUST'NG BALL in the center, adapts itself to all positions of the body, while the BALL in the Cup PRESSES BACK THE INTESTINES JUST AS A PERSON WOULD WITH THE FINGER. With light pressure the Hernia is held securely day and night, and a radical cure is certain. It is easy, durable and cheap. Sent by mail, postage paid. Circulars free.

AN ENLARGED VIEW OF THE PAD.

Address, Eggleston Truss Co., Manfrs. Or C. H. EGGLESTON CO., Chicago, Ill.

n26 52t *

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:0:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the [illegible] McLane, spelled differently but [illegible] [illegible]ciation.

The wear and tear of business life makes such tremendous drafts upon body and mind that without recourse to some sustaining agent they must give way under the pressure. To those who are breaking down, or wasting away from general debility, or affections of the liver, stomach and the kidneys, a systematic course of the Bitters will so reinforce the vital functions as to baffle all the assaults of disease and restore the system to its wonted health.

For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

n31 ly

LAME BACK.
WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

This article is one which really possesses extraordinary merit. By consulting reliable physicians in your own locality, you will find that the above is true. It is far superior to the ordinary porous plaster, all the so-called electrical appliances, and to all external remedies whatever. It contains entirely new elements which cause it to relieve pain at once, strengthen and cure where other plasters will not even relieve. For Lameness and Weakness of the back, diseased Kidneys, Lung and Chest difficulties, Rheumatism, Neglected Colds, Female Affections, and all local aches and pains, it is simply the best remedy ever devised. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 Cents.

BELLS.

The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 Inches....	175 lbs.......	325 lbs........	$40 00
28 Inches....	225 lbs.......	375 lbs........	50 00
32 Inches....	350 lbs.......	550 lbs........	75 00
35 Inches....	550 lbs.......	800 lbs........	110 00
40 Inches....	750 lbs.......	1050 lbs........	150 00
44 Inches....	1000 lbs.......	1350 lbs........	200 00
48 Inches....	1300 lbs.......	1800 lbs........	250 00
54 Inches....	2100 lbs.......	2900 lbs........	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

tfl

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

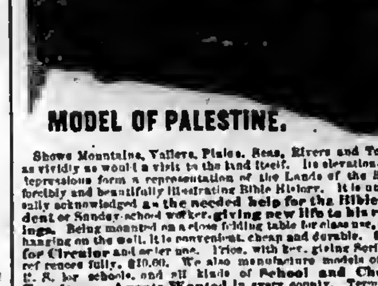
"Unsurpassed as a Teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D.,
EDITOR.
Rev. J. M. Freeman,
ASSOCIATE.

Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to
Phillips & Hunt, Publishers,
805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.



MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

n17 t

HOME + ARTS
A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES
Devoted to the Arts
That beautify Home and make it attractive.
And the thousand things all "want to know."
One Dollar a Year. Sample for 3 ct. stamp.
ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

FREE TO ALL
FLEETWOOD'S
LIFE OF CHRIST.
850 Pages. Over 200 Illustrations.
Free to all who send us their address and six cents in postage stamps. Address
UNITED STATES BOOK & BIBLE CO.
176 & 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, O.

n20 8t

AGENT WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.

RELIABLE, INTELLIGENT, BUSINESS MEN can clear $1,000 to $1,000 yearly in the NEW AGENCY. Entirely new and desirable—pleasant and permanent. Can be carried on in connection with a store, shop or mill by any good agent.

Suitable for every county in the United States. Address

J. B. CHAPMAN,
70 West Street, MADISON, IND.

n23 8t

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.

12 ly

RUPTURE

DR J. A. SHERMAN is now at his branch office, 5 South Fifth street, St. Louis, Mo., where his patients and those wishing his treatment may consult him during the months of May and June. His book, with photographs of bad cases before and after cure, mailed for ten cents. Will be at Principal Office, 251 Broadway, New York, July and August.

n29 st eow

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline. A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price....$1 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Discipline contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr. Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price....$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do It. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price....$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price....$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it contains Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price....$1 75.

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco. 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price....$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price....$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo....$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.... 75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.... 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo.... 2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price....$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor, Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 50 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors, 2. Record of Classes, 3. Record of official members, 4. Alphabetical record of full members, 5. Record of probationers, 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price....$2 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price....$1 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen....$1 50.
Large size, each.... 20.
Large and illuminated, each.... 25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred....$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100..$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100....$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100....$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100....$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000....$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100....$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100....$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100....$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100.... 75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price....$1 75.

Whedon's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price....$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price....$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price.... 1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price.... 1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubbish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price....$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following:

I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.

II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

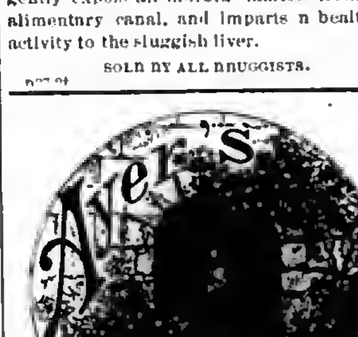
If the Stomach is Wrong all is wrong.

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient,

while acting as a corrective upon that organ gently expels all morbid matter from the alimentary canal, and imparts a healthful activity to the sluggish liver.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

n27 4t



Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
Lowell, Mass.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

X Cancer

Cured by Dr. Kingsley, who has treated in Rome, N. Y., nearly 15,000 cases within the last 25 years. Doctors, Ministers, and the poor cured free. Cross eyes straightened; Tumors removed; Fistula and all diseases successfully treated. Send for Dr. Kingsley's Asthma Specific and other remedies. Write for a Circular giving full particulars. Address

W. J. P. KINGSLEY, M.D., Rome, N. Y.

FREE GIFT! TO ALL who suffer with CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, SORE THROAT, BRONCHITIS, or NASAL CATARRH, I will send a copy of "MEDICAL COMMON SENSE," free of charge. It is elegantly printed and illustrated; 144 pages. 12mo., 1879. It has been the means, in the providence of God, of saving many valuable lives. The book is invaluable to persons suffering with any disease of the Nose, Throat, or Lungs. Send name with P. O. Address and six cents to pay cost of mailing to Dr. N. B. WOLFE, Cincinnati, Ohio.

[illegible] st eow

JUST PUBLISHED---Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York.

v12 n43 ly

Cotton Planters, Cotton Factors and Country Merchants
EVERYWHERE, PURCHASE THE

CELEBRATED ARROW TIE!

Important Special Notice!

IRON COTTON TIES.

In view of the constantly increasing popularity and demand for the celebrated ARROW TIE, the universally recognized favorite Tie of Planters, Cotton Press men, Shippers of cotton generally, the American Cotton Tie Supply Company, sole proprietors and manufacturers of said Tie, commanding unequalled facilities, have, in addition to their large stock now on hand, contracted for increased quantities sufficient to meet the largest demand for Cotton Ties to cover the entire crop of the coming season, and now through their Agents generally, offer the popular and irrepressible ARROW TIE at lowest market price, in bundles complete, being less than the market value of plain hoop iron, it being the purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, and defy all competition that may arise.

Office of the AMERICAN COTTON TIE SUPPLY COMPANY,
No. 60 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

R. W. RAYNE, President.

n23 ly

Wheeler & Wilson,

NEW No. 8 SEWING MACHINE,

WITH SILENT FEED

With Rotary Hook, Straight Needle, Independent Take-up, Automatic Under-tension and Improved Feed, and declared by the highest authorities "THE BEST SEWING APPARATUS IN THE WORLD." Highest Awards at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1876; the American Institute, of New York; and the Universal Exposition, Paris, 1878.

Are adapted to every grade of manufacture of STITCHED GOODS, and every kind of DOMESTIC SEWING.

They are Superior to ALL Others

In point of Speed, Durability, Precision and Ease of Operation, Regularity, Strength and Beauty of Stitch, Range of Work, Facility of Management, Perfection of Construction and Elegance of Finish.

—SALESROOM—

No. 103 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n20 6mo

73,620 MORE

Singer Sewing Machines Sold in 1878 than in any previous year.

In 1870 we sold 127,833 Sewing Machines.
In 1878 we sold 356,432 Sewing Machines.

We now sell three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in the World.

For the accommodation of the Public we have 1,500 subordinate offices in the United States and Canada, and 3,000 offices in the Old World and South America.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

☞ Waste no money on "cheap" counterfeits.

Send for our handsome Illustrated Price List.

☞ AGENT FOR E. BUTTERICK & CO.'S PAPER PATTERNS. ☜

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
85 Canal Street, New Orleans.

n91y

☞ Caution to Dealers and Consumers. ☜

The great merit and perfect safety of the

INSURANCE OIL

have made it so popular that some persons are trying to palm off inferior oils on the community, by alleging that they are as good as Insurance Oil.

Consumers and Fair Dealers, who wish to use or sell the genuine Insurance Oil, are therefore cautioned not to buy any illuminating oil purporting to be Insurance Oil, unless sold by the Insurance Oil Tank Company, their Agents, or persons duly authorized by the Company.

To protect the people against imposition, every barrel and case of pure Insurance Oil is branded:

TRADE MARK
INSURANCE OIL
PAT. JAN. 5, 1875.

This trade mark is fully protected by United States Letters Patent, dated Jan. 5, 1875, and the proprietors are determined to prosecute, to the extent of the law, any attempts to infringe upon their rights, either by using this trade mark without their consent, or by selling other oils under the name of Insurance Oil.

THE INSURANCE OIL IS THE ONLY ILLUMINATING OIL THAT HAS THE FULL ENDORSEMENT OF THE LEADING INSURANCE COMPANIES OF EUROPE AND AMERICA.

Put up in best barrels and also in New Patent Faucet Cans.

Orders should be addressed

Insurance Oil Tank Company,
95 and 97 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.,

Or, the Branch Offices of the Company in GALVESTON, HOUSTON and AUSTIN, TEXAS.

24

Makes "Gilt-edge" Butter the year round. Common-sense and the Science of Chemistry applied to Butter-making. July, August and Winter Butter made equal to the best June product. Increases product 6 per cent. Improves quality at least 20 per cent. Reduces labor of churning one-half. Prevents Butter becoming rancid. Improves market value 3 to 5 cents a pound. Guaranteed free from all injurious ingredients. Gives a nice Golden Color the year round. 25 cents' worth will produce $2.00 in increase of product and market value. Can you make a better investment? Beware of imitations. Genuine sold only in boxes with trade-mark of dairymaid churning, together with words "ORANGE COUNTY BUTTER POWDER" printed on each package. Powder sold by Grocers, Druggists, and General-store Keepers. Ask your dealer for our book "Hints to Butter-Makers," or send stamp to us for it.

Address, ALLAN MANUFACTURING CO.,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

n30 13t

THE GREAT

JACKSON ROUTE

Having been rebuilt with

STEEL RAILS!

Equipment Improved; Track ballasted and Speed increased, is now the Smoothest, Safest, and Most Attractive Line to all points

North and East.

☞ IT IS ☜

180 Miles Shorter and 10½ Hours Quicker to Chicago.

112 Miles Shorter and 6½ Hours Quicker to St. Louis

☞ THAN ANY OTHER ROUTE. ☜

And the ONLY LINE to
LOUISVILLE and CINCINNATI.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Through without change to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and but one change to New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other leading Eastern Cities.

No Transfers at any Point. All Connections Strictly First-class. The EATING HOUSES are entirely new, and the BEST IN THE SOUTH.

☞ It pays to travel by the Great Jackson Route.

Express Train leaves New Orleans Daily at 5:15 p. m.

Ticket Office 22 Camp Street, Corner of Common.

F. Chandler,
General Passenger Agent.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit Free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

a31 ly

TRUTHS.

Hop Bitters are the Purest and Best Bitters ever made.

They are compounded from Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion,—the oldest, best, and most valuable medicines in the world and contain all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, being the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth. No disease or ill health can possibly long exist where these Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm. To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, these Bitters are invaluable, being highly curative, tonic and stimulating, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save your life. Hundreds have been saved by so doing. ☞ $500 ☜ will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

Do not suffer yourself or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged, drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best medicine ever made: the "Invalid's Friend and Hope," and no person or family should be without them. Try the Bitters to-day.

Try Hop Cough Cure and Pain Relief

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL STYLES

Now ready, at Reduced Prices.

ONE to TWENTY-ONE STOPS, $54, $66, $72, $84, $90, [illegible] $600 and upward. Before purchasing or hiring ANY organ, send for our latest ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE, PRICE LIST, and CIRCULARS with [illegible] FOR PURCHASERS. Sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK [illegible]

Southwestern Christian Advocate.

VOL. 14---NO. 28. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1879. WHOLE NUMBER 362.

Southwestern.

PUBLISHED BY THE
METHODIST BOOK CONCERN,
[illegible] Street, New Orleans
[illegible] & HUNT, Agents.
[illegible] BELL, D. D., Editor.

[illegible] a Year, Cash in Advance.

[illegible] Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal [illegible] are authorized Agents.
[illegible] begin at any time and the paper [illegible] sent as long as paid for.
[illegible] remit by Registered Letter, [illegible] Order or by Express.

Advertising Rates.
[illegible] line, each insertion.)
[illegible] ..... 8 cents
[illegible] ..... 7 "
[illegible] ..... 6 "
[illegible] ..... 5 "
[illegible] ..... 4 "
[illegible] ..... 25 "
[illegible] ..... 8 cents, net cash

NEW YORK OFFICE:
[illegible] Broadway, New York,
[illegible] BALDWIN, Special Agent.

[illegible] AND OVER AGAIN.

[illegible] again,
[illegible] which way I turn,
[illegible] in the Book of Life
[illegible] I have to learn.
[illegible] turn at the mill,
[illegible] the golden grain,
[illegible] my task with a resolute will
[illegible] again.

[illegible] the need,
[illegible] flow,
[illegible] of golden sands
[illegible] a single hour.
[illegible] must fail,
[illegible] the summer rain
[illegible], and perform it all
[illegible] again.

[illegible] the meadow flows,
[illegible] goes.
[illegible],
[illegible] in vain;
[illegible] once or twice,
[illegible] again.

[illegible] been trod.
[illegible] to the feet;
[illegible] have learned
[illegible] repeat.
[illegible] may fall,
[illegible] angels be given
[illegible], we need them all,
[illegible] for heaven. —Selected.

Exodus.

NEGROES GO[illegible] TEXAS IN [illegible].

[illegible], Ark., June 2, 1879.
[illegible] Democrat:—
[illegible] space in your [illegible] for the following [illegible] and suggestions, [illegible] for the public [illegible] attention to an [illegible] appeared in your col[illegible] 1879, clipped from [illegible] entitled "The [illegible]" which says [illegible] a good thing for [illegible] a new and [illegible] may be obtained, [illegible] compared, [illegible] South Carolini[illegible] family connec[illegible] in common [illegible] Rainey, Prof. [illegible] people [illegible] South, [illegible] in [illegible] placed [illegible] withdraw [illegible] from [illegible]

[illegible] notwithstanding the great hegira [illegible] agitated the mind of the [illegible] people for the past three [illegible] Gen. Miles, President of [illegible] Convention held in [illegible], May 8, 1879, proclaimed [illegible] the colored man's [illegible] they are tropical [illegible] South is their home [illegible] If the [illegible] are true, [illegible] as Jacob did [illegible] of our [illegible] a "tropical [illegible] of the [illegible] well as in [illegible] therefore [illegible] of color [illegible] down [illegible] settlers [illegible] day?

[illegible] H. K. W. AYERS.

whether black, or white, or red. Are there any seaport cities, wharves, etc.? Do any steamers run up there? Is any railroad built, and to what cities and towns? Which is the nearest and cheapest way for me to come? What labor and production is best? The kinds and qualities of timber? What are the facilities for shipment and probable value per 1000 feet?

Answer early. Give me the temperature of the climate, etc. Very respectfully, HENRY SIMKENS.

Seattle Daily Post, Washington Territory, Saturday, May 3, 1879.

The following is the reply:

SEATTLE, May 5, 1879.

DEAR SIR—Your letter received. I send you a paper with it in, so our folks can see how very little the people East and South know of this part of the country.

Well, sir, our climate is like that of Norfolk, Va. Lowest temperature in winter, about 34°, and only once in a great while at that depression. Puget Sound has constantly upon its waters the very largest class of tonnage of both steam and sail vessels. There are 5000 ton steamers, such as the Alaska, coming right here to this port, and going far on along the sound to Olympia, Tacoma, etc. There are 500 tons of coal deposited in vessels each day of the week at the port alone.

The lumber trade is immense; millions upon millions of feet are sent away from the Sound each year. Spars are sent to Liverpool. Our average height of fir trees (and this may seem a hoax to you, nevertheless it is as true as can be) is 250 feet. Some exceed 300 feet in height. The woods here are almost impenetrable. The timber is exhaustless. Farming lands of superior quality are to be found all along the river bottome, and the name of rivers is almost legion that empty into Puget Sound. We have green grass all winter, and garden salad all winter also. In so high a latitude (47 deg.) as this, it seems almost incredible to one not acquainted with the cause. The cause is the warm Japan current that sets into the land at this part of the coast. We have a population of all nationalities. The Eastern States, many Kentuckians, and all the Western States, as Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, and the New England and Middle States are all represented here. We have a railroad eighteen miles long, running out east of us to the great coal fields. The farming (strictly farming) country of this Territory lies east of the Cascade Mountains almost divided the Territory, and two climates are the result. It is colder east of the Cascades and a great wheat country, as Walla Walla, Yokawa, etc. A railroad will in time be built through that country from here. It is now under way. It costs from San Francisco here first-class $20 via steamer, second-class $15; this is through via steamer on the outside. One can come via Portland, Oregon, at much less. The scenery of the Sound is surpassed by nothing in the world. Business of all kinds is very much depressed at this present time. A man with some money can do well, however, as money is worth 1½ per cent. per month, and even 2 per cent. Seattle is in time bound to be the great city of this North Pacific Coast. We have 5,000 inhabitants, lots of common school, 7 churches, 50 barrooms, 2 machine shops, 2 bakeries, 2 daily papers, 2 furniture manufactories, 2 breweries, 2 saw-mills, a hospital (Catholic), Territory University, and 40 or 50 stores, 1 bank, [illegible] miles from the East and the [illegible] of Victoria, B. C., also a [illegible] telegraph communication [illegible] the world. I used to set [illegible] Little Rock in 1855, a hard [illegible] in those days. Very respect[illegible] etc. H. K. W. AYERS.

[illegible] the agitated the mind of the [illegible] people for the past three [illegible] Gen. Miles, President of [illegible] Convention held in [illegible], May 8, 1879, proclaimed [illegible] the colored man's [illegible] they are tropical [illegible] South is their home [illegible] If the [illegible] are true, [illegible] as Jacob did [illegible] of our [illegible] a "tropical [illegible] of the [illegible] well as in [illegible] therefore [illegible] of color [illegible] down [illegible] settlers [illegible] day?

[illegible] at their earliest convenience, as the opportunities now presenting themselves to you will ere long be offered no more. So form yourselves into auxillary emigration aid associations, in order that the strong may help the weak, and go to a country congenial to your nature, and dwell among a people whose principles are to do to others as they would have others do unto them, and respect yourselves, be frugal, and acquire wealth and and knowledge, and we are bound to be a people second to none on the face of the earth. It is unprecedented that the master will willingly descend to the level of his servant, and it should not be expected of him.

Senator Windom says: "Some apprehensions have been expressed by those opposed to this measure that if deprived of the guardianship and the tender care of the white man the negro would starve or degenerate into barbarism. The exquisite irony of this objection is its chief merit. Having supported both the white man and himself for a century, he may safely be trusted to live when the incumberance is withdrawn. As the owner of a farm, with no rent to pay, he will probably make himself and family quite as comfortable as when paying over nearly all the proceeds of his labor to some exacting landlord. Working as his own employer he will be quite as likely to get on in the world as when working for another and receiving his pay in articles at three times their actual value, or in scrip which is never cashed. You do great injustice to the negro in assuming that he will not work when proper inducements are offered. True, he does not like to work for nothing, and in this he is not very different from white men. That the race is competent to found and build up a State that would be an honor to this republic history most fully attests." Malte Brun says of them: It is certain that in early times African colonies carried the germs of civlization into savage Europe.

There same despised decendants of Ham, in early times, founded the most powerful empires; built the most renowned cities; were the first merchants; controlled the commerce of the Indian Ocean, Mediterranean and Red Seas; built the first great pyramid * * * and carried the arts and manufactures to a pitch scarcely rivaled in the nineteenth century.—[Prof. Shepherd.

"In our country, during the entire existence of the republic, the colored race has performed the labor which has supported a third of its white population, and which has given to our commerce much the larger share of its exports. It does not become you to charge upon the colored race an indisposition to work."

The following resolutions were offered by George N. Perkins, of Arkansas, and adopted by the Colored National Conference, convened at Nashville, Tenn., on the 6th of May, 1879.

WHEREAS, We are not allowed to freely and peacfully enjoy our natural, political and civil rights as are enjoyed by other American citizens, on account of our color, or previous condition or servitude; and

WHEREAS, We are an important factor in the agricultural department of this nation, and are a laboring and self-sustaining people; therefore, resolved

1. That we emigrate from the Southern States to some State, Territory or province on this continent, where we can peacefully and freely enjoy all of our rights, both political and civil.

2. That colored citizens in each State where they are oppressed, choose one or two commissioners, who shall form a colonization Committee to go forward under the auspices of the National Emigration Aid Society, to select a home for the oppressed colored people, and to make amicable arrangements with the authorities of said State, Territory or province. Said committee to decide any question by majority vote, and report their decision to the Chairman of the National Emigration Aid Society, now at Washington, D. C. One Commissioner to return at pleasure and the other to remain as Consular Agent for his State respectively.

3. That we severally form ourselves into State Auxiliary Emigration Aid Societies for the purpose of receiving aid and sending all applicants to the locality agreed upon and designated by their Consular Agent.

4. That we heartily indorse the policy suggested in Senator Windom's resolution relative to emigration, and we will, in our respective States, do all in our power to further advance the cause of emigration to some State or Territory where we will be able to peacefully enjoy our natural, political and civil rights unintimidated or molested.

5. We are not naturally inferior to any other race of people, and are competent for self-government.

6. That a committee of five be appointed by the Chair to memorialize Congress of our grievances and ask for relief.

All States and Territories who desire to receive the colored people on equitable terms, may signify it by public or private letter to the Commissioners as soon as they are appointed, who probably will meet at St. Louis. Southwestern conservative colored people are inclined to remain. Yours, very respectfully,

HENRY SIMKENS.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Boston Letter.

To-day Boston is well supplied with speakers from the South. Dr. Godman is here with his University singers. They form a splendid troupe and execute their parts remarkably well. So far they appear to have given eminent satisfaction to the people. The only bar to his success is the season. To secure audiences in the hot weeks is extremely difficult; but the doctor does his best to overcome the difficulty. He will do something in the warm season, and prepare the way for a splendid success as soon as the weather cools a little.

Col. J. E. Bryant, of the Atlanta Republican, is spending some weeks here in the interest of Republicanism in the South. He is a member of our church and a man who seems to comprehend the nature and extent of the Southern problem. His mission is mostly with the politicians and the monied men who have a benevolent interest in the extension of the area of freedom. The other morning he made a friendly visit to the preachers' meeting and spoke clear and strong words for his cause. Above most of the liberal men of the South, he goes to the bottom of the question. The struggle of the sections is between two civilizations—slave-holding feudalism on the one side and personal freedom on the other; the one derived from the violence and barbarism of the dark ages, the other an offshoot of the Reformation and of our revolution. as to which will ultimately prevail, we have no doubt. The spirit of the 19th century cannot be permanently resisted by the reactionary force of caste and oligarchy. The desire of inequality and injustice will be exercised even though he foam at the mouth and tear the subject in which he had become incarnated. In the South, as well as the North, men of all colors must be free to labor and enjoy the fruit of their labor; to vote and enjoy the advantage of their vote. To resist this result, as the Bourbons are doing, is a folly and crime. To the sin of rebellion, they are adding the greater one of stupidity. As well resist the force of the tides, or the onmoving of the spheres, as to dam the stream of liberty flowing across these centuries. It will brush away every barrier and flood the world. To resist is to be swept away by the fury of the torrent.

The Bourbons have braced themselves to a terrible endeavor, but all in vain. See how much they have lost. Slavery is abolished; the negro is free to go or stay and public opinion sits in the judgment seat. Once they did their work in darkness; now their deeds are held in the light of Christian day. That is great gain; for public opinion is mightier than oligarchies, than money, than weapons of war. With a voice gentle, but potential, she remands tyrants to the limbo of the damned, and there is no effective resistance to her decree. Southern leaders feel bound to apologize for and explain or deny the crimes alleged against their class; the apology or denial is a recognition of the power of public opinion, and you may be sure the final award of that opinion will be in favor of liberty. The appeal to the bar of public opinion is the loss of her cause. The instincts of a free people will detect the glaring, the smooth deception, the brazen falsehoods put forth as the shield of the wrong doer. A murder in Arkansas calls out a letter of denial from her Governor; the response of the public is heard in Fowler's scathing and defiant reply. In due time violence and murder will learn better than to plead their cause at the bar of public opinion, where judgment will be rendered against them. Bourbonism is now in court before this august tribunal; the sentence will be death and confiscation of goods in spite of all special pleading and lofty protestations.

THE NEGRO EXODUS

finds a voice here in Gen. Conway, who is raising money to charter a boat for the conveyance of the refugees now on your river banks. The case meets a hearty response. Boston asks whether the negro has been emancipated, whether that great highway, the Mississippi, belongs to the States or the nation. We shall see. Southern leaders have done many foolish things; none more foolish than these anti-exodus movements. The exodus makes clear to our people the oppression of the negro and the need of further action to establish liberty. The great meeting in Tremont Temple on behalf of the exodus was a grand affair. Wendell Phillips spoke in his best. The old abolition fire kindled in him ashes opened the chapter of wrongs and pointed out the meanness and sin of those who opposed God's power. But he was full of hope. Providence is marching on with heavy columns and every resisting force will go down before them. As Sumner taught, freedom must be national; slavery nowhere. This is peace and prosperity and union forevermore; nothing else is.'

NAMREHS.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Letter from Topeka.

TOPEKA, Kansas, June 24, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—I would be more than thankful to you for a small space in your good paper to say something to our people coming Kanseeward. Let me say that Kansas is a very good State in every way, but here is the point: the people coming to Kansas ought not to come empty handed, though if a man has a little money he can buy land very cheap—say from $1.25 to $5 per acre—or they can take up government land. But we must have a little money to make a start with, and let me say, as I am a farmer myself, I know that land that can be bought for $1.25 per acre is just as good as the land which our people rent for $7 and $8 per acre yearly down South. I know of what I speak, for I was born and raised in Louisiana—on the Abares old plantation, five miles above Plaquemine, a little town on the Mississippi river, Iberville parish, where my dear old mother now lives and where my dear father lies in the grave. Now, sir, I lived in the Red River country (Bossier parish) for five years, and I know that the lands in Kansas are just as good as the lands in Louisiana, if not better. But our people must understand me: they must not come here depending on other people altogether for their support. For while the kind hearted citizens of the State of Kansas are doing all they can to help us, we must try and help ourselves. Any man or woman can make a good living if they will go to work when asked, and not come here and try to live off of other people, and because they have nothing to live on say they do not understand this and do not understand that, and that they will return South. Such lazy people had better stay down South where their old masters can make them work for nothing, for the people up here don't understand such ways of doing business.

PAYTON RANDOLPH.

If a man wants to be right and to do good in the world he must not be discouraged when he finds himself with the minority. At one time or another he who accomplishes much for the cause of truth is sure to find the majority against him. At a recent total abstinence gathering in London to hear the farewell words of Mr. Gough before his return to America, Admiral Hall encouraged the friends of the reform there advocated by reminding them that "no man had ever obtained lasting fame who had not opposed popular prejudice. A man may be in the minority without being in the right—a good many men are. But the fact that a man is in the minority is not in itself any indication of his being in the wrong. The question is What is right? not, What do good people think is right?—S. S. Times.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Pittsburgh Female College Commencement.

The past year, despite the times, has been one of much prosperity to this well managed institution. The commencement week, just past, is thought by some to be the most brilliant of its history. President Pershing for about a score of years has had great success. During the depressed times it has paid current expenses, reduced the debt nearly three thousand dollars and purchased an immense organ, with apparatus worth nearly $6000.

Commencement week opened with the usual two days' examination of the Senior Class, Thursday and Friday, June 12 and 13. It was rigid and exhaustive, and by disinterested persons. Thursday afternoon the Contest in Butler's Analogy occurred, and the special committee awarded the honor to Miss Carrie O. F. Russell, of Pittsburgh. Friday afternoon the Latin Contest for the "Holmes prize" came off, and Miss Annie Nelson, of Brownsville, Pa., won the prize. In the evening the annual Music Contest for the "Thomas McKee" prize, came off; a superb medal worth $60. An immense throng were present to enjoy the exquisite music. The musical judges awarded the prize to Miss Minnie Dean, of Karlansburgh, Pa. Sunday morning the Bacca laureate sermon was preached by Rev. W. F. Day, D.D., of Newcastle, Pa.—subject: "The True Idea of Life."

Monday was wholly devoted to the mathematical examination of the Senior Middle Class for the "Mrs. Bishop Simpson" prize, by a committee elected by the contestants. They gave the prize to Miss Fannie Collier, daughter of Judge Collier, of Pittsburgh. At night the Annual Address was delivered by a young minister of the Pittsburgh Conference, Rev. R. B. Mansell, A. M., of Brownsville, Pa., in which he handled with ability the subject—"Action the Soul of Life." Tuesday and Wednesday throughout was occupied by the general examination of higher studies; very creditable to the teachers and pupils.

Tuesday evening the usual annual Reading Contest took place, in the presence of a large throng, paying an admission fee. The contest was spirited, and the prize, the "Mrs. Margaret Davidson" prize, a silver medal and gold cup, was worthy of the contest. The musical part was rich itself. The judges gave the cup to Miss Maggie L. Elkins, of Pittsburgh. Thursday night commencement proper rounded up the week. The graduating class was very fine, and the music all that could be desired. After the essays were read Rev. C. L. Thompson, one of the editors of the Interior, and now pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, delivered an energetic address to the graduates. President Pershing then presented the graduates of the College of Liberal Arts, as follows: Misses Sue H. Canfield, Aggie L. Weir, Lou E. Huhley, Alleghany City; Millie J. Longhrey and Carrie O. F. Russell, Pittsburgh; Nan K. Lauck, California; Jennie Trigg, Corydon, Ky. Musical graduates: Misses Nellie S. Baird and Aggie L. Weir, Alleghany City, and Laura Z. Mease, Pleasantville, Pa.

Out of a total attendance last year of 242 pupils nine graduates is a small percentage. But owing to the high standard maintained the number of graduates are never large. The college now has seven distinct schools, divided into nine departments, as follows: A school of Liberal Arts; of Music; of Drawing and Painting; Elocution; of Modern Language; of Needle-work; of Wax Work. This division of labor, requiring a faculty of carefully selected teachers to the number of twenty-four. This high tone is producing good results, one of which is a great demand for its graduates as teachers.

The healthful location of Pittsburgh, and being easy of access and high moral tone, render the college attractive to parents and guardians. The outlook for the new year, which opens September 3rd is promising. Applications for catalogues and information coming as far off as California.

Good men when persecuted for righteousness' sake can afford to "rejoice in tribulation," because, as Pascal remarks, "there is pleasure in being on a vessel tossed by the storm when we are certain we shall not perish."

The Isthmus Canal.

The New York Tribune says:

"Americans cannot be expected to view with composure the results of the International Canal congress which has closed its sessions in Paris. Their engineers have been employed at intervals during thirty years in exploring Central America and surveying routes for an interoceanic canal. The results of previous observations and surveys have recently been revised by a government expedition, which during three consecutive years explored with intelligence and perseverance every line of communication between the two seas. What is the outcome of so much and such thorough work? In a congress wherein thirteen nations are represented all the distinctively American plans are voted down by an overwhelming majority, and the conclusions of the United States delegation, with a vice-admiral at its head, are flippantly brushed aside. In the final division our experienced engineers hold aloof, while the survey and estimates of a French lieutenant, who has passed two seasons on the Isthmus, are accepted by a vote of seventy-four to eight.

The plan recommended by the congress does not differ essentially from a scheme advocated thirty years ago by a needy adventurer in London named Louis Napoleon. The cost of boring a water-way through the rock from Aspinwall to Panama was then estimated at one hundred million dollars. The figures are now set at one hundred and forty million dollars, and curiously enough, the scheme has been revived by a cousin of the late emperor. The projected route follows closely the line of the Panama railroad. It will be a canal of continuous level from the Bay of Limon to the Bay of Panama, like the Sueze canal. But it is one thing to dig a trench in the sand and another to cut a tunnel through rocks that are three hundred feet above the tide level. There is reason to believe that the American engineers were right in condemning this plan as impracticable and in adhering to the Nicaragua route as an alternative scheme."

Not Sectional, but National.

An extract in the New York Times from your neighbor, the Atlanta Constitution, reminded me of the trite truth, that half truths were often more misleading than downright falsehoods. The article in question cites your Gov. Colquitt as saying of us dwellers in the North, "they want peace and harmony just as much as we (the South) do . . . the Republican leaders are in my opinion making a fatal mistake in basing their schemes upon the belief that the sectional feeling still exists, or that it can be fanned into life again."

The half truth in this extract consists, not in the assertion that the North wants peace and harmony as much as the South, but in the implied assumption that it wants peace and harmony on the terms dictated by the Bourbon element which now rules the Southern political world. It is not true that we want, or that we will accept, peace and harmony by consenting to let the South count the freedmen in their basis of representation while they drive them from the ballot-box with the lash of the bull-dozer and the bullets of Ku-klux assassins. Neither will the North accept a harmony which is conditioned on the suppression of Republicanism by fraud and force, and on the reduction of the colored man to the condition of a serf. But whenever the South is willing to give the white Republican and the colored voter fair play at the ballot-box and elsewhere, then the North will give the hand of political and social brotherhood to the South with the utmost cordiality, with the heartiest good-will.—D. Wise, D. D., in Atlanta Methodist.

There is an unmistakable advance in public sentiment with regard to the better enforcement of law. Let every good citizen see to it that this tendency of the public mind be maintained. No reaction must be allowed to take place. Let a healthy public sentiment be brought to bear on every case, that the hands of the officers of the law may be strengthened and evil-doers punished.—Nashville Advocate.

A fire at Mansfield, La., on the 30th, destroyed property to the value of $25,000.

General News Items.

Congress adjourned July 1.

The Democrats of Maine re nominated Gov. Garcelon.

Prince Jerome Napoleon is recognized as the chief of the Bonapartists.

Prince Bismarck gave a dinner in honor of the American minister, Andrew D. White.

Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria, has gone to Constantinople to be presented to the Sultan.

Minister Falk, of Germany, resigned because he believed it impossible to effect a reconciliation with the Vatican.

No person has yet been tried for the murder of the Chisolm family in Mississippi, and no trial for that great crime is probable.

The total membership of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society is about 50,000. The receipts last year were $66,843.60.

The exodus movement is assuming considerable proportions in East Baton Rouge parish, La. Thirty persons left for Kansas on one Sunday.

Not all the criminals in Texas escape punishment. A youth named Lowry has just been incarcerated in the Lavacca County Prison for altering the mark on a hog's ear.

Mr. Moody will pass the summer at Northfield, and early in the autumn go to St. Louis, where he will remain six months, having the aid of Mr. Sankey, who is to return from England.

Bishop Haven delivered the annual address before the Society of religious inquiry, Jefferson College, at Washington, Pa., 29th ult. This is the college where Senator Blaine and many noted civilians and ministers were graduated.

Of the abolitionists who still survive: Rev. Dr. William H. Furness, is now in his 78th year; Lucretia Mott, in her 78th year; A. Bronson Alcott, nearly 80; Prof. Calvin E. Stowe, 77; Lydia Maria Child, over 77, and Ralph Waldo Emerson, 76.

A placard was posted on the wall of the royal palace of Locken, three miles from Brussels, threatening the king with death if he ratifies the bill recently passed by the Belgium parliament depriving the clergy of the control of the elementary education.

At the recent meeting of the Bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America, they appointed, as fraternal delegates to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, Rev. C. Wesley Fitzhugh, of Washington City, and Rev. J. H. Ridley, of the Tennessee Conference.

The liquor dealing interest has a new stumbling block in Massachusetts. The new liquor law compels bar-room keepers to get the written consent of their landlords, and that provision is causing dealers a great deal of trouble—property owners generally disliking to put themselves in a dangerous position with reference to the civil damage act.

By the death of his sister, Vice-President Wheeler is left entirely alone in the world, without family, his wife having died at Washington in 1875, and no children ever having been born to him, and without kin except a solitary cousin, Rev. Dr. Wheeler, editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, who discovered his relationship during the Presidential campaign of 1876.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the New York Steam Power and Heating Company, the organization, of which Gen. Spinola was promoter, whose object is to convey steam throughout the streets of the city, to be used for motive power, for cooking purposes, for heating houses and for melting snow from the streets in winter. The incorporators include some of the wealthiest and best known citizens of New York. Capital stock is fixed at $5,000,000, divided into fifty thousand shares.

A clergyman of the Church of England has "committed a crime and caused great scandal" by permitting Mr. Sankey to give a service of Christian song in his church. Rev. Mr. Fink, orrate, is the offender, and Rev. George Hall, vicar and rural dean, is his accomplice. Mr. Hall was absent, by [illegible] of sickness, but he sanctioned what his curate did. The Church Times trusts that the Bishop of Lichfield, in whose diocese the church, Chapel-en-le-Frith, is situated, will cause an investigation to be made.

...western.

... HARTZELL, D.D., Editor.

...Y, JULY 10, 1879.

... Dollar!

... will be taken for ... of the year 1879 for ... Dollar, Cash.

... Haven is on the Pacific ... will preside over the ... River and Oregon Conference.

... J. P. Newman, pastor Sev... Avenue Methodist Church, ..., determined to continue ... pulpit during the heated ... Some of his friends appre... this by sending him a check ...

... Chinese in New York are ... for religious services regu... Sabbath day and on ... evenings of the week. They ... the general supervision ... S. Crown, our missionary ...

...hoe suggests that we ... the agents of the paper, ... incite them to greater ... Our agents for 1879 have ... reports, and their ... and unselfish efforts are ...ated.

... Swedish mission of Brooklyn ... prospers. At a recent ... class meeting 54 persons ... for Jesus, and on Sabbath, ...; five persons were taken ... full connection, whilst others ... earnestly seeking.

... published two or more ... of a controversial ... from members of the ... conference, we decline to ... the subject further; and ... that all apparent discord be... the brethren may be amica... adjusted between themselves.

... Louisianian, of this city has ... editors. Ex-Governor ... has retired from the ... and Messrs T. De S. ..., James D. Kennedy and ... M. Yance, Jr., compose the ... staff. These gentlemen ... make an excellent paper, and ... them great success.

... M. V. Keever, of Meridian, ... in a letter to the editor, says ... correspondent who corrobora... meeting and furnished other ..., was in error concern... She says he is ... gentleman, a patron of the ..., and one of its staunchest ... He was put under bonds ... of a personal encounter in ...

... catalogue of the Ohio Wes... University for 1878–9 is re... It is situated at Delaware, ... is now believed to have a ... of students than ... literary institution under ... of the Methodist Epis... in the United States, ... department the ... exceeded by only one ... any direction west of ...

... Beecher, in his "Con... says that all at... the connection ... of Adam and the ... have been so ... to create a vio... the idea is, ... of vindication ... the doctrine that ... our sinful ... caused by the ... asserted in any ...

... of Amos ... for the ... will give ... to re...

Faith in God.

The soul that rests its faith in God has a perfect and satisfying solution to all questions relating to the origin and personation of things, material and spiritual. "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." In that single sentence the whole question of creation is solved. When the beginning was is of no importance. What was the exact modus operandi in creation—whether each thing was created separately, or whether by a single volition of the divine will all were created at once, or whether by a series of evolutions through ages one species succeeded another—is of small import. So of many other questions relating to creation. Outside of one question, all others are of no moment. Admitted that "GOD created the heavens and the earth," and the soul rests firmly and joyfully in the truth of a great First Cause, who made the heavens above us, and the earth beneath and around us, the air we breathe, our bodies, our souls, and established any relation, whether between atom and atom, thought and thought, or between star and star. When the soul lays hold of this fundamental truth it has rest and inspiration.

The faith that rests in God does not stop with belief in his existence and creative power—but accepts also the revelation he has made of himself to man. There are many questions which relate to this revelation which we must study, as for example, its possibility, its probability, the antecedent conditions in man to receive it, the manner of giving it, and the many questions relating to the authenticity and preservation of the record. These questions are all necessary, and give the broadest possible play to human ingenuity and knowledge. But faith in God, while it does not neglect these questions, steps to the front and grasps the revelation itself and bids the soul feast upon and rejoice in its truths.

Who can recount the ineffable rest and joy of soul that have come to the heart of humanity from the sacred pages of the Bible? How they warn and alarm the sinner, how they comfort and encourage the penitent; how their teachings adorn old age, and direct the footsteps of youth; how their words come as from the very heart of God, and distill divine sympathy into the soul of the bereaved; how its promises have strengthened martyrs in every age, given hope to the despondent in every condition, sustained the broken-hearted widow as she has followed her only son to the tomb, and cast a halo of glory over death and the grave!

Faith in God means also faith in his over-ruling providence, whereby the soul finds a solution of all difficulties growing out of the imperfect administration of justice in this life. Herein lies the whole question of evil—its origin, nature, effects and actual or possible results. Reason can give no satisfactory solution for the existence of evil, or its consequences upon men's bodies and minds, and upon society and the world. The only solution is that God permits evil and all its fearful consequences on the earth, so that in some way greater glory may come to him and to man. How this is to be, no human wisdom can tell. We may theorize upon the basis of man's free moral agency, we may admit the fact of the atonement by which the soul is saved from the penal effects of sin; but in the end, no matter what road we travel, we come to the unsolvable problem—why is evil? Only faith in God can answer. Faith says, God lives, and is infinite in power, in sympathy and duration,—therefore, in some way in His good time we shall understand these things. And who has not over and over again in experience, come to understand this? Afflictions have come, and our hearts have been smitten with anguish. We could give no reason why we should be the victim. The more we studied the matter, the greater was our perplexity. With blinded eyes we looked toward the heavens, and every star seemed to have been blotted out. We went ... in prayer, and broken and crushed in spirit we cried for wisdom, and the answer came. "I will not leave you comfortless. I will come unto you * * * because I live ye shall live also."

In the debate on the retention of the Louisiana State Lottery franchise, in the new constitution, Delegate ..., of St. Landry, de... the Nicholls government ... to the Lot... liberal use of its ... reduction of sup... and a legal ... recognition. ... Democrat ... statement ...

Morality and Religion.

In these days of lukewarmness and confusion men talk as though Christian morality were to be attained without Christian doctrine, as though we could realize what the Divine Master would have us be in our lives without having His grace ruling in our souls. They point to the morality of the Gospel, and ask why we do not concentrate all our efforts upon securing it, and leaving all concern and anxiety about Christian doctrine. As wise would it be to tell us to think only of the fruit and never to mind whether the tree on which it grew were alive or dead, for we must either make the tree good and the fruit good, or else the tree corrupt and its fruit corrupt, for "by their fruits we shall know them." Christian morality can be practiced only by those who are ruled by Christian love. The love portrayed in the Sermon on the Mount and in other parts of the Lord's teaching and exemplified in His life, can be realized only by those who "walk by faith and not by sight," by those who act from the Spirit of Christ moving and influencing them, by the power of Christ received by faith in Him, who are able to say, "I live and yet not I, but Christ dwelleth in me and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me."

We cannot have life without the source from which it proceeds. We cannot have the self-sacrifice, the holiness, the humility, the purity, the life of the Gospel without that Divine grace which the Gospel declares to be essential, and without which it assures us that we can do no good thing. He tells us that "in us, that is, in our flesh dwelleth no good thing" for the good that we would we do not, but the evil that we would not, that we do for "there is a law in our members warring against the law of our mind and bringing us into captivity to the law of sin which is in our members." This is our state by nature and this can only be overcome through the power of Jesus Christ our Lord communicated to us through His Spirit and Word. The best proof we can have that no other power than that of Jesus Christ can avail to make men live the life of holiness depicted in the New Testament is the fact that it has never been realized by any other.

As grapes produced by the wild vine resemble those brought forth by the cultivated plant, so certain natural excellences in men have sufficed to bring forth fruits that are in a measure like those produced by the power of Divine grace. In fallen man there remains traces of his nobility of birth. All within him is marred and injured by the ruin of the fall. Amidst this ruin there remains to one man kindliness of disposition, ready sympathy with others' sorrows; to another generosity of temper; to another liberality in dispensing what he possesses, and so forth; but with it all, where the power of Jesus is not, the root from which proceed the virtues by which the character is adorned, those virtues are partial, imperfect and incomplete. They cannot ripen into everlasting life. It is only among those who rely upon Divine Grace, who bend their own wills in strict obedience to the law of God, who recognize their own nature to be corrupt, and that their sufficiency is from on high, that the complete character of man, such as it is portrayed in the New Testament, can ever be found. The misery is we are so slow to recognize this. We admire Christian morality, self-sacrifice, humility, a disciplined will, a love controlled by a perpetual sense of its dependence upon an almighty Superior, and supported by conscious reliance upon His power; but in our own daily life we do not strive to realize this. We are more guided by the rule and practice of those around us than by the written law of whose truth we have not a doubt. We are more swayed by habit than by a sense of what is due to the inspiration of the Holy Spirit who made our hearts his own. We acknowledge that our final doom will be according to our works, but we do not remember that during the events of each day we are performing the works by which our doom will be determined. There seems to be a littleness and an unworthiness about these which render it impossible for them to be the cause of such infinite results, and so we trust to the promptings of inclination, the guiding of habit, the correctness of customs, to control our every-day conduct, instead of remembering that we are Christians, that we are temples of the Holy Ghost, and that we are, therefore, bound to make this manifest in all we say and do. Because we wish to realize the purity and the holiness portrayed in the New Testament it is that we mourn over the ... and grevious neglects of Christian ordinances among those who surround us. But we must never separate morality from true religion. It is the very first condition of our being just and true, pure and holy, that we seek help from Christ; that we turn to Him with our whole heart; that we earnestly and faithfully endeavor to be ruled by His spirit; that we study His word; that we devoutly seek Him in prayer; that we learn to approach Him in the sacraments and then shall we demonstrate that the Christian is the highest style of man.

Murder of Rev. W. M. Todd.

The report of the committee of the Philadelphia preachers' meeting in relation to this crime, appears in the Northwestern Christian Advocate of June 18. It is a calm review of all the facts in the case, summed up under eight heads, and will make a strong impression upon the christian mind of the country. It concludes with the following appeal and resolutions:

The public judgment is overwhelmed with evidence that cannot be resisted. The death of Bro. Todd, and the sufferings of Bro. Pollard, add two more to the long list of those who have suffered wrong, many of them even unto death, for the cause of human rights and religious freedom on American soil.

We cannot agree with those ministers of the gospel who refrain from preaching against such outrages, on the ground that it would be "political preaching." To keep silence in the presence of such wrongs is to share in the guilt of their perpetration. We, therefore, earnestly appeal to our brethern in the ministry of all churches to "Cry aloud and spare not; lift up the voice like a trumpet, and show the people their transgressions and the house of Jacob their sins." We believe it to be within the power of the pulpit and the press of the whole country to put an end to such acts of violence within twelve months. The possession of such power involves corresponding responsibility for its exercise, and there is hope for the future only as the leaders of public opinion shall create a public sentiment that will protect all classes and conditions in the quiet pursuit of all lawful avocations.

1. Resolved, That we heartily concur with the bishops of our church, in their action of May 20, 1879, in this case, and their solemn appeal to the civil authorities of the country for the protection of our laborers in the Southern states.

2. Resolved, That we look with alarm upon the manifest anxiety of the leaders in the South to deprive the helpless classes of the little protection hitherto afforded them by the Federal government.

3. Resolved, That if the local and state authorities continue to fail to protect our ministers and teachers in the lawful prosecution of the work, we will demand of the government of the United States that protection to which American citizens are entitled wherever the flag of the country floats.

4. Resolved, That the secretary of this meeting be instructed to furnish our church papers with a copy of the foregoing for publication.

A. J. Kynett, Chairman, S. W. Thomas, T. W. Fernley, Chas. Scott, Committee. D. W. Gordon, President Preachers' Meeting. S. W. Gehrett, Secretary.

The Central Christian Advocate reviews this case, and quotes the letter from a Tennessee minister addressed to the Methodist, in which he says: "Trust no man who comes South and associates with the negroes rather than the whites."

Upon this the editor remarks:

Rev. Mr. Pollard is a Southern man, and so was Mr. Todd. They were not adventurers from the North. Bro. Pollard's work is exclusively among the colored people; he believes, as did Mr. Todd, that under these circumstances, more effectual work can be done in elevating the colored people by associating with them. This may be a wrong judgment—it does not accord with our views on the subject—but a citizen has the right to hold such an opinion and act accordingly, and go his way unmolested. He takes the risk of exciting the prejudices of the white people, and they may severely 'let him alone,' it they please, but there the matter should end.

Now, what instructions, it any, do our foreign missionaries receive touching their intercourse with the heathen population among whom they labor? Do they abstain from associating with the lower castes, in India, for instance, and seek the society of the white Europeans, that they may not offend the prejudices of the heathen aristocracy? Is that the way that Paul became all things to all men that he might save some? Following that rule, how long will it require for the M. E. Church to secure the confidence and compass the salvation of our millions of colored people in the South?

Bishop Wiley, accompanied by Dr. Rust, visited Galveston, Texas, in 1872, to hold conference. One of the preachers, through mistaken zeal for the dignity and comfort of the Bishop, took special pains to provide for the entertainment of these great men of the church. It only needed a suggestion to Rev. Dr. Howard, the excellent Baptist pastor of that city, to obtain from him a cordial invitation for the Bishop and his companion to become his guests. An extra servant was employed, a stock of choice provisions was laid in, and the great chamber made ready. Upon the arrival of the Bishop, he was informed of the regal quarters that awaited his acceptance—but he also learned that a colored member of the church had also made provision for them in a house near by, and he was invited, with no little trembling, to inspect the room. He was more than satisfied with the neat and comfortable quarters, and no importunity could change his purpose to stay. To all urging, his answer was: "I came down here to attend to business—not to be entertained." He sent a polite note to Dr. Howard, thanking him for his kindness, which hardly reconciled the good Baptist brother to his disappointment. No doubt over-prudent people were greatly disturbed by this inconsiderate "exciting the prejudices of the white people," but we know it riveted the affections of that humble household to the Bishop and his companion as with hooks of steel.

Let our preachers be instructed to abstain from associating with the colored people whom they are sent to instruct and save, and our word for it, there will be a truce at once declared by the bull-dozers. There will be no arresting of preachers at night, no hand-cuffs or shot-guns to bring them down when running for their lives,—and there will also be an end of our mission among the colored people of the South.

The Truth.

The Vicksburg Herald, a Democratic paper of Mississippi, recently said:

We think the colored people of the South should be given representation in the offices in proportion to the intelligent and capable among them. As the South has accepted the amendments, as she has said to the country, leave us alone, we will solve this difficult race problem bequeathed us by the war in patience, honesty, and justice, there is nothing left her but to do so. The voters of a republic are its rulers, and we must settle this race question on the basis of political equality, or act the part of liars and hypocrites.

This is sober truth. The only evidence the South can present to the country of a sincere desire for peace or returning loyalty, will be the abandonment of its tyrannical race policy began in opposition to the laws and the constitution it declared it would obey.

India.

The Western Christian Advocate gave a graphic report of commencement exercises and addresses at Asbury University, Greencastle, Indiana. Bishop Bowman addressed a large audience on his recent travels in India. He spoke with great clearness and unusual fervor, briefly presenting an outline of the social, religious, and political condition of India. Says the Advocate: Probably no Greencastle audience ever had the adaptability of the Christian religion to all grades and classes of people so forcibly shown as on that Sunday afternoon. Many were moved to tears by the eloquent words of the Bishop.

The fourth day of July was most heartily celebrated in all parts of country. The recent conduct of Southern representatives in and out of Congress, caused the day to be observed with more than usual fervor.

Rev. G. H. Adams, newly appointed superintendent for Arizona, will leave for his field of future labor early in July.

Letter from Corpus Christi.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas June 18, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—Allow me to say a few words through your paper about an exodus to Texas. It is foolishness to talk of it. We know that it is the worst State in the Union against the negro. He is denied the privilege of speaking his sentiments, and if a white man strikes him he must not even ask him why he did it, and it is more than he dare do to go to law about it. It is seldom that he can own a hog even by keeping it in a pen. He might own a horse by keeping him tied to his door post and led poorly. It is seldom of any use to buy milch cows for they will take them out of his pen, and defy him to complain. The only home appears to be the penitentiary! If you buy a home the rich will pasture you in and prevent you from keeping any animal that you can not keep tied. The poor whites of Texas live in rich men's pastures, by being humble, and are not allowed to keep cows for family use. There are some government lands in Texas, but what can be done with it without stock? The thieves have left the settled country and gone to the frontiers, where they can hide in the mountains and chapparal. Kansas may not be a timbered country, yet it may be the best for the negro.

JAMES HENDERSON.

Florida papers are discussing the merits of a new crop—arrow root, which grows well there and is profitable for stock, and also for feeding animals. The yield of pine lands is eight tons per acre.

OUR SOUTHERN METHODISM

LOUISIANA.

Rev. W. Brooks, Opelousas: "May 4th a children's meeting was held, at which 500 were present. On children's day $3.05 was collected."

Tennessee Jackson, Fairfield church: "Elder Davage aroused the church by a powerful sermon on his visit. There were 35 probationers this quarter, and 16 baptized. We are collecting money to purchase a bell."

Mandeville chapel, Rev. Chas. Washington, pastor, will give a basket meeting on the first Sunday of August. The church is increasing in membership. The congregation proposes to build a new parsonage, and the basket meeting will be given to assist that project. The whites of Maudaville offer to contribute.

The second quarterly conference of Sixth Street Church, New Orleans was held by the presiding elder, Dr. Hartzell, June 6th. The pastor, Rev. Wm. Smith, reported the condition of the Sunday-school good, and that the general interests of the charge were in a healthy condition. There had been an increase of 24 in the school—the attendance now being 70. During the quarter one had been excluded, four had been received into full connection, four infants baptized and fifty-four pastoral visits made. During the quarter $96.15 had been raised. This congregation are worshiping in a rented house, but plans are being discussed by which it is hoped the property will be bought.

MISSISSIPPI.

G. W. Barrett, Meridian: "Rev. Adkinson, gives our Sunday-school credit as being one of the best in the State."

Rev. M. Strong, Hernando: "We collected to-day for the missionary cause $8.55. The dollar system was commenced."

John Gaston, Handsboro: "I have just closed a protracted meeting at Ocean Springs. The Lord was with us. There were 10 accessions."

M. Brown, Garlandsville: "I have been around my circuit and find it in a lively condition; collected $4.10 for the Sunday-school Union; 47 children were baptized."

J. C. Abrams, Okolona: "Our school, Union Grove circuit, is in a prosperous condition: missionary collection $1.86; 396 verses committed to memory. Bessey Herford recited 33; L. R. Nevils 25."

Rev. L. L. Shumpert, Okolona: "Children's day was observed by the Sabbath-school, and a collection of $1.50 was taken up for educational purposes. Thaddeus Gilmore is superintendent."

W. H. H. Gallion, DeKalb: "On July 31 I will commence a camp meeting. I ask the brethren at large to visit us at that time if possible. We are making all the necessary arrangements to have a good time. I hope the brethren will not fail to read this and let me hear from them at once so that I will know what to do."

Rev. James J. Shumpert, Aberdeen: "We have not had much of a revival this year in churches on this circuit, but our Sunday-schools are doing very well in all parts of the circuit. A fine session of the public school closed the 20th of June. O. Spratley and myself were invited to preach to the school on the 15th of June. A great many persons were present. Rev. O. Spratley gave general satisfaction. I never was better pleased."

TENNESSEE.

G. Baber, Fayette: "Our church is growing. The elder was with us on the 22d and we had a happy time. When I entered on this work there was no Sabbath-school, now 65 are in attendance."

Rev. Charles Bullington, Cookeville: "Number of conversions this year 19, baptisms 23. I commenced a protracted meeting on June 29. There have been two conversions up to this time: eight other persons presented themselves for prayer. The circuit is 40 miles long, containing 5 regular appointments and is in a prosperous condition. Pray for us."

Rev. B. Anderson: "I have had a two weeks' meeting, with 2 converts and four additions to the church. On the first Sunday in June we had a glorious time at Brentwood, at Brooks' Chapel. Rev. R. C. Clark, of Nashville, preached for us, after which 3 were baptized. We are working to get our new church completed by the first of August, and are preaching every Sunday in the basement. We have a good Sunday-school at this place. Pray for us. We want to build up all around the circuit."

TEXAS.

Rev. Edward Rosco, Houston: "I have 14 converts, 7 received in full connection."

Rev. P. Wilson Marlin: "Our new church is nearly finished. It will soon be painted and ceiled. A ten days protracted meeting added five to our membership."

Rev. S. Smith, Alleyton: "I have just closed a protracted meeting. The Lord blessed us with over 20 converts."

J. R. Carnes, Lockhart: "We are preparing for our camp meeting, which comes off in July, and are greatly encouraged."

Rev. Thomas Wadkins, Flatonia: "My camp-meeting on Peach creek, Flatonia circuit commences July 24, at Wesley chapel."

W. H. Jackson, San Felipe: "Rev. Lewis Lane's protracted meeting resulted in 2 converts, 20 probationers. The parsonage at Asbury chapel is finished. Camp meeting will open on the 24."

Rev. E. Henderson, Chambers' Creek: "Please announce that my camp meeting on the Milford and Grand view circuit, will commence on fifth day of August, at the old Chambers Creek camp ground, where there is an unfailing spring of cold water."

W. Oakes, La Grange: "The S. S. B. Society, June 19th, gave an entertainment for its benefit. About 120 pupils were present. Mrs. J. Phenix honored the president's chair with a wreath valued at $7.50. Mrs. Louisa Faison made a present worth about $5.50; Mrs. Mary Phillips besides her assistance gave $2.50 in gifts; Mrs. Sarah Moore and Mrs. Oakes did likewise."

Rev. S. Hardwell, Brenham: "Our membership has slowly increased this year, but the prospect seems to be brighter. We have added to the church since April, 30 persons. Our Sunday-school is doing very well indeed. Our collection was $4.85. Times are hard. Corn will be short for want of rain, and cotton also. The sisters' church aid society is still at work trying to raise money to complete our new church."

Letter from Mason.

Mason and Brownsville circuits are moving forward. I have six appointments—over 50 miles in length—and at each appointment a fair Sunday-school. The Preparatory school closes on the 13–14th. Friday, the 13th, at 11 o'clock a. m., Rev. H. Primm preached the Baccalaureate sermon. His text was Prov. iv; 13: "Take fast hold of instruction, let her not go, keep her, for she is thy life." The sermon was listened to with marked attention. The exhibition was a clear exhibit that the teacher and scholars have been active in their labors. James B. Maclin, Minerva Maclin, Charles H Love and Julia R. Taylor finished their preparatory studies. The school proved a grand success this season. On the 8th of June Children's day was strictly observed. There were 570 scholars present on that day from my work. After the regular hours of Sabbath-school each Sunday-school spent an hour in singing and prayer meeting. Five dollars and forty cents were raised on the occasion. The interest in my Sabbath-schools is good. The spiritual condition of my work is good, though I have been sick ever since June 7 or until May 1. I was hardly able to attend to my pastoral labors. Through the power of God I was able to keep my work going ahead by or through my epistles to my various appointments. I have had 29 converts and 20 joined the church. Some of these were prominent students of the preparatory school. Baptized 7 and received in full connection 8. Some improvements have been made upon my churches. We have put a new bell on Brownsville church. Thank God that I feel that my circuit is coming to the front in the usages of our church. Brethren, pray for my success.

J. P. PRICE.

Mason, Tenn.

Letter from Jackson, La.

JACKSON, La., June 25, 1879.

DEAR EDITOR—I am glad to inform you that we held on the fifteenth our second quarterly meeting, at which we had a lively time. Bro. Gayden was with us from Clinton, and preached a good sermon Sunday morning. In the evening the Rev. J. Gould preached a lengthy and able sermon, administered sacrament to 83 persons, baptized 6 infants and one adult, and received into full membership six. We have just finished a nice parsonage worth about $250. The Sunday-school is in a good condition, is still prospering, and expects to have a large celebration about the last of July. We have every right to believe that God has been with us, is with us, and will continue to be with us, as long as we are steadfast in faith. Up to date, including presiding elder's salary, benevolent collections and my support, we have raised $243.15, notwithstanding the hard times. Pray for the Magnolia Church. One of these days she expects to stand second to none in the whole five districts of Louisiana.

GEO. LACY.

Mother's Meeting, and Sunday-School Work.

The following is from the mother-in-law of our late and highly esteemed associate, D. W. Jones, Esq. We publish the letter with great pleasure, both because of its source and because of the cheering facts and valuable suggestions it contains:

I write to you on a subject which is very dear to my heart, and desire your heart-felt co-operation. I have lived in the South over thirty years, and have had charge, with my husband, of Female Seminaries in Alabama and Mississippi, and was for seven years superintendent of the "Mississippi State Institute for the Blind." I went to New York and remained four years, connected myself with Dr. John Hall's church, and worked with some of his members, men and women, in his "Mission Schools," among the Germans mostly. I labored in the Sunday-schools mornings and afternoons. I thank my Heavenly Father for the training I received there during the week. I attended sewing-schools where the children were taught not only plain sewing, but the Scriptures. Also mother's meetings were held once a week. These resulted in great good. Poor women were instructed in their duties as wives and mothers. Sometimes the children were brought in. We encouraged their mothers to pray, and to tell us their sorrows.

Our dear pastor, Dr. Hall, said if we wanted good citizens we must instruct these people in religion. He not only encouraged us by words—but he gave us his presence occasionally. I can never forget his earnest and affectionate appeals to them, lifting them up, as it were, out of themselves to Jesus, their loving friend. I have been in Columbus a year, and have taught a colored class of 20 in the morning, in our Presbyterian Sunday-school. Also in the afternoon in the Baptist Sunday-school a class of women numbering thirty.

I have organized a "mother's meeting," held on Friday from 5 to 6 o'clock, p. m., in the Methodist Church (colored), over which Rev. B. F. Penny is pastor. He is a good man, was educated at Oberlin, and has done a good work here. There is more order in that church now, and he is the cause of it. I was assisted last week by three influential ladies. Two of them are wives of physicians, and members of the Methodist Church. I desire very much that these mother's meetings should be held among the colored people, and that some of our noble and pious women will go and do it, and learn that in so doing they are saving children who are growing up now in sin. Yours in Christ,

MRS. S. B. MERRILL.

Columbus, Miss., July 1, 1879.

Abbeville Circuit.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., June 28, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—I have been intending for some time to write you the particulars of the work, and prospects of the Abbeville circuit.

I have in charge two churches, one situated at Providence, four miles west of Abbeville. The other Buford's Chapel, near College Hill. These churches are situated in a prosperous farming community, and at no distant day will rival the best of our rural churches. The people of both churches are always ready to give a helping hand to the advancement of christianity, and the upbuilding of our glorious old M. E. Church. At Providence we are rapidly preparing ourselves for the building of a new church instead of the old log house. The brethren here are full of enterprise, and we may look with confidence to the completion of the job. We have also a grand and flourishing Sabbath-school here. Children's day was a grand success in this church; the singing and other exercises were good, followed by a speech by Dr. A. E. Harden, a prominent physician of Abbeville. The Doctor will long be remembered by our people for his most interesting lecture, which was most touchingly felt by all. The collection was $1.30. At Buford's we have a very good building already. This is a young church, but will compare favorably with some of our older churches. Our membership claims to know no such word as "fail" under reasonable circumstances. We held children's day here on the third Sunday in June. Rev. J. M. Shumpert, of Holly Springs, was with us, most highly complimented the school, and encouraged them to help others if they would be helped themselves. The collection was $2.30. Bro. S. also preached for us at 11 o'clock. The total amount collected for children's day in the circuit was $3 60. We feel that the Lord will graciously bless our work this year, for when we lift up our eyes and look in the fields, we see they are already white to harvest. Our people say they cannot do without the SOUTHWESTERN. Pray for us.

Yours, A. M. TROTTER.

Foreign Missions.

Rev. A. Vail, D. D., says in a letter of May 25, at Bieraut, Syria: "This afternoon I went out to the cemetery where our Bishop Kingsley is buried. We found a small, well-kept cemetery, surrounded by a high wall, and kept under lock and key. The stones and graves are all in good order and carefully kept. I plucked a leaf from the grave, and a jessamine flower that overhung it from the adjoining grave—I send them to you enclosed."

INDIA — Rev. G. H. McGrew writes, May 15: "Our work moves on slowly. The devil made his masterpiece in the institution of caste. Its power of adapting itself to circumstances is most marvellous. It sways like a wire cable, under the pressure which Christianity brings to bear upon it, but never breaks. It disappears, and transformed reappears. The form is changed, but the principle remains. And all the ingenious attempts which are made to show that at some time or other this institution will aid our work—are in my judgment plausible but fallacious. We shall be obliged to smash it as with the hammer of Thor, before we can make Christians out of Hindoos. Hence, all apologies for it, all attempts to induce missionaries to adapt Christianity to its demands are misdirected, if not criminal. But it moves, nevertheless. We gain ground year by year. The time is coming when Hindoo society will fall in ruins, and out of its fragments we shall be able, by God's help, to construct this Christian church. Already the "break" has begun in Southern India, where mission work has been carried on longer than it has been here. When that time comes, our only care will be to see that the church is not overwhelmed by the influx of "baptized heathens," as it was when the Roman Empire was 'converted.'"

Rev. Dr. Thoburn, of Calcutta, sends both glad and sad news May 22: "I am in good health, and hopeful. We have baptized a dozen natives [illegible] conference, and are [illegible] our first village chapel. Times are hard. India is going through an ordeal of terrible suffering. Famine on famine, war, a depreciated currency and depressed commerce have paralyzed every interest."

[illegible] Anderson, who has [illegible] with power by the [illegible] of the Republic to go [illegible] and make treaties [illegible] the native tribes, and [illegible] the way for increase [illegible] and trade with the [illegible] much delayed [illegible] the government [illegible] in the matter [illegible] between the two [illegible] coast. He is [illegible] and our mis[illegible] the most fit [illegible] mission [illegible] promising than [illegible]

[illegible]

Letter from Victoria, Texas.

MR. EDITOR — Our Sabbath-school continues to grow, and a great deal of interest is being manifested on the part of both teachers and pupils.

We have 6 teachers and about 120 pupils. When I took charge of the school on the 12th of January last, out of 5 or 6 teachers, only two with myself were Christians. Since then they have all been converted to Christ, and are very active in leading and teaching the little folks the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. Many of my pupils have been converted to the Savior. They all manifest a willingness to become Christians.

Our church is yet alive, and is doing a good work in converting and bringing souls to the Savior. We are now trying to get a little rest, and while resting, thought it essential to commode the church by supplying benches. We commenced by giving fairs. Our net proceeds amounted to $51. We have a good class of stewards, but some of our leading sisters thought that they were not quite active enough for this work. Sisters Margaret Ellis and Hannah Southern have taken possession of the money, and say they are bound to have the benches. I am perfectly willing they should have an opportunity to exert their influence. I am thankful that God has blessed our church with such members, and would that all the churches throughout the entire West were filled with such members. To these I give praise, honor and advice, and if application to God in prayer will give them increased strength, they shall also have that.

The citizens of Victoria have resolved to establish a graded school. They have gathered some funds for the purpose. They earnestly solicit the aid of the adjoining counties to compete with them in this grand work. Yours truly,

G. J. STARNES.

Letter from Austin.

AUSTIN Texas, June 18th, 1879.

MR. EDITOR—It affords me great pleasure in letting you hear from me at this time concerning our work at this place. The second Sunday in this month was the Children's day, and we hailed it with great joy, though I was unable to attend myself on account of illness, yet I can say we had a nice time, for our able superintendent is fully competent to carry out any work that is intrusted to his hands. Our lesson, I am told, was recited with deep interest, and at the close our collection amounted to $5 05. But in the midst of our happiness, we are made to feel sad, on account of the death of one of our beloved sister in the Lord, sister Cainey Neil, who departed this life on the night of the 12th. She was one of the oldest members of the M. E. Church at this place, and beloved by many. For many years she has lived a devoted Christian, and died in the triumph of living faith. But she leaves a sweet remembrance and many warm friends behind to mourn her death. Mrs. Ann J. Carrington also departed this life on the morning of the 12th. She was not a Christian, so far as we knew, but one that was beloved by many and in high social standing. She leaves a husband and many warm friends to mourn her death. With these exceptions, I am glad to say, our church is alive and in a prosperous condition. We expect to come up with all of the disciplinary collections to the annual conference, and I hope to have the prayers of all Christians.

D. GREGORI, P. C.

Chicago and New Orleans.

Between Chicago to New Orleans the distance is nearly a thousand miles, and the trip is now made by rail in forty hours. The officers and managers of the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans railroad [illegible] to be heartily congratulated on [illegible] splendid condition of their road between New Orleans and Cairo. [illegible] a short time the entire road, [illegible] five hundred miles in length, [illegible] renewed. The road bed [illegible] graded up and ballasted, [illegible] rails, over most of the [illegible] been put in place of the [illegible]. The cars have been [illegible]. The officers are all rail[illegible] of experience, and the [illegible] are gentlemanly and [illegible] know of no better [illegible] in the United [illegible] has been a great [illegible] the eating houses [illegible]. The connections of [illegible] roads are good, [illegible] time is lost. A [illegible] way of Jackson, [illegible]. The con[illegible] Miles, are [illegible] South. [illegible] North, [illegible] built [illegible]

Sunday School.

July 13, 1879.—THE SECURITY OF BELIEVERS.

SCRIPTURE.—Rom. 8: 28 39.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"If the Lord be for us, who can be against us?"—31.

TOPIC.—The Triumphs of Faith.

[Condensed from the National S. S. Teacher]

Prefatory—The latter part of chapter v. is devoted to an argument showing the reasonableness of the doctrine of justification by faith through Christ. Chapter vi. is an answer to the very natural question whether a Christian can continue in sin since he is saved by faith and not by works. The apostle's reply is, that such an one is dead to sin, and made alive in Christ that he may walk in newness of life. In chapter vii he shows, first, that those who are risen in Christ are dead to the law and freed from its bondage, and, second, that he is in a pitiable condition who still lives under its tyranny. The law is holy, just, and good, but sin has made it an engine of torture and of destruction. Lashed by conscience to keep the law, and fettered by sin so that he can not do so, the condition of the sinner is well expressed in the despairing exclamation of the apostle: "O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" A marked contrast to this picture is furnished in chapter viii. It exhibits the happy condition of the man who is not under law, but under grace. 1: 1-4. He is not under condemnation. He has the comfort of knowing that all the sufferings that he can endure can not be compared with the glory that shall yet be revealed in him. In all his trials he is sustained by hope, and by the aid given him by the Holy Spirit, who bears with his infirmities, and who intercedes for him.

The Christian's Lot (28-30.—Let us bear in mind that the apostle is dwelling upon the subject of "the security of believers." His aim is to convince them that they have nothing to fear. And he points out to them that their safety depends, not upon themselves, but upon the invincibility of him who had espoused their cause. His first assurance to them was that all things work together for their good. His next is an explanation of that assertion. Nothing real can harm them; for God will not allow his purposes with regard to them to be defeated. Adversities may try, but they can not injure. Whatever may come, the result finally will be—"conformed to the image of his Son!"

The gracious fact is that he has foreknown all of those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life. They did not come as strangers into his kingdom. But was that foreknowledge an irresistible fiat that brought them into his kingdom without regard to their own will in the matter? That question has been one of the problems of the centuries. It is one of God's purposes that his work in his children shall finally reach perfection. Those who trust in him have no need to worry concerning their present defective states. The sculptor from the beginning sees in the stone the statue he means to carve out, and he selects no stone except that which is fit for his purpose. From every one whom God accepts, a great deal of the mire of this world has to be removed, and there are many "faults" that have to be cut away, but, all the while, the divine sculptor knows that, in the end, he shall be able to bring out the likeness of his Son.

The Christian's Defence (31-34).—"What shall we then say to these things?" The apostle means to ask, what, in view of that which has just been declared, we are warranted in affirming. He enumerates the things which naturally follow from what he said. They are: 1. "If God be for us, who can be against us?" In other words, if he is on our side, it does not matter who is opposed to us. "One with God is a majority." Satan and all his hosts, together with all the evil passions of our hearts, cannot then overcome us. 2. "He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?" Intercession is effective just in proportion to the influence of the advocate. Can we ask that that of Christ be any greater?" "Wherefore, he is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing that he ever liveth to make intercession for them." Heb. 7:25.

The Christian's Victory (35-39).—In the remaining part of the chapter we ascend "the very summit of the mount of confidence." Having shown that in Christ man is safe from condemnation, Paul now brings forth the comforting thought that from him there can be no separation, and, therefore, that one always will be secure. There are some victories that almost are a defeat—the victor feels that he has had but very little advantage over his adversary. But the Christian's triumph will not be of that sort. He will not crawl feebly off from the battle-field. His victory will be complete, decisive, triumphant. Though the whole universe make a league against the Christian, yet will he come off more than conqueror through Christ that loves him. The reply, then, to the question whether afflictions can separate one from the love of Christ is, No—they but drive one nearer to him! Nothing known or unknown "shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." The love which was exhibited on Calvary was of a kind that will never give up those upon whom it is lavished. What a soul-inspiring thought is this declaration of the apostle!

Marriages.

Mr. George G. Brown and Miss Matilda Mason were married at Ocean Springs, Miss., recently by Rev. John Gaston.

Deaths.

Sister Threat, a noble worker in the church, lost her only child, aged one year and six months, on the 27th. J. L. TERRELL.

Houston, Miss.

Rebecca Neely departed this life June 30. I saw her a few days before her death. She said she was ready to go. SAMUEL COWAN.

Oxford, Miss., June 2, 1879.

On Sunday, June 1, Bro. Henry Wallets, undertaking to swim across the river after a boat, was drowned. He was a faithful member of Union Grove Church for two years, and leaves a wife and six children.

On the morning of the 23d of June Sister Hester Hough fell asleep in Jesus. She leaves a husband and two little children—one about six months old. She has been a member of our church for six years at Shiloh, on the Greenwood circuit, Miss.

B. L. CRUMP.

Rev. Wilson Haywood, preacher in charge of Houston circuit, and a probationer of the Texas Conference, departed this life on the morning of the 16th, in the full triumph of faith. He left a wife and two children to mourn his loss. Elder Cushman and others joined in the large funeral procession. O. WATROUS.

Houston, Texas, June 16.

Sister Barbara McMorris died May 5. She was a member of the church about twelve years and died in full triumph of faith, aged between 65 and 70 years. She left behind 4 sons and 2 daughters to mourn her loss. She is not only missed in the home circle, but in the church there is no one who can fill her place. G. W. BARNEY.

Macon, Miss., June 23, 1879.

Sister Amy Warmble, aged about 75 years, departed this life June 22. She has been a member of the M. E. Church for a number of years. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her loss.

Sister Minerva Natop died May 25th. She was a young and faithful member of the M. E. Church and will be greatly missed, but our loss is her gain. She leaves a husband and four little children to mourn her loss. A. W. WRIGHT.

Centre Grove, Monroe Co., Miss.

Widow Mary Ann Smith died June 17, 1879, aged 30 years. She was a native of Alabama, and a resident of this city for ten years, and a member of the First Street M. E. Church. She died in the full triumph of faith. Her departing words were, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want,—Farewell to sin and sorrow." She also told us all to meet her in heaven. Sister Smith leaves five little children and a mother, brothers, sisters and many friends to mourn her loss.

Bro. N. P. VanLuvance, of Moline, Ills., passed away to his home in heaven June 17th, 1879, having sojourned on earth for over 30 years. He was converted in 1871 and at once joined the M. E. Church. In 1872 he was entirely sanctified and lived a true Bible Christian. He suffered much during his short illness of 34 hours and 30 minutes, but bore it faithfully and would often praise the Lord. He said to his pastor: "This is hard, but the will of the Lord be done." His last words were: "I am dying—lay me down." He was laid on the bed and fell asleep in Jesus. He leaves a father, mother, 3 brothers and 3 sisters, and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss, but their loss is his gain. The funeral service was held at his parents' home. Rev. J. S. McCard, of the M. E. Church, preached the funeral sermon: his text was from Job 1; 11—"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

G. V. L.

Moline, Ill., June 27, 1879.

New Books.

THE CULTIVATION OF THE MEMORY. Eldredge & Bro., 17 North Seventh Street, Philadelphia.

No. 2 of a series of manuals for teachers, neat, cheap and helpful to the profession. What memory is, attention, association, special subjects of instruction, and cultivating memory in youth, are the topics of the five chapters of this methodical little compend.

THE LOVER'S TALE. By Tennyson. Boston: Houghton, Osgood & Co.

Composed by the poet laureate in his nineteenth year, withdrawn from the press because of imperfections, and given to the world surreptitiously by his friends, the author now gives it entire and correct. The edition before us is of a cheap and popular form.

THE SECOND COMING OF THE LORD. By Rev. Chauncey Giles. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co.

These lectures, by the author of several works, are a contribution to the discussion of a topic which for truth's sake, is deserving of the consideration of all Christians. The author believes "He is coming in the power and glory of spiritual truth, to institute a New Age, in which all the promises of prophecy and the purposes of infinite love will be carried into effect." For sale by Eyrich, Canal St., New Orleans.

New Publications.

The Missionary Review for July and August has a summary of the year's progress in Foreign Missions.

The Sixty-Third Annual Report of the American Bible Society has been issued, and a copy received at this office.

The Student's Journal, Bloomington, Illinois, for July, opens with "The "Struggles of Genius," "Self Help," and "Socialism."

Golden Hours, Hitchcock & Walden, for July, contains an article on the Northmen by Charlotte Yonge, and many pictures, stories, etc., for the little folks.

Caught at Last.

The notorious depredator, Kate-Arrh, who has for so many years eluded the most accomplished and skillful detectives, has been caught at last in Buffalo, N. Y. For further particulars, ask your droggist for a bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, admitted to be the best remedy for catarrh yet compounded.

Malarial Fever.

Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and neuralgiac ailments yield readily to this great disease conqueror, Hop Bitters. It repairs the ravages of disease by converting the food into rich blood, and it gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm always. See "Proverbs" in other column.

THIS NEW

ELASTIC TRUSS

An Enlarged View of the Pad.

Has a Pad differing from all others, is cup-shaped, with SELF-ADJUSTING BALL in the center, adapts itself to all positions of the body, while the BALL in the Cup PRESSES BACK THE INTESTINES JUST AS A PERSON WOULD WITH THE FINGER. With light pressure the Hernia is held securely day and night, and a radical cure is certain. It is easy, durable and cheap. Sent by mail, postage paid. Circulars free.

Address, Eggleston Truss Co., Manfrs. Or C. H. EGGLESTON CO., Chicago, Ill.

n26 52t

Quarterly Conferences.

West Tennessee District Conference.

PROGRAMME OF LITERARY EXERCISES.

The Conference will convene at Galoway's Station, Fayette Co., on Wednesday, August 20, 1879.

Opening Sermon by L. M. Morris; J. D. Hay, alternate.

W. S. Butler: Psalms 133; "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

H. Primm; Resurrection—St. Matt. 28-6 first clause.

J. B. Bradford; "There is none good but one, that is God."—St. Mark 10; 18.

G. Baber; The New Birth.

J. P. Price; Constitution of a Sunday-school Institute for the District Conference.

H. Moody; Saving Faith.

J. W. Hall; Local Preachers Duties.

L. M. Morris; Regeneration.

H. Bearns; Holy Spirit.

J. D. Hay; Pentecost—Acts 2; 2.

M. M. Dwegans; Fear of God.

A. Burdett; Salvation.

G. W. Marsh; Pastoral Visiting.

G. Bearns; Sanctification.

M. Morrison; Conversion.

O. Williams; Repentance.

C. E. Alexander; Preparatory School.

The local preachers and exhorters can select their own pieces.

J. D. HAY,
J. P. PRICE,
J. B. BRADFORD,
Committee.

Austin (Texas) District Conference.

PROGRAMME.

The Conference will meet at LaGrange, Texas, July 24-27. All traveling local preachers, exhorters, stewards and class leaders are requested to attend.

The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. G. Sawyers; E. Coggswell, alternate.

Rev. M. Henson on Justification.

Rev. D. Gregory the Missionary Sermon.

Rev. J. W. Robinson on Baptism.

E. E. Cooper on Faith.

D. Mucker and I. Smith on Holiness.

Preachers of the district not mentioned may prepare an essay. On Saturday a special meeting will be held in the Sunday-school. The superintendents of the Sabbath-school will please be at their post without fail.

S. GATES, P. E.

MUSIC BELOW COST.

Having secured control of a bankrupt stock of about 100,000 pieces of new sheet music—the lot will be closed out at prices one-twentieth what such music retails at.—For 25 cents we will mail a roll of pieces, vocal or instrumental, that your dealer can not duplicate for less than $5 to $7. Five rolls for one dollar; twelve for $2. Order at once. A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n13 tf Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Harter's IRON TONIC

Is a Preparation of IRON and CALISAYA BARK, in combination with the Phosphates.

Endorsed by the Medical Profession, and recommended by them for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, &c., &c.

Manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

The following is one of the very many testimonials we are receiving daily:

Gentlemen:—Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the advice of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours,

TROY, O., Jan. 2, 1878. J. P. WATSON, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

For Sale by Druggists and General Dealers Everywhere.

n 10 1y

SHIRTS.

THE CHOICEST AND CHEAPEST

STOCK IN NEW ORLEANS!

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

The New Stock of Summer Underwear in Store.

— AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT OF —

NEW NECKWEAR,

Good Shirts as Low as 75c.; Undershirts 40c.; Drawers 50c.; Collars $1 a doz.; Cuffs $3 a doz.

EVERYTHING ELSE EQUALLY LOW.

Country Orders will have Prompt Attention.

B. T. WALSHE,

n20 15t 110 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES.

The Mount Zion Christian Benevolent Society.

Pledges to take care of its sick and destitute members and bury the dead with all the courtesy due to the dead. Monthly meeting the fourth Monday in each month. Admission fee $2 50, Monthly dues 25 cents.

Athus Claude, President.
Lemuel Moore, Vice President.
Allen A. Goine, Secretary.
Lee Blakamore, Treasury.
Gabreil Clayton, Chairman of Sick Committee.
Edward Hunter, Grand Marshall.
Emsley Brower, Chaplain.
Mrs. Margaret Buggs, Lady Pres't.
" Sarah Jones, Lady Vice Pres't
" Hagar Lewis, Lady Steward.
" Kaziah Ballard, Lady Chairman of Sick Committee.

Harmonia Benevolent Association.

Meets on the first MONDAY of every month in WESLEY CHAPEL, on Liberty Street, New Orleans.

This Society pledges relief to the sick and distressed members; and a decent funeral at death.

Rev. M. E. BROWER, President.
LAZARUS D. THOMPSON, Vice-President.
HAMILTON TAYLOR, Treasurer.
ALLEN A. GOINS, Secretary.
BENJAMIN L. HALE, Chairman Stewards.
DR. J. H. KOKER, Physician.
Rev. SCOTT CHINN, Chaplain.

The remaining officers are as follows: John A. Smith, Grand Marshal; George D. Gaddis, Undertaker; Prince Duncan, Cha'man Committee on Sick; Mrs. Agnes House, Lady President; Mrs. Lizzie Davie, Vice President; Mrs. Sarah Patterson, Head Steward; Mrs. Fannia Thompson, Chairman Committe on Sick.

Entrance Fee, $5.00.
Monthly Dues, forty cents a month.
Committee on Finance: Fredrick Lopez, Cyrus King, Elemal Moore.
jan17'79-tf.

E. HEATH. W. F. PIPPEY, M. LARA.

Heath, Pippey & Lara,

Carpet Warehouse,

Finest Assortment and Lowest Prices in the South of

Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths,

New Styles China Mattings,

WALL PAPER, WINDOW SHADES, CORNICES, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, MOULDINGS, ENGRAVINGS, &c.,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS

IN GREAT VARIETY.

WIRE SCREENS

For Windows and Doors at Greatly Reduced Prices. Special Attention to Country Orders.

HEATH PIPPEY & LARA,
97 & 99 Camp Street,
june6'78-tf. New Orleans.

RENT PAID TWO YEARS AND A HALF BUYS AN ORGAN.

The Mason & Hamlin Organ Co

154 Tremont St., BOSTON; 46 E 14th St., NEW YORK; 250 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO.

Whose cabinet or parlor organs are acknowledged to be UNEQUALED IN EXCELLENCE, having received the HIGHEST HONORS at EVERY WORLD'S INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION FOR THIRTEEN YEARS, and being the ONLY AMERICAN ORGANS WHICH HAVE RECEIVED SUCH AT ANY, now offer them, not only for cash, but also on the following VERY EASY TERMS OF PAYMENT.

They will rent an organ with the agreement that when the whole amount of rent paid equals the value of the organ it shall become the property of the party hiring it, without further payment. The rent per quarter, payable in advance, is one-tenth of the value of the organ, so that ten quarterly payments complete its purchase. Or, payments may be made monthly, if preferred.

This plan presents two very important advantages:

1. An organ can be obtained on very easy terms, viz.: payment of $5 or upward, according to size, per month; or $6.73 or upward, every three months; until paid for.

2. One can thus have an organ on trial for six months, or longer, for a reasonable rent only, and so thoroughly test it and see if he values it, before concluding the purchase; having all rent which has been paid applied upon the purchase, whenever made.

Only makers of VERY BEST ORGANS, which can be depended upon to give satisfaction in all cases, could afford to offer such terms.

Organs are furnished on these terms, not only in the immediate vicinity of our warerooms, but in any part of the country which is readily accessible.

PRICES OF MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS are but little more than those of the very poorest organs made. On above easy terms of payment they are furnished for $77.50, $32.50, $57.50 to $500 and upward. Reasonable deductions are made from these prices when all cash is paid.

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES, PRICE LISTS and Circulars, describing FIFTY-EIGHT DIFFERENT STYLES, with much useful information about organs, sent free to any address.

n28 3t

EMPLOYMENT FOR LADIES OR MEN. $50 to $100 PER MONTH easily made selling MRS. JULIA MCNAIR WRIGHT'S new book entitled The COMPLETE HOME The Morals, Health, Beauty, Work, Amusements, Members, Money, Savings and Spendings are all clearly dealt with in fascinating style, full of anecdote and wit, bolding the threads of a charming narration of family life. For full description and extra terms, address J. C. McCURDY & Co., St. Louis, Mo.
n28 13t eow

ELEGANTLY

Furnished Rooms,

WITH or WITHOUT BOARD,

123 Carondelet Street,

Between Poydras and Lafayette Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL RATES GIVEN FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

n 20 3m

Alcorn University,

—NEAR—

Rodney, Mississippi.

—:0:—

At Alcorn University thorough instruction in the

CLASSICS AND ENGLISH BRANCHES

is given.

A NORMAL OR TEACHERS' CLASS

will be formed to give instruction in the best methods of teaching different subjects.

Special attention is given to the preparation for county examinations.

—:0:—

Board & Washing

—ONLY—

$1.25 PER WEEK.

Or, if preferred,

Washing & First-Class Board,

$2.00 PER WEEK.

—:0:—

Students coming to this place are requested to bring a blanket, sheet and pillow.

Should those, who intend coming through Vicksburg, write me in time to that effect, I will send them a certificate in order that they may obtain passage on the packets at reduced rates.

For further particulars address

Rev. H. R. Revels, D.D.

RODNEY, MISS.

n24 je15 3m

Gospel Hymns.

The Three numbers of Gospel Hymns, introduced by Messrs. Moody & Sankey at Religious Meetings, are pre-eminently popular. Millions are already in use, and they can be profitably used by millions more.

GOSPEL HYMNS are issued in 3 vols., designated as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. Price for each:

Music Edition, in Boards, $30 per 100: 35 Cts. by Mail.

Words only, Paper Covers, $5 per 100; 6 Cts. by Mail.

SOLD BY BOOKSELLERS EVERYWHERE.

BIGLOW & MAIN,

PUBLISHERS,

76 East Ninth Street, New York. | 73 Randolph Street, Chicago.

n27 tf

New Church Record.

We can now sell the "Record" at a price much less than we have ever been able to do. It is a large quarto, containg about 180 pages, divided into seven sections, namely:

Record of Pastors.
Record of Classes.
Record of Official Members.
Alphabetical Record of Full Members.
Record of Probationers.
Record of Baptisms.
Record of Marriages.

We are confident that this record will meet the demand long felt, namely, a cheap book, suitable for a majority of our churches. Price, $2.50.

PHILLIPS & HUNT,
New Orleans.

A. H. NELSON,

COMMERCIAL

Stationer, Printer,

Blank Book Maker and Lithographer

57 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

You Can Learn TO PLAY IN ONE DAY

Correctly, on Piano or Organ, even if you never touched the keys before and have no knowledge of notes. A child ten years old can learn easily. Before you pronounce this a humbug write for full particulars, and we will send, free, such proof as will satisfy the most skeptical. Address at once,

A. C. MORTON & CO.,
n12 tf Atlanta, Ga.

SEWING MACHINES

Cheap for Cash.

We have some Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Weed Sewing Machines, which we have taken in exchange for advertising. They are all new. We will sell them very cheap for cash. Address,

PHILLIPS & HUNT.
New Orleans.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Requisites.

—:0:—

We desire to call special attention to Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals, and the fact that they are fixed on a cash basis, which renders it imperative that cash should accompany the order. The brethren will please realize the importance of this, and insure promptness on our part and satisfaction on their own, by not neglecting this essential point.

Terms for Sunday-school Periodicals.

All Orders Payable in Advance.

YEARLY RATES.

Sunday-school Advocate — Semi-monthly (for second and fourth Sunday), per single copy 35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each 25cts
Classmate—Semi-monthly (for first and third Sunday), per single copy 35cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each 25cts
Picture Lesson Paper—Commencing with the January number will be enlarged to sixteen pages. Monthly, for infant class, per copy 25cts
Sunday-school Journal—Monthly, for teachers and parents, single copy 65cts
Ditto—Six copies or more to one address, each 55cts
Berean Quarterly—Quarterly, for teachers and scholars, each, per copy 25cts
Berean Lesson Leaf—For scholars, per copy, 5½cts; per hundred $5.50
Leaf Cluster—Aid for infant-class, in quarterly parts, per quarter $1.00
Ditto—Per year $4.00
Berean Question Book 20cts
Ditto—Interleaved edition 50cts
The Lesson Compend will not be published for 1879.
The Seven Years—Per copy 5cts

Observe the Following:

When the above are sent by mail, we pay the postage, and packages lost will be re-sent without cost to the subscribers.

If ordered to be sent by express they are at the subscribers' risk, and lost packages will be duplicated at the usual rates.

Subscriptions may commence at any time, but must expire with the quarters ending March, June, September, or December; hence subscriptions to run three, six, nine, or twelve months must begin with either January, April, July or October.

No Sunday-school Periodical will be continued beyond the time for which the subscription is paid.

Orders should be sent ten days in advance, to prevent delays from re-printing and other unavoidable causes. Address

Phillips & Hunt,

Ecclesiastical Law

—AND—

Rules of Evidence:

With Special Reference to the Jurisprudence of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—BY—

HON. WILLIAM J. HENRY,

—AND—

WILLIAM L. HARRIS, D.D., LL.D.

8 vo., 511 Pages.

Cloth, $3; Law Sheep, $4.50.

In the first organization of the Church the rules for its government were few and simple; but as the Church grew and multiplied, and the conditions and circumstances of its members as well as of society about them, were changed, the rules necessary for its proper relation and government became more numerous and complex, so that now it often becomes a difficult matter to determine what proceedings should be instituted in a case, and under what particular rules and regulations. This book has been written with the hope that it may assist the administration in such cases.

In submitting these rules we have aimed to do more than afford guides to judicial investigations before the tribunals of the Church. We believe they will be found valuable for such purposes, but we have endeavored to show in addition that the authenticity of the Holy Scriptures can be vindicated and their genuineness maintained by the well recognized and established rules of evidence received and acted upon in our courts of justice and in our different governmental relations.—Author's Preface.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

Lectures on Preaching

Delivered before the Theological Students of Yale College.

By Rev. Matthew Simpson, D.D., LL.D.

(One of the Bishops of the M. E. Church.)

Cloth, 12mo. Price $1.50

These admirable Lectures embrace the following topics, delivered in the order here stated:

Lecture I. The Nature and Work of the Christian Ministry.
Lecture II. The Call to the Ministry.
Lecture III. The Preacher Personally.
Lecture IV. Indirect Preparation for the Pulpit.
Lecture V. The Preparation of a Sermon.
Lecture VI. The Delivery of a Sermon.
Lecture VII. Ministerial Power.
Lecture VIII. The Influence of the Pastorate on the Pulpit.
Lecture IX. Collateral and Miscellaneous Work.
Lecture X. Is the Modern Pulpit a Failure?

It is needless to say that these topics are treated in a masterly manner—clearly, forcibly, practically; as becomes both the gravity and importance of the subjects discussed, and the reputation of their author as a "workman who needeth not to be ashamed." No minister should be without them, as none can carefully and thoughtfully read them without profit. In them there is nothing showy, but they present the ripe fruit of the matured thought of a long period of ministerial usefulness and oversight. They are weighty, well-considered teachings.

This book will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address,

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans.

BOOKS

—FOR—

Conference Studies.

The limited course of study adopted by advice of the Bishops for use in several Southern Conferences is as follows. We add the price of each book. Our terms are cash in advance before sending, or the books will be sent by express C. O. D. Any book will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

The course is as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION: English Branches; Bible; Discipline (price 40 cents); Porter's Compendium of Methodism (price $1 75).

FIRST YEAR: Part First of Wakefield's Theology (price $3 50); Wesley's Plain Account of Christian Perfection (price 45 cts); H. Kidder's Homiletics (price $1 75); Bible and Discipline continued; Waddington's Church History (price $2).

SECOND YEAR: Part Second Wakefield; Merrill on Baptism (price $1 25); Bible and Discipline continued and a written sermon.

THIRD YEAR: Part Third, Wakefield; Nast's Introduction to the New Testament (price $1 75); Morris' Sermons (price $1 50); and a written sermon.

FOURTH YEAR: Part Fourth, Wakefield a written sermon and the written questions laid down in the fourth year's study in the discipline.

During these years it is expected that every minister will read Wesley's Sermons (2 volumes, price $7 00).

The price of all the books named in the above course is $14 35

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
39 Natchez Street,
New Orleans, La.

Young Folks' Corner.

An owl, that lived in a hollow tree,
As I went by, looked out at me;
And he rolled his eyes, with a solemn air
As if to say, this world's a snare,
And life a burden hard to bear,
Take care, little girl, take care!

Said I, Mr. Owl, we don't agree,
I love the world, and the world loves me.
Quit rolling your eyes, and come and see
How happy a child that is good can be.
I learn in the day, I sleep in the night,
I try to obey, I try to do right;
But you love darkness better than light;
Take care, Mr. Owl, take care!
—St. Nicholas.

The Peach-Stone.

"Do you suppose grandpa," said a little girl, "if I should plant this peach-stone, a peach-tree would really grow here in the garden?"

"It would be pretty likely to grow, I imagine," said the grandfather.

The child mused a moment, then said, "Well, I think I won't take the trouble to do it, for I might be dead before the tree was big enough to bear peaches;" and she raised her little hand to throw the stone away.

"Stop!" said her grandfather; "was that a good peach?"

"Splendid one, grandpa."

"A good many years ago, little girl, my father was a boy, and standing right here on this farm he ate a fine peach. 'I will plant this stone,' he said, 'instead of throwing it away.' So he planted it, and to-day the little girl he never saw eats of its fruit. Those tall elm-trees by the gate, which make such a pleasant shade for us, he planted and watched for years. I don't believe he ever said, 'I won't water these tender trees any more, for I shall be dead before they are big enough to keep off the sun.'"

The sticky little hand opened, and two great blue eyes gazed curiously at the stone; then suddenly without a word she darted away into the garden, and soon a hole was made in the black earth, and the stone dropped reverently in, and covered; but as she walked away her faith must have wavered a little, for a mischievous smile came to her lips, and she said, "I don't believe I shall ever have any great-grandchildren; if it does make a difference, but I suppose there will be somebody, always, to eat peaches.
—[illegible] Register.

A Lesson in Politeness.

[illegible] of Dean Swift one day [illegible] turbot as a present, by [illegible] who had frequently been [illegible] errands, but who had [illegible] received anything for his [illegible]. Having gained admission, [illegible] the study-door, and, putting the fish on the floor, cried out [illegible]: "Master sent you a turbot." "Young man," said the dean, [illegible] from his easy chair, "is that [illegible] way you deliver a message? [illegible] down in my chair; we will [illegible] places, and I will teach you [illegible] to behave in the future." The [illegible] sat down, and the dean, going [illegible] up to the door, and, making [illegible] bow, said: "Sir, master [illegible] his kind compliments, [illegible] you are well, and requests [illegible] acceptance of a small present." "Does he?" replied the boy. [illegible] him my best thanks, and [illegible] a crown for yourself." [illegible] then caught in his own [illegible] laughed heartily, and gave [illegible] a crown for his ready [illegible], as well as the [illegible] a lesson that time. [illegible] knew enough to [illegible] through the world.

[illegible] Educated Cat.

[illegible] North Berwick, Me., [illegible] has been in- [illegible] manners. When [illegible] runs quickly to [illegible] and demure- [illegible] made ex- [illegible] around her [illegible] filled with [illegible] her beside [illegible] her [illegible] on her hind [illegible] mouth [illegible] position [illegible] the [illegible] patiently [illegible] wiped, [illegible] after [illegible] in a

[illegible]

Indigestion.

The main cause of nervousness [illegible] indigestion, and that is caused [illegible] weakness of the stomach. No [illegible] have sound nerves and [illegible] without using Hop Bitters [illegible] strengthen the stomach, [illegible] the blood, and to keep the [illegible] kidneys active, to carry [illegible] poisonous and waste [illegible] system. See other

[illegible] Port-au-Prince [illegible]

Lost Friends.

NOTE.—We receive many letters asking for information about lost friends. All such letters will be published in this column. We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN. All others will please enclose fifty cents to pay for publishing the notices. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—I desire information concerning my father, Cæsar Jackson, who was sold from Richmond, Va., about twenty years ago. When last heard from he was in Arkansas. He wrote to mother that if she would come to him he would send for her. We have not heard from him since. Any information concerning him will be thankfully received by his eldest daughter, Martha, daughter of Mary and Cæsar Jackson. Mother used to belong to Thomas Booth, and was sold by the speculators. I am now a widow with one child. Address me MRS. MARTHA BROWN, Columbus, Miss.

DEAR EDITOR—I want to see it I can find my husband's sister. Her name is Bettie Epps. She was carried from Brazoria Co., Texas to Austin, Travis Co., Texas, during the war by a white man named Judge Robert Towns. Her mother's name was Nancy Epps and father's name was Moses Epps: he is dead. She had four brothers, Moses Jr., Alfred, Robert and Freeland Epps. Alfred died in 1867. Freeland is my husband. She has four sisters, Emma, Nellie, Ellen and Julia Ann Epps. We don't remember the year Bettie was carried to Travis Co., Texas, but it was during the war. Many thanks will be rendered to all the brothers and leaders for any information about the above named Bettie Epps or any of her relations. Address me at San Felipe, Texas, in care of W. H. Jackson.
MRS. EVILEANA EPPS.

Rosa Bonheur's Success.

A writer in the New England Journal of Education brings forward Rosa Bonheur, the eminent female painter of France, to illustrate what genius, when assisted by preseverance and firmness of character, can achieve. We condense the article as follows:

She was born in the year 1822. Her father was a poor Parisian drawing teacher. Rosa was a vigorous and resolute character from babyhood, but during her early years did not display any particular genius.

Her pleasure was wandering in the fields, and making friends with the dumb animals. It was a severe trial when, at twelve years of age, she was apprenticed to a dress-maker.

Her employment was distasteful, and the confinement irksome. She became ill, and her father took her home again.

By hard labor and economy he managed to send her to school, and was astonished and delighted at the talent she displayed for drawing.

When she returned from school she spent her time in his studio, where she copied his paintings and modeled figures of animals. Then she went to the Louvre to copy the figures there. It was remarked that she was the first student to arrive in the morning, and the last to leave at night.

When but sixteen years of age her pictures began to sell. Having been fond of animals, it was natural that she should portray their beauties on canvas.

She used, also, to go to the enclosures where the animals are kept previous to being sent to the slaughter-house, and there, seated on a bundle of hay or a bag of grain, heedless of rough butchers and drovers, she would sketch all day. At home she kept a pet sheep, that she might never be at a loss for a model, and frequently borrowed her neighbors' cats, dogs and rabbits.

Her hard and unceasing work was at last rewarded. She won several bronze and silver medals, and at last the greatest distinction of all, the gold medal, was bestowed upon her, and her pictures sold rapidly and well.

She has been long recognized as the best animal painter in Europe.

Rosa Bonheur was possessed of extraordinary talents; but even those of only ordinary abilities may, by the exercise of industry and perseverance, win in any calling both success and happiness.

LAME BACK. WEAK BACK.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

This article is one which really possesses extraordinary merit. By consulting reliable physicians in your own locality, you will find that the above is true. It is far superior to the ordinary porous plaster all the so-called electrical appliances, and to all external remedies whatever. It contains entirely new elements which cause it to relieve pain at once, strengthen and cure where other plasters will not even relieve. For Lameness and Weakness of the back, deceased Kidneys, Lung and Chest difficulties, Rheumatism, Neglected Colds, Female Affections, and all local aches and pains, it is simply the best remedy ever devised. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 Cents.

Our Class Leaders.

We are often asked for the names of books suitable for class leaders. We recommend the following and ask the Presiding Elders and Pastors to do all they can to put these books in the hands of the leaders.

1. The Class-Leader: His Work, and How to do it. With illustrations of principles, needs, methods and results. By Rev. John Atkinson, A. M. 12mo., $1.50.
2. Address to Class-Leaders. By Bishop Janes. 12mo., 20c.
3. Seed-Thought; A Hand-Book of Doctrine and Devotion. By Rev. Geo. C. Robinson. Price $1.00.
4. Father Reeves, Methodist Class-Leader. By Edward Corderoy. 18mo., 35c.
5. All for Christ: How the Christian may Obtain, by a renewed Consecration of His Heart, the fullness of Joy Referred to by the Savior just Previous to His Crucifixion, with illustrations from the lives of those who have make this consecration. By Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo., 75c.

For any of these books address Phillips & Hunt, New Orleans.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

"Unsurpassed as a Teacher's Help."

Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., EDITOR.
Rev. J. M. Freeman, ASSOCIATE.

Sunday-School Journal.

"Unapproachable as an aid to Teachers and Superintendents."

WRITE for a Specimen Copy to
Phillips & Hunt, Publishers,
805 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

REED & BARTON,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Silver-Plated

TABLE WARE

Of Every Description.

686 Broadway, New York. 25 tf

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS

Give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Banks, Parlors, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theaters, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room, get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to Churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl street, New York. n22 17t eow BEST PRESS EXTANT, [illegible] Standard Press Co., Meridian, Miss.

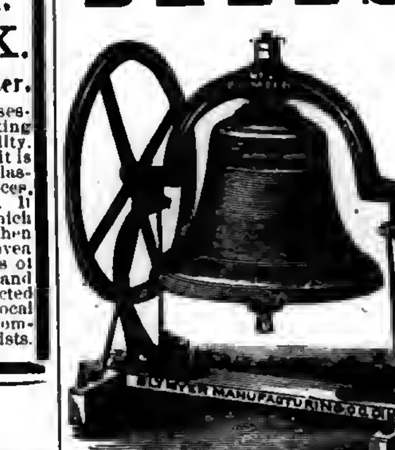
MAKE HENS LAY.

An English Veterinary Surgeon and Chemist, now travelling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose one teaspoonful to one pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for eight letter stamps. I. S. JOHNSON, Bangor, Maine.

BELLS.



The following prices include the MOUNTINGS.

Diameter.	Weight.	Bell & Mounting	Price
26 inches	175 lbs	325 lbs	$40 00
28 inches	225 lbs	375 lbs	50 00
32 inches	350 lbs	550 lbs	75 00
36 inches	550 lbs	800 lbs	110 00
40 inches	750 lbs	1050 lbs	150 00
44 inches	1000 lbs	1350 lbs	200 00
48 inches	1300 lbs	1800 lbs	250 00
54 inches	2100 lbs	2800 lbs	400 00

We have arranged to furnish our churches with these bells at the prices named, which is the same as they can be bought for in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they are made.

The Bells are too well known to need any recommendation from us.

On receipt of the price we will at once order the bells shipped.

Phillips & Hunt,
New Orleans, La.

CHURCH ORGANS,

Cheap For Cash.

Any of our churches wanting to buy an Organ should write to us. We have Organs, paid for by advertising, and can sell them very low for cash. The Organs are new, and from the best makers in the country. Address,
PHILLIPS & HUNT,
tf] New Orleans.

DREW

THEOLOGICAL Seminary.

Five departments of instruction. Full corps of Professors, aided by non-resident Teachers and Lecturers. Special and continuous attention given to SACRED ORATORY.

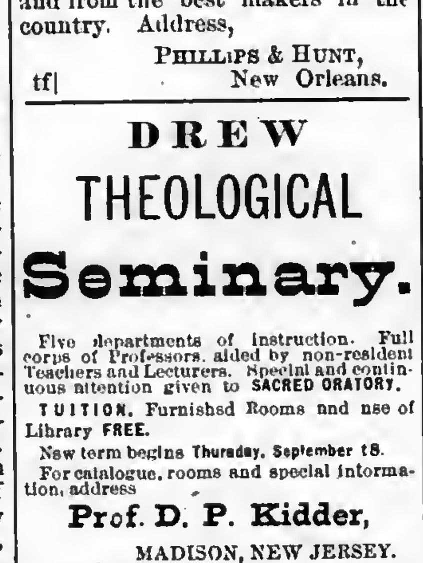
TUITION, Furnished Rooms and use of Library FREE.

New term begins Thursday, September 18.

For catalogue, rooms and special information, address

Prof. D. P. Kidder,
MADISON, NEW JERSEY.
n24 jul2 4m eow

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED



STOMACH BITTERS

The wear and tear of business life makes such tremendous drafts upon body and mind that without recourse to some sustaining agent they must give way under the pressure. To those who are breaking down, or wasting away from general debility, or affections of the liver, stomach and the kidneys, a systematic course of the Bitters will so reinforce the vital functions as to baffle all the assaults of disease and restore the system to its wonted health.

For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.
n27 jy 3

MODEL OF PALESTINE.

Shows Mountains, Valleys, Plains, Seas, Rivers and Towns, as vividly as would a visit to the land itself. Its elevations and depressions form a representation of the Lands of the Bible, forcibly and beautifully illustrating Bible History. It is universally acknowledged as the needed help for the Bible student or Sunday-school worker, giving new life to his readings. Being mounted on a close folding table for class use, or for hanging on the wall, it is convenient, cheap and durable. Send for Circular and order one. Price, with key, giving Scripture references fully, $10.00. We also manufacture models of the U. S. for schools, and all kinds of School and Church Furniture. Agents Wanted in every county. Terms liberal. Send for circulars or catalogues. EXCELSIOR SCHOOL FURNITURE CO., CINCINNATI, O.
n1 1

Victor Cane Mill And COOK EVAPORATOR

The BEST and only standard machines. FIRST PREMIUM AT 123 STATE FAIRS. Grand Medal at Centennial Exhibition. Over 48,000 sold. Safe, Reliable, Economical.

Cane Growers can't afford to risk Crops With light, weak, unfinished mills, liable to break in the midst of the season. They can't afford to waste crops with mills that don't press out all the juice, or evaporators that make syrup and sugar unfit for market, and too little in proportion to the labor and fuel they require.

Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.
Steam Engines, Threshers, Bells. Circulars sent free.
21ct eow

HOME + ARTS

A MONTHLY FOR ALL AGES

Devoted to the Arts That beautify Home and make it attractive. And the thousand things all "want to know." One Dollar a Year. 1 ample for 3 ct. stamp. ALFRED L. SEWELL, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

NEW RICH BLOOD!

PARSON'S PURGATIVE PILLS make New Rich Blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one each night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing be possible. Sold everywhere or sent by mail for 8 letter stamps.

I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Bangor, Maine.
13 1y

JUST PUBLISHED—Sent Free

Complete History of Wall Street Finance containing valuable information for investors. Address, Baxter & Co., Publishers, 17 Wall Street, New York. v13 n48 1y

BOOKS

Baker on Discipline: A guide to the Administration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Bishop Baker. Every presiding Elder and preacher in charge should have one. Price.....$1 25.

Bible Geography, Hand-book of. By George H. Whitney, A. M. Illustrated by nearly one hundred engravings and forty maps and plans. Three hundred and eighty-six closely printed pages. For the size this is the most complete and best book published on Bible Geography. Price.....$2 50.

Methodist Disciplines. The Methodist Disciplines contains the Doctrines, the Laws, and the Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church. All Methodist Preachers and people should have this little book and read and study it. Price.....40 cents.

American Methodism. A History of American Methodism, written by the great historian of Methodism, Abel Stevens, LL.D. This is abridged from Dr Steven's larger work, and in size and price is within the reach of all. Price.....$3 50

Appeal to the Records. This is a vindication of the Methodist Episcopal Church in its policy and Proceedings toward the South. By Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D. This book should be read by all who have any doubts as to the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church to carry forward her work in every Southern State. 12mo. Price, $1 50.

Inside the Gates. This is a beautifully written book for bereaved parents. By Rev. J. H. McCarty, D.D., of the Louisiana Conference. 16mo. Price, $1 00.

The Class Leader. His Work and How to do it. By Rev. J. Atkinson. This is a new and well written book on an important subject. Preachers should read it themselves and urge their Class Leaders to read it. 12mo. Price.....$1 50

One Hundred Years of Methodism. By Bishop Simpson. 12mo. This is the most interesting sketch of Methodism during the first hundred years of its existence. It is written in charming style and is full of information. Price.....$1 75

Wesley's Sermons. No Methodist Minister's Library is complete without it containing Wesley's Sermons. They are published in two large octavo volumes, bound in calf. The two volumes cost $7 00.

Deathbed Scenes. This book was edited by the late Bishop Clark and gives a large number of examples of persons dying with religion and without religion. Price.....$1 75

History of the United States. This is a history of the United States from the Aboriginal Times to the Present day. By John C. Ridpath. Half Morocco, 12mo. This is one of the latest and best histories and is very cheap. Price.....$1 75

Bible Manners and Customs. By Rev. J. M. Freeman. This book is invaluable as a help in studying the Bible. It contains many illustrations and explains nearly one thousand different manners and customs referred to in the Bible. 12mo. Price.....$2 25.

Manual of Methodism. This book contains the Doctrines, General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Church, with Scripture Proof. By B. Hawley. Price.....$1 00.

Religion and the Family. An important subject well discussed by Bishop I. W. Wiley. Price.....$1 00

Saints Everlasting Rest. By Richard Baxter. Baxter's Saint's Rest is too well known to need comment. Price.....$1 50.

Church Rituals. The Ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church contains the forms of worship used in receiving members into the Church, baptizing, marrying, burying the dead, &c. They cost as follows:
Flexible cover, 12mo.....$0 50
Flexible, imitation Morocco, 12mo.....75
Roan, gilt edge, 8vo.....1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, 8vo.....2 00

Spiritualism. With the Testimony of God and Man against it, by Rev. W. McDonald. Price.....$1 25

Wesley's Works Complete. Wesley's Works comprise seven volumes, containing his sermons and all his important writings. The seven volumes cost.....$21 00.

Annals of the Poor. Containing the Dairyman's Daughter, The Young Cottager, The Negro Servant, Cottage Conversations, Visit to the Infirmary, and the African Widow. By Rev. Leigh Richmond. This is a good book, and has been read by tens of thousands, and costs only 60 cents.

Blanks & Blank Books

New Church Record. This is a large blank book in which to keep the Records of our Churches. In it is to be kept, 1. Record of Pastors. 2. Record of Classes. 3. Record of official members. 4. Alphabetical record of full members. 5. Record of probationers. 6. Record of baptisms; and, 7. Record of marriages. A complete and cheap book. Price.....$3 50.

Church Class Books. These have printed heads and full directions for use. 8vo., with leather cover. Price, each.....25 cents.

Quarterly Conference Record Book. A large, well-bound and arranged book, in which to keep the minutes of the Quarterly Conference. Price.....$2 50.

Marriage Certificates. New, plain, but good. Price, per dozen.....$1 50.
Large size, each.....20.
Large and illuminated, each.....25.

Presiding Elders' Blanks. Local Preachers License for Quarterly Conference. Price, per hundred.....$1 00.
Local Preachers License for District Conference, per 100.....$1 00.

Quarterly Conference Blanks. New style, each quarter on single sheet, per 100.....$1 50

Recommendations to Conferences. By Leaders meeting to a District Conference, per 100.....$1 00
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.....$1 00.
From a Quarterly Conference to a District Conference, per 100.....$1 00.
From a District Conference to an Annual Conference, per 100.....$1 00.
Recommendations for Deacons orders, per 100.....$1 00.
Recommendations for Elders orders, per 100.....$1 00.

Preachers' Blanks. Love Feast Tickets, per 1000.....$1 20.
Exhorters License, per 100.....$1 00.
Pastors Quarterly Reports, per 100.....$1 00.
Certificates of Baptism, per 100.....$3 00.
Certificates of Church Memb'rs'p per 100 $3 00.
Certificates of Removal, per 100.....75.
Pastors Visiting Book and Pocket Ritual, 30 cents.

In making out orders be very careful to state just what you want, and give your Post-office, County and State. Send the money with the order.

COMMENTARIES.

Wesley's Notes on the New Testament. These Notes cover the entire new Testament and are very valuable. Price.....$1 75.

Wheden's Commentaries. On Old Testament.
Vol. I. } The Pentateuch. (Not Published.)
Vol. II. }
Vol. III. Joshua—2 Samuel. By O. Steele, D. D., and M. S. Terry, A. M. Price.....$2 50
Vol. IV. 1 Kings—Esther. By M. S. Terry. Price.....$2 50.

ON NEW TESTAMENT.
Vol. I. Matthew and Mark. Price.....$1 75
Vol. II. Luke and John. Price.....1 75
Vol. III. Acts and Romans. Price.....1 75
Vol. IV. 1 Corinthians to 1 Timothy. Price 1 75

The Commentaries are each 12mo in size and can be bought one volume at a time, as each volume is complete in itself. The remaining volumes will soon be published and when complete will be a most valuable work. The size of the book is small and the price is low. The comments are most able. All useless rubish is discarded and the comments are short and to the point, embodying the results of the latest and ripest scholarship.

Clarke's Commentaries. Six Imperial 8vo. volumes, bound in sheep, all complete. Price.....$24 00.

Bible Dictionaries.

We have many applications for Bible Dictionaries and we can now furnish the following.
I. Covel's Bible Dictionary, for Sunday Schools and Families, with Maps and Engravings. Price, $1 00.
II. A Complete Index and Concise Dictionary of the Holy Bible, by Rev John Barr. Price, $1 00.

Address

Phillips & Hunt,
NEW ORLEANS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

If the Stomach is Wrong all is wrong. Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient, while acting as a corrective upon that organ, gently expels all morbid matter from the alimentary canal, and imparts a healthful activity to the sluggish liver.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Established in 1837. Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
mar 21 1y

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

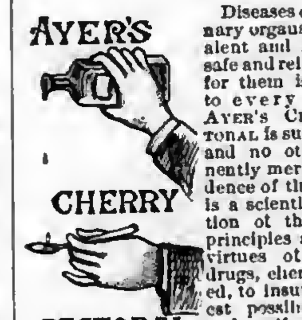
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.



Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
